People hereabouts are wondering ...ether the Atlantic Refining com... pany is to make use of the land pur...chased for a large sum of money at the southwest corner of Bank and Tilley streets to erect a gasoline station. The company is understood to have encountered some financial embarrassment but now the company is developing business in other cities, notably in Hartford.

Rain today stopped work on the few big jobs that have furnished employment in this city. There were a few flashes of lightning during the forenoon, but the rain was not of large quantity.

The condition of Mrs. Michael Doyle, critically ill at her residence, Blydenburg avenue with heart trouble, is reported today as being slightly improved.

Mrs. John Williams and infant son, of Clarke Lane, Waterford, and Alexander Gray, of the U. S. Redwing patients at Lawrence Memorial hospital, were discharged today.

Commissioner of Motor Vehicles Robbins B. Stoekel today caused the operators license of Frank Redden, 361 Bank street, to be suspended. The driver was recently penalized in a Rhode Island court for reckless driving.

Paul Gager has sold a house and lot on Bayonet street to Stanislaw and Antonina Wiercienski.

The funeral of Mrs. Sarah E. Keeney, widow of Silas Keeney, was held this afternoon at 2.30 o'clock at the First Baptist church, services were conducted by Rev. Chester H. Howe. Burial was in Cedar Grove cemetery.

An automobile owned by Henry Gorman, 35 Deane street, Groton, and employed at the plant of the Ship & Engine company, is being sought today by the police and the surrounding cities, the car was stolen late last night while parked on Masonic street. Gorman came to New London with his automobile last evening and went to one of the playhouses. He went to where he had parked the automobile some time after the show was concluded only to find that the machine had been stolen.

The garage of Joseph Erlacher, Truman street was threatened with serious damage by fire this afternoon as was his automobile, when the car became ignited about 3 o'clock. So fierce did the flames become that an alarm was rung in from box 45, corner of Bank and Truman streets. The fire, however, was quickly subdued with chemicals and with but slight damage to the building and to the automobile. The fire was started by workmen, who were engaged in making repairs to the automobile, a torch being used by one of the mechanics causing the ignition of grease on the machine. In a few seconds the car was enveloped in flames, but with the arrival of the first of the fire companies and a liberal quantity of chemical being emptied upon the blazing automobile, the fire was extinguished.

Robert Slattery, a member of the crew of the yacht Viking, complained to the police late this afternoon that a bumper had been stolen during the day from his automobile, while the car was in a garage at 50 Division street. Slattery declared that Joseph Hyde had knowledge as to where the bumper was taken.

Complaint was made to the police this evening that boys had assembled in the vicinity of the parish house of St. James' church and were making such a noise that occupants of the building were greatly disturbed. Patrolman William Babcock was sent out and made the boys move on.

Two drunks were gathered in by the police dragnet early this evening and will be in the police court tomorrow morning.

Funeral services for Samuel R. Story were held this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at his home, 85 Truman street, Rev. Joseph A. Elder, pastor of the Huntington street Baptist church, officiating. The bearers were Edgar Neff, Fred A. Maynard, Daniel Clark and George B. Johnson. Burial was in Jordan cemetery.

LAUNCH BARBARA SEIZED— RUM CARGO WITH $18,000

(Special to The Bulletin)

New London, March 19—Motor launch Barbara, believed to belong in New York or vicinity, was seized together with 600 cases of rye and Scotch whiskey and her crew of four men, this morning, when a coast guard patrol boat's crew sighted the Barbara stranded on Fishers Island where the rum-runner went ashore during the dense fog of early this morning. The boat was later floated but she is being held under guard on the island. The crew was brought to this port this evening on a government transport and shortly after 6 o'clock the men were presented before United States Commissioner Earl Mathewson of Norwich at the customs house. The prisoners were admitted to bail, furnished a satisfactory surety on their bonds, and were released, pending a hearing on the 27th inst.

The Barbara had been to the rum-supply fleet off Montauk Point where she was loaded late last night with her cargo, of the estimated value of $18,000. The trip through the sound was started probably for New York or Philadelphia, but after having gone but a short distance a fog set in and the boat finally got out of her course, with the result that the craft went ashore. Every effort to release the launch failed and this forenoon when the fog lifted the launch was sighted by the crew of the patrol boat. When the coast guard crew reached the stranded boat its cargo was spotted and was removed to the life saving station.

BEEMAN RECOVERS CAR WILLIMANTIC BOYS STOLE

(Special to The Bulletin)

New London, March 19—Ralph Beeman, who has a room at 189 Howard street, and employed by the American Bridge company, which concern is engaged in making repairs to the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad bridge over the Thames river, went to Willimantic this forenoon and recovered his automobile, which was stolen from East New London late yesterday afternoon. The machine, a Ford coupe carried Indiana registration and when it appeared in Willimantic the police of that city recognized the occupants of the machine, William Richer, 19, and Charles LaChappelle, 18, both of Willimantic, a pair of youths who have long been suspected of stealing automobiles. The car was held up and Richer and LaChappelle was arrested. At the Willimantic police station the youths admitted stealing the automobile in this city. The Willimantic police have two charges of the theft of automobiles against Richer and LaChappelle and this forenoon when they were presented in the Willimantic police court they were held for trial at the May term of the superior court for Windham county.

Prince Introduced Snail

Prince Talleyrand Perigord seems to have been responsible for the introduction to the French of the snail as a delicacy. He was giving a dinner to the Emperor Alexander I of Russia and racked his own brains, as well as those of Anacreon, the cleverest chef of his age, to discover a new and exotic dish. Suddenly the prince remembered an exquisite concoction of snails which he had eaten in Vienna. The dish achieved instantaneous success, and has remained a favorite delicacy in France ever since.

Lived to Great Age

The greatest age known to have been attained by any woman since the beginning of the Christian era is 140 years, which historical authorities generally agree was the age of the celebrated countess of Desmond when she died in 1604. A portrait of the countess, who was one of the most remarkable women of the Sixteenth century, has recently been presented to the National Portrait gallery in London.

The Clever Idiot

"She was such an infernal fool, the sort of fool who can find her way in the time table, understand the income tax, know the date of the battle of Waterloo, in other words a thoroughly well informed woman whom people call clever, and who's nothing but a driveling idiot."—From the "Triumph of Gallio," by W. L. George.

The Emir Of Afghanistan

Amanullah Khan, the reigning Emir of Afghanistan, third son of the late Emir Habibullah Khan, whom he succeeded to the throne in February, 1919, when the latter was assassinated. The Emir has five brothers, some older and some younger than himself, so it can be seen that he took the throne, disregarding age succession, because he was about the best one of the family suited to rule the country.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

MARKET WAS UNSETTLED.

New York, March 19.—Alternate periods of weakness and strength characterized today's stock market with a moderate rally under way as the session ended. Urgent liquidation appeared, temporarily at least, to have run its course, as there was a marked contraction in volume and evidence of better support, particularly for the high grade industrials.

St. Paul common and preferred continued under pressure, establishing new record low prices at 5 and 3 3-4, respectively, the low prices today represented a depreciation of about 70 per cent in quoted value from the high prices for the year. Sympathetic declines took place in some of the other western rails, Union Pacific, Northern Pacific, Canadian Pacific, Chicago Northwestern, Great Northern preferred, Chicago Great Western preferred and Chicago and Eastern Illinois preferred, all touching new low prices for the year. Weakness of Union Pacific which dropped nearly two points to 142 1-8, was generally attributed to the sharp depreciation in the value of its St. Paul securities.

A few new lows were recorded in the copper group as a result of the recent easing of red metal prices. Oil shares rallied with the rest of the list despite a substantial increase in crude production for the week ended March 14 and a series of gasoline price reductions. Activity and strength of the Pan-American issues, each of which advanced more than three points in response to the bringing in of a gigantic well in Mexico, were the outstanding features. Mid-land, Cosden, California Petroleum, Houston, Pacific and standard oil of California showed net gains of a point or two, while Tidewater jumped more than 3 points to 134 1-2.

All the so-called pivotal industrials showed gains on the day. United States Steel common closed 7-8 higher at 120 7-8; Baldwin showed a net gain of 1 3-8 at 127 1-4 and American Can was run up 3 points to 174. Studebaker closed fractionally higher at 43 1-8.

Erratic fluctuations too... place in United States Cast Iron Pipe which closed two points lower at 186, after fluctuating between 180 and 195 1-4.

Weakness was also shown in American Agricultural, Colorado Fuel preferred, American Beet Sugar, Mexican, American Beet Sugar, Manhattan Shirt and Utah Copper which yielded two to four points.

Persistent accumulation continued in Norfolk and Western which closed nearly two points higher at 133 5-8. Chesapeake & Ohio, Southern Railway and New York Central, Lackawanna, Erie first preferred and Western Pacific preferred rallied a point or so above yesterday's final quotations.

Nash Motors soared 10 points to ... on a few sales. American ... American Ice, Associated Dry Goods, The Coppers, Seventy issues, General Electric, Maxwell Motors A, Postum Cereal and United Cigar were bid up 2 to 5 points in the late rally.

Call money held steady at 3 1-2 per cent. Time money rates were unchanged with business quiet, prime commercial. Paper was slightly firmer with only a small amount available below 4 per cent.

Foreign exchanges held relatively steady. Demand sterling was quoted around $4.77 3-4 and French francs at 5.17 cents. Most of the European rates showed small gains.

BOND MARKET.

New York, March 19.—The bond market today continued to reflect the uneasiness caused by the collapse of the St. Paul bonds which accompanied the receivership proceedings for the road. With new low records established by the Railway's Junior issues, prices of many other railroad liens declined in sympathy and the whole market showed a sagging tendency.

Losses of the St. Paul 4s of 1925, refunding 4 1-2s and Puget Sound 4s were extended 1 to 3 points today but the general and first mortgage issues responded to the court order authorizing the road's receivers to pay interest on these obligations.

A moderate amount of selling pressure was exerted against other semi-speculative railroad liens, including Wheeling and Lake Erie 4 1-2s, Seaboard Adjustment 5s and Minneapolis and St. Louis issues, which receded 1 to 2 5-8 points.

Price movements in the industrial list were confusing. Announcement that the Pan-American Petroleum company had brought in a large new oil well promoted renewed buying of its six per cent bonds, which moved up almost 3 points. Other oil issues ignored a series of gasoline price cuts and unfavorable statistical reports showing increases in crude oil production and gasoline stocks. Magma, Anaconda and other copper liens declined 1 to 21 points in line with the lower price trend of the red metal and Warner Sugar issues dropped 1 to 5-8 to 3 1-2 points.

New bond offerings, including a $10,000,000 loan for Finland and a $11,500,000 Jersey Central Power and Light issues, were promptly subscribed. Negotiations for a $25,000,000 loan to the state of San Paulo, Brazil, have been concluded by Speyer and company, but no immediate offering of bonds is scheduled.

CURB MARKET.

New York, March 19.—Considerable irregularity developed in today's curb market with no indications of forced liquidation except in a few isolated issued. The oil shares displayed a firm tone in the face of widespread gasoline price reductions. Cities Service common and Prairie Pipe each closed more than two points higher, and a number of other active issues improved fractionally.

A break of 5 points in Centrifugal Pipe, which touched a record low of 10 and then rallied to 12 7-8 was the feature of the industrial list. Goodyear Tire and White Rock each moved up more than a point. Borden's was run up over 2 points to 149 3-4 and then cancelled all its gain.

Radios were mixed, Dubilier falling more than a point to 15. Hazeltine climbed about a point to 18 3-4 and Thermiodyne, Music Master and most of the other popular issues holding firm. Public Utilities moved within a narrow range with the exception of Electric Bond and Share which moved up over two points to 60 1-4.

NORWICH NEEDS MUSEUM FOR VALUABLE HEIRLOOMS

More and more it is realized that there should be in Norwich some place old or new for housing and displaying relics of Old Norwich heirlooms of its citizens. A collection which would be of intense interest and value could be made, if a suitable place could be obtained for it, so that the future residents of Norwich would not find it necessary to go out of town to see that which had once been the property of its own citizens.

The project for such a museum is an ambition of Faith Trumbull chapter, D. A. R., and is heartily endorsed by the Sons of the American Revolution here.

Now that summer is nearing interest is increasing in the collection of ancient and historic articles housed in the old silversmith shop on the Norwich town Green, both among the members of Faith Trumbull chapter, under whose charge the museum is, also, among residents of the town, who appreciate its value and importance from a historic point of view. This small building loaned by the Children's Home committee of the United Workers is becoming so crowded with articles of interest, that it is impossible to display them in any suitable manner consequently there is a movement to secure larger and more adequate quarters.

The Metropolitan Museum, New York has recently completed a new section especially designed for the reception of articles of the Colonial period. The Morgan Art Gallery in Hartford arranges for special displays of this kind. Historic houses throughout the country are being used as homes for such collections. There are numerous examples of these all through Connecticut and New England. New London has the Shaw mansion filled with relics and heirlooms.

All Norwich needs to provide such a museum is general co-operation with the patriotic women who are promoting the project.

FISHING SCHOONER ASHORE ON FISHERS ISLAND POINT

The two-masted New Bedford fishing schooner Viking, bound from New Bedford to New York, with a cargo of 15,000 pounds of flounders is aground at Wilderness Point, Fishers Island having gone on shore during a heavy fog Tuesday night.

Captain John Sater of New Bedford and his crew of four men escaped in a dory as the schooner held fast to shore. The vessel soon was aleak and Thursday her bottom had smashed so extensively that coast guardsmen held no hope of salvaging the vessel or much of her cargo.

The Viking cleared New Bedford early Tuesday with her valuable cargo of fish which was to have been marketed at New York. A dense fog set in as the vessel neared the Connecticut shores and as she approached Fishers Island the Viking deviated some distance from her course.

Had she been about 200 yards further off shore, mariners say, the Viking would have cleared the point and would have a fair way.

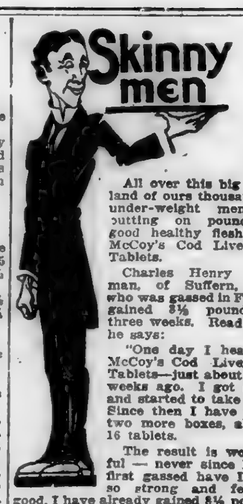
Abruptly, however, she stuck on Wilderness Point and when the crew saw that her auxiliary engines would not free her they abandoned the ship and came ashore in a dory.

With a heavy sea running the bottom soon gave way. The crew sought refuge in the Fishers Island coast guard station four and a half miles distant, and when coast guardsmen returned to the scene it was found impossible to salvage the vessel.

The equivalent of about 50 barrels of the flounders was brought ashore the following day, and members of the coast guard outfit under Capt. Clarence E. Peckham, of the Fishers Island station entertain some hope of being able to salvage the engine.

The Viking was built in Noank, in 1897, and is a 27 gross and 19-net ton vessel, 48 feet long with a beam of 16 feet and depth of seven. Her indicated horsepower is 40. She is valued at about $10,000.

Recent efforts to close the municipal ... in Uruguay have ended as before, in legislative measures being pigeon holed by committees.



All over this big broad land of ours thousands of under-weight men are putting on pounds of good healthy flesh with McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Tablets.

Charles Henry Denman, of Suffern, N. Y., who was gassed in France, gained 8½ pounds in three weeks. Read what he says:

"One day I heard of McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Tablets—just about three weeks ago. I got a box and started to take them. Since then I have taken two more boxes, all but 16 tablets.

The result is wonderful — never since I was first gassed have I been so strong and felt so good. I have already gained 8½ pounds.

For wear, run down, under-weight, nervous men, women, children. 60 tablets 50 cents.

Lee & Osgood Co. sells lots of them. "Get McCoy's, the original and genuine.

LEGAL NOTICES

ISAAC FISHKEN VS WILLIAM T. Mahoney, et al, order of notice.
State of Connecticut, County of New London, March 17, 1925.
Upon the complaint of the said Isaac Fishken claiming for the reasons therein set forth judgment determining adverse claims and settling title to certain premises now pending returnable on the first Tuesday of April, 1925; before the superior court in and for said county.
It appearing to and being found by the subscribing authorities that certain of said defendants are absent from this state and are residing: John Mahoney at 81 Pine St., South Boston, Mass., Thomas Swanton at 32 Winthrop St., Malden, Mass., Ellen Mahoney and Jeremiah Mahoney at Hatharvane, Ballydehole, County of Cork, Ireland; and Ellen Coggins at Gloun in the Parish of Skull, County of Cork, Ireland, and that the plaintiff does not know who the defendants, the heirs of Ellen Swanton, are nor where any of them reside.
It is therefore ordered That notice be given the several defendants hereinbefore specifically named by depositing a true and attested copy of said complaint, citation and of this order of notice in the postoffice at Norwich in said county, postage paid by registered letter directed to each of them at their respective places of residence as above stated on or before the 30th day of March, 1925; and that notice of the pendency of said complaint be given said defendants, the heirs of Ellen Swanton, by publishing this order in the Norwich Bulletin, a newspaper printed in Norwich in said county once a week for two weeks successively commencing on or before the 20th day of March, 1925, by some proper officer or person indifferent.
JOHN H. WALKER,
Asst. Clerk of the Superior Court for New London County.

The 15th annual Old Folks concert, given under the auspices of the Xi choir of Willimantic was given in Chaplin Wednesday evening. The chorus numbered 32 voices. A full house greeted the singers.

Europe's Coast Line

Islands constitute about one-twentieth of the area of Europe. Europe's coast line is relatively greater than that of any other continent, and the numerous indentations of the coast give Europe its commercial supremacy.

TAFTVILLE

Miss Isabelle Barritt entertained the C. E. S. Wednesday evening at her home on Norwich avenue.

The Ladies Benevolent society met Wednesday afternoon in the parlors of the Taftville Congregational church. After the business session, at which the president, Miss Gertrude M. Young presided, there was a social hour and refreshments of fruit salad, cake and tea was served.

Leon T. Ward of New Haven, Conn., was a business caller in the village, Thursday.

The Thursday evening basketry class met in the Red Cross rooms in the Ponemah building.

Castle Perilous, No 3747, K. O. K. A., met Wednesday evening at the Taftville Congregational church. Plans were made and committees were appointed to arrange for the Feast of Pentecost, the largest of the castle ceremonials, which will take place early in June. The Castle is to be assisted by Camp Oenwasin, Camp A-o-wa-kiwa, the O. J. 6., and Troop 3, Boy Scouts. One of the executive chancellors of the order is expected to preside at the conclave, and other castles have signified their intention of joining with Castle Perilous for the event. After the business, there was the usual social hour in the basement of the church.

The regular meeting of the A-o-wa-ki-ya Camp Fire Girls was omitted this week.

NORWICH TOWN

In recognition of the birthday of George E. Hyde, of Washington street, Ever Ready Circle of the King's Daughters and a few friends assembled at his home Wednesday evening for a social time. The pleasant affair arranged by the 12 circle members present, was a prolonged surprise to Mr. Hyde whose birthday fell on Thursday. Mr. Hyde, as the guest of honor, was remembered with cards by each one and he also received some very fine gifts, among them a birthday cake. During the evening a number of games were played and the circle served grape juice cake and candy. The early part of the evening the circle held a short business meeting. Mr. Hyde is deeply interested in all the activities concerning the First Congregational church and its several branches, especially the Young People's Christian Endeavor society, of which for many years he has been an honored and most helpful member.

DR. WM. GOOD BUYS BIG WATERBURY BLOCK

The purchase of an important piece of business property in Waterbury by Dr. William Murray Good, formerly of this city, is recorded in Waterbury papers. The price paid is said to be about $200,000.

Dr. Good, who is one of the most prominent physicians and surgeons in Waterbury has acquired a large business block on Center street between the Princess theatre block and the Waterbury Electric Light Co. building.

Dr. Good has offices in the Steele building. He is widely known and has a large practice. Whether he will keep the building to remain as it is or alter it is a matter to be decided later.

Other property owners on Center street and along Leavenworth street will be pleased to hear that such a substantial citizen as Dr. Good has purchased the property, says the Waterbury paper.

Representatives from young peoples' societies in the New London, Ashford and Stonington Baptist associations attended an Eastern Connecticut young peoples' rally at the Central Baptist church Thursday afternoon and evening and heard inspiring addresses by the presiding officers, Rev. O. P. Campbell of Hartford, religious educational director for the Baptists of Connecticut, Edwin Phelps of Chicago, general secretary of the Baptist Young Peoples Union of America, and Mrs. Elizabeth M. Finn of Philadelphia, field worker for the American Baptist publication society.

The gathering began at 5 in the afternoon with a social hour until 6:15, during which stunts for the entertainment of the more than 200 present were put on by the young people of the Central Baptist church and the Third Baptist church.

A surprise prize was given for the society coming from the greatest distance out of town and for having the largest number present. Both went to Willington, coming 40 miles and having 26 present. The prize was a bouquet of jonquils, enough to provide a flower for each delegate to wear as a trophy for the rest of the meeting. The registration showed the following: Willington, 40 miles, 26; Moosup, 20 miles, 16; New London, 16 miles, 16; Lebanon, 12 miles, 12; Fitchville, 8 miles, 6; Jewett iCty, 9 miles, 9; Leffingwell 3, First Baptist 9, Third Baptist 8, Central Baptist 100.

At 6:30 supper was served in Bushnell chapel, where the decorations were in green and white in an arbor effect over the tables and the menu was arangerd in a crossword puzzle. The following was served: Meat pie, baked potatoes, green peas, sweet pickles, finger rolls, lime jello, cake, coffee and candy.

The Sunday school orchestra played during the supper hour, its members being Robert W. Otis, leader, Benjamin Palmer, Douglass Hunt, Robert Otis, Jr., Reginald Ashbey, Reginald Laubin, Donald Gildersleeve, Edward Smith and Miss Grace Taft. James L. Case was the song leader

The waitresses were the Misses Constance Raymond, Clara Palmer, Mildred Case, Genie Dean, Lnore Chapman, Helen Hastings, Mabel Hagberg, Marion Royce, Dorothy Spencer, Unabelle Harbeck, Ruth Eaton, Laura Shields, Susie Hargreaves, and Nellie Chappell. In charge in the kitchen were Mrs. Henrietta Tefft, Mrs. James Parker, Mrs. Jennie Davis, Mrs. B. D. Rogers, Mrs. W. H. Covey, and Mrs. Willis Hill.

Rev. Mr. Campbell opened the speaking programme with some inspiring remarks upon the opportunity that is before young people.

He was followed by Mrs. Finn, who spoke upon The Christian's Life Programme, upon which emphasis is to be placed for young people during the coming year, making a common ground of activity for all Baptist young people irrespective of the name of the organization under which they are grouped. It is to be a building of the Christian life, all working together in the kingdom of the Master, and it will present a programme big enough and strong enough and great enough for them to grasp with enthusiasm.

General Secretary Phelps held the close attention of his hearers as he spoke of three essentials to success in life, viz; to have a purpose, to have a programme directed towards that purpose and to apply power. These will make young peoples work a success in any church. The purpose of the young peoples society is training for service, and this is attained through practice in worship, work and giving that will round out a Christian character. A programme is a thing over which you move to pour purpose, Mr. Phelps said, and it must have three essentials. It must have objectives, it must have plans to reach these objectives and it must have distribution of the responsibility over the entire membership of the young peoples organization. As objectives he gave four things, a deepened devotional life, a vital relationship to the church, a keen interest in the young people of the church and the congregation, and a knowledge of the denomination. The plan to reach these objectives could be followed in concentrating the endeavor towards objects at certain times and the distribution of responsibility means distributing the work so that not all is left to the president, but spheres of action are assigned to many different members. There is nothing better to bring out the stuff that is in a young peoples society than this distribution of work. Finally, power has in it two elements, vision and concentration. If there is a success in the young peoples organization it will be because power is put into it and out of these organizations will come the leaders of the denomination and of our country because they are trained in the service of Jesus Christ.

The closing address was by Mrs. Finn, who spoke upon Carry On, telling the affecting story of Harry Lauder's work in securing recruits for the British army during the world war because of his son's appeal for "men." With this Mrs. Finn used the last word of Jesus as recorded in Mathew, "Go Ye," and called upon the young people to go forth into society, the church, the community, the world and the nation.

After a hymn and the benediction the gathering adjourned at 9 o'clock. The general committee arranging for the rally comprised Miss Constance Raymond, Miss Clara Palmer, Miss Ruth Eaton, Douglas Hunt, Miss Dorothy Spencer and Miss Genie Dean.

NO. ST. JOSEPH DAY MASS— REV. JOHN J. REILLY ILL

March 19th is the Feast of St. Joseph, foster-father of the Christ-Child. Thursday, at St. Patrick's church there were ascension and calla lilies and carnations on the altar of St. Joseph and the congregation had assembled for the daily mass at 8 o'clock, when Rev. Myles P. Galvin, the acting pastor, announced to the people that mass would have to be omitted, since Rev. John J. Reilly, who was to read it is ill with a touch of grip; nothing alarming, Father Galvin stated, but Father Reilly's physician would not permit him to leave the rectory. Since Father Galvin himself had to celebrate a funeral mass at 9, he could not read the 8 mass. However, he administered Holy Communion to many who are daily communicants, after he had led in the recitation of the five joyful mysteries of the rosary—meditating on the annunciation, the visitation of the Virgin and St. Joseph to the house of Elizabeth, the birth of the Saviour, Christ's presentation in the temple and the naming of the Child Jesus. Afterwards there was the litany of the blessed virgin, also special prayer to St. Joseph as patron of the universal church.

Father Galvin announced that another funeral today (Friday) would compel the omission of the mass at 8, but that he would give Holy Communion at 7 and 8 this morning to those desiring to receive it. The illness of Father Reilly and the absence in Rome of the rector, Rev. M. H. May, again leaves the entire work of caring for the parish of 4,000 souls on Father Galvin, who has acquitted himself with ability in similar emergencies, during his 14 or 15 years at St. Patrick's.

The epistle for the St. Joseph's Day mass is Genesis 49, 22-26, ending, "May thy blessings be upon the head of Joseph, and upon the crown of the Nazarite among his brethren." The gospel is Luke 3, 21.23, ending, "And Jesus Himself was about the age of thirty years; being (as it was supposed) the Son of Joseph." The communion is Matthew I, "But Jacob begat Joseph, the husband of Mary, of whom was born Jesus, Who is called Christ."

JUDGE TAKES PAPERS IN FORECLOSURE SUIT

Upon the conclusion in the superior court Thursday morning of the trial of the foreclosure suit brought by Alice Comstock against Samuel P. Johnson and others all of New London, Judge Allyn L. Brown took the papers for consideration before rendering a verdict. Trial of the suit was started Wednesday, the plaintiff seeking to foreclose an $800 mortgage on land located in New London.

Thursday afternoon before Judge Brown the suit brought by Addie Dove Gilfillan of New London against Grace P. Howard, executrix of the will of the late Estella Gresham, also of that city went on trial. The action is an appeal from probate, and the plaintiff asks damages of $1,100. In her bill of complaint the plaintiff claims that on November 3, 1923, she presented to Mrs. Howard a bill of $900 against the estate of the deceased, which bill she claims was disallowed and not paid.

WHIST AND BRIDGE FOR B'NAI BRITH AUXILIARY

Mrs. Alex Pasnik, president of the Ladies' Auxiliary, I. O. B. B., held a whist and bridge at her home, 79 Williams street Wednesday afternoon with a large attendance of players.

Every one present enjoyed a pleasant afternoon. Refreshments of ice cream, cake, punch and candy were served. Mrs. Joseph Sternlieb and Mrs. Graffe carried away the bridge prizes and Mrs. Samuel Taylor and Mrs. Bronerivine the first prizes.

A substantial sum was realized. This money is to go toward the auxiliary benefit fund. After the whist it was planned to have a rummage sale soon.

JOHN HUGHES AGREES WITH DAWES' REMARKS

In a recent issue of the New York Herald-Tribune there was printed a letter from the pen of John E. Hughes, now of Chicago, formerly of Norwich, in which Mr. Hughes stated his agreement with the vice president's strictures on the dilatory tactics of the United States Senate.

Mr. Hughes' letter follows:

"No logical argument can be made against that part of the vice president's inaugural address which recommended modification of the rules of the senate so as to prevent the defeat of necessary legislation by filibustering tactics.

"By expressly requiring a two-thirds vote only in cases of overriding the presidential veto, impeachment, approval of treaties, proposing constitutional amendments and the expulsion of a member the Constitution implied that majority vote shall be sufficient in all other cases. To allow less than a majority of the senators, by speaking indefinitely, to defeat legislation in the last days of a session is to defeat and subvert the principle of majority rule and to frustrate the intent of the Constitution.

"As a practical matter any citizen who goes into the senate knows that the seats of the senators are usually deserted and generally one senator will we found making a speech in the senate with only three or four other senators present to hear him. A majority of the senators are rarely present, except when a vote is taken. Hence, by availing himself of leave to extend his arguments in the record or leave to print a senator can have his views printed in the Congressional Record at any length and thus get his arguments before his colleagues.

"In the supreme court of the United States one hour is allowed each side to argue a case, even those involving the most important constitutional questions, and no one has ever charged that the limit of one hour resulted in injustice being done."

CURIOSITY CALLS CLOG TELEPHONES AT FIRES

Serious interference with prompt telephone service in emergencies arising from fires in the smaller communities of the state has been noted lately by telephone people. It is a quite common practice in some of the small localities for subscribers to immediately call the operator following a fire to ask what the fire is and where it is located. Many such calls are, of course, made out of mere curiosity and serve no purpose other than to satisfy the curious.

The fact is that these unnecessary calls tie up the telephone wires and switchboard facilities and engage the time of the operator when all these things are urgently needed to speed the fire alarm to those who will help in the emergency. For instance, when a line is in use for a curiosity call it cannot be used by the operator to notify volunteer firemen where the fire is. Or a legitimate call from a volunteer fireman who wishes to do his share in that capacity cannot be put through to the operator if the line engaged, as it is many times on unnecessary calls.

It is suggested that in all small communities, where the telephone is used for sending in a fire alarm or for notifying the volunteer firemen that there is a fire and its location, telephone subscribers refrain for a reasonable time from using their telephones, except on business calls. If this is done the emergency work of the operator can be more speedily carried out and the chances are that the property damage at any fire will be less than if important calls for help are delayed.

SUES FOR COMMISSION ON REAL ESTATE SALE

Suit against the Central Building Co., of this city, owners of the Central building on Broadway, has been brought by John A. Moran, real estate agent, for a commission of $1,950 which he claims is due him for the sale of the building to William H. Murphy for $65,000.

The plaintiff alleges that since Nov. 1922, he has been employed as sole agent, to look after the building for the Central Building Co., and to sell the building. He claims that there was an agreement that all prospective purchasers were to be referred to him and that in October, 1924, Henry H. Gallup, president of the defendant company, requested him to endeavor to sell the property to Mr. Murphy. In pursuance of this request, the plaintiff claims he secured an offer of $65,000 which he submitted to Mr. Gallup, but the latter then proceeded to negotiate personally with Mr. Murphy, without the plaintiff's knowledge or consent, and consummated the sale for the said sum, conveying the property on Jan. 6, 1925. The plaintiff has demanded his commission but the defendant refuses to pay it.

The suit is returnable to the superior court in April.

FINED ON CHARGE OF EVADING RESPONSIBILITY

In the city court Thursday morning, Joseph Fountaine of 32 Hickory street was presented on the charge of evading responsibility after an automobile accident and was fined $50 and costs by Judge A. F. Libby. While driving an auto truck on Boswell avenue, Fontaine struck and killed a dog belonging to Minnie Mingo. The testimony of several witnesses was that Fountaine did not come back to see what damage he had done after hitting the dog. Those testifying against him were Sam Mingo, John Marks, two boys, and Thomas Plunkett, who has been a resident of this city for 57 years.

In his own defense Fountaine testified that he stopped about 15 feet beyond the place whehe he hit the dog, but when he saw the animal get up and run to the sidewalk, he concluded it could not be much hurt and he drove away.

Judge Libby imposed the minimum penalty. It is understood the case will be appealed.

BOY SCOUT CAMPAIGN BROUGHT IN $5,327.55

The recent Boy Scout campaign for the annual budget exceeded the quota of $5,000 by $327.55, according to the report made by Treasurer Arthur E. Story who has completed the totalling of the final results. There was $3,182.35 received in cash and a total of $2,145.20 in pledges on which payment will soon begin, the cash having already been deposited to the credit of the Boy Scout fund. The total receipts for the budget are thus $5,327.55.

SPRING APPAREL STOCKS VARIED AND NOT HIGH-PRICED

So much talk about window displays this week started up live interest in apparel stocks Thursday and there were many buyers, or intending buyers, in the stores.

Suits, coats, hats, furs and accessories were inspected and in numerous cases very satisfactory sales were made.

Special admiration was incited by the season's appealing colors—French blue, pearl gray, violet, tints of green, tan, navy, rose de France, Lanvin blue, et al.

Silk and Casmere coats, velveteen coats for young girls, two-fabric ensemble offerings, sheer, handsome crepe frocks, elegant ottoman coats fur-bordered, the vogue of the front tie, taking of the coat's fullness, smart furs of the wanted tint, hats striking with new velvet flowers direct from Paris, new and novel effects in sports garments—there was much to interest every visitor to the stores.

Selecting of spring raiment cannot be deferred much longer, for a warm wave is due and only the careless woman will be found unprovided with suitable clothing.

Prices this year seem surprisingly reasonable; so that everything is in the buyer's favor.

Study styles and stocks today—taking advantage of the hints given by advertisers in The Bulletin.

BILL TO MAKE 500 THE LIMIT AT STORRS

Student enrollment at the Connecticut Agricultural college will be limited to 500 students at any one time, under a bill raised by the appropriations committee of the legislature and favorably reported Wednesday in the house.

The judiciary committee reported favorably on a bill amending the workman's compensation act to make the minimum weekly payment $24 instead of $18, which under the rule of compensation of one-half the average wage, extends the act to include those whose weekly wage is $48.

The house session was marked by plenty of discussion, starting when a bill appropriating $100,000 for a state aid road in Mansfield was rescued for the time being from rejection, following an unfavorable report of the roads, bridges and rivers committee. Representative Lincoln of Ashford was the saviour of the bill which he claims will end the isolation of his town. The stream leasing bill also went over to a future date, following objections to its provision that children under 16 years of age must have licenses for angling in these streams.

KILL TEACHER PAY BILL BUT FAVORED ITS SPIRIT

A very formal burial was given house bill No. 542 by the committee of education and by Mrs. Townshend of New Haven, the introducer of the bill in the house of representatives Wednesday. The bill provided equal pay for teachers in public schools without discretion as regards sex. Mrs. Lewis, house chairman of the education committee, said the committee was unanimously in accord with the principle of the bill but had come to the conclusion that the pay of teachers is an economic question not to be regulated by legislation, but to be handled by local school boards. Mrs. Townshend said that being informed that the spirit of the bill had received unanimous endorsement of the committee she did not feel that it would be going back on the spirit of the bill by voting to accept the report. The report was accepted and the bill rejected.

CONNECTICUT THIRD IN FEDERAL FARM LOANS

Despite the fact that Connecticut's federal land banks reported more loans closed and a greater value for the same during January than for the preceding month, the Nutmeg state dropped from second place in December to third place in January among the New England states in the value of loans closed during the month. The figures are from the federal farm loan bureau of the department of the treasury.

Connecticut's federal land banks closed 12 loans at $32,800 in January while during the preceding months the number was but nine at $30,700.

The Bay State with a total of 12 loans at $42,800 in January held second place, rising from fourth in December, the loan closed that month being 11 at $24,500.

Maine continued to hold first place, although the number and value of closed loans in January was less than in the preceding month, dropping from 42 at $120,400 to 29 at $78,700.

Vermont was fourth, closing seven loans at $23,200, while New Hampshire followed with but two at $3,000.

Rhode Island's report for January was the same as in December, no loans closed.

Chattel Mortgage Bill on Cattle.

A bill that would bring cattle which are under the tuberculin test supervision of the state of Connecticut within the chattel mortgage law so that farmers could borrow money on them as on real estate was strongly favored by several representatives of the agricultural interests of this state before the committee on the judiciary at the state capitol Tuesday and was not opposed by anyone.

SAYS CONFERENCE TABLE IS PREFERABLE TO STRIKES

Declaration Made by William Green, President of the A. F. of L., in Address at Harward Union—Asserts That in Many Instances Bitter Controversies Are Traceable to a Flagnant Disregard or Denial of the Common Rights of Either Employers or Employes—Contends That Collective Bargaining For Employees and Fair Return Upon Invested Capital, With Full Control, For Employers Must be Recognized.

Cambridge, Mass., March 20.—Modern organized labor "prefers the conference table to the strike field," said William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, in an address at the Harvard Union tonight.

"Between capital and labor," he said, "there is an interdependence so fixed and irrevocable as to make complete success attainable only through understanding and cooperation. It is to these problems of industrial cooperation and understanding that modern trade unionism is addressing itself. We do not believe our common problems are impossible of solution nor do we believe the obstacles to be met are insurmountable. As evidence of our faith we refuse to accept the oft-expounded theory that the differences between capital and labor, between employer and employe, are irreconcilable. The conflicts which arise in industry and which in many instances become bitter and violent are directly traceable to a flagrant disregard or denial of the common rights of either employers or employes.

"It is not a disagreement over wages which causes the most bitter conflicts. It is the denial of the workers' right to organize and to bargain collectively which causes strife, strikes and in some instances industrial warfare.

"The assurance of complete success through the medium of collective bargaining must be predicted upon a mutuality of interest in industry. A positive understanding must be reached providing for a proper reward and a just recognition of the rights of all concerned. Inasmuch as collective bargaining is based and founded upon group action the union of the workers must be unreservedly recognized. In similar fashion, the right of employers to control, direct and manage industry and to receive a fair return upon invested capital must be willingly conceded. • • •

"The practical operation of such a plan of understanding must unnecessarily be upon the assumption that the employer and the employe are no longer inspired by hate, malice and enmity toward each other. Instead, the antagonistic and hostile attitude so characteristic of the old order in industry must be supplanted by a friendly relationship and a sense of obligation and responsibility, this is the newer concept of modern trade unionism.

"In expounding this philosophy, I am conscious of the fact that there are employers of labor and workers in industry who take sharp issue with the views here expressed. • • • The employers in this group are opposed to collective bargaining because they believe that ownership in industry is supreme, superseding all other rights. • • • The workers who constitute this other group are opposed to collective bargaining because they assert it means wage slavery. They do not believe in wage contracts or wage scale regulations. They preach class war and class struggle. They are opposed to the existing social order, to what they term 'capitalism,' and pretend to look forward to the time when capitalism will be destroyed and the rule of the proletariat will be substituted in its place. • • •

"The best answer which can be made to those who challenge the workability of collective bargaining is the fact that it has been working successfully in many industries and in many fields of employment. • • • More and more organized labor is coming to believe that its best interests are promoted through concord rather than by conflict. It prefers the conference table to the strike field. • • •

"Organized labor recognizes and appreciates the value and importance of education. Through education which will bring wisdom to the formulation of the institutions of the future, labor seeks deliverence from the limitations of existing conditions. This does not mean that labor will suddenly discard its militant tactics and traditions. Until employers and management are better educated labor will be forced to maintain defensive and aggressive policies. • • •

"The union of the workers is not standing still. It is consolidating the gains of the past and pressing courageously along the highway of progress. The union expresses the workmen's unsatisfied desire for self-betterment in all of the phases that desire may find expression. No substitute can hope to replace the union, for it has the intrinsic right to existence which comes from service rendered to fit changing stages of development. Many wage earners have had dreams of ownership in industry, but even so we all know that whatever the ownership, private, governmental, or employe, the vital problem for us is the terms and relations we have with management. To deal with this problem, labor must always have its voluntary organizations directed and managed by itself."

MYSTERY CRAFT AGROUND ON PENFIELD REEF

Fairfield, March 20.—A mystery craft went aground on Penfield Reef at 11 o'clock this morning. Despite inquiries, investigators were unable to learn whether the boat was a coast guard cutter, rum-runner or merchant boat, members of the crew refusing to make a statement.

At the New London naval base officers said that they had no record of any craft or patrol boat operating from that station in trouble in this vicinity. Radio officers said that they were unable to get in communication with any federal boat in this section of the sound. While no official statement was forthcoming it was believed that a destroyer was immediately despatched here to investigate.

The boat, painted a dark gray and about 70 feet in length, was floated off with the high tide tonight. After it went aground this morning several members of the crew came ashore, but none would comment or even admit they were from the boat.

As the tide receded, the boat reclined on its side so that only the bottom of it was visible from the shore. The craft was fully two miles out and much nearer the lighthouse than any of the other boats that went aground on the reef during the last 18 months.

One member of the crew, however, said that the boat was the Marietta, of Boston, a fishing craft carrying a cargo of eggs, but residents along the beach point out that it bore marks of a coast guard cutter in that it was equipped with a gun and turret on the forward deck, giving the appearance of a sub-chaser type.

NEGRO WAS LYNCHED BY MOB IN VIRGINIA

Norfolk, Va., March 20.—A negro accused of attacking a white woman, was taken from the Sussex county jail at Waverly, by a mob early tonight and lynched.

The negro, identified only as "shorty," was arrested late today and was reported to have confessed after being taken before the victim of the attack.

As news of the arrest spread, a crowd gathered about the jail. Sheriff J. B. Farrin and his deputies were covered with shotguns, and the door was smashed. The negro then was hanged from a tree and made a target for many bullets, after which the body was burned.

SUIT TO PROTECT SONG "OH, DIDN'T HE RAMBLE"

New York, March 20—A popular song of 25 years ago, "Oh, Didn't He Ramble," was revived in court today when its publishers sought an injection prohibiting another firm from putting out a modern version.

In the old song "he" rambled "till the butcher cut him down." The new one would have "him" ramble "till the butcher killed him dead."

Decision was reserved by Judge Knox.

WOMAN ATTORNEY IS DEFENDING HER HUSBAND

New York, March 20—Declaring that she had been up "day and night searching evidence that will aid in proving Austin H. Montgomery innocent," Mrs. Montgomery as an attorney for the defense, today entered the fight to free her husband in federal court from a charge of using the mails to defraud.

He is accused with nine others, as participation in alleged "blind pool" operations of the community finance corporation, which failed in 1922 for $1,800,000.

The mother of three children and the second woman to be admitted to practice in federal courts, Mrs. Montgomery declared that "the government has not got the right man in this case."

The trial began last Wednesday, after Montgomery's arrest as a fugitive from justice several weeks ago in Canada. He fled across the border after forfeiting $65,000 bail and has since been in Tombs prison, unable to raise $75,000 more bail.

CLOTHES REEL SAVED THE LIFE OF HARTFORD MAN

Hartford, March 20.—A clothes reel protruding from the first floor of 99 Church street, probably saved the life of Peter Morris, 57 years old, a tenant, who fell from the fourth floor of the building when a section of the weak railing of his back porch gave way today.

Morris fell head foremost when the section of the wooden railing against which he had been leaning broke, carrying the broken part with him. The clothes reel on the first floor broke his fall, and Morris fell upon the roof of a one-story building adjoining.

Notwithstanding his experience, Morris climbed the three flights of stairs to his home from which he was later removed to the Hartford hospital.

CLAIMED HIS POCKET WAS PICKED IN COURT ROOM

New York, March 20.—Summoned to court today to answer a charge of illegal driving, Isadore Rodnowitz went prepared to pay a fine and have it over with. He had $300 in his pocket.

"Two dollars," the magistrate said. Isadore smiled. It was easy. He reached for his roll, searched his pockets and cried out:

"My pockets have been picked in court."

Sentence was suspended. Isadore departed and then returned—with two dollars.

TO REORAGANIZE THE CINCINNATI POLICE FORCE

Cincinnati, Ohio, March 20.—Chief of Police William Copelan tonight was reorganising the Cincinnati police force as a result of the suspension from duty of 48 policemen and detectives following their indictment by a special federal grand jury on the charges of violating the national prohibition law.

Federal Tax Refunds To Conn. Corporation

American Hardware Corp. of New Britain Allowed $613,000 For Overpayment in 1918.

Hartford, March 20—The United States treasury department has allowed a refund of $613,000 to the American Hardware corporation, of New Britain to cover an overpayment for the tax year 1918 under the income and profit taxes. Nearly $135,000 of the amount refunded is in accrued interest, the actual payment having been in the neighborhood of $475,000.

It has been found that the company's original return for the tax year in question was correct, but that government agents erred, after auditing the returns, in making demand for approximately $475,000 additional, which was paid by the corporation under protest. United States internal revenue collector Robert O. Eaton has forwarded a check to the corporation to cover the entire amount.

A refund of $49,019.97 has been made to the Hartford Fire Insurance company on account of an overpayment for the tax year 1919.

Collector Eaton was surprised to have an envelope containing a check for $101,000 addressed to the Connecticut Steel corporation of Bridgeport returned to him by the Bridgeport postmaster with the notation that the notation that the corporation was not known there. The check was to cover a refund made necessary by the discovery of an overpayment in that company's income tax for the year 1919. It was found upon inquiry, that the Connecticut Steel corporation had been absorbed by the American Tube and Stamping company of Bridgeport, and the check was forwarded to the latter.

Income tax returns filed with the revenue bureau here up to March 15 indicate that Connecticut industries as a whole had an exceptionally prosperous year.

OBITUARY.

George W. Merry

Hartford, March 20—George W. Merry, post quartermaster sergeant at the state armory, died late yesterday of apoplexy in his apartment. He served at the armory for about fifteen years, and prior to 1909 was for five years caretaker at the military reservation at Niantic.

Mr. Merry was born in Pittsfield Mass., in 1863, was married in Willimantic in 1888, and leaves a wife, a daughter in this city, and a son in Huntington, W. Va.

Among military men Sergeant Merry was well known.

Blizzard Sweeping Manitoba Prairies

Storm is Reported the Worst in Many Years—Record Falls of Snow in Many Areas.

Winnipeg, Man., March 20—The prairie provinces today were swept by a blinding blizzard. From many points in Manitoba and Saskatchewan the blizzard is reported the worst in many years.

Railways were experiencing great difficulty in keeping lines open, while wheel traffic in the prairie cities was seriously disrupted.

In Manitoba, the storm centre, nearly six inches of snow had fallen by mid-afternoon. The blizzard raged furiously around Brandon, Man., while Battleford, Saskatoon, Qu'Appelle and areas as far west as Lethbridge reported record falls of snow.

TO RECONSIDER APPLICATION OF MRS. HANNAH CHAPLIN

Washington, Mar 20—Secretary Davis today took under further advisement the application of Mrs. Hannah Chaplin, of Los Angeles, Calif., mother of Charles Chaplin, the film actor, for permission to remain in this country until March 26.

The secretary announced that meanwhile no move would be made to compel Mrs. Chaplin to leave the country next Thursday, when a previous extension of time expires. He gave no indication how long the case would be held under consideration, although earlier in the day he had announced that a formal decision could be expected late today or tomorrow.

Mrs. Chaplin, a British subject, was admitted to the United States March 25, 1921, to receive medical treatment. Her stay was limited to one year because of her condition made her ineligible for citizenship, but at the end of each year's period her attorneys have obtained additional leave for her to remain. Last year, however, officials of the department had reached an agreement with the attorneys that they would ask for no further extension.

Nevertheless, the attorneys, after being notified recently that Mrs. Chaplin must leave the country by March 26, filed affidavits by her physicians, her sons, Charles and Sydney, and her nurse, stating that he condition, an outgrowth of air raids over London, during the war, had improved considerably in the last year. They denied she was suffering from insanity, and expressed fear that a return to London at this time not only would retard her advancement, but might cause a severe setback and even prove fatal.

It was then that the secretary consented to reconsider the case.

The Woman Who Entertains Well

There's something indescribably fine about the woman who entertains well. From the cheery appearance of her home to the service she so deftly affords—everything is so natural—yet so charmingly different.

Advertisements keep these women ahead of the commonplace. Advertisements tell of the newest and most delightful things. Advertisements announce new customs and practices. They tell what the world approves as correct.

The woman who entertains well must read the advertisements. Not only to keep pace with progress—but to learn how to do so on a limited purse. For advertisements are more than harbingers of style—they are announcements of economies that may be practiced safely.

Read The Bulletin advertisements—to know what is new, what is correct and what is economical.

CURZON FUNERAL SERVICE TO BE IN WESTMINSTER ABBEY

London, March 20—The honor of a funeral service in Westminster Abbey is to be accorded Marquis Curzon of Kedleston, one of Great Britain's most distinguished statesmen, who died early this morning after a brief illness.

The ceremony will be attended by representatives of the royal household members of both houses of parliament and a great gathering of prominent personages in all phases of national activity.

The funeral ceremony will take place Wednesday and immediately afterwards the body will be conveyed to Kedleston, where it will be buried on Thursday in the presence of the family of the marquis and personal friends.

As a mark of respect the house of lords, in which Lord Curzon was government leader, will not carry out its usual business on Monday. A motion for adjournment will be the signal for funeral orations.

TO CONSIDER ESTABLISHING STATE GASOLINE STATIONS

Hartford, March 20.—Believing that it will be of "service" to the people of the state, a sub-committee of the judiciary committee of the legislature will recommend to the entire committee some kind of legislation looking toward a lower price on gasoline sold at retail in the state. The sub-committee, consisting of Representative J. Mortimer Ball, of Salisbury, chairman, Senator Samuel Shaw, of Redding and Representative J. F. Floyd, of Waterford, has been authorized by the committee as a whole to investigate the practicability of the state establishing gasoline sales stations.

MADE OUT MORE THAN 39,407 INCOME TAX RETURNS

New York, March 20—Henry W. George, treasurer of the Metropolitan Life Insurance company, today claimed the income tax return championship. He made out 39,407 income tax returns this year, before he stopped keeping account of the number, he said.

It is Mr. George's duty to make separate returns to various states and foreign countries, under their special laws, for a large part of the country's employees, foreign and domestic.

SEVEN CONTENDERS FOR PRESIDENCY OF GERMANY

Berlin, March 20—With seven contenders representing no less than a dozen parties and unattached political organizations listed on the official ballot for the presidential election, it is now commonly believed that the initial balloting on March 29 will terminate without a choice.

Pre-election estimates concede Karl Jarres, candidate of the conservative bourgeois party, a liberal lead over all other candidates, but he will fail it is believed, to poll sufficient votes to give him the constitutional majority needed to clinch his election.

Just what will be the line-up for the decisive balloting scheduled for April 26 is wholly conjectrual, as the liberal parties, comprising centrists, democrats and socialists, are awaiting the outcome of the preliminary voting before discussing a possible merger or the selection of a common standard bearer for the final test.

The appearance of General Ludendorff as an eleventh-hour contender has visibly distressed the Jarres campaign managers, and his party organs today studiously refrained from mentioning the general. Even in his own camp Ludendorff is confronted with heavy defections, and the Fascisti groups outside of Bavaria are openly adopting resortions in support of Jarres.

COOLIDGE VACATION TO BE SPENT IN NEW ENGLAND

Wahington, March 20—President Coolidge intends to go to New England for his summer vacation but has not determined definitely where or when he will go.

The time of his departure, it was said today at the white house, depends on the weather and if it remains as cool as it was last summer, Mr. Coolidge does not expect to leave until late in the season. He is considering a suggestion that he spend part of the time at Swampscott, Mass., where Frank W. Stearns, an intimate friend, has a home. Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge also expect to spend part of the vacation at Plymouth, his father's home, as has been their annual custom.

The ice went out of the Kennebec river, Maine, two weeks earlier than usual.

He was hanged on a scaffold he had painted several days ago, and went to his death calmly. He told a priest he had repented.

RECOVERING BODIES OF THE TORNADO DEAD FROM DEBRIS

Kinsfolk and Friends of Mourners A e Continuing the Work —Burial of the Dead Was Begun Yesterday—Latest Reports Place Number of Dead at About 800, With 3,000 Injured—Red Cross Estimates That Upwards of 15,000 Persons Are Homeless.

Chicago, March 20.—(By the A. P.) Burial of the dead resulting from tornado which struck portions of five Middle Western states Wednesday was begun today. Kinsfolk and friends of many mourners continued the dismal task of recovering bodies from the tangled debris of the storm swept area.

In the wreckage of the cities and out in the by-ways of the rural districts, relief and rescue workers reported additional casualties would be discovered. Unidentified dead still rest on crude fixtures in many morgues awaiting recognition or nameless burial.

The casualty list of the Associated Press tonight, carrying the names of those actually identified, totalled 738. The estimated and known dead from all sections numbered about 800 according to latest advices. The injured totalled around 2,000 on these reports. The homeless were being tabulated by hundreds, and Red Cross officials predicted they would number upwards of 15,000.

These refugees are as safely and and comfortably sheltered as is possible, however, and tents, equipment and food supplies rushed into all centers being ample to care for the situation. The problem is now one of rehabilitation.

Forty men worked all day digging graves at Murphysboro, Ills., one of the worst stricken cities, and tonight they expected to have seventy of the victims buried.

If all the bodies have been recovered by Sunday, the city will pause for a few hours for a general funeral service. The death list in the town was the highest recorded. It has reached 165, with 24 bodies remaining unidentified.

At West Frankfort, Ill., a sister city, which ranked second in loss of life and damage, 100 men were engaged in preparing graves. Methodically, the city was effacing material evidences of the tornado's visitation, the path of which followed a section largely occupied by hoppes of miners and railroad men. It probably will be a month before gas is again sent through the city's mains, but electric lights were promised for tonight.

In the other southern Illinois towns, De Soto, Gorham, Bush, McLeansboro, Enfield, Parrish, and neighboring villages, measures toward consign- ing their dead, relieving the pain of the injured and erasing the effects of the restructions made comparatively rapid headway.

Order is being generally restored and few instances of pilfering or looting thus far have been noted.

Despite the lack of heat, light and water facilities in some places, physicians in charge have minimized the threat of disease epidemics.

The section of Kentucky affected was nearly normal. Tennessee had taken care of its victims. All of Missouri's casualties, which were lessened with later reports, had been virtually accounted for, and Griffin and Princeton, the principal cities hit in Indiana had been cleaned up except for some scattered areas.

Waters of the Wabash threatened to hinder relief workers at Griffin. This town, about 50 years old, and virtually destroyed by the storm, will not be rebuilt in the opinion of survivors.

Carbondale, Ills., was made the center of relief and rescue operations in southern Illinois, civic, fraternal, and religious bodies coordinating their efforts from that point.

Estimated of the material loss were increase as inventory was being taken. The total, it was believed, would approximate six or seven million dollars in southern Illinois alone.

Indiana's section reported damage of from two to three millions. The combined total of Tennessee, Kentucky, and Missouri is estimated to exceed a million dollars.

GOV. TRUMBULL OFFERS AID AND SYMPATHY

Hartford, March 20.—Offers of aid and the sympathies of the people of Connecticut for those in the stricken areas were sent by Governor Trumbull today to the governors of the four states, Indiana, Missouri, Tennessee and Illinois, which were in the path of the recent tornado. The text of the massage follows:

"The people of Connecticut have been greatly distressed to learn of the misfortune which has caused such loss of life and property in your state and I hasten to express our sympathy and to offer such aid as you feel will be appropriate."

CO-ED MUST RECOGNIZE MAJESTY OF THE LAW

New York, March 20—Helen Mendelssohn, 19, Columbia university law co-ed, will abide for one year under a suspended sentence of 30 days in the workhouse she received today in traffic court after three rarests in eight days for speeding in her canary hued sportster.

The law student's license had previously been revoked, and she had also spent a day in jail in preference to paying a $5 fine. She had declared any law student would be helped by a little jail experience.

Today she failed to appear for sentence on one charge of speeding and to pay a fine of $25 on another, so Magistrate Levine issued a bench warrant for her arrest. She wandered into the courtroom during noon recess explaining she had a headache.

The court imposed the suspended workhouse sentence allowing her three more weeks to get the money for the fine, and warned her that if she "touches a hand to the wheel of an automobile" the coming twelve mounths the workhouse would immediately claim her.

Miss Mendelssohn explained her speeding as due to close connections she had to make between her work as a secretary in a downtown office and evening classes at Columbia. She reported that her notoriety as a speeder had cost her her job.

She told the court she was the support of several fatherless brothers and sisters, and worked by day to go to school at night.

Asked why she felt she had to use an automobile, she flung back: "I don't like to ride in the subway. I suppose now I'll have to wear a gas mask."

BRITISH MAJESTIES HAVE BOARDER ROYAL YACHT

Genoa, March 20—The British majesties arrived here today and immediately boarded their royal yacht, the Victoria and Albert, King George, who did not appear fatigued by the long rail journey across France, was in excellen spirits. Noticing a ship's doctor among the officers of his yacht he exclaimed, "hullo, here's another doctor."

Crowds gathered to see the royal visitors, but in deference to King George's wish there was no demonstration. Admiral Cagni and the prefect of the port informaly greeted King George and Queen Mary.

The Victoria and Albert will remain here tonight, starting tomorrow on a cruise of the Mediterranean which physicians hope will restore King George's health completely.

EPIDEMIC OF AN UNKNOWN MALADY IN BERLIN SCHOOLS

Berlin, March 20—An epidemic of an unknown disease has broken out in schools in various parts of Berlin has compelled the closing of a number of public and high schools. The board of health is trying to diagnose the disease, the symptoms of which are sore throat, inflamed and swollen tonsils and, in a number of cases, profuse nose bleed.

The epidemic is believed by many physicians to be a violent form of the grippe.

TWO ROBBERS KILLED AND TWO CAPTURED

Steeleville, Mo., March 20.—Two robbers were killed, two wounded and captured and a fifth escaped this afternoon when a citizens' posse engaged in a battle with the bandits who attempted to robe the Farmers' bank of Steeleville. One citizens was wounded.

SCATHING DENUNCIATION OF MRS. DENNISTOUN

London, March 20—Rarely has a woman of social standing been subjected to an English court of justice to a more scathing denunciation than was Mrs. Dorothy Muriel Dennistoun by Norman Birkett, when he addressed the jury today in behalf of Lieutenant Colonel Jan Onslow Dennistoun, her former husband. She is suing Colonel Dennistoun for money which she alleges she loaned him before they were divorced.

Mrs. Dennistoun bore the ordeal without flinching, except when reference was made to Sir John Cowans "going to his grave with curses on his lips for the woman who deceived him" she was visibly affected.

(The name of the late Sir John Cowans, Great Britains war-time quartermaster-general, has been brought into the trial through allegations by Mrs. Dennistoun that Colonel Dennistoun encouraged her relations with the quartermaster general to further his military career).

The dowager countess of Carnarvon widow of the noted Egyptologist, who married Colonel Dennistoun after his divorce, often appeared on the verge of tears during the address of Counsel Birkett. She held her handkerchief to her eyes and leaned for support on her son.

"Whatever might be said of Colonel Dennistoun,' said Mr. Birkett, "he is not a liar, whereas, on every fact you can test her, Mrs. Dennistoun is a liar of the first rank. She has lied with resource and ingenuity."

Pointing to "this woman" he exclaimed: "To use her own conduct as a means of getting money from Lady Carnarvon is the lowest degree of unforgiveable sins."

"Traitress," "extremely dangerous woman," "heartless," were some of Mr. Birkett's other comments, Mrs. Dennistoun merely shrugged her shoulders and smiled. "This action is blackmail and she knows it," the lawyer thundered.

Included among the twelve favorable reports from the committee on cities and boroughs which were received in the House Friday were: Giving the Willimantic common council control over public libraries; and providing for a salary of $750 for Willimantic's acting mayor.

In performing their duty of halting automobiles along the road leading through the Ridges in order to inspect licenses, Officers Heinold and Schwitzberg, of the Stafford Springs barracks, found one driver, Nick Mayeowsaye of this city who did not have his operator's license with him. The local man was presented in the Mansfield town court Friday morning and he pleaded guilty to the charge. Justice of the Peace George H. Andrews imposed a fine of $1 and costs, amounting to $16.45, which was paid.

Millard Knowlton, M. D. C. P. H., of Hartford, director of the state bureau of preventable diseases, spoke at a community meeting held Friday afternoon at their rooms through the courtesy of the Woman's Club, on a number of points connected with the care and prevention of scarlet fever and other communicable disease. According to the Sanitary Code of Connecticut, scarlet fever shall be reported to the health officer within 12 hours after its recognition by the attending physician, he said. Two kinds of placards are used in marking the houses where communicable diseases are confined, a warning, which does not necessarily prevent passing into and from the house, used in cases of measles, chicken-pox and the like, and a notice of quarantine, under which no one is allowed to enter or leave without permission of the health officer. Scarlet fever falls into this latter category. The quarantine is supposed to be in full effect during the period of communicability, of which the minimum, for very light cases, is three weeks. In answer to the question, "Should the children of the family in which a case of scarlet fever occurs, who have already had the disease, continue to live at rome and go to school?" Dr. Knowlton quoted the code as stating that "the premises where such disease exits shall be placarded and all occupants and frequenters of the same shall be quarantined until specific directions are received from the state commissioner of health," and said that the children who have never had it, if exposed, should stay at home for the length of the maximum incubation period, ten days. Usually the person exposed comes down with it within two or three days after his exposure. He said it is the general practice to leave the home, provided they are not food-handlers, and are properly isolated from the patient. Laundry, milk-bottles, and out-going mail should not be taken out during the period of disease. Burning, boiling, and scrubbing with creosole are the most satisfactory disinfectants.

Considerable excitement prevailed a few mornings ago at the West street school in Columbia. The teacher, Randall Tennant, of Hebron, getting off the Hebron bus a few minutes after eight, noticed the children running up the road and across the lots toward the school house, but thought nothing of it until, on nearer approach, he noticed clouds of smoke rolling up from to building and heard the cry of "school house's afire!" As he threw open the front door, a great cloud of smoke poured up through the floor in a space left under the entry sink for the spout. Investigation of conditions below showed that a great pile of firewood stacked there, had apparently been burning for several hours. Great chunks six or eight inches thick were smouldering and half burned away. Half a dozen pails of water put out the flames. A surprisingly small amount of damage resulted. How the fire could have started remains a mystery.

The Wednesday evening community meeting at Mansfield Center was preceded this week by a supper served by the members of the Christian Endeavor society, in charge of the social committee, of which Mrs. W. R. Crofoot is chairman. The decorations were green carnations, streamers, pompoms, and shamrocks. The program was arranged by Mrs. John Jacobson. An orchestra composed of Mrs. Fred Eaton, Bert Lyman, Ruth Wilson, and Lawrence Hutchins, of Columbia, gave a number of selections. Miss Viola Hobby gave "The Palms" with variations as a piano solo. Miss Ruth Oden sang "Love Sends a Little Gift of Roses"; a piano duet was given by Mrs. Jacobson and Mrs. Winifred Young; Gordon Bowers sang an Irish ballad and encore; and a recitation, with local hits was given by Mrs. Albert Anthony. The games and sports which followed were in charge of Mrs. Harold James. They included guessing games and contests one of them to see who could step through a hoop quickest.

A meeting of the teachers of Columbia and Hebron was held at Hebron Center school Thursday afternoon by Supervisor Oscar L. Fleetwood, of Willimantic. A paper on "Progress in the Rural Schools" was read by Miss Esther Lord, teacher in the Lord district, Hebron; a report on her recent visit to the North Bolton school was given by Miss Dorothy Foster, of the primary room, Hebron Center. Miss Mertelle Goodwin, principal of the Center school conducted a demonstration class in social studies, a combination of civics, history, and geography. Mr. Fleetwood spoke on Intensive Reading. Levi T. Garrison, of Willimantic, regional supervisor, took part in the discussion as did also Harry K. Viner, principal of the Nathaniel C. White school, in Cromwell.

A meeting of the Young People's club of Mansfield Center was held Thursday evening at the parsonage for a discussion of ways and means.

Mrs. Michael Grady entertained the Thursday Afternoon Sewing club. The usual sewing and embroidery and a social hour preceded the luncheon served by the hostess.

Freshman lyceum was held at Windham High school Friday morning with the usual singing of the school song and reading of minutes preceding a program arranged by Albert Laltiviere, Louise Sullivan, Bernice Clerk, Everett Green and Janet Scripture. A number of class mottoes were reported on by Louise Sullivan, of the committee appointed to choose a number from which the class might make a selection. "Service Above Self" was adopted by a rising vote. Stuart Walker's "Nevertheless," an incident in one act, was very cleverly put on by a cast of three, under the direction of Miss Catherine Wheeler. Avin Kenfield took the part of the girl, and Kerman Levine, that of the sulky boy, Billy. Both the children are consigned by their mother to a room by themselves to read "The Narrow Path" as a punishment for using improper English. Coming upon the unfamiliar word "nevertheless" they shut their eyes and wish for an elf to tell them what it means, and are surprised by an amateur burglar, excellently taken by Harold Hopkins. The burglar admits his guilt and past wrong doing, but is led by the children's "nevertheless" into the straight and narrow path. A very well executed piano solo closed the program, played by Elizabeth McKinley, who responded to an encore.

Clarence Palmer, local mail carrier, has returned to his duties after sixty days' absence.

Mrs. Otto B. Robinson and Miss Ethel Bush left Friday for New York, where Mrs. Robinson is to be the guest for a few days of her daughter Miss Phyllis Robinson, a student at Teachers' College, Columbia University.

Alfred Judson of Hartford pleaded guilty to a charge of driving without an operator's license, in the police court, Friday morning and was fined $25 and costs, ten dollars of the fine being remitted. Judson paid the assessment of $23.65.

Claude Griggs of this city was charged with driving an automobile past a standing trolley car on Main street on the night of February 12, last to which he pleaded guilty. The complaint had been entered by the conductor of the South Coventry-Willimantic trolley and the arrest was made by State Policeman Abild of Stafford Springs. Judge Foss imposed a fine of $25 and costs, remitting $10 of the fine. Griggs paid $23.20.

From the family home, 334 Valley street the funeral of Mrs. Mathilda Bertram was held Friday morning. High mass of requiem at St. Mary's church at nine o'clock was sung by Rev. J. J. Papilon. Mrs. Joseph F. Gaudreau was at the organ. The singing was by the St. Anne's choir. The delegation of the St. Anne society which acted as an escort to the sanctuary rail consisted of banner bearers, Mrs. Gedeon Cote, Mrs. Francis Gelinas and Mrs. J. B. Boudreau, and canopy bearers, Mrs. Adolphe Vaillancourt, Mrs. J. Martin, Mrs. Joseph Laviolette and Mrs. Michael Laramee. The bearers were Theophile Loiselle, Michael Deneault, Arthur Bertrand, Alfred Bertrand, Maxime Bertrand and Clement Hureau, Sr. At the grave in St. Joseph's cemetery Rev. Father Papillon read the committal services. Arrangements were in charge of the Hurteau-Bosse Corp.

Mary Dixon, wife of Amos Doubleday, died at her home, 10 Grove place, Friday morning after two weeks' illness. Besides her husband she is survived by a daughter, Miss Rose M. Doubleday of this city, a niece, Mary Rose Sullivan, two sisters, Mrs. James Lonergan of this city and Mrs. Jennie Fish of Fitchville, and two brothers, Lawrence and Timothy Dixon of Fitchville. The deceased was one of the best known and most highly respected residents of this city.

Willimantic acknowledges with a warm welcome the cut of one cent in the price of gasoline in New England. Local automobile owners offer a rising vote of thanks to th eman or reason responsible for this considerate move.

Joseph Szucki, infant son of Frank and Henrietta Godek Szucki, of 61 Capens lane died at the home of his parents Friday morning. Funeral services were conducted at the home and at the grave in St. Joseph's cemetery at two o'clock Friday afternoon by Rev. Paul Bartlewski. Killourey Brothers were in charge of the arrangements.

A local concern has started the work of wiring the new Capitol theatre building which will be complete on or about the middle of next June. The brickwork was finished Friday with the exception of partitions in the basement. In a sub-basement underneath the stage will be built fourteen large dressing rooms each with lavatory and bath. There will also be a large room for chorus corps. Below this sub-basement will be the boilers and store room. The theatre is well equipped with fire escapes and the passageways on both sides of the building are to be nine feet in width making quick exit comparatively easy. The official opening of the theatre is expected to take place early in the fall.

At a whist party in St. Mary's hall, Thursday evening, for the benefit of the poor of the parish some fifty tables were in play. The affair was in charge of the St. Antoine society. Popularity Like this Means Appreciation of Greater Values

The Standard Four-Door Sedan $1095 f. o. b. Detroit tax extra

The new good Maxwell has won such hearty approval here and everywhere, its popularity is a matter of comment. There can be no question that the car offers advantages never before found in a four.

There are logical reasons for this advance over conventional results.

First, the determination of Maxwell-Chrysler engineers to develop the four-cylinder principle to its fullest extent.

Next, the marked and recognized advantage in experience and resources of one of the largest and strongest quality manufacturing organizations in the industry.

Furthermore, the new good Maxwell is truly a "manufactured" car. The entire car, almost to the smallest detail, is built in the great Maxwell plants.

Naturally, with all these advantages the new good Maxwell offers higher quality and finer motoring at a surprisingly low cost.

The car's popularity means that the public has discovered this fact. To put the matter briefly, you have only to observe the growing number of new good Maxwells on the road to understand the wide-spread appreciation of Maxwell's higher quality and greater values. We are eager to prove it in a demonstration.

Worried About Your Health?

HAS a cold or attack of grip left you lame and stiff; miserable with backache—"all run down?"

Then how about your kidneys? You know, winter's colds and chills throw a heavy strain on the kidneys. The kidneys are apt to slow up in their work of filtering poisons from the blood. Then may come constant backache, rheumatic twinges, headaches, dizziness and bladder irregularities.

Why not try Doan's Pills? Doan's action on the kidneys is to assist elimination of body impurities. They have no injurious effects and are known the world over for the good they have done. Ask your neighbor!

Here is Norwich Proof:

MRS. E. MULKIN, 913 N. Main St., says, "I had dull pains across the small of my back and I noticed it mostly when I over-exerted or after being on my feet a great deal. My back felt weak and tired. Doan's Pills gave me great relief and that is why I recommend them."

Breed Theater

With a brilliant cast headed by Adolph Menjou, Eleanor Boardman, Conrad Nagel and Hedda Hopper Sinners in Silk, Metro-Goldwyn's latest release, as a picture depicting the so-called jazz era of the younger generation is the feature attraction at the Breed theater Sunday, Monday and Tuesday.

The picture is of a decidedly sophisticated trend, dealing for the most part with an ultra-fashionable set of debutantes and youths. The expected richness of settings and locales with such a theme is well evidenced throughout the entire production, as is the prevalency of atmospheric wealth.

Menjou in the role of a roue, rejuvenated for a time by a new operation, which prompts him to seek diversion with the younger set, gives a characteristic performance. All the suavity he possesses is brought into play, resultant in an excellent interpretation.

The society flapper parties are commendably peppy and unstrained. Eleanor Boardman, who takes the lead in these, enacts a difficult part to perfection.

Topics of the Day a cartoon and an educational comedy make up the remainder of the bill.

Todays bill consists of Buck Jones in The Man Who Played Square, the third chapter of The Iron Man, the Pathe news and a Sunshine comedy. Continuous show today from 1:30 to 10:30 P. M.

At the Y. M. C. A. Sunday.

At 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon at the local Y. M. C. A. special films of Bible pictures will be shown on the screen. Cain and Abel will be portrayed in their experiences which suggest an important lesson. Cain's jealousy of his brothers favor with the Lord; his quarrel with Abel, and finally his killing of his own brother, and the searching question of the Lord, "Cain, where is Abel, thy brother?" and the lie by Cain, "I know not, am I my brother's keeper"? Cain's banishment; he becoming a wanderer. Jacob and Esau will also be pictured vividly and true to the Bible narrative. Jacob and Esau two sons born to Isaac and Rebecca. Isaac loved Esau and Rebekah loved Jacob; Esau coming in from a hunting trip, hungry and faint and begged Jacob for red pottage; Jacob taking undue advantage of his brother's hunger, demands that Esau give him birthright for the pottage, and Esau, weak and weary consents. Rebekah, the mother conives with her son, Jacob to deceive the aged father now nearly blind and Jacob unintentionally gives the blessing to Jacob that belonged to Esau. The pictures from beginning to end are thrilling with real interest and are calculated to impress all who see them.

Hugh Kinder will furnish music for the pictures and also render vocal soles. The public is cordially invited, though all under fourteen must be accompanied by parents or guardians

Next Week at United Congregational Church.

The Sodalitas will meet on Monday evening, at the Community house, at half past seven, when Miss Grace Rogers will give a cooking demonstration.

All women of the parish who have birthdays in May or November are asked to meet with their chairmen, Mrs. A. H. Abbott and Mrs. F. W. Lester, at the pastor's study at half past three on Tuesday afternoon.

Members of the parish are urged to unite with the other churches of the community in the union lecture course on "The Life of Christ," led by Dr. M. A. Honline, of California, the meetings to be held at 7.45 Thursday evening, for five weeks, in the vestry of the Trinity Methodist church.

The monthly meeting of the Missions Department of the Woman's Guild will be held at the Community house on Friday afternoon. All women of the parish are urged to come at two o'clock, prepared to sew or make surgical dressings for the hospital at Greenwood, South Carolina. At three o'clock there will be an important business meeting, this followed by an address given by a representative of the Congregational Home Missionary society, New York city.

UNION MEETING SUNDAY NIGHT AT CENTRAL BAPTIST

Dr. Samuel W. Grafflin of New York is the preacher for the fifth in the series of union Sunday evening services under the auspices of the churches and the Norwich Y. M. C. A. This service will be held in the Central Baptist Church at 7:30 o'clock, and the public is invited. Dr. Grafflin is one of the most popular speakers in this part of the country, and is scheduled months ahead as a rule; he is an ordained preacher, having ministered to large congregations in the Methodist denomination for several years, until because of his special fitness he was called to lead in the spiritual work of the Young Men's Christian Association, and for years has been a leading spirit in that organization. Dr. Grafflin was for several summers probably the most popular preacher at the summer conferences at Silver Bay, and his messages always leave a deep spiritual impression; his voice is not a strange one in the radio, and recently his address at Schenectady, N. Y., to 900 foremen of manufacturing plants was broadcasted. A large audience is expected.

DR. SAMUEL W. GRAFFLIN

SYNDICATE HAS PURCHASED CATTLE RANCH OF 180,000 ACRES

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Mrs. Andrews' Dancing Class Recital.

At the recital to be given by Mrs. Andrews' pupils at Slater Hall this (Saturday) afternoon the following changes will be made in the program: Lois Latimer, instead of Virginia Hinds is to appear as the Daughter of Sardor. Mildred Potter is substituting for Marguerite Chapman. Mary King is to dance the quaint little Japanese dance, "Cio-Cio-San."

First Evangelical Lutheran Church.

Wednesday afternoon at 5 o'clock confirmation instruction. Thursday evening at 7.30 will be the next service. Friday evening choir rehearsal. Saturday morning at 10 o'clock confirmation instruction.

Palace Theatre.

A bill made up entirely of excellent attractions, each a feature and composes the stellar bill precanted at the Palace theatre, the latter half of the week. Three headliner Broadway vaudeville acts can't be beat, a musical revue, an entire show in itself, a first class feature picture with a first class news weekly make up the programme. The first act is the Musical Kellogys, a novelty musical act, with most fitting surroundings, every article, including the furniture, is turned into musical channels. Frank Shields is seen in one of the cleverest acts on the vaudeville stage. The cowboy without the uniform, but there with the stuff is Frank. Intermingling rope spinning with clever balancing on top of a ten foot ladder hold the attention of the audience. Laura Bennette and Co., appear in a singing, dancing, and wrestling with scientific activity and score a knockout. Al Barlo's Revue, with 26 people, an entire show in itself furnished over an hour of mirth and entertainment in their presentation of "Bits of Hits," entire new musical numbers, songs, dances and a complete change of scenery, overflowing with pep and a hand-picked chorus, wind up a perfect show before the footlights.

Next week the Palace theatre will celebrate a big spring carnival, there will be 14 Paramount vaudeville acts, seven each half. The feature act on the first three days will be the Dancing Millards and their Jazz Band. The feature picture will be "Her Marriage Vow," with Beverley Bayne and Monte Blue.

Broadway Theatre.

The management of the Broadway theatre has arranged to give the patrons a real treat, on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, when Lew Williams and his Chic-Chic Revue Co. with his most able assistant, George (Wise Guy) Rubin and a talented cast of real entertainers open Monday.

The show is highly recommended as one of the fastest and best laughing musical revues of its kind on the road today. Coming here direct from long engagements at many of the best theatres in New York and Brooklyn, where they left an enviable reputation, it is bound to make a lasting impression on local theatregoers. It is as good as it is clean; the company of twenty-five offer plenty of singing and dancing and vaudeville specialties; the comedy predominates and is handled by two of the funniest comedians you ever saw. The scenery and costumes are a delight to the eye, and it is a show worthy of your patronage. Remember it starts Monday so be on hand for real entertainment.

Broadway Theatre.

It takes a real picture to come up to the standard of Pola Negri in Ernst Lubitsch's "Forbidden Paradise," but Miss Negri's latest for Paramount, "East of Sues," a Raoul Walsh production which is the feature at the Broadway theatre starting tomorrow is just as gripping and entertaining a feature.

The star is cast as a beautiful young English girl, daughter of a British consular agent living in Shanghai. Daisy (Miss Negri) has been away at school in England since she was eight years old. In all this time she has not seen her father. She returns only to be greeted with the news of his death and, what is probably more heart-rending, that she is the daughter of English and Chinese parents—a half-caste, which is but another way of saying a social outcast.

You've seen Pola in every conceivable character from queen to Apache dancer, but never in such a role as "East of Suez" affords.

You haven't seen Pola Negri until you've seen "East of Suez."

Short subjects include a comedy and new Kinograms. You will spend two hours of worth-while time when you see this show.

Strand Theatre.

An exceptionally big triple show is the offering at the Strand theatre for Sunday night only.

The suspicion that may place a man in jeopardy of the law when loss of memory and mistaken identity that is made vividly real in "The Back Trail," Universal Picture will be screened on Sunday as the first feature at the Strand theatre.

Jack Hoxie, the star, is cast in the great dual part of Jeff Prouty, and John Prentiss. As the former, he finds himself a moving factor in a plot to deprive a girl of her inheritance. The scene of the action is in the western cattle country. Cowboys and cattle rustlers play a big part throughout. For the purpose of exterior work the Hoxie company went to Lone Pine, a picturesque little desert town.

Edmund Cobb in the Storm King allows more action to grace the screen.

William Desmond in the Riddle Riders and a new comedy, "Alone at Last," completes the programme.

DANIELSON AND PUTNAM NEWS

DANIELSON

Some of the activities of the Farmers' association during the coming week will center in the town of Windham. Monday, County Agent Frank L. Davis of Putnam will have a meeting at the new schoolhouse in Windham Center for a discussion of poultry houses. Roy E. Jones, poultry specialist from Storrs, will speak at this meeting, to be held in the evening.

Two pruning demonstrations are planned for next Wednesday. In the morning the demonstration will be at George A. Cook's farm in Windham and in the afternoon at A. H. Gallup's in Scotland W. H. Darrow, extension fruit specialist at Storrs, will assist in these demonstrations.

County Agent Davis says that over 6,000,000 barrels of high grade apples were produced in Windham county last year.

Fruit of this class commands a high price. Now is the time to plan for better fruit by preparing the trees.

The W. C. T. U. county institute held at the Methodist church Thursday was a very satisfactory meeting, though the attendance was somewhat reduced by the rain. The opening service was led by Mrs. Ida M. T. Pegrum. Mrs. Hattie M. Newton of Hartford led the round table discussion, and though totally blind was remarkably efficient and effective. Mrs. Nellie Rule Arnold of New Haven was in charge of the department hour, when reports were received. The noon time prayer was led by Mrs. Jennie R. Scripture of Willimantic. Membership, Old and New, was discussed at the opening of the afternoon session by Mrs. Sarah E. Burr of Hartford and Mrs. Mary L. Stearns of Willimantic. There was a song service at the afternoon session led by Mrs. Esther Sprague Brown, of Danielson. A feature of this period was a talk on a senate bill, on which there will be a hearing at the capitol next week, by Rev. R. W. Chandler of Essex. A playlet, I See by the Papers, was presented aby the Central Village union. Of special interest was the address by Miss Grace Leigh Scott, national associate director on Social Morality. Miss Scott who was in France doing social welfare work during the war, pleaded the cause of the single standard for men and women—that women, instead of smoking and indulging in other petty vices of men, should strive to lift men to women's standard of purity.

G. T. Bochman, who has been engaged in Americanization work in this territory for some time, gave an interesting address before the meeting. A disappointment was the inability of Miss Elsa Gibson Nesbit to be present and lead in the singing. A compensation was a beautiful solo sung by Mrs. Esther Brown, with harp accompaniment.

The field for candidates for warden remains unoccupied. Not a citizen had made known up to Friday afternoon that he or she cared for election to the office. This is not a unique situation, but it is unusual. It has happened before. Between now and next Tuesday evening a candidate will be found who is willing to serve. This is reasonably sure. As has been done numbers of times in the past, the court of burgesses can be drawn upon, under something akin to the selective service act in force during the war, to provide a head for the borough government from among a group of men versed in the administration of its affairs. Possibly that will be done this year.

Friday morning the funeral of Edgar Joseph Dion was held from his home in Moosup with funeral services at All Hallows' church at 9.15. Rev. Joseph E. McCarthy, Rev. J. C. Mathieu, Wauregan, and Rev. Oscar Norman were the officers of the mass, attended by many relatives and friends. Burial was in the Sacred Heart cemetery at Wauregan. There were beautiful floral pieces. The bearers were Thomas Dion, John Dion, Edgar Young, George Daigle and Joseph Deloge, all nephews of Mr. Dion. Louis E. Kennedy was in charge of the funeral arrangements.

Killingly Woman's club rummage sale starts Thursday, March 26. Open for the reception of articles at the vacant store, Jodoin block, Thursday a. m.—adv.

There is to be an additional study hour each day at Killingly High school for students who do not maintain a passing average in their work. This rule will be effective after the Eastern vacation.

It is understood that the route for the proposed aerial passenger and express service between Boston and St. Paul with stops at New York, Cleveland and Detroit will be over Danielson. This is to be a daily service and will be established in September or October. The route of 1440 miles will be covered in 14 hours.

This week end will find numbers of Danielson people at their cottages at Oakland Beach, making the properties ready for occupancy during the approaching war weather period of the year.

Farthest north in pessimism is the expression of belief by a local man that there is no need to go to Reno none from Danielson, "If they only give us a few days' notice we can run a special train," he says. That idea sure wins the concrete suspenders.

The anti-tobacco propaganda now appearing in publication hereabouts recalled an old tale to an old timer here Friday. A solemn-faced man approached a debonair gentleman who evidently was relishing his cigar. "If you had not smoked all your life you might have owned that business block across the street," said the solemn one. "Do you own it?" asked the nifty one. The reply was "No," "Well, I do," said the other.

Offices in the town hall building that have needed attention have been brightened and made spic and span by painters who have been at work on them for some time. Only necessary renovating has been done, in keeping of the policy of the selectmen to hold expenditures at the lowest possible minimum.

Publicity has been given this week to the fact that Rev. Searles B. Young has passed his 93rd birthday. He is the oldest resident of the neighboring town of Foster, R. I. Rev. Mr. Young is a native of the t own of Killingly, born on what is now known as the Rooney farm in the Mashentuck section.

E. H. Keach, E. L. Darbie and F. E. Storer, as a committee that has made a study of the project, will report to a special meeting of St. Alban's parish Thursday evening of next week relative to the plans for the construction of a parish house at the rear of the church.

The Sewing society of St. Alban's church met with Mrs. Walter Musgrave Friday afternoon.

Staging was removed Friday from the front of the new Longo block, giving the public the first real impression of what this fine new building is to look like.

Peep frogs have begun their nightly serenading, a real sign of spring, but one that doesn't make much of a hit with many people.

Leon T. Wilson, deputy collector of internal revenue, was in Danielson Friday on business.

Mrs. Louis Ingalls will have the member of the Fortnightly club at her home for a meeting Tuesday.

Monday's meeting of the Reading circle is to be with Mrs. Martin V. Woodworth of Hawkins street.

The meeting of the Danielson Baptise church is scheduled for the evening of March 31.

Local golf enthusiasts have been going to Thompson to play on the course in that place.

A northerly wind Friday evening with the coming of the vernal equinox indicated to some weather observers that would be the prevailing wind direction during the spring period.

CLOUD-DIGGER WARNS OF EARTHQUAKES AND DROUTH

(Special to the Bulletin)

Danielson, March 21.—Here it is! On this bright spring morning (providing it isn't cloudy) The Bulletin presents the Cloud-Digger's semi-annual forecast. It's his 73d, and a humdinger:

Packerville, Conn., March 21.—March 21, 1888, my first semi-annual weather prediction appeared in Philadelphia papers and from that day to this no equinoxial period has passed by without my semi-annual prediction appearing, until my last prediction in 1924 appeared simultaneously in 82 papers.

During my 37 years as a weather prophet, going entirely on mathematical lines based on rules I copied from an old log kept by four generations of seamen, who sailed out of my native state, Maine, over 80 years and never lost a ship in that time.

I have proven in hundreds upon hundreds of cases that those rules were the best weather guides I have ever come in contact with. More than 900 exact dates have been named by me and among the disturbances of note never to be forgotten were the Galveston tidal wave, California earthquake, Mount Pelee disaster, Kingston, Jamaica, earthquake, Japan earthquake of recent date and last September I distinctly said the earthquakes were to continue in fierceness for the following six months, the Atlantic instead of Pacific coast being the one to suffer most.

I make no guesses, if my predictions fail, I have proved over and over again that the highly paid weather bureau breaks down also, for example, 16 mistakes made by them in the single month of February just past.

The comnig six months is to be phenomenal in more than one way. Since the earth started on its demand for a just return of the gas, oil and coal taken from its bowels, also adjusting itself due to countless millions of tons dumped in the ocean the earthquakes which are nothing more, nothing less, than nature adjusting matters, have continued hardly a week passes without a trembling of greater or less extent being reported, and under present conditions, this may be expected to continue for some months, the single difference being that the eastern part of our country and South America and western part of Europe and Africa will experience more earthquake shocks than the usual Asiatic and Pacific countries.

The weather for 1925 up to the fall equinox will not be extremely hot except at short intervals. There will be, however, many very violent electric storms, more so than in many years, the loss of property by fires caused by lightning will be very great all over the United States this year, and conditions of the planets during the month of July and early August lead me to believe that sudden electrical storms will be very likely be accompanied by much hail.

Right here let me add that one of the best protections we have against lightning is perfectly strung telephones and telegraph wires, or electric light wires, there is the difference that they are insulated and make no difference in thunder storms. If you are a radio fan, see that your aerials are scientifically adjusted and you have protection instead of danger.

This spring will not be an early one in this section of the world as all planetary conditions point to many frosty periods until late in May and in the northern section of New England and western Europe, frost periods will come in June also.

The middle of June one of the hottest waves in many years is due, I look for very hot weather from June 15 to 22, it will continue several days, quickly followed by very cool nights, and there will be frost periods in northern New York, New England and Canada several times in the month of June.

Several times in July mercury will fall quite low during the night. Three periods in July almost to a frost, even in New England. "One extreme following another," is a thing of the past, for the work of man is continuously changing the earth's surface by destroying forests of what nature intended to remain there changes all.'

This robbing, while of great pleasure, momentary benefit and profit to us, is already being felt and all natural conditions so changed that natural weather conditions will never return as is spoken of "in the old fashioned times."

The "drying up" period will arrive with the month of August this year, and continue, only broken by occasional showers well into October. There are no planetary conditions existing today, or to take place in the next six months that show any great storm periods in either August, September or October, except electrical and high winds very violent at times.

All conditions outside of possible lack of sufficient rain point to an unusually good season for farming, however, the weather conditions this summer point to many insect pests.

I have predicted so many earthqu[illegible] the past few years that can[illegible] nearly upon the exact date, that [illegible] such this matter very lightly, there will be one in August, however, and one in October far south of us, that will be worth recording in your dairy or scrap book, several violent shakes may be looked for in southern Europe, dont worry about them, but stand ready to meet all trouble face to face.

Save water in every possible way, dam up brooks where you can, making pasture ponds, be easy on the old oaken bucket, enlarge your cisterns to catch and save every drop of May and June rains, for before 1925 rolls by you'll need it, and need it badly.

Just a word more and I leave you until Sept. 21. Don't ask me at any time during the six months' period to predict weather, my weather predictions are made just twice a year and it requires nearly two weeks to prepare them for my hundreds of thousands if not millions of readers.

I know nothing about the weather from day to day, you'll find that in the daily papers. Electrical disturbances and "quakings" I figure in a different way, but all must acknowledge that continued success year after year in the exact dates of great disturbances gives color to my claim of being a true weather prophet.

I guess at nothing. I thank U.

THE CLOUD DIGGER.

BUILDING A TOOTH

Good teeth are built out of vital foods. Building a tooth is not the simple process it seems. Nature regards it so important that she takes a long time to perfect one.

Scott's Emulsion

supplies elements needful to aid normal growth and construct sound bones and strong teeth.

A food-tonic of rare value, Scott's Emulsion gives the best results when taken regularly after meals. Try it.

PUTNAM

For several years it has been the custom of Director H. H. Ellis of the Putnam Trade school to hold an open night at which time the public has been invited to see the students at work at their different trades.

On these special nights the building has been crowded with visitors and this year to accommodate those who could not attend in the evening the school will be open to visitors from 3 o'clock in the afternoon until 9 o'clock at night, Thursday, April 2nd.

It will be very interesting to see just what is being taught in the trade school. All departments will be working, the students being under the instructors' care, the same as during the regular days.

The exhibits of the Home Economics department will be made in the high school auditorium.

Mrs. Thomas H. DeCourdres entertained three tables at bridge Wednesday evening at her home on Woodstock avenue.

Two young Webster residents, Miss Beatrice F. McPherson and Edwin Charles E. Elkins drove down to Putnam from their home town and were married by Rev. N. B. Burton, at the Methodist parsonage. Mrs. Arthur Adams, sister of the groom, and J. H. Lane, the groom's brother-in-law, were the witnesses. The bride and groom did not take any one else into their confidence and the announcement on their return to Webster was a surprise to all their friends. Mrs. Elkins has been employed for a number of years in the office of the A. J. Bates Shoe factory and the groom is a driver for the Star Taxi company. They will make their home on School street where they have taken rooms. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Williard McPherson of Myrtle avenue, Webster and the groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. William Elkins.

Henry Cutler reported to the police that his horse and wagon had either been stolen or had strayed from where he had left them on Lyon street. A short time later Daniel Sullian called police headquarters and reported finding the team and it was quickly restored to its owner. The horse is totally blind.

ONLY PACKARD CAN BUILD A PACKARD

The Packard Six five-passenger sedan, $2585 at Detroit

The Packard of Today— Scion of a Distinguished Family

Many a Packard owner remembers, as a child, standing wistfully, watching a Packard roll by—and hoping that some day he, too, might own such a car.

Perhaps a "24", a "30" or an "18". What memories the names recall! And later, the "38's", and "48's" and then the mighty Twin Six, which reigned for eight years—truly a distinguished family.

And now, today, the finest and greatest Packards of them all—the Packard Six and the Packard Eight—alike in beauty, in quality and in distinction.

A liberal monthly payment plan makes it possible for you to immediately enjoy Packard distinction, quality and beauty—purchasing out of income instead of capital.

WOODEN HOTELS.

Palm Beach has been visited by costly fires before. Years ago the hotel of the same name as the one burned this week was destroyed. It involved a large loss then but it was much greater this time. When the hotel was rebuilt there was no attempt made to erect a fireproof structure. It was like many of the wooden structures about the country which are used for the accommodation of large numbers, and especially people of wealth, during parts of the year. The type is much the same whether it is a winter or a summer resort.

In certain respects it was most fortunate that the fire, if it was bound to happen, should have occurred when and where it did. The hardships that were experienced by those whose home was destroyed were slight compared with what might have been the case in the north at this season of the year, and the fire occurring in the daytime lessened the chance for the loss of life. Had it broken out after midnight much more serious results would have followed. Life as well as property and possessions would have been wiped out.

That the cause of the fire will be subjected to the severest investigation is to be expected. That the hotel will be rebuilt can be accepted without question, but what the type will be and what guidance will be furnished through the experiences already had with a woden building of such a character remain to be disclosed.

It is to be realized that every such example increases the demand for safe hotel accommodations. These can be expected to grow instead of decrease. With bigger demands and bigger buildings to meet them, there must be serious consideration given to safeguarding the public against the dangers of fire. Reconstruction should therefore be considered only with such a provision in view. Safety from fire in a hotel may be a luxury but it is to be remembered that the big Florida resorts cater to those who have the wherewithal to obtain it.

THE SENATE RULES.

Whether the senate rules, in which Vice President Dawes has pointed out the need of reform, are subjected to the suggested changes, it is certain that they are going to come in for a thorough discussion during the next several months. This would have been inevitable, but the series of addresses by the vice president dealing with the matter will serve to enliven it. And it is well that it should. From time to time there has been much criticism against the practice and yet nothing is done about it. Perhaps there will be nothing as to the outcome of the present agitation but it is certain that the senate may react to the widespread sentiment by conduct even if it doesn't remodel its rules.

It is significant that Senator Underwood, a southern democrat, should have something to say about the situation to what the vice president refers. He says "So far as his declaration in favor of a rule that would allow a majority to transact business in the senate is concerned, I feel that what he says meets with the approval of the country at large."

Whatever may be said in behalf of employing certain methods for the prevention of vicious legislation the southern senator was free to declare that he does not believe "we stand in more danger from vicious legislation than we do from the destruction of necessary and progressive legislation by the determined opposition of a few men who constitute only a minority of the membership of the senate."

The aim of the reform is of course to stop obstructive tactics and thereby permit of constitutional lawmaking. Rules that prevent a majority from doing business blocks the action and purpose of the senate. There may have been times when one side as well as the other has employed the criticized rules to accomplish its purpose. That of course is only another good reason why the change in method should be made that would apply to all.

RESTRICTING ARMAMENTS.

As nations come to understand each other the way may be cleared for the much discussed conference for the further curtailment of armaments. Thus far there is sentiment both for and against such a disarmament effort, and it is interesting to note that France is displaying more favorable interest since it has obtained the information that the aim of this country is not to delve into the matter of land forces but to confine consideration to further reduction in naval armament.

Limitations that have been agreed to thus far have been generally accepted as being beneficial. Such restrictions do not include all types of naval vessels, do not involve the aircraft and do not go much beyond the capital ships. The Washington conference was a beginning. The merits of such an idea having been seen through experience the advisability of going a step further is recognized.

It will be remembered that France was one of the objectors to the extension of the plan at the Washington gathering. France likewise delayed ratification of the agreement for a long time and there are features of the pact which it has not as yet endorsed. That country has not gotten over the effects of the war. It understands the danger of leaving itself unprotected and in that respect there can be no surprise. It takes the view that if it is going to decrease its efforts for self protection there must be some assurance from others that it will not be left at the mercy of others. It is quite natural that France, like a burned child, should dread the fire. And yet the desirability of checking competition between nations concerning any kind of armaments is bound to make its appeal. If nations are left relatively strong through restrictions which are agreed to and respected the benefits will accrue to France as much as other nations, and certain there is no country which needs the funds which would go into armaments for other purposes much more than France. Land armaments may in time be reached but at the present time attention can be given with the least friction to naval restrictions.

FREDERIC W. CARY.

By the death of Frederic W. Cary Norwich has lost a substantial public spirited citizen, one who not only held commendable views concerning public welfare but translated them into action. A constant and indefatigable worker in behalf of this community, no good cause ever failed to elicit his support and encouragement, but whether he was devoting his efforts in behalf of a public organization or a private one there was always that earnestness and enthusiasm which mean so much for a successful outcome.

All too short was the time that he spent as a young man just out of college on the city desk of The Bulletin. He was a fluent and interesting writer, with a most promising newspaper career ahead of him, but there were business attractions which called him. Ambitious and optimistic, it was inevitable that success should crown his efforts, regardless of the field in which his abilities were brought to play.

The taking of such a worthy individual in the prime of life serves only to accentuate the value of such a contribution as Mr. Cary has made to the community, his unselfish public spirit, his leadership and his praiseworthy example as a citizen. He has shed an influence for good in many directions, and in the discharge of his recognized duty as a business man and as a friend, or acquaintance, he was ever loyal and upright. He was true to every trust, a man among men, and his death will be sincerely mourned.

PATENT OFFICE CHANGES.

Changing the patent office from the department of the interior to the department of commerce is not only in accord with the recommendations of the commission named to study departmental changes, but it gives promise of getting much better consideration and attention than in the past.

The patent office has been obliged to go along under many handicaps despite the fact that it is a self supporting branch of the government service. It has suffered from the loss of experienced men because they could not be kept on the payroll in competition with big corporations which needed the services of men of such experience as the government had given them.

Time and again complaints have been made concerning the inability of the office to keep up with the demands of those doing business with it. Hopes for greater improvements than have been given in the past few years, even, are reasonable, while there is likewise an opportunity for the removal of injustices toward American patentees and American manufacturers which exist by virtue of the character of patent laws in many other countries.

With Secretary Hoover committed to a vigorous campaign for the removal of handicaps and injustices, it is to be realized that he will have opportunities for effectively dealing with this international phase of the situation, and when he says that if desired results are not obtained at the international convention at The Hague in the fall that a complete revision of patent laws will be sought, it is apparent he is not only concerned with a matter deserving attention but is intent upon getting results.

THE MAN WHO TALKS

At last they have succeeded in measuring Mira (Mira is a star, not a woman, which practically, of course, is the same thing.) As Mira is a proper noun, singular number and feminine gender, we must refer to her as she with all due respect to her stellar properties. Now Mira has been found to be 256,000,000 miles in diameter—some girl that! One wonders if she displayed the usual feminine reluctance to having her fatness a common topic of conversation among the news-mongers of other spheres! But the astronomer revealed a curiosity and impudence not to be tolerated even by a female star, and that was when he tried to look at her teeth so as to determine her age. As a self-respecting star she began to disappear, or at least to become obscured, when the attempt was being made to show how many millions of years she had lived as a spinster. There are somethings at which even a feminine star will show displeasure.

There has recently been a renewal of the old question of compulsory chapel attendance of college undergraduates. One party affirms that it is a relic of Puritanism entirely outgrown in this age, and therefore out of place. To compel those of non-Christian faiths (so many of whom are now in our American colleges and universities) and also those representing so many widely-differing forms of faith, is an insult to our common freedom of action, especially when a static form of worship is followed. It is further contended to force young collegians, both young men and young women to an outward observance of the mere forms of religion, when their hearts and minds are not there, is only a mockery and defeats its own ends. On the other hand it is said that it is highly desirable for disciplinary purposes; that there is no true education with the spiritual side ignored. No young person was ever yet injured, nor his rights interfered with, by making religion an integral part of his education.

During the month of February, the committee on evangelism, representing the Federal Council of Churches, issued a little book entitled The Followship of Prayer, for pre-Easter use. It contains a very clear and suggestive program of topics suitable for the Lenten season. Of course they are subjects vitally associated with the last 40 days our Lord spent on earth. No other 40 consecutive days in the world's history are of such great religious value to man as these. From these 40 days the committee on evangelism with great care and discretion has put into connected form the most important events of the closing period of our Lord's life together with His most vital teachings. Running through this series of events and teachings is a logical connection, ending, of course, with the transcendent spectacle of the Resurrection. If one follows this program suggested by The Fellowship of Prayer he will, as never before, get at the true meaning of Lent.

But why the Lenten season anyway? is a question that comes to some minds many times and to all minds sometimes. As the name indicates, it is a special period lent to special religious devotions to commemorate the last days of our Lord on earth. But if we are true followers of His, shall we not lend the whole year to Him? Three hundred and sixty-five days rather only 40? From a strictly logical standpoint this is true. The whole man is His: body, mind, spirit, time, money and strength. Yet we are so involved in necessary worldly pursuits that we can only meet together for religious devotion at stated intervals, generally not more than twice a week, and therefore the Lenten period seeks to emphasize these devotional periods as a suitable preparation for Passion week with its culmination on Easter. As we have intensive special seasons for our political work, and they are evidently necessary, and as we have "drives" for numerous objects which also are legitimate, is it not entirely reasonable to do, at least, as much for the religious life?

Fellow man, are you inclined to be a bit boastful? Is there the least trend in your make-up to be proud? Do you go along the street with a tilted nose as you meet and pass common clay? When you have an accident is it blue blood, rather than red, that spurts out? Do you gloat over the possibility of how men are going to praise you for some big thing you are going to do in the near future? Is it some fine article you are going to publish in a popular magazine? Is it some great speech you are soon to deliver? Some beautiful bit of cabinet work that you are going to make? Some high political office that is about to be offered you? Now if any such bugs as these are flying around in the vacant spaces in your brain it is well to have a little white paste board card in front of you stating that one week from today you have an appointment at the dentist's. Seven stumps of what were once beautiful fangs are going to be dug out. The condition of your heart prohibits the use of ether. With that fine luxury before you, fellow man, you won't boast.

A good illustration of the old saying that "tall oaks from little acorns grow" is seen in some phases of the industrial world today. One has but to mention Standard Oil or General Electrics, or the United States Steel corporation, to be reminded of this fact. Those approaching middle life can remember when the telephone was in its infancy. The mammoth development of this business has all been done in the last half century. The following figures, perhaps, will help up to visualize the growth of a concern that became a business proposition in 1876. At the annual meeting of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, to be held in New York on the last day of this month, one of the items to be acted upon is: the question of increasing the capital stock of the company from $1,000,000,000 to $1,500,000,000. Do not such figures really stagger our powers of comprehension?

Isn't our great economic machine regulated with a sort of a balance the same as steam engines are? When they get to going too fast the contrivance slows them down; and when too slow it speeds them up a bit. We are now having automatic thermostats to do like work for our steam heaters; they keep us from the extremes of freezing and thawing. Now nature seems to follow a similar plan. When wheat production is at a low ebb in Australia it is high in Argentina. When Russia and Roumania slump the United States and Canada make up the deficit. This last year was quite hard on the Canandian crop, but this country came forth with a bumper crop. In the late summer the western farmer with some reason began to complain, but later the rain began to fall, the crops responded wonderfully, and as most of the world was in the buying market the price of wheat soared to heights only reached twice before, once in 1868, and again during the late war. The price of wheat in Minneapolis went up to $2.43 per bushel. I hardly think we should worry as long as the promise is that "seed time and harvest" shall not fail.

Increase in the number of automobiles in China has caused the consumption of gasoline to be eight times what it was eight years ago.

THE TRUTH ABOUT SERVICE AIRCRAFT

The reports of the progress of the inquiry into the aircraft situation conducted by the congressional committee of which Representative Lampert is chairman have served to arouse public interest in service flying, but also to create in the mind of the layman a state of uncertainty which must find a parallel in the minds of some of the non-technical members of the committee writes Edward P. Warner, professor of aeronautics at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, in the Boston Transcript. Witnesses are not always using the same words in the same sense, and a casual survey of the evidence seems to reveal nothing except an amasing and chaotic conflict between statements offered as simple facts. That conflict largely disappears, however, if a close analysis of each witnesses' statements is made, and if an attempt is made to find out from a foundation of some acquaintance with the state of the aeronautical art and the aeronautical industry, the sense in which each witness intended that his words should be taken.

On the one hand it has been stated, on the authority of the secretary of war and of the chief of the air service, that the United States army has some 1200 serviceable airplanes. At the other extreme stands the statement, repeatedly made, that the United States possesses only 19 first-class airplanes, and the two figures have frequently been balanced off against each other in such a way as to appear to apply to the same thing. When that is done, the impressive magnitude of the gulf between them not unnaturally leads the layman to the conviction that somebody is a wholesome liar, but such an inference would be unjust to everyone concerned, except perhaps to those representatives of the more sensational press who twist the statement about the nineteen airplanes and present it in such a way as to make it appear that the United States air services have but nineteen machines all told fit for use in war. In fact, one recent commentator says, specifically, and without modification of the meaning by the context: "We in America have 20 flying machines."

These conflicts of statement grow largely out of uncertainties of definition. What is a "fighting airplane"? What is a first class "service machine?" When does an airplane become "obsolescent," and when does it become "obsolete?" Are the DH-4 and the Martin bomber, to take specific examples, obsolete, obsolescent, ready for the first line of service, or somewhere in between?

The question of the fighting airplane is easily disposed of. Military heavier-than-aircraft divide into five classes, intended, respectively, for training, pursuit, observation, attack (of objects and personnel on the ground,) and bombardment. No satisfactory attack machine has yet been developed in this country or abroad, and no government has purchased attack airplanes in quantity.

The pursuit machine is intended for fighting against other airplanes, and the statement that we have nineteen first-class fighting airplanes means that the army air service possesses nineteen pursuit machines of new types distinctly superior to any that have gone before. The superiority is so marked as to put these new airplanes in a class quite separate from that of their predecessors. Although the design has only been developed, produced, and put into active service within the last year many more than nineteen are likely to be produced and used in the course of the next twelve months.

"Obsolete," says a recent dictionary, means "no longer in use." By literal application of that definition the Curtiss biplane of 1911 is not obsolete for one of them is still maintained in flying condition, and is occasionally flown in connection with exhibitions. Certainly no machine of which the army keeps a considerable number of examples rigged ready for flight can be said to be obsolete. "Obsolescent," would, therefore appear to inhere in the act of some governing authority, not in the nature of an aircraft itself. As long as machines are kept in regular use and are not being replaced by anything else, they can hardly be said to be obsolescent. Certainly it is unfair to say, as has been done on some occasions, that a well-known and widely-used type of airplane is obsolescent because one or two experimental machines giving a better performance have been built. It is still more absurd to make the statement that new design is likely to render an airplane obsolescent before it can even be built in quantities sufficient for service. Furthermore, a machine might be obsolescent but still not be useless in case of war. It is quite true that the development of the Curtiss and Boeing pursuit airplanes has thrown all earlier machines of that type into the obsolescent class, but some of the earlier designs compare favorably with pursuit types still kept in the first line by foreign powers, and they would undoubtedly be brought into use in the event of war.

Interpreting testimony given before the Lampert committee in this light, it appears that we have in the air service a small but growing number of pursuit machines at least equal and probably superior to any in the world, and in addition, a certain quantity of pursuit airplanes from older design, but none the less capable of use in an emergency and within a somewhat restricted field of service. To put it in another way, the gap between our best pursuit machines and those of second quality is no greater than the difference among the several types of pursuit airplanes which were in active use on the front at any given time during the war.

In the observation class studies have been made with the expectation of developing a new service type. At the present time the army has a very large number of DH-4s, making up the bulk of the twelve hundred airplanes referred to in the war department statements. Those machines are being regularly used for cross-country flying, and they could be used for observation in time of war again within a somewhat limited field. For pure observation work they have many merits, but they are incapable of defending themselves against attack by airplanes of more modern design. They, like the older types of pursuit airplanes, are obsolescent as they are distinctly inferior in performance to the best of European observation airplanes and are no longer being built, but they are not useless either in peace or in war, nor do they deserve that casual dismissal as "junk," or as "flying coffins," which has sometimes been accorded them.

Of attack airplanes the United States has, practically speaking, none, for reasons already mentioned. Absence of that type of equipment implies no dereliction or negligence, for no designs have been produced which are worth buying.

The bombing and torpedo airplane is a long story in itself, and must be separately treated. On the usefulness of bombers and on the merit of the bombing machines which we now possess, as on other matters, the views of extremists of any school are likely to be misleading unless the premises on which they rest are carefully studied.

SUNDAY MORNING TALK

OUR FAITH

And the apostle said unto the Lord, increase our faith, Luke, 17:5.

Faith in the eye which looks, by the eye we bring into the mind that which is far away; we can bring the sun and the far off stars into the mind by a glance of the eye. So by trust we bring the Lord Jesus near to us; He enters into our hearts.

Faith is the hand which grasps. When our hand takes hold of anything for itself it does precisely what faith does when it appropriates Christ and His redemption. Faith says, "Jesus is mine."

The pursuit of life is illustrated in many ways, the farmer buries good seed in the earth, and expects it not only to live but to be multiplied. He had faith in the covenant arrangement, that seed-time and harvest shall not cease, and he is rewarded for his faith, the merchant places his money in the care of the banker and trusts the honesty of the bank.

Every boy that goes to school has to exert faith while learning. His instructor teaches him of the earth, and the existence of certain great cities and empires. The boy does not himself know that these things are true, except that he believes his teachers, and the books put into his hands. That is what you will have to do with Christ if you are to be saved; you must simply know because He tells you, believe because He assures you it is even so, and trust yourself with Him because He promises you that salvation will be the result.

Another and a higher form of faith is that faith which grows out of love. Why does a boy trust his father? The reason why the child trusts his father is because he loves him. Blessed and happy are they who have a sweet faith in Jesus, intertwined with deep affection for Him, for this is a useful confidence. These lovers of Jesus are charmed with His character, and delighted with His mission, they are carried away by the loving kindness that He has manifested and therefore they cannot help trusting Him, because they so much admire, revere and love Him.

Faith is the root of obedience, and this may be clearly seen in the affairs of life. When a captain trusts a pilot to steer his vessel into port he manakes the vessel according to his direction. When a traveler trusts a guide to conduct him over a difficult pass, he follows the tract which his guide points out. When a patient believes in a physician, he carefully follows his prescriptions and directions. Faith which refuses to obey the commands of the Saviour is a mere pretence and will never save the soul; we trust Jesus to save us; He gives us directions as to the way of salvation.

Look at the faith of the master mariner. He looses his cable, he steams away from the land. For days, weeks, or even months he may not see sail or shore; yet he goes day and night without fear, till one morning he finds himself at the desired haven to which he has been steering. How has he found his way over the trackless deep? He has trusted in his compass. This is a wonderful thing that sailing without sight. Spiritually it is a blessed thing to leave altogether the shores of sight and feeling and to say good bye and sail out on the ocean of divince love and put our whole trust in Him who will bring us safe to port.

IN THE PUBLIC EYE

Dr. Walter Simons, who is serving as executive head of the German government pending the election of a permanent successor to the late President Ebert, is by profession a lawyer, with a high reputation as a classical scholar. He has spent most of his life in the service of the government. He was formerly state advocate and judge in industrial Westphalia, and in his spare time specialized in the rights of civilian property in war. He attended the conference of The Hague and Vienna as German, delegate on private property in war, and in this capacity he attracted the attention of the German Foreign Office, to which he was appointed legal adviser. He was one of the German delegates when the Peace of Brest-Litovsk was dictated to Trotsky. He also drafted one of the three German notes handed to the Supreme Council at Versailles. Dr. Simons is about sixty years old and is a native of Elberfeld, in the German Black Country.

CHRIST THE WORLD'S SAVIOR

Sermon topic, Obedience: "My mother and brethren are these that hear the word of God and do it."—Luke 3:21.

Spiritual lazyness finds no excuse in a trust in the savior. Obedience is required of all Christians; not the obedience of whims and fancies, but obedience to Christ.

We talk about sin; repentance and faith, and we need to. Some say that it doesn't make much difference what a man does so long as he believes right. The true statement is that it doesn't make much difference what a man believes if he does wrong. The action proves the genuineness of belief. But some will say, if I do the best I know is not that enough? It depends on how much you know. "Ignorance of the law is no excuse." Careless failure to learn the thought of God is to miss the mark and lose out.

Now obedience implies understanding. How can a man obey a commandment when he doesn't know what the commandment is? Therefore the friends of God try to find out his will. "If ye know these things happy are ye if ye do them."

But how are we to find out what God's will is?

That is what Jesus Christ came to make known to us, and he who seeks to become familiar with him as his life teachings and spirit are recorded in the Gospels is sure to have a vital understanding of God's will. Moreover there will be a longing desire to obey it.

"Obedience from love is sweet; from fear, sour." Thus the Gospel is not inviting us to a cringing obedience of slaves but rather to the glad, hearty cooperation of intimate friends.

Again, obedience depends on ability. No child ever jumped over the Mississippi river because her father told her to. The ability is not in the child for such a feat. If we are honest we must observe that there are many apparent requirements of noble living for which a man does not seem to be equipped.

The mind does not seem large enough to know enough; the heart does not seem pure enough to delight in the good; the will does not seem strong enough to command. Therefore what is needed is a healthy energizing of the powers, particularly of the will, which is necessary to obedience.

Here is where the Savior's part comes in, in vital relationships with Christ, secured through choosing to follow him and becoming intimately acquainted with him, for there is to be found mighty power to stimulate the mind, the heart and to energize the will. Man must utilize his own powers it is true.

The little girl who fell in the mud and waited for God to pick her up, waited a long time. She had plenty of strength in her own limbs. Trust in the Savior is no excuse for spiritual laziness; but beyond the point of our ability lies need; to meet that need the Christ came.

It is possible therefore to obey God's laws with God's help. Moreover they cannot be perfectly obeyed without that help. The power to obey is to be found through knowledge of Jesus Christ and the choice to follow him. "As many as received him to them gave he power to become the sons of God." (John 1:12.)

There is nothing mysterious about it. It is simply a matter of giving attention to the questions involved, deciding whether you will stand with Christ or against him, and when you decide to stand with him, to obey, that is, to do his will.

"Would you your faith retain,
Would you your faith regain,
Obey, obey, obey;
It is the only way."

Following the dinner he was called on to talk and arising discussed his subject for an hour. "Now if anyone here desires to ask me any questions I'll attempt to answer them," he said in conclusion.

Thereupon the chairman remarked "Inasmuch as it is time for the main meeting to begin I propose that we go to the hall."

Then Walter learned for the first time that he was to make his speech at the meeting and not at the dinner.

MUTILATOR OF CATTLE IS AT WORK AGAIN

One heifer is dead and another seriously injured at the farm of Frederick Stanley at Derry hill, in Uncasville, as a result of an attack Thursday night by an unknown degenerate, believed to be the same man who during the past few months has committed eight such offenses in and about Norwich.

State Policeman Henry J. Albright of the Groton barracks, Headland Officer F. H. Wyant of Norwich and County Detective William E. Lewis of Norwich were at the Stanley farm Friday investigating complaint of the offense, which took place some time between 6.30 Thursday night and 8 o'clock Friday morning.

There were 10 head of cattle in the Stanley barn Thursday night and the one that is dead was a registered thoroughbred Jersey yearling named Lady Solitaire. When found in the morning she was suffering so severely that she had to be killed. The other, though in serious condition, will be saved, it is believed.

Apparently the man broke into the barn and led one of the heifers out into the pasture, and tying it to a tree, attempted attack. The animal worked herself free, however, and escaped. Several large stones lying on the ground, dripping in blood, indicated that the man had thrown them at the escaping animal.

The second one was then removed from the barn and subjected to similar treatment. This was Lady Solitaire, which was so severely injured that it was necessary to put her out of the way. When the crime was discovered Friday morning, Mrs. Stanley notified Chief George Linton of the Norwich police department and he notified the state police, humane officer and county detective.

RECOMMENDS THAT ASSESSORS SHOULD DO WORK OF PROPERTY REVALUATION

By a vote of 7 to 5 near the end of a three hour meeting Friday evening in the mayor's office at the court house, the tax equalization committee adopted the report of its executive committee, which had been prepared as the result of the information received and the deliberation held in thirteen previous meetings of the full committee.

This is the report that is to be presented when a town meeting is called and provides for placing the matter of revaluation of the property of the town in the hands of the assessors and for an appropriation of not to exceed $20,000 for carrying out the work.

James L. Case, chairman of the committee, presided and read the report by the executive committee, whose members are Mr. Case, John J. O'Rourke, Shepard B. Palmer, H. M. Lerou and John F. Rogers.

A substitute resolution presented by Michael J. Curran and seconded by Albert Boardman, which differed materially from the executive committee report was very fully discussed and was voted down by 7 to 5.

Reports and Resolutions

Chairman Case read the executive committee report as follows:

To the Taxpayers of the Town of Norwich:

Ladies and Gentlemen: At a special town meeting held Friday evening, May 23, 1924, the following resolution was adopted:

"Resolved, That a committee consisting of Grosvenor Ely, John F. Rogers, Daniel T. Shea, James L. Case, and Arad R. Manning be and hereby are appointed to analyse the prevailing tax assessment method and to make recommendations to the town of Norwich for the establishment of an equitable tax assessment plan or system, said committee is hereby authorized and empowered to increase its membership by its own selection not to exceed fifteen in number."

By virtue of the authority granted under the said resolution, the following ten citizens of the town were added to the committee of five, thereby creating a committee of fifteen: Messrs. Casper K. Bailey, Albert Boardman, Charles R. Butts, Michael J. Curran, Robert McNeely, Samuel Goldberg, Herbert M. Lerou, Charles D. Noyes, Shepard B. Palmer and Frank B. Ricketson.

Fourteen meetings of this committee have been held, and the following report is respectfully submitted to you.

At its first meeting a definite plan of procedure was adopted, James L. Case was elected chairman, John J. O'Rourke, secretary, and three sub-committees were appointed.

(1)—"A committee on survey of present conditions," composed of Hon. Herbert M. Lerou, chairman, Messrs. Curran, Manning, Rogers and Palmer.

(2)—"A committee on ways and means," with reference to a consideration of available and adequate systems and methods, composed of Chas. D. Noyes, chairman, Messrs. Boardman, Butts, Ricketson and Ely.

(3)—"A committee whose special duty shall be to ascertain and study efficient methods for "following up such plans as shall be recommended and approved by the general committee; Daniel T. Shea, chairman, Messers. Bailey, Case, Goldberg and McNeely.

On July 1, 1924, the Hon. William H. Blodgett, tax commissioner of the state of Connecticut, addressed a full meeting of the committee. He discussed the subject of "Tax Revaluation" at length, and suggested that your committee should immediately investigate existing conditions in the local assessors' office: ascertain the approximate time spent by the assessors in performing their duties; study present methods employed by them in making assessments; inspect the equipment now used by them; and analyze the present valuation as shown by the last annual grand list. Mr. Blodgett urged that the fullest publicity be given the work of the general committee, in order that the public shall become better acquainted with the facts and present conditions, in the hope that a desire will be created in the public mind, of the need of and the necessity for a radical change in the present system. He suggested conferences with representatives of appraisal companies, and a thorough investigation of the methods used by them in other cities.

On July 9th the three assessors of the town told in detail of the present conditions which prevail in their office, and mentioned some of the difficulties with which they have to contend.

The average taxpayer enters his list "the same as last year" and unless an assessor happens to know that improvements, or additions have been made, or that values have increased, or decreased, the list usually remains the same as before.

They showed that the number of lists filed in 1910 had increased from 3,833 to 6,625 in 1923. In 1910 the lists contained 8,207 items as against 15,325 items in 1923. In 1910, 484 deeds were recorded in the office of the town clerk; in 1923, there were 915. The assessors now follow up regularly all transfers of property that are made and recorded in the office of the town clerk, and note all building permits which are granted by the fire marshal within the city limits, but inasmuch as a similar practice is not followed by town officials, it is impossible for them to secure such information outside of the city bounds.

On August 5th, and by invitation of the general committee T. M. Russell, of Middletown, and F. C. Burroughs of New London outlined conditions existing in the two respective cities from which they came. Middletown finds itself in a situation almost similar to that which exists in Norwich, while in New London a successful revaluation was made in 1923 by the assessor and his assistants under the advice and counsel of the Manufacturers Appraisal Company of Philadelphia.

On September 22, the assessors again met with the committee and presented a most illuminating and surprising comparison of some fifty pieces of properties, located on 23 different streets in the town of Norwich. Their tabulation showed:

(a)—The assessed value.
(b)—The amount of mortgage.
(c)—The sale price.

In many cases, the mortgage value exceeded the tax value from two to three times, and the percentage of assessed values to sale prices varied from 10 6-10 per cent. to 76 9-10 per cent. The said properties were chosen at random from the grand list for 1923-24 and therefore show that great inequalities do actually exist.

In commenting upon this report, Assessor Manning stated that the board discovered that in the 1923 grand list 1,276 houses are valued for less than $1,000 each with an average tax value of $650; 1,229 houses are valued under $1,500 each with an average tax value of $900 and that 40 per cent. of the houses in town are assessed at approximately $900. Following a discussion of this report and as a result of a further study of the subject, it was Voted, That the "Committee on Ways and Means" should investigate the methods followed by other cities in meeting conditions similar to those which now exist in the town, and report the result of their findings as soon as possible.

On October 3rd, this committee recommended that a revaluation of the taxable property in the town of Norwich be made by the assessors, under the advice, and in co-operation with an expert or experts in taxation matters and that a modern and up-to-date system be installed to properly effect and maintain such a revaluation.

Action on this recommendation was deferred in order that the executive committee might invite certain experts to appear before the general committee for the purpose of informing the members in relation to the merits and details of their respective systems.

The committee has since listened to Thomas Linder of New Britain, who has had charge of the tax revaluation work in New Britain and in Middletown; to Messrs. Pollock and Walsh of the Manufacturers Appraisal Company of Philadelphia, who have conducted similar work in New London, Winchester, Saybrook and Deep River, as well as in approximately fifty other cities throughout the country, and to F. V. Edgall of the firm of Hopkins & Havens, Inc., of Boston, who explained the Cambridge system, and also the work that his company had done in appraising properties in several of the New England cities.

Certain of the members of the general committee having expressed their conviction as to the desirability of having the work of the revaluation done by the assessors themselves, with such local assistance as could be secured, the meeting on December 16th listened to a practical talk by Dr. George E. Wilcox of Willimantic, who had taken an important part in the revaluation in that city in 1910-11. Dr. Wilcox stated that the grand list was raised from five million to fifteen million dollars, but because the town of Windham did not appropriate sufficient funds to develop and maintain the system, his work had not been satisfactorily followed up.

Reports of what has been done by the local committee in Meriden and South Manchester, were submitted but there is a wide division of opinion as to the results accomplished in these two particular towns.

On January 23rd, your committee accepted the resolution recommended by the ways and means committee at the meeting held on October 23.

That the general committee might further know the feeling of the entire board of assessors in the meeting, it was Voted to request the members of the board to appear before the committee for the purpose of discussing the subject in detail, and to make such recommendations as they, in their opinion might feel would be for the best interests of the town of Norwich.

This meeting was held on February 6th, and the following report and recommendations were made by the assessors:

To the Members of the Tax Equalization Committee of Norwich.

Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen: The subject of revaluation of the property values in the town of Norwich, is a most important one.

The work, whether undertaken by the assessors themselves, or by the assessors with some expert assistance should, in either case, be conducted upon a sound basis, and by the application of a practical and efficient system.

If the work is to be done by the assessors, their first act should be to adopt and study some practical method in order that the final result of their labors may, if necessary, stand a test in court, or elsewhere. Such a procedure would of necessity require considerable time.

If the assessors should secure the assistance of local persons, they, in turn would have to be instructed as to the operation of the chosen system, and additional time would therefore be necessary for such a purpose.

Such courses seem to us to be impracticable, inasmuch as more than 20,000 different items of property, located over an area of approximately 26 square miles, must be reappraised.

We have, at your request, carefully studied and considered the subject from many angles, and we have come to the conclusion that the work of revaluation can be much more rapidly accomplished, and better results obtained, if qualified experts can be secured to assist the assessors. Only such experts who have operated under some approved and well tried work should be chosen, for it is essential that the entire work should be completed within a comparatively few months.

From what we have learned of results accomplished in other cities we believe that such appraisals will stand any test to which they may be subjected.

As to the difference in cost between work done by the assessors with untrained helpers, and the cost of the work done by the assessors with the assistance of a firm of experts, we do not attempt to estimate, but we do believe that the saving in time, and the fact that when a revaluation is accomplished, Norwich would have a modern and up-to-date system, are both considerations worth far more than any difference there might be in the cost of the two methods.

(Signed.)

A. R. MANNING,
JOHN B. OAT,
FRED G. PROTHERO,
Assessors of the Town of Norwich.

Your committee would therefore beg to respectfully submit

(a)—That at the present time there is a very great need of a revaluation of the taxable property in the town of Norwich for the purpose of equalization.

(b)—That this work should be done by the assessors of the town of Norwich and that they be given power to secure the most competent advice and assistance possible.

(c)—That a sum not to exceed $2,000 be appropriated for the purpose, and that the selectmen of the town be authorized to expend the same in such manner and form as, in the opinion of the assessors, will secure satisfactory and equitable results.

The acceptance of the report was voted and a motion for the adoption of the resolutions which it contained was made and seconded.

Substitute Report and Resolutions

At this point Mr. Curran presented his substitute report and resolutions as follows:

Your committee to whom was referred the matter of investigating our local tax situation, with the express object in view of finding the safest and surest way to rectify existing inequalities—to the end that the burden of taxation may be distributed both lawfully and with a due regard for the concensus of public opinion,

Respectfully submit the following recommendations:

1st. That the board of assessors be directed to make a revaluation of all the taxable property in the town of Norwich, the work to be started now and be carried out as expeditiously as possible under the direct supervision of the first selectman.

2nd. That the board of selectmen furnish clerical assistance to the board of assessors, and that the sum of $1,500 be appropriated for that purpose.

3rd. That the sum of $3,000 be appropriated for the purpose of the purchase of the necessary equipment, for carrying out the revaluation and installing a system.

4. That the vote passed at the last regular town meeting, relating to the salaries of assessors, be rescinded.

5th. That the salary of the assessors be $1,880 per year, each, said salary to date from March 1, 1925.

6th. That the board of assessors and the clerk in charge of the offices be on duty on all working days, at least seven hours a day, commencing not later than 9 o'clock a. m.

7th. That the first selectman be invested with the necessary authority for the proper fulfillment of the above recommendation.

The discussion over the Curran substitute resolutions led to many heated interchanges in which Mr. Curran charged that the general committee was determined to bring outside experts in for the valuation of the property and he claimed that the valuation should be done by local men only. Chairman Case pointed out that the executive committee's resolution left it entirely to the assessors what kind of assistance they should secure.

There was frequent reference to what was claimed to be the fact that the assessors for years haven't been doing their work and when Mr. Lerou asked Mr. Curran why when he was assessor he hadn't made a revaluation of the property, as the law required, Mr. Curran responded that when he applied to Selectman Bailey and Town Counsel Pettis for the necessary equipment, they had told him it wasn't politically expedient to do the work then. Mr. Curran claimed that there was propaganda by Tax Commissioner Blodgett to encourage the idea of having towns use out of town experts.

Mr. Rogers objected the items in the Curran resolution regarding the amount for clerical assistance and equipment, on the ground that they were too limited to carry out the work and Mr. Lerou argued that the item providing for raising the salaries of the assessors covered a point with which was put outside the province of this committee.

Members of the general committee expressed doubt as to the need of $20,000 for the work and it was brought out that the executive committee did not set this as an amount which could be positively needed, but meant this to be the outside limit and expected the amount to be determined by what the assessors found they would need. It might be necessary to hold two town meetings, at the second of which the amount to be used would be voted.

Towards the end of the meeting Assessor Arad R. Manning, a member of the committee, stated that when the town gave the assessors the proper tools to work with, they were willing to do everything in their power to accomplish the revaluation. They have no disposition to shirk any part of the work, he said.

The resolutions of the executive committee were passed subject to review by the town counsel as to their complete legal bearing.

The members of the committee present were Chairman Case, Secretary John J. O'Rourke, S. B. Palmer, A. R. Manning, Robert McNeely, F. B. Ricketson, John F. Rogers, D. T. Shea, H. M. Lerou, Samuel Goldberg, C. K. Bailey, M. J. Curran and Albert Boardman.

OBITUARY.

Frederic William Cary.

Frederic William Cary, 53, well known hardware merchant, died Friday morning about 6.30 o'clock at his home, 1 Lodge avenue, following an illness of [illegible] a week with pneumonia. Up to last Sunday Mr. Cary was in his usual excellent health. Sunday morning he was taken ill and his condition rapidly grew worse, pneumonia developing immediately.

Mr. Cary was born in this city, Feb. 15, 1872, a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Cary. He graduated from the local public schools and from the Norwich Free Academy class of 1890. Following his graduation from the N. F. A. he entered Williams college and received the degree of B. A. there in the class of 1894. He was united in marriage March 31, 1896, with Miss Helen Darling of Brooklyn, N. Y., the marriage taking place in that city. For a year after his graduation he was city editor of The Norwich Bulletin, 1894 to 1895. Leaving the employ of The Bulletin he entered into partnership in the Thames Chain and Stamping company, at that time located in White's court. The firm manufactured bicycle chains.

Later Mr. Cary took up the manufacture of revolvers, the firm being known as The Thames Arms company and located in the building on Thames street recently vacated by the Atlantic Carton company. In the fall of 1906 the Eaton-Chase company was incorporated and with Albert H. Chase and Herbert W. Cary, a brother, he became actively associated with the hardware concern, serving as secretary of the company, which office he held at the time of his death.

Mr. Cary took a prominent part in the campaign by which $75,000 was raised here to aid in bringing the American Thermos Bottle company to this city. A short time after the company located in Norwich Mr. Cary was elected secretary of the company, continuing in this office for two years until the Thermos Bottle company was well established here and then resigned to devote his entire time to the Eaton-Chase company.

A staunch republican in his political views Mr. Cary was often sought as a candidate for mayor but always declined the honor. He was a public spirited citizen and for ten years he was prominently connected with the old Norwich Chamber of Commerce. He served as president of the chamber during the year 1918. Mr. Cary took an active part in arranging for the city's celebration of its 250th anniversary in 1909.

In fraternal circles Mr. Cary was a member of Somerset Lodge, No. 34, A. F. and A. M., and was a member of the Sons of Veterans. Mr. Cary was greatly interested in the welfare of Park Congregational church of which he was a member. He was a member of the board of deacons at the time of his death and for four years served as a member of the church society committee, acting as its chairman for one year. During that year the church was placed upon a sound financial basis and a big step forward was made in general repairs to the church property. Mr. Cary was a member of the board of directors of the Chelsea Savings bank.

FREDERIC W. CARY

Mr. Cary is survived by his wife and one daughter, Mildred Janet, wife of Carl L. Eaton of Medford Hillside, Mass. There are also, one brother, Herbert B. Cary, and one sister, Mrs. Shepard B. Palmer, both of this city; an uncle, B. P. Bishop of this city, and an aunt, Mrs. Nathan Witter of Millbury, Mass.

A man of sterling character and highly respected by all who knew him, Mr. Cary was ever ready and willing to aid others. He gave much of his time to public and community movements. He was of a quiet, unassuming and genial nature and a true and tried friend. By his death Norwich loses one of its most valuable and most highly respected citizens. In respect to his memory the Eaton-Chase store was closed Friday and will remain closed today (Saturday).

Mrs. Walter L. McCord.

Mrs. Ann Amelia McCord, widow of Walter L. McCord, died Friday morning at the home of her niece, Mrs. Morton E. Fox, Uncasville, at the age of 81 years. Mrs. McCord was a native of Derby and had lived in Uncasville for some years.

STATE ROAD CONSTRUCTION MAKES SOME DETOURS

A few of the state road projects in the state have been resumed. Details concerning these and the detours necessary follow:—

Town of Union-from Stafford-Union town line to state line, road is closed. Fair detour.

In the other sections of the state the work involves no detours.

EAGLES INCREASE LEAD OVER THE POLISHERS

The Eagles increased their lead to 360 over the Polishers in the pinochle tournament Friday evening. The total scores to date are: Eagles, 30,033; Polishers, 29,380. E. P. Mullins made high score for the Polishers Friday evening, Mr. Mullins' score being 7,650, while A. C. Steinke made high score for the Eagles, 7,385.

With the return of Capt. Woodmansee to the Eagles' team the Polishers lost their winning streak. The next session will be held Friday, April 3, at the Eagles club rooms.

WORKED ROYAL PURPLE DEGREE ON CLASS

The regular meeting of Palmyra Encampment, No. 3, I. O. O. F., was held Thursday evening with Chief Patriarch Leslie Fowler presiding. Routine business was transacted, after which a large class of candidates was advanced to the golden rule degree under the capable direction of Degree Master John F. Amburn and staff.

The royal purple degree is to be worked at the next meeting and several innovations are to be introduced in the work at that time.

Manchester Unitey Met.

The regular meeting of Hugh Henry Osgood lodge, No. 6920, I. O. O. F. M. U., was held Friday evening, at 8 o'clock in Steiner hall. In the absence of Noble Grand Frank Hill, who was unable to attend on account of illness, the meeting was in charge of George Lake, the past president, and regular routine business was transacted. A committee was appointed to arrange for a dance to be given after Easter after which the meeting adjourned.

So great is the number of American singers in Milan that are anxious to sing in grand opera that many are willing to pay large fees for a chance to appear.

ROSENBERG WINS WORLD'S TITLE FROM CANNONBALL MARTIN ON POINTS

New York, March 20—Charley (Phil) Rosenberg of New York won the world's bantamweight championship in Madison Square Garden tonight when he decisively outpointed Eddie (Cannonball) Martin of Brooklyn, defending champion, in a 15-round match. Newspapermen at the ringside gave Rosenberg ten out of the 15 rounds.

Employing a tantalizing left jab, with a beautiful right uppercut which he landed at will against an overeager champion, Rosenberg fought a well-planned fight. He evaded Martin's characteristic rushes and kept away from him.

Rosenberg jabbed away at long range and then, when forced in close, battered Martin's head with a right uppercut that took some of the steam out of Martin but failed to slow him up.

Drawn down to a fine edge by being forced to make the 118 pound limit, Rosenberg looked weak when he came into the ring. Martin, a natural bantam, looked far too strong for his adversary, but Rosenberg stood up well under the strain and at the end was going as strong as his opponent.

NURMI WILL RESUME TRACK THIS EVENING

New York, March 20—Paavo Nurmi, recovered from the attack of acute indigestion that necessitated his withdrawal in the 2,000 metres race against Willie Ritola last Tuesday night, will come back to the board tracks tomorrow evening when he appears in the New York post office league association games in the 69th Regiment armory. Nurmi will compete either in a special mile race or the 3 mile and an eighth event.

Should he elect to start in the former he will face Ritola, who today announced his intention of competing in the mile race. Lloyd Hahn of the Boston athletic association holder of the world's records for the three-quarter mile and the 2,000 metres run; Leo Lermond, Holy Cross star; Willie Goodwin, New York A. C. veteran, and possibly another starter.

A special 880 yard race will bring to the mark Alan Helffrich of Penn State, whose latest achievement is a worlds indoor record for the 600. Willie Sullivan, Georgetown; Sid Lesser and Jack Sellers, both of the New York A. C. and Walter Mulvihill, Holy Cross star.

NOTED GOLF PRO SAVED FROM PAUPER'S GRAVE

New York, March 20—Salvation Army, the professional golfers' association and the American golfers' magazine, all volunteered today to save Tom Potters Head the body of James Swan, one of the first golf "pros" in this country. Swan's pupils included Presidents Wilson and Cleveland at Princeton N. J.

The professional golfers association has given orders of burial arrangements. Swan died a pauper in Bellevue hospital. He had been found destitute and suffering from exposure on a Park Row bench.

Salvation Army officers said that two months ago they had found Swan, at the request of his relatives in London.

Army headquarters he often related how he entered Woodrow Wilson in golf at Princeton university. Swan said that Wilson never showed "any particular for the game," for he "always had something else on his mind and the pressure of affairs as an excuse to do a good deal of walking."

Swan said he had come to this country, prepared to be a bookkeeper, having presented a bag of golf clubs as a farewell gift, and on which he said he was so popular he could make more money playing golf matches and drives than by keeping business in ledgers.

MRS. JESSUP DEFENDS HER TITLE AGAINST MRS. FULLER

Brookline, Mass., March 20—Only one title defender will compete in the championship stages of the national indoor lawn tennis championships at the Longwood cricket courts, Chestnut Hill, tomorrow. Mrs. Marion Z. Jessup, of Wilmington, Del., winner of the doubles events here a year ago, was qualified for the finals by defeating Miss Martha Bayard of Short Hills, N. J., 6-3, 6-2, and will oppose Miss Anna H. Fuller of Cambridge in the title round.

In 1924 women's doubles and mixed doubles champions did not enter the lists, so new titlists will be crowned in these events. Mrs. J. Dallas Dorrance and Mrs. William Endicott Peirce, will oppose Miss Katherine Gardner, Cambridge, and Miss Edith Rotch in the women's doubles finals. They were seeded as the fifth and sixth teams in the current tournament. Oddly enough, the same pairs opposed in an early match of the title event last year and on that occasion Miss Bayard and Miss Gardner won in straight sets. To do so again the latter pair must contribute one more overdue upset week of surprising upsets.

COLUMBIA, CORNELL, PENN AND DARTMOUTH IN "BIG FOUR"

New York, March 20—Columbia, Cornell, Dartmouth and Pennsylvania, annual rivals on the diamond, will play each other annually, beginning this year, for a trophy to be known as the Intercollegiate cup, established by an agreement ratified by the four universities today.

The games in the series are to be part of the nine regular schedules, in addition to "home and home" contests which have been played among the four for some time. The cup will go annually to the team winning the inter-four championship, and will become the permanent possession of the university winning five times. No championship will be awarded, however, to a team that completes less than four of the cup games.

FIRPO ACCEPTS TERMS FOR FIGHT WITH SPALLA

Paris, March 19—Louis Angel Firpo was a spectator today at the Uruguay-France soccer football match played at the Buffalo stadium. Firpo has practically accepted the terms of the management of the stadium for a go with either Erminio Spalla, the Italian heavyweight, or Paolino Uzcudun, the Spanish fighter, on the first or second Sunday in June. Firpo surveyed the large crowd with much interest.

"What do you think of the game," a friend asked the Argentine after the final whistle.

"Well," drawled Firpo, "if seats are placed on the playing field they might be able to get 50,000 spectators to see me fight here in June."

PROMOTERS ACQUITTED FOR SUNDAY BASKETBALL GAMES

New York, March 20—Six promoters, ticket sellers and players were dismissed in the Yorkville court today when arranged on charges of having violated the "blue laws" by conducting basketball games at Madison Square Garden upon two Sundays. The defendants contended the noise of the games could not be heard outside the Garden and therefore the public peace was not disturbed.

Plainfield Beats New Bedford

(Special to The Bulletin)

Plainfield, March 20—At the Community house in Plainfield tonight before a crowd of 400 fans the Army and Navy club defeated the Mt. Pleasant team of New Bedford 53 to 23. With the visiting team came 150 eager basketball fans and though their club was hopelessly beaten from the start they cheered continually. Tonight's game was clean and snappy, both teams displaying fine field work.

Torrington Beats West Haven

New Haven, March 20—Torington high school defeated West Haven high school 14 to 12 in the first game in the Yale interscholastic basketball tournament here today.

EASTERN CONN. HIGH SCHOOL TEAMS ELIMINATED IN FIRST ROUND GAMES

Four games in the first round of the State High school tournement class C and D teams were played off here this afternoon. Deep River defeated Westport, 33-18. West Hartford defeated Tourtelitte 23-20. Litchfield defeated Stafford Springs, 41-35 and Terryville downed Woodstock academy 30-18. The tournament opened with Deep River banding Westport a decisive defeat, taking the lead at the start. The Deep River outfit kept well in front throughout the contest and there was no doubt as to the final outcome of the game.

Tourtelotte High Loses

West Hartford though showing a much better game in general had a narrow margin here this afternoon when she barely defeated Tourtelotte 23-20. The Hartford boys were called time and time again for committing fouls which the Tourtelotte lads converted to easy points. It was only by this route that they were able to keep on even terms with West Hartford for these Hartford boys out scored Tourtellott 9-3 from the floor.

Litchfield Beats Stafford

In a fast and hard fought game here this afternoon Litchfield defeated Stafford Springs 41-35. The game was easily the best seen here this afternoon and it contained plenty of good basketball. Stafford was leading 8-7 at the end of the first quarter but Litchfield soon went into the lead and at half time had rolled up what looked like a comfortable margin with a 29-11 score. Crouch, A. French and C. French were the men who scored often for the Litchfield outfit and they connected from the floor early and often. In the second half Stafford rallied and sensational shooting by Armstrong and Rumbelow threatened to take the lead. Litchfield steadied, however and a couple of baskets by Crouch in the dying moments of the game prevented any win by Stafford. Ricci, Stafford guard put up a fast and aggressive floor game.

In the final game of the first round played here tonight Collinsville eliminated Branford by defeating then 22 to 16 in a fast and exciting game. Branford looked good during the first session and at half time were leading 9 to 6.

Terryville decisively defeated Woodstock Academy by a score of 30 to 18. Taking the lead from the start the Terryville boys steadily increased their margin and there was no doubt as to the final outcome of the game.

Second Round Games

West Hartford defeated Deep River by a score of 28 to 17. It was the first game of the second round and Deep River was eliminated from the tournament as a result of its defeat tonight. West Hartford took the lead from the start and was never headed.

Litchfield defeated Terryville in a game that was packed full of thrills from start to finish. The score was 23 to 22 and the lead alternated between the teams throughout the game. By winning tonight Litchfield not only gained a place for the finals tomorrow but also won the Litchfield county league championship. Litchfield and Terryville were both tied for this honor and it was agreed by the coaches of the two schools that tonight's game would decide the championship.

Tomorrow West Hartford and Collinsville will play at 10 o'clock and the winner will meet Litchfield tomorrow night in a game that will decide the championship of the Class C and D high schools of the state.

WANDERERS BEAT TAFTVILLE IN FINAL GAME OF SERIES

The final game of the Eastern Conn. basketball championship series was won by the Baltic Wanderers by the small margin of one point, the score being 28 to 27. This game, however, had no effect on the title as Taftville clinched that by defeating the Wanderers at Taftville early in the week. Taftville won 3 out of the four games played while Plainfield split even and the Wanderers won only one.

Last night's game was fast although a bit rough. It was Charron's pretty pass work in the last half of the game that was responsible for Baltic's victory.

BULKELEY FIVE CLASHES WITH SPRINGFIELD TONIGHT

(Special to The Bulletin.)

New London, March 20—The Bulkeley five will clash with the fast Springfield school of commerce team at the state armory here this evening. The game which is scheduled to go on at 8 o'clock will be one of the last court games of the season which is fast drawing to a close and will be one of the fastest that the Bulkeley team has participated in. Bulkeley is up against a fast traveling team as the Bay State boys have an excellent reputation and an enviable record for the season.

Flowers Beats Bogash

Boston, March 20—"Tiger" Flowers of Atlanta, Ga., won a close decision over Lou Bogash, of Bridgeport, Conn., in a 10-round fight here tonight. Flowers won by his constant aggressiveness although he was knocked down in the fourth round for a count of eight, was floored again without a count when he arose, and again was tumbled for a count of five in the seventh round. Flowers weighed 157 pounds and Bogash 170.

OLD TIMER ENTERTAINMENT FOR WEST END COMMUNITY

Over 500 people crowded the Elizabeth street school building Friday evening for the old fashioned entertainment and dance given under the auspices of the West End Community association for the benefit of the athletic field fund, which the association is raising. The programme, which opened about 8 o'clock, consisted of old fashioned melodies, a sketch, The Family Album, and a dance with square and modern dances. The opening number was a son, We Hope You Brought Your Smiles Along, by Catherine Brock and Marion Murtagh, after which the Family Album was given, by the following cast:

Reader, Mrs. Clarence D. Smith; Mother, Mrs. Sourbier; Father, Mr. Ellis; Me, as a little girl, Agnes Whelan; Eben, my husband, Merion Latimer; Me, as a bride, Marion Royce; the parson, Charles Charpenter; parson's wife, Mrs. Lena Lathrop; Parson's boy, Fred Oat; the twins, Arvilla Kenfield and Dorothy Hinchey; Sister Jane, Mrs. Charles W. Parsons; Sophilia, Nonia Nagle; Aunt Eliza, Mrs. Albert Harris; Village beauty, Mrs. Charles Joslyn; Grandpa Hobbs, Charles Browning.

Several old fashioned melodies including Love's Old Sweet Song, Mother Machree and I Hear You Calling Me, were given by Roderick Sullivan. The remainder of the evening was devoted to dancing. Prof. Tinkham prompting for the square dances. Albert Smith's orchestra furnished the music for the dancing. Ice cream was sold in the hall by Robert W. Otis and Henry Kerouack. Henry J. Aurelio and Ernest Latimer took tickets.

The committee in charge of the arrangements for the affair comprised Mrs. Clarence D. Smith and Mrs. Ralph W. Browning.

Where Moses Was Hidden

Opposite Cairo lies the island of Roda, where, according to Arab tradition, Pharaoh's daughter found Moses in the bulrushes. At the southern extremity of this island is the nilometer, by which the rise of the Nile has been measured by the Caliphs for 1,000 years. It is a square well with an octagonal pillar marked in cubits in the center.

POETRY

SPRING

Spring! We know it by the flash of blue bird's wing,
And pussy willows blossoming,
E'en through the cloak of lingering snow
Pale, sweet crocuses their faces show
Yet snug their waxen petals fold
When boisterous winds blow rough and cold.

The marshes brown are bleak and bare
And yet astir, within the air
Is the subtle promise of the spring,
In all its glad awakening,
And down the snow-clad, barren hills,
Come rushing ice-free singing rills.

Soon, soon it will be fairest May,
Amorous birds will sing their lay.
And nature with a lavish hand
Will spread her beauty o'er the land.
And in hearts oppressed, where snow hath lain,
There, too—the joy of spring may come again.

—Gypsy Griswold in Boston Transcript.

To the Cuckoo

O Blithe Newcomer; I have heard,
I hear thee and rejoice.
O Cuckoo! shall I call thee Bird.
Or but a wandering Voice?

While I am lying on the grass
Thy twofold shout I hear;
From hill to hill it seems to pass,
At once far off and near.

Though babbling only to the Vale
Of sunshine and of flowers,
Thou bringest unto me a tale
Of visionary hours.

Thrice welcome, darling of the Spring!
Even yet thou are to me
No bird, but an invisible thing,
A voice, a mystery;

The same whom in my schoolboy days
I listened to; that Cry
Which made me look a thousand ways,
In bush, and tree and sky.

To seek thee did I often rove
Through woods and on the green;
And thou wert still a hope of love;
Still longed for, never seen.

And I can listen to thee yet;
Can lie upon the plain
And listen, till I do beget
That golden time again.

O blessed Bird! the earth we pace
Again appears to be
An unsubstantial, fairy place;
That is fit home for Thee!

—William Wordsworth.

According to Drs. E. D. Williamson and L. H. Adams, of the Carnegie institution of Washington, the earth is built somewhat on the principle of the old-fashioned metal-covered golf ball. Around this metal core is said to be wrapped several layers of lighter material, ending in a thin surface crust. The metal core of the earth is of pure iron or the alloy of that metal with nickel.

The world's largest clam-shell, weighing twenty pounds, without the mollusk itself, is in the American Museum of Natural History, in New York. The giant bivalves, of which the creature that once wore this shell was one, are natives to the waters of the Indian ocean, the East Indies and the Philippines. They are edible, and their shells are so hard that the natives make ax-heads of them.

The controversy as to the relative merits of jazz and nonjazz may continue. But popular choice is already being decisively registered. John A. Holman, broadcasting manager of the American Telephone and Telegraph station, WEAF, reports of letters received from radio fans called for jazz A year later the percentage fell to 3! In January, 1925, says Mr. Holman of 54,000 letters received only 5 per cent preferred syncopated entertainment. The experience of KSD has been similar. The demand for classical and melodic music so far exceeded that for the other variety that jazz programs were abandoned.—St. Louis Post Dispatch.

Edible Muskrats

The flesh of the muskrat for human food is variously esteemed. In these animals are sold extensively in some markets of the East and Middle West. In the retail markets they are sold as "marsh rabbits" and have a flavor somewhat like the wild duck.

SOCIAL CORNER POETRY

Whistling in Heaven

You're surprised that I ever should say so?
Just wait till the reason I've given.
Why I say I shan't care for the music
Unless there's whistling in Heaven,
Then you'll think it no very great wonder,
Not so strange, nor so bold a conceit,
That unless there's a boy there a-whistling,
Its music will not be complete.

It was late in August of '49,
We had come from our far Eastern home
Just in season to build us a cabin
Ere the cold of the Winter should come
And we lived all the while in our [illegible]
That husband was clearing the place
Where the house was to stand, and the clearing
And building it took many days,
So that our heads were scarce sheltered
In under its roof, when our store
Of provisions was almost exhausted,
And husband must journey for more:
And the nearest place where he could get them
Was yet such a distance away
That it forced him from home to be absent
At least a whole night and a day.

You see, we'd but two or three neighbors,
And the nearest was more than a mile,
And we hadn't found time yet to know them
For we had been busy the while,
And the man who had helped at the raising
Just stayed till the job was well done
And soon as his money was paid him
Had shouldered his ax and had gone.

Well, husband just kissed me and started—
I could scarcely suppress a deep groan
At the thought of remaining with baby
So long in the house all alone;
For, my dear, I was childish and timid,
And braver ones might have feared;
For the wild wolf was often heard howling,
And savages sometimes appeared.

But I smothered my grief and my terror,
Till husband was off on his ride,
And then in my arms I took Josey,
And all the day long sat and cried,
As I thought of the long, dreary hours
When the darkness of night should fall,
And I was so utterly helpless,
With no one in reach of my call.

And when the night came with its terrors
To hide every ray of light,
I hung up a quilt by the window,
And almost dead with affright
I kneeled by the side of the cradle
Scarce daring to draw a full breath,
Lest the baby should wake, and its crying
Should bring up a horrible death.

There I knelt until late in the evening,
And scarcely an inch had I stirred,
When suddenly, far in the distance,
A sound as of whistling I heard,
I started up dreadfully frightened,
For fear 'twas an Indian's call,
And then very soon I remembered
The red man ne'er whistles at all.

And when I was sure 'twas a white man,
I thought, were he coming for ill,
He'd surely approach with more caution—
Would come without warning, and still,
Then, the sounds coming nearer and nearer
Took the form of a tune light and gay,
And I know I needn't fear evil
From one who could whistle that way.

Very soon I heard footsteps approching,
Then came a pecfuliar dull thump,
As if some one was heavily striking
An ax in the top of a stump;
And then, in another brief moment,
There came a light tap on the door,
When quickly I undid the fastening,
And in stepped a boy, and before

There was either a question or answer,
Or either had time to speak,
I just threw my arms around him,
And gave him a kiss on the cheek,
Then I started back scared at my boldness,
But he only smiled at my fright,
As he said, 'I'm your neighbor's boy, Elick,
Come to tarry with you through the night.

"We saw your husband go eastward,
And made up our minds where he'd gone,
And I said to the rest of our people,
That woman is there all alone,
And I venture she's awfully lonesome,
And though she may have no great fear
I think she would feel a bit safter
If only a boy were but near.

"So, taking my ax on my shoulder,
For fear that a savage might stray
Across my path, and need scalping,
I started right down this way;
And coming in sight of the cabin,
And thinking to save you alarm,
Whistled a tune just to show you
I didn't intend any harm.

"And so here I am, at you service;
But if you don't want me to stay,
Why, all you need do is to say so,
And shoulder my ax I'll away."
I dropped in a chair and near fainted,
Just at thought of his leaving me then,
And his eyes gave a knowing bright twinkle
And he said, "I guess I'll remain."

And then I just sat there and told him
How terribly frightened I'd been,
How his face was to me the most welcome
Of any I ever had seen;
And then I lay down with the baby,
And slept all the blessed night through,
For I felt I was safe from all danger
Near so brave a young fellow and true.

So, now, my dear friend, do you wonder,
Since such a good reason I've given
Why I say I shan't care for music,
Unless there is whistling in Heaven,
Yes, often I've said so in earnest,
And now what I've said I repeat,
That unless there's a boy there a-whistling
Its music will not be complete.

From Day to Day For One That Died

We mourn for her, and she with better reason,
Might mourn for us instead.
There is no snow, no wind or wintry season
For those we call the dead.

Be not too sad for her—she may have drifted
Cloudlike beyond our sight.
Her sunlit eyes in wonder may be lifted
Into eternal light.

And some who loved her, kinsmen long departed,
Comrades unseen for years,
May fling their arms about her, happy hearted,
Weeping with thankful tears.

It almost seems her dreaming soul reposes
Upon light air above,
Sweet as the drifting scent of Summer roses,
Kind as the breath of love.

She is not lost! For death but came to free her,
And though afar she roam,
We can but wait, but wait and hope to see her
In some immortal home.

De Hoot Owl

—By Shirley Dean Nevin.

De hoot owl said to de whipporwill:
"You don't sing nuffin an' you won't keep still.
You ought to take notice dat it would be polite to let folks listen to me."
Says de whipporwill to de old hoot owl:
"You sleep all day, an' at night you prowl,
An' you shows yoh ig-nernce all complete,
Interruptin' de music dat I make so sweet."
An' dat's de way wif man an' bird,
Each thinks his voice should be heard
An' most of us ain't got much more skill,
Dan de old hoot owl an' de whipporwill.

MOTHERS TO MEN

Dear Sisters: I was much interested in the following short article by Zona Gale on Mothers to Men:

"If it is a proud thing to be the mother of a man, I must be a proud thing to be a mother of men. If a woman is wonderful who adopts and develops one child, she must be wonderful when she has the development of 20 or 40 or 100 for the greater part of the waking day. If a woman can rule her own spirit in caring for a family of three or five, she is a rare fine being. Then it must be a rare being who can rule her own spirit in directing the development of a roomful all day long. In short, the modern school teacher, if she lives up to her work, must be a wonderful woman, a rare and fine being fulfilling a proud task. The school mother can no more be dreaded and cartooned and ridiculed than can a mother. The school mother is bound to be revered and loved in any community which she enriches. Enriches—that is her job. To enrich the community by enriching human lives. The old idea of a teacher with birchrod in one hand is as dead as dueling. The new idea of a community mother has come to stay."

What expressive words and how true they are of our good old teachers! They were and are of a class by themselves. The younger teachers who are taking up the work are doing good work also. And let us hope that our children will love and remember them in the years when they pass from school as we can remember ours. Time has brought many changes in our schools and the young ones have many studies today that we learned only in the higher graded schools.

And the school nurse. What a blessing to our country she is! To each and every one only praise can we give, and by her work makes our children better and healthier every day. I cannot write as our great writers do on this subject, for I am still a learner at writing on such.

Fox Glove: Hope your trip will be a pleasant one.

Anna Z: How are you? Hope to hear from you soon.

Polly Peppermint: Got your welcome letter. Hope you are gaining right along. I hope you will like the article I sent in, "Mothers to Men," for you are one.

Now that the Corner has just passed another anniversary let us all hope that it will keep on growing more and better than ever.

RED CLOVER BADLY HURT

Dear Social Corner: Aunt Mary Jane and I went to the hospital to see Red Clover and found she was hurt badly. Her knee was to be set Monday. She wished to thank Club No. 1 for their kindness to her and wished me to say that she had the very best time that she ever had up there, and she felt so bad that she had to spoil it. She says it gives her so much pleasure to think how good they were to her. She said over and over again I did have such a good time. They are such lovely people, and try to have every one enjoy themselves. If any of you are in the city she would like to have you come to see her. Her love to you all.

KEEPING CORNER FILLED

Dear Social Corner Sister: I think it is about time I wrote again to help keep up the good work of our Corner page and continue to have it full. I wish to thank Elnore, True Blue, Whirldwind, Neighbor Eveready's Sister and Amy for the birthday cards. And hope I shall remember to think of them when their birthdays arrive.

Dear Editor of the Social Corner: I have attended several of the Social Corner meetings and would like to join. I will take for my pen name

TOO LATE.

WHERE CARDS WOULD BE APPRECIATED

Dear Sisters: Around the anniversary of our page it surely brings out the old and new writers. Well I hope none of us gets writer's cramp and be silent until the 16th anniversary. I, also, think it is more interesting when we find letters that we know are from those we know.

Club No. 2 had a wonderful gathering on the fourth. Everything moved along so smooth with no complaints. The salads were taken by our good janitor to the little folks at the Rock Nook home. They enjoyed them as much as we did sending them. I have received from Mrs. Palmer a letter of thanks in behelf of the home.

Club No. 1: Our club thanks you for your kindness to our unfortunate sister Red Clover. She was at our last meeting and was to help at the April dinner. She had been a shut in all winter, her husband also, and it is unfortunate and sad to have this happen now. Our thoughts and sympathy are with her. Any card or letter will cheer her if sent to Mrs. George Bailey, Backus hospital, Norwich. Her birthday anniversary is March 21.

Uncle Charlie: Well I am glad to see your letters in the Corner. Often the old names and places I remember. You see I have your number. Glad that Thursday noon L. club doesn't take your thoughts from us. Who am I? Why my son sang Easter with L. H. in your church choir and you talked with one at the close of church with Rev D. I sat in the auto.

Billie: I judge by your letter and your Lenten recipes you must go to the same denomination of church that Uncle Charlie and I do.

Neighbor Eveready: Think I misplaced your name and address.

Crimson Rambler: Son brought his radio home for over Sunday to try out and found it worked nicer here with not much much interference from electric wires as he had at the store, so is going to have it home. You and Joan come ever. Maple Leaf will bring you I guess.

Biddy and Theoda: I hope you will explain to Club No. 1 the talk I had with you both at the March meeting of the obstacles that lie set our path way at the Buckingham. Seattle says she also talked to Theoda.

To Our Model Hostess: You sat handled the dinner fine, I should say. It means a lot to me. I do wish our room was larger to accomodate the crowd and work around the tables.

Mayflare: You did your part good for Chocolate. Come again; also sister too.

Noank Brownie: Perhaps I've seen you. I have a sister living at Noank in the handsome bungalow Mere Knowl near Brook street. Do you know her? She is one of the best ever sisters in my eye.

Delish Dear: Wish you were able to be with us. Virg coming in always makes me think of you as youalways came together.

Just received word that Beatrice [illegible] Melrose sanitorium, Melrose Mass. Any card or letter will cheer. Mrs. May Josh[illegible] those would please [illegible]

IN EARLY SCHOOL DAYS

Dear Social Corner Friends: Enjoyed [illegible] Peeps, about the grandma. Your great aunt Harriet showed me, when visiting there, a [illegible] attached to the back part of a saddle as a second seat and generally used when the gentleman desired the company of a lady as she occupied the pillion. I never saw one before or since but have often seen mentioned. Doubtless some of the younger people appeared at [illegible] in this style. I used to live in the house, but never appeared but had promised myself I should next time summer I'd ask permission to see the second story. This should teach us when in a place to take the time to see the most interesting things to us then and not delay.

As to my early recollection of places, I went to school the summer I was four years old and lived one mile from school. The first house I came to was known as the Butte place, occupied by Sam Roe with no children attending school from this house. I then entered woods on each side of the road where Frances Welch, a little girl, got lost in the woods on the south side. When found she had fallen asleep being found in the earlier part of the night.

The Welch family had moved away before I commenced school but the impression made upon me caused me to feel uneasy. They seemed to me so black and dark and just as you were leaving the woods there was a place in the center of the road where some young trees and underbrush had come up so thick you could not see through and this extended quite a little distance. The road mostly used was on the south side but the other side would allow a team to pass by and some times did. How I used to wonder what was on the other side of this growth but was too timid to investigate. So, I felt happier when I came to Henry Bingham's place where, across the road, little dog-gone-it, lived [illegible] barks and a push-me and one [illegible] ways other than himself who used [illegible] attend the same school. Before [illegible] to the school house we came to [illegible] corners with mulberry trees on the south side. If you turned to the left you would pass James Ransom's house whose wife was also [illegible] schoolmate who usually walked with me to and from school. The road to the right would take you to Norwich. We went straight ahead usually. Once I saw some Lions paw" beside the road so asked Mr. hold my dinner and I went to get some of the pretty green which grew over a flat rock. Can not remember whether I gathered any or not but do remember I fell and hit my nose and the blood came out and my mate advised me to go up to Aunt Nabby's, or it sounded to me thus then. After piloting me there and seeing I was being cared for she carried my dinner to school and told the teacher, Elizabeth Lyon where or why I was late. In due time I trudged on and was received pleasantly by the kind teacher.

WASHING HANKERCHIEFS

Dear Social Corner Sisters: I will submit my way of washing handkerchiefs hoping it may help someone. I use a handkerchief pan, a discarded but whole granitewave pan, instead of a pail, after sorting out the clothes and putting all the finest into the boiler filled with cold or lukewarm water into which soap powder has been put.

Put the handkerchiefs in the pan with one tablespoon of kerosene, one tablespoon of baking soda, some shredded soap, pint of boiling water. Fill pan as full as needed and place on stove. When the water boils up turn over the handkerchiefs with a clothes stick, lift them out, draining them and put them into the boiler with the other clothes. The handkerchiefs will come out white, without a stain.

When washing handkerchiefs, collars laces, doilies, etc., if there are a number of them, as there is apt to be in a family, it requires much handling. Then too some pieces are likely to be lost. Use a pillow slip or a large bag of cheese cloth. Put all these little things into the cheese cloth or muslin pillow and tie the end. This way gives more space and perfect freedom for the water to be forced through the articles both in the boiler and washing machine and they need not be removed until ready to hang on the line. This way they do not get torn or frayed be they ever so tender or fragile. There are no losses of any of the articles and one does not have to hunt them out from the other clothes and keep count to see if all are there. This last advantage is worth a great deal to the average housewife.

Be sure and have the bag large as a pillow slip even if the family is small. Even if you send them to the laundry have handkerchiefs in a muslin or cheesecloth pillow slip and tie or draw string tight.

Rosy Posy: Hope to meet you next month at our next meeting.

GREETINGS FROM JOAN

Dear Social Corner Friends: I was glad to be able to attend the anniversary at Willimantic. It was a warm day and I met many that I knew. It was a pleasure for me to chat with Bettie T. she knew so many people who lived in Fitchville and Bozrah in the long ago.

Bachelor Maid: That little "puff" you gave me, gave me courage to write again.

Theoda: I'll attend to that list you asked for soon as the fit takes me.

Uncle Charlie: I enjoyed your letter of Y., as I remember many of those you mentioned. Then there was a Thomas Wilcox who lived on the bank where Mr. Gibbs lives. A Keables family where Peter Nawrocki now lives, also up on what is now called Oakland avenue there lived a Burnham family in a red house. I remember A. Mason the shoemaker too. Please write again.

If you think you are wise and well informed just see if you can answer these questions:

You have seen hundreds of white horses, why did you never see a white colt?

Why does a horse eat backward and a cow eat forward?

Why does a hop vine twine to the right and a pea vine to the left?

Why does a horse when staked out [illegible] a rope unwind the rope, while a cow winds it up?

Who does a cow get up on her hind feet and a horse on his front feet?

Why does a dog turn around three times before lying down?

FINDS CORNER HELPFUL

Dear Social Corner Sisters: The hints and recipes sent into the Social Corner I find very helpful. The recipe for cocoanut cookies which Peggy Alder sent has been very highly spoken of by Lilac Lady and I am going to try it.

The entertainment program at Willimantic [illegible] March [illegible] read real interesting. Would like to have heard it.

Nora: Feb. 22. I am going to [illegible] instead of a "butcher-knife." Don't you think it would be more appropriate?

Gypsy: Before May 1925 comes those [illegible] girls go to a hospital.

Hello Lu: Where is Johnny on the sick? Why doesn't she write?

Lilac Lady: Have you sown those [illegible] seeds?" A fine variety.

If I am correctly informed once on a time I lived next door to Viola.

With best wishes to all.

GREETINGS FROM RED CEDAR

Dear Corner Sisters: Was sorry not to be at the anniversary gathering of Club No. 1 in Franklin hall but my health would not permit. Have been [illegible] some time, am better but not strong yet.

I do enjoy the Corner letters so much. Some are very helpful. We now how to appreciate good health when we are sick. Was so glad when I could be out of bed once more. We that are not strong have to be careful.

Honeysuckle says she has a new pen so hope we shall hear from her soon.

California Girl just made a call on me.

I will write of my childhood days soon. I well remember Amy in her younger years. She is fine. She had one good mother so it goes that she must be good too.

WORTH KNOWING AT THIS SEASON

Dear Corner Sisters: Matting that is faded and worn off, but still too good to be thrown away, can be made to look almost like new. Scrub it thoroughly and let it dry. Then go over the entire matting with green dye, using a soft broad paint brush. A gallon of dye, of the kind used for cotton goods may be made out of one package, costing ten cents. The results will be surprising. Both the crex and the fiber can be treated the same manner.

To clean with gasoline and corn meal. Place the garment on a table and scrub thoroughly with a clean cloth saturated in gasoline and dipped in corn meal. The meal prevents the gasoline from leaving a ring, which is often the case in homecleaning. When dry use a stiff brush to get rid of all corn meal and hang on the line until gasoline has evaporated. This must not be done where there is any fire.

To clean a mirror use a piece of chamois kept for that purpose only. Wet the chamois in clean warm water into which a little ammonia has been added and wash the mirror with it. Then squeeze the chamois quite dry being careful never to wring it. Now wipe the mirror, and the glass will be beautifully clear and entirely free from lint. The same method can be used for washing windows.

Polish for furniture. Mix well together ten cents worth of citronella and the same amount of sweet oil and apply sparingly to bruised or scratched furniture.

THE SIGN OF ARIES

Dear Editor and Social Corner Members: Everybody seemed to have such a good time at the meeting March 4th I just wanted to say I especially enjoyed the programme. Would like to have attended the other meeting of the Social Corner but have been laid up with the grip.

Won't some of the members tell us why they selected their pennames? There are so many new members, am sure we would all like to hear from them.

As brevity is the soul of wit.
So is variety the spice of life.

At this time of year perhaps it would not be amiss to tell you about the sign Aries.

Aries is the first sign of the zodiac. It begins March 20th and ends April 19th. All persons born during this period are of the sign Aries (The rain). It is the astrological new year (re-birth of nature) and signifies—Awaking. The tribe is Gad, which means, armed and prepared, and corresponds to the insight, and reasoning powers possessed by the subjects of Aries. Mars is the ruling planet, and the sign corresponds to the face, brain and head of human kind. The sign is masculine and intellectual, the positive pole of the fire element. The colors are pink, white, blue and crown. The gem is a diamond. Favorable day and time of the week is Thursday A. M. Favorable time of the year is from April 13 to 19th; and from Nov. 29th to Dec. 6th.

How many of the sisters have Aries for their sign of nativity? I notice J. E. T., Anna Mell, Frances Adel, (like myself), are subjects of

MORE MEMORIES OF YANTIC

Dear Social Corner: I wish to say to Grace that sometime in the early part of the evening it will be well for you to put your thinking cap on and give one more guess.

I must admit that I am very fond of oysters but that is not anything strange, most of us New Englanders like oysters. But who in the world is Betsy Trotwood. I know Betsy; she lives down near you but Trotwood is such an uncommon name, is that her real name or is she a member of the Social Corner and has she taken that for her pen name. Just give me the first and last letter of her given name and if I can think her out and her home is around here I will look her up. However if you should visit her just drop me a line and we will step in and have a visit.

Silent Partner: You may think that you have my number but I will go you one better. I am very sure that I have you first. You know sometimes our best friends give us away. Not that they mean to, but they do just the same. Your friend, Only a Link, wrote about your sister Fanny playing the organ and the boys singing. Sure I know you, and your sister Fanny, too. We have spent many a pleasant hour singing together by that same organ. It is a long time since we met but this may be an introduction to a meeting later. The last time that I met you you was down at the cove crabbing.

No Uncle Charles, I am with you. I think that you must have been a little ahead of my time in Yantic. I do remember Dr. Phinney and Deacon Peck and the others that you mentioned also the many very familiar places that you referred to. They were known to every boy and girl in Yantic at that time as places of interest. You may have left a paper at my house; if you did I do not remember it. There were not many daily papers around in those days, the first paper that I remember was the Norwich Courier and that was quite a treat when it arrived. I well remember the Bennett and the Collins boys. Edward Collins and I were very close chums even up to my young manhood days. I have lost track of him now but this may be a way of locating him again. Among my playmates were the Harrisons, the Dobsons, Carpenters, Parkhurst, Hannahs, Edmins-tons, Humes, Beswicks, Luffy, Kelly, Gleason, Wilcox, Hydes, Deardons, Thompsons, Lyons, Irish and many others whose names I cannot recall at this time. You may or not be included in this list.

If not I am sure from your letter that you are one of the old timers in Yantic. I have never attended any of the Social Corner meetings. If the sisters do not object what do you say if we try to attend one sometime and see what we can find out and talk over old times and places?

It will no doubt do us good.

PUSSY WILLOWS.

Editor and Members of the Social Corner: I sincerely intended to have answered to my name during the roll-call, but failed. So much time has passed that the subject is very much out of date, so I selected a new topic, suited to the season. Nature study is one of my hobbies, so I felt like telling a story from one of her pages.

Frequently, during the winter and early spring we see an item in the newspaper stating that someone had found unusually well developed pussy willows. Seemingly, the reason for this is attributed to the mildness of the weather. That is not the real reason at all. A strong and thrifty growth of wood on tree or shrub will produce large, well developed buds. Of course, towards spring, as the sap comes up in the wood, all buds increase in size, as a natural consequence.

Now for the real blossom of the pussy willow. If these buds are not forgotten but watched for some little time, something will be found to happen to those beautiful silvery buds. Along in April the real flowers begin to appear. Some of them will turn yellow and have a fluffy appearance. If you touch them you will find them covered with a yellow dust called pollen. Keep watching, and after a while these catkins will fall off, and are gone. Not so with them all. Some shrubs will be seen still heavy with pussy willows but looking very different from those which bore the pollen. As they grow they look somewhat like green caterpillars. Late in the summer they, too, will be found on the ground under the bush and having a cottony appearance. These are the seeds of the willow.

There is more than one variety of pussy willows. One variety is miniature in size and the catkins have been seen prettily tinged with red.

There is also quite a variety of catkin-bearing trees and shrubs. Several of these have two kinds of flowers on one plant, like the hazelnut, the alder and many forest trees. The catkin flowers drop off after the flowering season is over, leaving the other flowers to grow into seed.

To the nature student these facts are of much interest and give us something to observe in our drives and walks about the country.

With my best wishes to the editor and members I am

SILENT STRANGER.

HARD SOAP RECIPE

Dear Corner Sisters and editors: Here I am again with my pen trying to help along the good work of keeping the page full and overflowing. Seems good to see so many names being added to our list of writers. I wish to say that I am a great lover of plants of all kinds and have them in most all my windows, which makes it very cheerful, when one is shut in for a time, and also on the many cloudy days. As one has said, The flowers are God's gift's of love.

Was saddened to hear of Red Clover's accident. Hope she will have strength to go through whatever she has to suffer. Let us all try and remember her on her birthday.

Calla Lily: Thank you for your thoughtfulness of me.

Crimson Rambler: You havent been up this way yet or even written. Get busy and make a break.

Maple Leaf: Guess your medicine didn't work well. Jump into your flivver, take C. R. and come over.

One sister wished the recipe for making hard soap. I will send mine along. Take five pounds of grease, (melt) to it add 1 can Babbitts lye dissolved in one quart of cold water, (which will become hot when dissolved) add lye to grease having both grease and lye lukewarm. Stir constantly until thick and heavy as cream. Pour into shallow pan, into which a wet cloth has been placed on bottom. When nearly cool cut in squares.

Thanks to editor for his patience and long live the Corner with success.

U. G. E.

POWDER FOR BIRDS

Dear Cornerites: A good way to make powder for birds is to mix thoroughly equal parts of finely sifted coal ashes and tobacco dust and moisten with liquor exterminator. Allow it to dry and put away in cans ready to use. Tobacco dust can be bought at most florists and at all seed stores for a few cents a pound. An empty baking powder can in the bottom of which are several holes makes a good shaker.

To prevent sunburn, after a long walk or ride in the hot sun, rub your face with a little almond oil instead of washing it.

Almond oil is excellent for the skin and used in this way will prevent that burned uncomfortable feeling that so often follows exposure to the sun. Leave the oil on ten minutes, then wipe off with a rag which is soft. The oil will remove any dirt there may be as well as washing.

KITTY LOU.

A NEW MEMBER

Dear Social Corner Sisters: I wrote a letter to the Corner last week and signed my name as Biuet, but the editor tells me that is another sister's name. I have tried very hard to think of a name suitable to me but as I can think of none that is not already taken by some one of the other sisters, I will take as my pen name the initials the editor signed at the end of my letters last week.

U. A. W.

WANTS HELP WITH SWEET PEAS AND ASTERS

Dear Sisters of the Social Corner: I once heard a sister say when she did not answer the roll call and write once in about so often it was decided they were dead and their name crossed off. So I am going to let you know I am not dead yet. But I am quite like the old man that got up in prayer meeting and said he had one leg in his grave and the other all but-ter.

We have all had the grippe and as you know it is hard to shake it all off have not felt real well since. I want to thank the sisters for sending me such a pretty plant. It is nice to be remembered. It had been an awful blue day for me and when Lo walked in with such a pretty plant and said Social Corner sisters sent it, it seemed to brighten me up.

And I also want to thank the unknown friend for sending me a calendar. It was a beauty and I thank you.

I wish some of the sisters would write about sweet peas, just when is the best time to plant them and what they do for the little green bugs that usually get mine. Also Asters. I never have real good luck with them either, but this year I have sent away for some very choice seed and thought some of the sisters would help me out.

With love and best wishes for the Corner. I remain as ever,

STUDENT.

ONE OF THE LAND'S BEST FAMILIES

Dear Social Corner Friends: The Social Corner anniversary. How fast they come as time goes on. I was not aware that another year had been added to the history of the Corner until I saw Old Glory floating at the head of the Corner page on March 7th. It hardly seems possible it is 15 years since I joined the little band of writers when the Corner was first organized. The family has grown from dozens to hundreds and I am pleased to belong to one of the best families in the land—the Social Corner family. It has certainly been a great pleasure to me the past 15 years to read the letters of much interest and profit from the old and new writters. The Corner page has made many friends far and near from one ocean to the other. The Corner page has been read not only in the homes of the writers but it has been read by the girl away at school, the boy at college, on the train, and steamboat, at hotels, and the depots while waiting for the train. It will never be known the limit the Corner page reaches on land and sea. Long may it live and prosper. It is well to remember that it is your letters in the Corner page that your friends are looking for every Saturday. Try not to disappoint them.

RURAL DELIVERY.

FINE TIME AT WILLIMANTIC

Dear Sisters of the Social Corner: It has been a long time since I have written to the Corner so thought now would be a good time to do a little bit of writing.

I will first answer to the roll call (present) which I have overlooked.

Last week Wednesday I attended the anniversary meeting of Club No. 1 at Willimantic and had a wonderful time but am sorry to say one of our members (Club No. 2) met with a terrible accident which has resulted in her being up at the Backus hospital.

I have been to see her today (Saturday) and found her as well as could be expected.

The flowers that she has received were very pretty.

This was a great shock to us all and she has our sympathy and our wishes for quick recovery that she may be with us again.

At our next meeting we want a good attendance and are planning on having a nice dinner for all and can have it so if every acts.

My heart sympathy goes out to all the afflicted and all who are in trouble or sick.

How many sisters have ever made this kind of Lemon Pie, No. 1: Yolk 2 eggs, small cup sugar, 1-4 grated rind and juice of 1 large lemon, 1 teaspoon melted butter, 2 heaping teaspoons flour, 1 1-2 cups milk and salt to taste. Beat all together. Beat whites stiff and fold in. Pour into pan, in unbaked crust and bake in moderate oven.

Lemon Pie, No. 2: 1 cup raisins, 2 crackers ground up, 1 cup sugar, 1 cup water, 1 egg, juice of one lemon.

These recipes make one pie of good size.

Wishing you all a heap of good luck I will close so as to let some one else have a chance.

AUNT MARY JANE.

ANSWERING ROLL CALL

Dear Editor and Social Corner Sisters: Will say present, if it is not too late, to the roll call. We all certainly had a fine time in Willimantic last week, and such a lovely dinner!

Red Clover: Sorry you had such a

MOVING DAY FOR UNCLE JOHN

Sarah is talking about moving to the city but I do not want to move anywhere, at least until I forget about the last time we moved.

The day before we moved here Sarah cooked a pot of beans and boiled a ham and made some pies so we would not have to do any cooking while moving. We packed the food in a wash boiler except the pies which we decided to carry in a basket for safety.

This place is only about a mile from where we then lived.

After the usual commotion, confusion and futile running around we got the wagon packed and started the main load with us. When we started we were carrying by hand our lamps, three pies in a basket, the pies in another basket the parrot in a cage and leading the dog by a string. When we were half way here one of the cats got out of the basket and ran into the woods. We dropped everything, tied the dog to the wagon and started after the cat. But the noise and excitement were too much for the dog so he broke his string and joined in the chase. The parrot began to screech. "Hold on, you rascal, ain't we got fun." Then he flew out the door which had bounced open when we dropped the cage on the ground. He flew to the top of a tree and while we were trying to call the dog away from chasing the cat he began to screech. "Ho, ho, a great life, atta boy, hit 'im in the head, one seegar, humpty dumpty, forever, never, never, forever quoth the raven 'never more.'"

It took us over an hour to round up the cat and parrot and by that time my pantaloons was hanging in fringes and most of Sarah's hair was hanging on the bushes. But there is plenty more in the the store. By the time we returned to the wagon the other two cats had disappeared and we were so tired and provoked we let them go.

We found the horses quietly eating by the roadside and the driver asleep. We woke him and he took up the reins and clucked to the horses to go on but they refused to budge. We tried coaxing them but that did no good; then in exasperation the driver applied the whip but that made matters worse for then they began to back. Then we all got hold of their heads and began to holler, "Whoa," but that did no good so Sarah said to turn them around and let them back. After backing nearly all the way here they concluded to go ahead and we turned again and finally got there. Do you blame me for not wanting to move again?

We were all tired and cross and vowed the next time we moved we should not take anything but a suitcase. We always say that so it has become a habit.

After getting the things in the house we sat down with a sigh of relief but I jumped up in a hurry for some one had wanted to use the basket and had put the huckleberry pie in a chair. I always liked huckleberry pie but I'd rather eat it than wear it. We were too hungry to do anything but eat so tried to find a few dishes and eat before doing any settling. The only thing we could find was the dripping pan and the carving knife so sliced some bread and ham and ate as best we could. Then we felt much better and all started to settle the house. We set up the beds first but when we tried to set up the stove we could not find the stovepipe, so everyone started to hunt for it. The more we hunted the worse the place looked until finally it looked as if some junk man had taken off the roof and dumped in his load that way. Finally I found the pipe carefully wrapped up in Sarah's best table cloth.

By suppertime we had things settled enough so we could walk around without falling head first into the dish pan or sitting down in the butter. We thought we would have a cup of coffee but could not find the coffee pot. We found the can of coffee in a lampshade and made the coffee in a cake pan. After supper Sarah went upstairs and I heard her running around from one room to the other and opening and shutting bureau drawers. I went up to see what the matter was and found Sarah with the most despairing tin lizzie expression on her face. She said she was looking for the bacon for breakfast and she was sure she had put it in one of the bureau drawers so she could find it quickly. I helped her look for it and found it after a while neartly wrapped up in her best silk petticoat.

I had busted my collar button so thought I would find another to have it ready for morning as I had to go to town for supplies. But we couldn't find the only other one I had so when I went to town we tied the collar on with a string. About six months afterwards the piano tuner found it in the piano. I should like to know how it got there. In fact how do any of the things get in such ridiculous places when we move?

I have decided that moving is an invention of Satan. The next time I move I won't. I'll "let George do it."

WOMAN AVOIDS AN OPERATION

Awful Pains and Misery Relieved by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Lima, Ohio.—"I want to tell you how your medicine has helped me. For weeks I suffered with awful pains from inflammation and I was in such misery that I had to bend double to get relief. I could not be touched or jarred, had awful pain all over my abdomen and could not touch my feet to the floor. It was impossible for me to straighten up and the pains never ceased. I took treatments for some time and finally was told I would have to have an operation. I do not believe in operations and I had read so much about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound that I told my husband I would try it before I gave up. I soon began to feel that it was doing me good. The awful misery began to leave me, also the backache. I have a good appetite and am gaining in weight. Taking this medicine was the best thing I ever did. I feel like it has saved my life and I do not hesitate to say so to my friends. It has saved me from a dreaded operation and I am still taking it."—Mrs. ETHEL THURSTON, 324 North Pine St., Lima, Ohio.

NEW LONDON TAX-PAYERS TARDY, PAYING NINE PER CENT INTEREST

(Special to The Bulletin)

New London, March 20—It is not known that any results have yet come from the efforts of the tax collector, the city manager and the director of law to collect the overdue taxes of property holders. Patrick F. Quinn has been engaged to interview delinquents and to put up to them the necessity of paying, and acquainting them with the fact that liens placed upon property may be foreclosed by the city. That his visits to tax payers will have the desired results in many cases there is no doubt, but in many others success is not likely to attend the efforts of the triumvirate that has set out to replenish the city treasury. There are few if any cases in which the delinquent is not quite as anxious to pay as the city officials are to have him settle. But when the necessary funds are not to be had she or he must await such time as savings will permit the wiping out of the debt. And during that time interest at the rate of nine per cent. per annum is collected on the debt by the city. That's big interest for money to be earning so the taxpayers, or at least the person who is more liable to pay, does not feel that the burden is resting as heavily on the city treasury as it is upon the delinquent. A case has been cited in which a city bank was carrying a note for a person and held collateral that covered the amount of the note twice over. The maker of the note was asked to reduce the amount of it to keep it alive. Then he asked the bank what he was in business for if it was not there to loan money on good security. The bank man admitted that was his mission and that the bank was seeking that sort of business constantly. This offended the maker of the note, so he arranged to take it up paying the face of it, and since then he has done no more business with a bank with which he formerly had a good sum of money.

Another of the police department ands suspended today upon charges [illegible] being intoxicated while on duty, [illegible] afternoon Acting Lieutenant [illegible] D. Gaffney, acting upon orders [illegible] from Captain Charles A. [illegible] who is confined to his home, [illegible] by illness, caused Patrolman Patrick Sheehan to be notified that the latter had been suspended from further patrol duty pending his hearing before City Manager William A. Holt for being drunk on his beat early this morning. Immediately following Captain Pinney's edict, Acting Lieutenant Gaffney had Patrolman Sheehan notified of the latters suspension, in writing, by Patrolman Braxton Hill.

Early this morning a woman residing on Williams street telephoned to desk Sergeant Timothy C. Sullivan that a police officer on William street between Main and Rosemary streets was in such an intoxicated condition that he was "hanging over a fence." Acting Lieutenant Gaffney and Patrolman William Babcock went in the police automobile to Williams street but no one was to be found. Acting Lieutenant Gaffney then went to the fire house of the Thomas Hose company, nearby, and there found Sheehan in a condition that made him totally unfit to perform patrol duty. Lieutenant Gaffney ordered Sheehan off duty and had him taken to the patrolman's home in the police automobile. A report of Sheehan's condition was entered upon the records at the police station and this forenoon Captain Pinney ordered the officer suspended. A communication was forwarded this afternoon to City Manager Holt relating the facts of the finding of Sheehan drunk while on duty and of the officer's temporary suspension pending his hearing.

Sheehan has been a member of the force about five years and this morning's acts of the officer are the first that have resulted in charges having been preferred against him.

City Manager Holt this evening informed Acting Lieutenant Gaffney that Patrolman Sheehan would be given a hearing at the office of the former in the municipal building tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock and instructed Acting Lieutenant Gaffney to be present, together with Desk Sergeant Frank Howard and Patrolman William Babcock. Sergeant Samuel Hick this evening had Sheehan served with a summons to attend the hearing.

Property owners on Colman, Morgan and other streets in that vicinity and on Norwood avenue are to be notified now that sewer work is to begin on those thoroughfares and that they are to be compelled to pay the entire cost of the same. The sewers were objected to by some property owners, but the objection did not stand and the city council compensation board ordered the work to start. In many cities, building land cannot be put on the market till sewers are laid and sidewalks and water connections are made. This plan insures the streets will not later be torn up and that there will be sidewalks and gutters laid where they must eventually be provided.

There's a proposition, that during summer, Green street, from State street to Golden, might be cemented, from building to building and the sidewalks removed. Such a change would be an improvement, no doubt, but it is an innovation that may not be taken to kindly by the powers that are in the management of the city's finances. Green street is very narrow, so narrow that it has been made a one way street. The absence of sidewalks would permit greater space for both vehicles and pedestrians.

Joseph Tulski, of Westerly, a patient at Home Memorial hospital, returned to his home today.

The funeral of William Russell was held this afternoon at 2.30 o'clock in Union lodge room, the services being attended by delegations of members of Pequot lodge, I. O. O. F., and F. L. PICKETS KEEP CHECK-UP IN THREAD MILLS STRIKE

Willimantic, March 20.—Words of encouragement and warnings against "poisoning" invasions among the ranks of the strikers of the American Thread company, was the gist of an address delivered at a mass meeting Friday morning, by National Organizer Miss Mary Kelleher, who has been assisting the officers of the striking organization in conducting their cause. As the deadlock at the Thread company is nearing two weeks' duration the situation remains unchanged. Friday when asked if there were any developments of interest, replied that there were not but "that everything was going very nicely." In this statement she was referring to the success of the collectors, who are receiving contributions toward the strike fund in Willimantic and aother cities. Local citizens and organizations are daily handing in money and there are many who have become contributors to the surprise of the committee.

In giving encouragement to the operatives, Miss Kelleher related the experiences of the strikers of the United States Steel Corporation at Gary, Indiana who cooperated and finally secured an eight hour working law, a reduction from 12 hours a day, with better working conditions. She charged the strikers not to accept rumors and stories which they would be sure to hear unless they were affirmed by officers of their organization. She further warned against poison that would be spread in their ranks by men and women acting as detectives for the company, with a view to disrupting their mutual cause.

The following report was read by a member of the picketing committee: But a small number are seen to enter the plant but the check-up tends to show that a larger number come out of the Willimantic mills at closing time. However, the number is very small compared to the army of striking operatives. It is reported that the few who are working are leaving the mills by various avenues and in a stealthy manner. Mention has been made of a closed car driving out of the mill yard, with occupants who leaned back and covered their faces as the machine passed through the gates and by the line of pickets. Another report states that two machines were parked on an adjacent street and certain people detoured from the plant to reach these cars without attracting notice. Still others were conveyed to a point near the Willimantic Camp Ground along Windham road and from these walked down the railroad tracks to the mill property, to escape the picket line. On the strength of this report an appeal was made for more strict picketing at the plant and steps in this direction will be taken. Volunteers are working in Willimantic and various surrounding towns selling tickets for strikers' benefit dance.

STATE GOVERNMENT COST $14.47 PER PERSON

The state of Connecticut spent $14.47 for every inhabitant in 1923 to maintain its government.

Compared with some of her neighbors, Connecticut's per capita government expense was rather high, according to the U. S. department of commerce, which completed a study of the financial statistics of the state government of Connecticut lately. As against Connecticut's per capita government cost of $14.47, New York's cost of government was $13.21 per capita, while Pennsylvania spent only $9.81 per person to maintain her state government. New Jersey's per capita government cost, however, was slightly higher than that of Connecticut, amounting to $14.67.

During the fiscal year, the local payments for expenses, interest and outlays for the state government of Connecticut came to $21,172,846—$14.27 per capita. This represented a comparatively small increase over the year 1922, when the state spent $20,050,563, of $13.97 per capita. In 1917, the state's administration cost $10,711,548, a per capita expense of $8.21.

Of the $21,172,846 spent to maintain the state government of Connecticut, $16,884,499 went for the expenses of operating the general departments of the state administration; $72,107 went fro operation of public service enterprises; $656,865 for interest on debt; and $3,459,375 for outlays on permanent improvements.

Connecticut's total revenue receipts for the fiscal year 1923 were $23,639,253, or $16.16 per capita. This was $5,925,782 more than the total payments of the year exclusive of the payments for permanent improvements, and $2,466,407 more than the total payments including those for permanent improvements. The state, thus, ran substantially to the good in the operation of its government for the year.

Property and special taxes represented 30 per cent. of the total revenue of the state for 1923, 41.8 per cent. for 1922 and 38.4 per cent. for 1917.

The increase in the amount of property and special taxes collected was 44.9 per cent. from 1917 to 1922, but there was a decrease of 3.9 per cent. from 1922 to 1923. Per capita property and special taxes in 1923 were $4.85; in 1922, $6.35; and in 1917, $4.82.

Earnings of general departments of the state administration constituted 11.4 per cent. of the state's total revenue for 1923, and 11 per cent. for 1922, and 6.2 per cent. for 197. Some 46.5 per cent. of the 1923 revenue of the state came from business and non-business licenses. In the preceding year, only 33.9 per cent. of the revenue came from this source, but in 1917, such licenses brought in 49.8 per cent.—practically half of the total revenue of the state. Receipts from businesses licenses, it was stated, consist chiefly of taxes exacted from insurance and other incorporated companies, and of sales taxes on gasoline, while those from non-business licenses comprise taxes paid for hunting and fishing privileges.

Connecticut held a low net indebtedness as compared with most of the eastern states in 1923. The net indebtedness amounted only to $5,095,658, or $3.48 per capita, while Pennsylvania's debt came to $5.35 per capita, New York's to $18.57, and New Jersey's to $6.62. Connecticut reduced her debt from the 1922 figure by 73 cents for every inhabitant. The 1922 per capita debt was $4.21 and the 1917 debt, $6.56.

The assessed valuation of property in Connecticut in 1923 was $2,018,526,714, and the per capita levy was $1.52.

Judge Turano came in at 9.35 and called the Sunday card playing cases. Having received complaint, Patrolman George H. Champlin Sunday last visited the northern section of the town and as a result, James Robinson, 23, colored; James Rosso, 18, pugilist principal in recent Westerly bouts; Vivian Barnet, 40, colored; Frank Mucio, 18; Earl Champlin, 18, colored; Joe Bruno, 14, and Irving Mellow, 19, all pleaded guilty to the charge, "did play a game of cards on the first day of the week, it being Sunday." The men were reported as shuffling the pasteboards in front of the Vacca store on Dayton street. In sentencing the men to each pay a fine of $5 and costs amounting, to $7.90, the judge told them that if they came before him again on a similar charge they would not get off as easily for "playing cards or shooting craps had got to stop on Sunday, especially in that locality."

A Ford truck bearing the Connecticut registration number C-391, was found abandoned on the Post road, between Cross' Mills and the King Tom farm Wednesday night. Chief of Police Thomas E. Brown was notified and later Sheriff Fred T. Mitchell had the car towed into the barn at the Mills' farm. Up to Friday afternoon no one had inquired about the machine which is practically new.

W. A. SANDBACH SHOT BY STRANGER IN HIS CAR

Westerly, R. I.—Mar 20—W. A. Sandbach, 29, of 46 Lexington street, Highwood New Haven, Conn.; a druggist's representative of the L. and F. of 625 Greenwich street, New York City, was shot twice, late this afternoon, by a man riding with him in his automobile. The police here are holding a man who gave his name as Stanley Manners, of 35 Naponset avenue, Dorchester, Mass., on a charge of assault with intent to kill. Two shots were fired at Sandbach, one bullet lodging in the neck on the left of the median line near the inner end of the clavocle, and the second striking an order book in his inside coat pocket and glancing off, after grazing the tenth rib.

According to Sandbach, the man who shot him stopped him, 35 miles east of Westerly, between Greenwich and Wickford and asked for a ride to New London. They had nearly reached this town, the New Haven man said, when the stranger pulled a gun from his pocket and fired two shots. Sandbach said he had wrenched the weapon from the other man's hands. Sandbach was brought to the office of Dr. M. H. Scanlon here and after the wound had been dressed preparations were made to take the New Haven man to Grace hospital in New Haven.

Manners said, according to the police, that he was walking from Providence to New London. He said the gun had been exploded in the struggle that followed when Sandbach took his hands from the wheel and grappled with him. He admitted, the police said, that he thought Sandbach had some money.

Sandbach said that after the shots had been fired at him, he stopped his machine which was headed for a stone wall. A struggle in the road followed and Manners was finally overpowered and the revolver wrenched from his hand. Sandbach then held the stranger until an automobile driven by Sanford Spink came up and both Sandbach and Manners were brought to Westerly in that machine. Manners was turned over to the police and Sandbach was taken to the doctor's office. A short time later he was taken to New Haven in his own car, he having secured a man to drive him to his home city.

Mr. Sandbach is married. His wife and children at present are in New Jersey. He is a World war veteran, having served four months overseas with the 349th infantry. Manners was formerly employed by the Abbott Leather concern in Boston.

The revolver involved in the shooting is an old one, the police say. The police said it was fully loaded and that two shells had been exploded.

After being questioned for several hours, the man under arrest admitted that he had given a fictitious name when arrested and that his right name was Thomas Conrad, of 16 Leslie street, Dorchester, Mass. He said he was 19 years old and admitted that he had left the Sherly Industrial school last February. He said he had stolen the revolver in Providence.

NOANK

A surprise party was tendered Mrs. William Tourjee at the home of Mrs. George Banks, Thursday evening. Mrs. Tourjee was invited to hear the radio and on her return found many friends awaiting her. GALES FERRY

The fifth birthday of the Village Improvement association was observed St. Patrick's day evening, in the Country club house, with a supper at 6:15 o'clock, which was well attended. The decorations were of green crepe paper ribbons, arranged for window draperies, electric lights with green shades, green ribbon runners, through the center of the tables, green candles, and shamrocks, with other favors and baskets of pussy willows. The tables formed, the letter U. Mrs. Everett Noyes, and her committee arranged the effective decorations. With the assembly standing in their places the Rev. Allen Shaw Bush president of the association, called on Rev. George Smith Brown of the Methodist Episcopal church of Gales Ferry, to say grace. The following menu was served: Beef loaf, brown gravy, escalloped potatoes, creamed onions, pickles, rolls cake, ice cream, coffee. Mrs. Edmund H. Latimer and committee was in charge of the supper, with the following waitresses, Mrs. Joseph De Rusha, Mrs. Walter T. Clark, Misses Embeth Bennett, Dorothy Birch, Marjorie Gates, Myrtice Coman. After supper, Rev. Mr. Bush spoke briefly of the work of the association in the past five years and had visions of future usefulness. Then he presented Rev. Mr. Brown who told a facetious story and said he would help in the work of the association. Nathan A. Gibbs told a humorous story and Fletcher Wilson a summer resident who recently arrived here, made brief remarks, as did Miss Caroline B. Freeman and Mrs. Latimer.

Walter M. Buckingham, treasurer of the association, spoke in the interest of the street lights. This was followed by a pleasing informal program given by Mrs. Walter M. Buckingham of the place and Miss Hazel Banfield of Noank in costume. COLCHESTER D. A. R. HEARD ADDRESS BY MRS. BUEL

The March meeting of the Col. Henry Champlin chapter, D. A. R. of Colchester, was held at the home of Miss Abby G. Willard on Wednesday, March 11, Mrs. C. H. Norton and Mrs. Robert S. Brown assisting Miss Willard as hostesses, following opening exercises and usual routine of business. The chapter and its guests were addressed by Mrs. John Laidlaw Buel, vice president general of the National Society D. A. R. Mrs. Buel's talk was on the Connecticut State Farm for Delinquent Women. Mrs. Buel's absolute knowledge of the history, management, and present conditions at the farm enabled her to give a clear and comprehensive account of it, from its beginning to the present. From her description of the treatment of those commited to its care, Mrs. Buel very convincingly proved to her hearers the advisability of such an institution well equipped and maintained in our state. All were much interested and enlightened upon the matter.

The chapter voted to write to our representatives, asking them to favorably consider the bill for appropriations for the farm when it shall come before the legislature.

RACE AND COLOR BILL FAILS TO MEET WITH APPROVAL OF SENATE

(Special to The Bulletin.)

Hartford, March 20.—A small attendance greeted Speaker Darbie when he called the house to order this morning. The week now closed has developed more interest than at any time before. The routine of the house has been even and undisturbed, the reports of committees, whether favorable or unfavorable, have been accepted and quickly disposed of. The members have evidently tired of this program and the week now closed has brought revolt on many reports.

The committee on roads, rivers and bridges has reported favorably but one petition for inclusion of highways in the trunk line system, that between Norwich and Groton. The people of Ashford have worked hard to get a trunk line from Mansfield to pass through that town but the committee said no. Representative Lincoln opposed the report of the committee and succeeded in having the report tabled for one week. He has been industriously at work in the lobby explaining with the help of a large map the situation that exists there and hopes with the assistance of members from the neighboring towns, to have the report of the committee rejected and the bill passed.

Thursday the committee reported adversely on a bill that would include in the trunk line system the highway from East Litchfield station to Burlington station. The report was tabled for one week.

All of the bills that have been reported by Chairman Wheeler of the fish and game committee have been acted upon promptly as recommended by the committee. A halt was called on Wednesday when the stream leasing bill was taken from the calendar. Opposition immediately came on the ground that a license would be required to fish in the favored section by all women and children alike. The exemption of women and children from all the other streams and lakes from license fees was left as is in the present statutes.

The coming week promises to be an active one. The judiciary will have before them Wednesday and Thursday, March 25 and 26, about 60 applications for restoration of licenses that have been revoked, to practice medicine. The hearings will be held in the old senate chamber.

Medical Practice Hearing.

On Tuesday, March 24th, in the hall of the house, an act to protect the public health (medical practice act) will be heard. A large attendance is promised for all of these hearings. Eminent counsel has been retained for the license applicants.

Objection to committee reports has not been confined to the house. On Thursday the committee on judiciary made a favorable report on the governor's nomination of Eugene F. Farley and Sheridan T. Whitaker to be judges of the city court of New Haven. Senator Hall of New Haven protested that he had not had the opportunity to be heard before the committee, although the hearing had been posted in the bulletin for several days. Senator Shaw moved that the matter be re-committed to the committee and this was done. Senator Hall did not state his reason for wishing to be heard on the matter.

On Wednesday, March 25, several bills that provide increased accommodations at the Willimantic Normal school will be before the committee on education.

Today but one committee, the judiciary, held hearings.

THE HOUSE.

The house opened at 11.30 with Speaker Darbie in the chair. Prayer was said by Chaplain Lewis.

The nomination of Eugene F. Farley and Sheridan T. Whitaker to be judges of the city court of New Haven was recommitted to the committee on judiciary. The house received from the senate favorable reports on bills concerning the collection of and penalties on account of bonds and on recognizances given before the city court of Norwich; providing protection from improper amusements; providing for working age at which child should be barred to sixteen years; concerning the marketing of eggs.

Favorable reports were made by the cities and boroughs committee on bills, amending the charter of the city of Willimantic; providing for control by common council of public library; repealing the repeal of special act 461 approved July 4, 1895, concerning town meetings in Windham; authorizing the city of Willimantic to compensate Geo. W. Hickey, its acting mayor, for services to be rendered, with compensation in the sum of $750.

Unfavorable reports on bills providing addition of nurses and yeomanettes to privileges of relief fund.

Providing for public defenders of divorce actions when no appearance is entered to be approved by judges of superior court in each county.

The birth control bill known as the "Sanger Bill." An act to define, regulate and license real estate dealers, licenses to be issued by insurance commissioner. The bill annexing a part of the town of Preston to the town of Norwich; providing for construction of a bridge over Black Hill river in the town of Old Lyme. Including in highway system a certain highway in the town of Voluntown.

Calendar.

Bills starred on the calender were:

H. B. No. 176. An act providing for a pension for Cornelia B. Smith. Favorable report of the committee on the judiciary.

H. B. No. 410. An act concerning the establishment and maintenance of slaughter houses. Favorable report of the committee on public health and safety.

Substitute for H. B. No. 425. An act concerning public libraries. Favorable report of the committee on education.

Substitute for H. B. No. 636. An act providing for a finding of the domicile of deceased persons by probate courts. Favorable report of the committee on the judiciary.

S. B. No. 229. An act amending an act permitting bulls to go at large. Favorable report of the committee on agriculture.

SENATE.

The senate was called to order at 11.30 by Senator George E. Hall of New Haven who presided in the absence of Lieutenant Governor J. Edwin Brainard.

In making an unfavorable report on the bill amending the civil rights law Senator Shaw for the committee on the judiciary said that the committee was of the opinion that there was no necessity for amending the present law and that Connecticut was liberal in relation to the rights of people without regard to their color or race. The bill aimed to prevent discrimination against any person on account of creed, race or color in places of amusement, restaurants, etc. The bill was rejected.

An unfavorable report was received from the committee on the judiciary on the bill releasing the interest of the state in the estate of Christastovas Chrisafa. The bill was rejected.

A bill which required that suspension of sentences should be done in open court was rejected on the unfavorable report of the committee on the judiciary.

In explaining the unfavorable report of the committee on military affairs on the house bill to provide group insurance for the national guard Senator Doty said the bill would involve an expense of $20,000 a year and the committee of the national guard had asked that it be withdrawn. The bill was rejected.

Strawberry: Where were you? You certainly missed a good time.

Effie M.: Hope it will be so you will be able to attend Club No. 2 next month. I will be on the lookout for you.

Aunty No. 1: I bet you were tired out at the end of the week.

Scottie: I suppose you have your house all cleaned by this time.

Black Eyed Susie: I have found my book, You Know, so be ready.

Aunt Mary Jane: Have been looking for a call, but haven't seen you. Will close hoping all the sisters will bring something good to eat next month. Best wishes for the Corner.

CROSSWORD CAKE

Dear Social Corner Sisters: These "Boston Sandwiches" are very hearty and will be much appreciated by the man of the home. Toast half-inch slices of brown bread, spread with butter or thick mayonnaise, then with mashed cold baked beans. Sprinkle with chopped olives, lay two thin slices of tender corned beef on top, and cover with another toasted slice.

Take six cold boiled potatoes and 1 medium sized onion. Slice potatoes, chop onion fine and place in salad bowl, a layer of potato, layer of onion, alternately until the dish is filled. Sprinkle with salt and pepper occasionally while filling the dish. Do the same on top. Put in 4 tablespoons of sweet cream. Melt 1-2 cup of butter with 1-2 pint of vinegar and when boiling hot pour over the potatoes and serve. These are very nice.

Cross Word Cake— (White part) 2 tablespoons butter, 1-2 cup sugar, 1-2 teaspoon lemon extract, 1-3 cup sweet milk, 1 cup flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder, 1-4 teaspoon salt, 1 egg white. (Dark part) 3 tablespoons shortening, 1-2 cup sugar, 1 egg yolk, 1-3 cup sweet milk, 1 cup flour, 2 teaspoons baking P., 1-4 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon each cloves, cinnamon and 2 tablespoons cocoa.

Cream shortening and flour add sugar slowly and egg yolk and mix well. Mix in milk, baking powder, salt, spices and cocoa which have been sifted together. Put this batter in by small spoonsful and same amount of batter alternately into greased loaf pan, but do not mix, this makes the "squares" of light and dark. Bake in moderate oven about 45 minutes.

JEWETT CITY

The Quinebaug Camps Association Inc., having just completed a highly successful season in the presentation of amateur theatricals, is proposing another venture. Plans are nearing completion for a recital which the association will sponsor, for James Olsen.

Mr. Olsen is organist at St. Mary's church. A pupil of Mrs. Annie Frost and later of Prof. Frank L. Farrell, his natural skill at the piano has been finely developed. Mr. Olsen is a native of Jewett City, where he has occasionally played in public. It is also planned to support Mr. Olsen by the presentation of Henry Brynan, a popular young violinist of Norwich.

Mr. Olsen recently broadcasted a group of piano solos from The Outlet, Providence.

Charles Edward Prior of Hartford was a caller in town Friday. Mr. Prior brought along a number of sets of his rare stamps, in which his friends are interested. Mr. Prior's collection is among the leaders in New England.

The largest audience since amateur nights started was in attendance at the Elnn theatre, Thursday evening. An addition to a top-line picture, the following numbers by local entertainers were offered: Messrs. Solenski, Shorey & Skycolas in acrobatic number; Leon Urvant, harmonica selections; Miss Stella Zibenski, very clever contortionist (took first honors); Miss Louise LaRue, singing and dancing act; Robert Pascuzzi, accordeon solos; Arthur Lagesse, acrobatic stunts; Howes Bros., harmonica and vocal duets; "Bill" Liberty, jigger and playing the "bones"; he was very good and took second honors.

The growing popularity of these amateur nights warrants further efforts on the part of the management. A pie-eating contest is among coming events.

M. Gittleman of Soule street has learned of an automobile accident which happened Wednesday in Providence in which his son Sidney, 18, the driver of the light car, was reported seriously injured. Mr. Gittleman here investigated and learned on Friday that his sons injuries were not as severe as at first reported. The young man in a touring car collided with a truck on one of the busy streets of Providence.

The proprietor of a local shop put a two-line adv. in the want column of The Bulletin last Tuesday morning, which stated that he wanted to hire a barber. The adv. operated like a piper's flute, for by noon there were enough barbers in town to organize a good sizer union.

Notwithstanding the many recent heavy rains ponded water is much below the reported supply marks for last year at this time, when everything was full with water on the spillways. Supt. A. A. Young, of the Jewett City Water company, gives information of an appreciable gain each day, with the water at 9 p. m. Friday 2 feet 3 inches below full pond. Andrew Chesboro, who looks after the gates at Pachaug reservoir, finds that Friday evening the big pond was six feet off from normal. There are 11 days more of close season on trout, with indications that fishermen may be on the brooks the first day. Well known streams that last year, all along their channels, were a series of ponds and meadow overflows, are not out of their banks today. It is a source of some uncertainty to the local craft, as to what the conditions will be on certain streams that went bone dry, during the short rain months of the late winter.

Mrs. Jennie Franklin, of Willimantic, is visiting Mrs. Annie Olin. Other visitors at her home were Mrs. Frank Gleason, Mrs. Clifford Gleason and son Lawrence of Putnam, Mrs. Catherine Olin of Dorchester, Mass., and Mrs. Willie Hill, of Norwich.

Evening service is being held each Sunday in the Congregational church vestry, with a talk by the pastor. After this service Sunday evening, Fanny Crosby Day will be observed with a service of hymns of her composition, in charge of the C. E. society. A collection will be received toward the establishment of a Fanny Crosby Memorial Home for the Aged, at Bridgeport.

Miss Eva Duff, who has been in ill health for some time, is improving slowly.

STAFFORD SPRINGS

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Wood have purchased of Robert Pobunda the Wheeler property, so-called, on Fisk avenue.

Preliminary work has already begun on the second section of the trunk line highway from Stafford Springs to Union. This section extends from Heald's Corner in the borough to the parsonage in Union.

The large trees on the Springs house lawn, eyesepting a few on the terrace have been cut down, in order to make room for a street and other developments of this property.

John G. Wightman and William Bowler have returned home after spending the winter in Florida.

Augustus Bressette, seven weeks old son of Augustus G. and Annie Bressette died Thursday afternoon. The funeral was held Friday afternoon, with burial in St. Edward's cemetery.

JITNEY LINE APPLICATIONS ARE NOT SPONSORED

(Special to The Bulletin.)

Stafford Springs, March 20—The proposed hearing by the public utilities commission on two applications for a jitney line, which was to have been held at the Warren memorial town hall Friday morning fizzled out. The applicants were George J. Gary who now operates jitneys to Springfield, Staffordville and Orcuttville, and the Black and White Bus line incorporated now operating between Stafford Springs and Willimantic.

Commissioner C. C. Elwell of the public utilities commission arrived promptly at 10:30 as scheduled. George J. Gary was present with his attorney, John Buckley, and representatives of the Central Vermont railroad with Attorney Ernest E. Hobson as their counsel were also present. There were also a good many people who came to give their views on the proposed line and the fitness of the applicants. No one appeared for the Black and White bus line and after waiting for half an hour Mr. Gary's petition was withdrawn, inasmuch as there was no effort on behalf of the Black and White line to secure the franchise.

Before the close of the meeting Attorney Hobson presented a petition signed by several of the manufacturers and merchants of Stafford Springs who were not in favor of granting the franchise. As, Mr. Gary had withdrawn and the Black and White line had no one present to speak in its behalf the matter rests just where it was before the petitions were brought.

The proposed bus line was to run to the Monson state line from Stafford Springs. It is said now that one of the parties is considering the matter of running a jitney to Palmer, Mass., and as this would be interstate traffic the public utilities commission would have no jurisdiction over it.

Rub on Sore Throat

Musterole relieves sore throat quickly. Made with oil of mustard, it is a clean, white ointment that will not burn or blister like the old-fashioned mustard plaster.

—Johnny Chuck.

While Polly Chuck chuckled to herself as she listened to Johnny Chuck boasting about their new home to Peter Rabbit, she agreed with all that Johnny said. She really felt that it was the safest and best home they ever had had. She couldn't find a thing the matter with it. She couldn't think of a thing that could possibly happen to it in any way make it less than the perfect home it seemed to be.

"Oh, dear!" sobbed Polly. "Our new house is ruined"

Of course there was a back door. This back door opened between some of the stones of the old wall a short distance away. Polly didn't think that they would ever need to use that back door, but when she dug that home she made the back door just the same. She was wise enough to know that it is never safe to have only one way out of a place.

It was just after the Black Shadows had crept through the Old Orchard that night that Farmer Brown's Boy was taking a short-cut home from the Green Forest. He came to the old stone wall just back of the new house of the Chucks. He put his hand on a big stone on the top of the wall, intending to vault over. But that big stone was loosely placed, and when he put his weight against it it rolled off the wall and fell down the other side. Farmer Brown's Boy didn't think anything about it at the time, but climbed over the wall and went on his way home whistling.

But when that big stone fell from the top of the wall it fell right in the entrance of the home of Johnny Chuck and Polly Chuck and just filled it. They didn't know it at the time. They didn't find it out until the next morning when they started to go out. Perhaps you can imagine how they felt when they discovered that their doorway was closed. They tried to dig around it but couldn't. You see, there were other stones in the way. It was these other stones that had made that home seem so safe to them. There had been just room between them for their hallway.

Of course they at once hurried out through the back door and around to see what had happened. There lay that big stone closing their front doorway. They couldn't move it. The doorway was as firmly closed as if there had never been one.

There were tears in the eyes of Polly Chuck as she and Johnny stared at the great stone. Who could have done this thing? They hadn't the least idea.

"Oh, dear," sobbed Polly. "Our new home is ruined. Now we'll have to look around for another place, and there isn't another as good as this anywhere in the Great World. I just know it."

"But we can still use the back door," said Johnny Chuck soothingly.

"But that won't do," retorted Polly. "I simply won't live in a house which has only one entrance."

"Perhaps we can dig another entrance from the other side of the old stone wall," said Johnny hopefully.

"I don't believe we can," replied Polly. "Anyway, we will be on the wrong side then and have to climb over the old stone wall every time we wanted to get some sweet clover. No, we've got to give this home up. And I did love it so! Oh, dear! oh, dear!"

Johnny Chuck did his best to comfort Polly, but she wasn't to be comforted. All that day they wandered around looking for a place to build a new home. But they couldn't find a place to suit them.

LEONARD BRIDGE

An article in Saturday's issue of the Norwich Bulletin told of the finding by Representative Elliott B. Bronson of Winsted of a list of the members of the general assembly, etc., for 1838. Former Representative William T. Curry has two similar books but considerable older than those found by Mr. Bronson. Mr. Curry's two statute books are three by four inches in size and a half inch thick and cover the years 1818 to 1821. Some other books in Mr. Curry's possession date back to 1800. Mrs. Charles Geer has a copy of The Norwich Aurora, under date of 1839 in a good state of preservation.

Miss Eleanor Thomas has recovered from scarlet fever and the quarantine notice has been removed.

Mr. and Mrs. David Walsh and Leroy G[illegible] were in Norwich Wednesday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Peckham and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Wheaton were in Willimantic Wednesday.

Estimates say there are 310,000,000 cubic miles of water in the ocean.

RECOVERY IN MARKET

New York, March 20—Selling pressure was lifted from today's stock market and prices made substantial recovery from recent low levels. Net gains in the Standard rail and industrial issues ran from 1 to 4 points, with even larger advances in some of the high-priced specialties.

Business, however, was in considerably reduce volume, total sales falling well below one and one-half million shares.

Bullish sentiment was created by the favorable Federal reserve bank statement the reassurance of securities Mellon and Hoover that business conditions were sound and the continuance of easy money rates and record freight car loadings. The early break in wheat prices was disregarded but the subsequent rally apparently stimulated short covering particularly in some of the western rail issues.

Further activity and strength of the Pan-American petroleum shares, each of which advanced more than two points, was believed to forecast the announcement of the proposed reorganization plan early next week. A spirited demand also was noted for California petroleum, General petroleum and Pacific oil, in which merger developments are believed to be pending.

United States steel common crossed 122 for a net gain of 1 1-4 points. American can showed a net gain of 2 1-2 points at 176 1-2 and Baldwin closed a point higher at 128. The advance in copper shares was accompanied by rumors that a stiffening of red metal prices was impending, net gains of a point or more being recorded by American smelting, Anaconda, Federal mining and smelting preferred, Kennecott, Magma and Utah.

Rails showed a strong undertone with special strength in the Wabash preferred issues, Atlantic coast line, Chesapeake and Ohio, Chicago and Northwestern, Lackawanna, Northern Pacific, St. Louis Southwestern and Great Northern preferred, all of which closed two or more points higher, and in Pittsburgh and West Virginia, which soared six points to 69.

United States cast iron pipe closed nearly nine points higher at 194 7-8. Nash motors soared over ten points to 295 1-2 and then cancelled about half its gain. Other outstanding strong spots in the specialty list included American car and foundry, American chicle common and the certificates, Associated dry goods, the Commercial solvents issues, Good year preferred, International business machines, Postum cereal, Remington typewriter, Universal pipe, Virginia railway and power and West Penn, power, all of which sold from 3 1-2 to 6 points above yesterday's final figures.

Call money renewed at 3 1-2 per cent. and then dropped to three, where it closed. Time money and commercial paper rates held steady in quiet trading.

Foreign exchange rates fluctuated within narrow and irregular limits. Demand sterling was practically unchanged around $4.77 3-4 and French francs ruled slightly higher around 5.18 1-2 cents. Norwegian kroner advanced seven points to 15.47 cents, a new high record for the year.

BOND MARKET

New York, March 20—The bond market today shook off recent reactionary tendencies and prices turned upward under the influence of easier money rates and a rally in St. Paul Railway obligations. Advances ranging from 1 to 4 points were registered by an assortment of Representative rail and industrial issues.

Recovery of the St. Paul obligations extended from fractional gains to a jump of 2 3-4 points in the convertext by the belief that many of ible 4 1-2 and was promoted to some these issues had been oversold on the drastic reaction which accompanied the receivership.

The ability of the St. Paul bonds to overcome recent selling pressure encouraged a resumption of buying operations in other parts of the rail list. Semi-speculative issues, such as "Katy" 5's, Chicago and Terre Haute refunding and income 5's, Chicago and Alton 3 1-2's, Western Maryland 4's, Seaboard 5's, and Refunding 4's and Missouri Pacific 4's moved up 1 to 3 3-4 points. Chesapeake and Ohio and Delaware and Hudson convertible liens kept pace with advances in the stocks of these carriers.

Reports of progress made in the impending segregation of Fan-American petroleum properties, with indications that the new companies would expand in both the California and Mexican fields led to heavy buying of the six per cent. bonds which carried them up four points. Skelly, Sinclair and other oil liens joined in the advance. Disregarding unfavorable trade developments, Copper and sugar company bonds also rallied.

A $16,000,000 fifteen year 7 per cent. bond issue sold by the Vacuum oil company in 1921, may be called for redemption next year, the company indicated today in its annual report.

CHICAGO GRAIN MARKET.

Chicago, March 20.—Rushes to buy wheat today followed a stampede to sell, and the market whirled skyward. From the bottom of 5 1-2 cents collapse at the outset, prices flew up nearly 10 cents at the last. Reports of surprising scarcity of Canadian wheat available for export did much to swing the market completely around. Notwithstanding earlier news of financial difficulties among grain firms in Europe, the wheat market here closed strong at the day's tip top figures 1-4 to 4 3-4c net higher. May 1.67 3-4 to 1.68 1-4 and July 1.45 to 1.45 1-2. Corn finished unchanged to 1 1-8c lower, oats unchanged to 3-8c up, and provisions varying from 15c decline to 17c advance.

Word of a startling drop in wheat quotations at Liverpool reached traders here before the Chicago market opened. Almost simultaneously reports became current that a big grain house in Antwerp was embarrassed, and that there had been a heavy failure of a grain firm at Berlin. Under such circumstances, many owners of wheat threw their holdings on the market here, and prices plunged down 5 1-2 cents during the internal transactions. From that point on, however, despite many swift changes, the market was on the rally and in the final half hour went up in good earnest.

Dust storms were reported in parts of Kansas and Oklahoma. And there were forecasts of high winds and dry weather in other parts of the southwest, making the outlook unpromising for the new crop of wheat. Indications of active demand from domestic millers tended also to encourage buying and to lift prices. Besides, prospects were for a material decrease of the United States visible supply total on Monday. It was only, however, after receipt of Canadian official figures on wheat supplies that the big jump in prices here took place. According to these figures Canada will be able to export hardly 6,000,000 bushels a month hereafter this season up to Sept. 1.

Corn and oats were swayed chiefly by the action of wheat. Corn, though, was inclined to lag as a result of slowness of shipping demand from the east.

Packers' buying of lard made the provision market average higher.

CURB MARKET

New York, March 20—A swift rebound in stock prices took place in today's curb market, urgent buying of many issues indicating that some stocks had been "oversold" in the recent drastic reaction.

Oil shares continued to advance in further disregard of gasoline price reductions, South Penna. oil jumping 4 1-2 points to 171, while Humble, Imperial of Canada, Prairie oil and gas, Vacuum and Standard oils of Kentucky, Indiana and New York moved up 1 to nearly 3 points.

Some spectacular advances took place in the public utility group. Carolina power and light, making its first appearance in several weeks, soared 21 points to 350. National power and light, Brooklyn Borough gas and light power securities jumped 4 1-2 to 6 points while American power and light, Electric bond and share, Middle West utilities and a few others moved up a point or two.

Selling pressure in the radio group appears to have subsided, the net gains in that group ranging from small fractions to nearly two points. In the industrial group the recovery was led by Centrifugal pope and Goodyear, each of which closed about two points above yesterday's final figures.

IN NORWICH FIFTY YEARS AGO

The week in Norwich fifty years ago was marked by a public celebration of St. Patrick's day, a procession being held in the morning, followed by a luncheon at Breed Hall. Several political conventions were held during the week. The Norwich District Probate convention renominated Edward Harland for judge of probate for this district and the prohibition district probate convention named David P. Otis for judge of probate, for this district. The same week Senator Buckingham's will was admitted to probate. The senator left a number of bequests to missionary, religious and educational organizations. Wauregan Lodge No. 6, K. P. celebrated its 4th anniversary with a gathering in Castle Hall.

Interesting items taken from the files of The Bulletin of March, 1875, are as follows:

Monday, March 15, 1875—Several people were baptised in the harbor at New London yesterday. Not many years ago a hole was cut in the ice on the cove in Norwich for the purpose of immersing two men.

People who have been waiting the arrival in town of their imported smoking material are informed that the government store houses are filled with tobacco and cigars for which no stamps can be obtained.

At the annual convention of the New Haven Baptist Missionary Association Friday, Mrs. J. Davies of this city, read an original paper entitled, What Can Be Done to Create a Spirit of Prayer and Interest in the Missionary Work.

Tuesday, March 16, 1875—Among those naturalized by the city court was a man who has been in this country 56 years, 40 years of which he served in the United States army.

Among the subscribers to the new Temperance paper to be published in New Haven there are in this city Moses Pierce $1, S. Burnett, .50, Nathan Standish, .25, Mason Kinney, .25, U. S. Gardner, .25.

The Thames is almost entirely free of ice to Stoddard's Wharf, a mile above Allyn's Point and a boat could get within three miles of the city with slight difficulty.

Tubb's Band will be the guests of the Wauregan Hook & Ladder Company this evening, and have consented, if the weather is pleasant, to give a short concert on Franklin Square about half past seven.

Wednesday March 17, 1875—Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dillaby will celebrate their golden wedding today.

An attempt will probably be made to open the Thames by a heavy propellor.

The boats of the Norwich & New York Transportation company are carrying immense freight.

The work of clearing Main street was carried on yesterday, the crust of ice in some places being fourteen inches thick.

Twenty men were at work on the tunnel through Laurel Hill yesterday and about 250 were engaged in watching them.

If the thaw continues it is proposed to station a life boat on Washington street. As it is now, when a man is a little late in getting home his family gather and read the prayer for those in peril by sea.

The Hook and Ladder company entertained Tubb's Band with an oyster chowder last evening. The occasion was marked by the usual hospitality of the hosts and some fine music by the band.

Thursday, March 18, 1875—The celebration of St. Patrick's day by our Irish citizens yesterday was one of the finest ever made in Norwich. As usual the announcement of the event brought hundreds of people to town and the streets were filled by such a crowd as has not been seen in the city for months. At 11 o'clock that parade of North America, Franklin square, was crowded with people as the different organizations filed onto it and took their places in the line. Though Chief Marshal Murphy was assisted by efficient aides there was the usual delay and it was not until nearly half past eleven that the procession started. Considering the fact that the mud was half knee deep in places and that when a man put his foot down in others, he had to brace up against a lamp post and pull to get it out the length of march was simply terrific. The procession was formed by as fine a body of men as is often seen here or elsewhere. At the close of the march the celebrationists sat down to a comfortable lunch in Breed hall. After the tables had been cleared Mr. Murphy introduced William H. Shields, who welcomed the visiting societies in behalf of those of Norwich and spoke briefly but eloquently of the day. Later in the day the organizations from out of town were escorted to the trains and the celebration gradually tapered down and ended very quietly.

The members of the Central Methodist church made a donation visit to their pastor the Rev. Mr. Howard, last evening and presented him with $100 in money, a set of Dr. Clarke's Commentaries in six volumes bound in calf and Mrs. Howard with a dress. Mr. Howard is very popular with his people who have requested the conference to retain him for another year.

Friday, March 19, 1875—Norwich District Probate convention. The convention was called to order by David Young, chairman of the committee. Edwin Fitch of Griswold was appointed chairman and Col. Charles Coit, secretary. George C. Ripley of Norwich and George Tyler of Griswold were appointed a committee on credentials. On motion of Mr. Royce of Franklin, Edward Harland was renominated by acclamation for judge of probate for Norwich district. The old district committees were reappointed and the convention adjourned.

Eighth District Senatorial Convention. The convention was called to order by Amos F. Royce of Franklin, chairman of the district committee. George N. Chapman of Sprague was appointed chairman and B. H. Rogers of Norwich, secretary. Lucius Brown of Preston, Clark of North Stonington and James Kirker of Norwich were appointed a committee on credentials. J. B. Tracy of Griswold was named for senator.

Senator Buckingham's will has been admitted to probate. He gives to the American Home Missionary Society, $1,500; to the board of commissioners for Foreign Missions, $2,000; the American Missionary Association, $1,500; the American Congregational Union, $1,000; to the American college and Education Society, $1,000.

Saturday, March 20, 1875—Prohibition Convention. The Eighth District Senatorial convention was held in the town hall yesterday. Samuel Prentice of Norwich was chosen chairman and J. Milton Chaffee of Preston, secretary. H. D. Johnson of Griswold was nominated by acclamation for senator. U. S. Gardner of Norwich and Martin Davis of Jewett City were appointed senatorial committee. The Norwich District Probate Convention was called to order by [illegible] gins of Norwich. Henry J. Crosby of Jewett City was chosen chairman and F. E. Lowe of Norwich, secretary. David P. Otis was unanimously nominated for judge of probate for Norwich district. On motion of J. A. Rockwell of Griswold Solomon Lucas and Samuel Prentice were appointed a district committee for the ensuing year. The convention then adjourned.

Wauregan Lodge No. 6, K. P. The society celebrated their sixth anniversary by a meeting at Castle Hall last evening, where about 100 persons were assembled. The lodge was opened by prayer and singing. A. J. Kelly, P. D., D. G. C., read a few statistics in regard to the order, from its organization to the present day, which were listened to with close attention. The members with their ladies were invited to partake of refreshments, consisting of the delicacies of the season served on four large tables. Subsequently the company entertained themselves in a social way.

TAFTVILLE

Friday evening, there was an investiture of tenderfoot scouts ceremony at the weekly meeting of Troop 8, Boy Scouts, in charge of Scoutmaster Harold Linderson in the recreation rooms of the Taftville Congregational church. Several officials of other troops which are within the jurisdiction of the Norwich council, were present. After the ceremony, refreshments were served, and talks on various subjects were enjoyed. Preceding the meeting, several scouts passed tests in different branches of scout work.

There were the regular Lenten devotions at the Sacred Heart church Friday evening.

WOMEN'S FEDERATION ADOPTS RESOLUTIONS OF SYMPATHY

A brief business meeting of the Women's Federation of Park Congregational church was held Friday afternoon in the Osgood Memorial parish house. The first vice president, Mrs. Frank Hempstead, presided. A devotional service of Scripture reading and prayer was conducted by Miss Hempstead, after which a committee was appointed to draft resolutions of sympathy to be sent to the president, Mrs. Frederic W. Carey, in her great bereavement in the loss of her husband, whose death had occurred Friday morning.

The resolutions, which were prepared by a committee consisting of Miss Louise C. Howe, Miss Alice W. Bogswell and Miss Hannah M. Crowell, expressed the heartfelt sympathy felt by each individual member for their beloved president, with whom they mourned the loss of a true and consecrated Christian who served his God, his church and his community faithfully and well. Although greatly missed in all of these relations the influence of his faithfulness will continue to be an inspiration to more devoted Christian service in the future and the hope was expressed that the leading of Christ's holy spirit might fill the bereaved heart and the resurrection hope bring sustaining strength.

After prayer by Mrs. S. H. Howe, the meeting adjourned.

NORWICH EAGLES PLANNING BIG CLASS INITIATION

Five applications for membership were voted upon at the regular meeting of Norwich Aerie, No. 367, F. O. E., this week. A good part of the business session was devoted to hearing reports by the various committees. The auditing committee's report showed that the aerie is gaining in members. The class initiation committee reported that the prospects are good for a large sized class on April 13th as the applications are coming in quite rapidly. Announcement was made that there will be another ladies' night the latter part of April.

Worthy President Timothy Fields reported on the old age pension bill now before the legislature at Hartford. Mr. Fields attended the recent hearing on the bill in Hartford. A social hour was held after the business meeting.

Promises Brilliant Assembly.

The boxes for the Backus Hospital auxiliary Assembly are being taken rapidly and the dance promises to be a representative and brilliant affair. Many groups are being formed to fill the large boxes or one or more of the small ones. Other people are taking admission tickets, knowing that full provision is being made for their comfort and convenience on the night of the ball. Evening dress is not obligatory and all who are interested in the work of the hospital and its auxiliary will be most cordially welcomed.

SILVER CUPS AWARDED IN THREE CLASSES FOR WINDOW DRESSING

Announcement of the winners of the nine loving cups in the cooperative spring window dressing contest was made Friday evening at the Palace theatre by Arthur E. Story, president of the Norwich chamber of commerce. The three judges, Mayor Milo R. Waters, Dr. Hugh B. Campbell and Miss Mary Henderson, made the final selections of the prize winners and the list of winners was handed sealed to President Story who was requested to make the announcement at the Palace theatre.

Through the courtesy of Manager Edward L. McEvoy the beautiful silver loving cups were arranged on a table on the stage and the announcement of the winners was made just before the vaudeville programme started.

Mr. Story, in making the announcement, said the contest was very meritorious and proved conclusively that Norwich has window dressers that compare very favorably with those in other cities.

The cups were awarded in three classes, embracing the various lines of merchants, and the first three winners in each class were presented silver loving cups. There were three honorable mentions in each of the classes, their window displays being worthy of particular notice.

As the names of the winners were announced, Mr. Story asked the representatives of the winning stores who were seated in the audience to step up to the stage and receive the cups. The winners wre as follows:

Class A—First, Porteous & Mitchell; 2nd, Plaut-Cadden Co.; 3rd, Reid & Hughes Co. Honorable mention, Cranston Co., Schwartz Bros., Disco Bros.

Class B—First, Preston Bros.; 2nd, Savard Bros.; 3rd, Caron's Specialty Shop. Honorable mention, Bob's Shop, Smith's Shoe Store, O'Neil Electric Co.

Class C—First, Lee & Osgood; 2nd, Mohican Company; 3rd, John and George H. Bliss. Honorable mention, Henschel Tire & Rubber Co., Broadway Soda Slop, Woodstock Dairy.

PRIZE MEDALS AWARDED FOR TYPEWRITING TESTS

In a typewriting test held at the Norwich Commercial school the following were awarded bronze medals and emblems: Catherine Twomey, Louise Salemma, Ida Yoselevsky, Lillian Nomer, Roxie Bergstrom and Josephine Pokorny, while gold medals were awarded to Miss Mae Hanson, and silver medals to Miss Josephine Stewart, Ida Yoselevsky and Mildred Brennan.

A special fifty-word bar was awarded to May Hansen, Coranna Paradis, Mary Donovan, Agnes Murphy, Beatrice Freeman and Mrs. Josephine Stewart. Forty-word bronze medals and certificates were issued to Miss Elizabeth Sullivan, Agnes Murphy, Coranna Paradis, Catherine Redden, Ruth Telford, Mrs. Josephine Stewart, May Hansen, Beatrice Freeman, Eileen Brazil and William H. Shea. A royal gold pin for Coranna Paradis and Ida Yoselevsky, and a royal certificate for Catherine Redden and Gertrude Telzonsky.

MEDICAL PRACTICE BILL IS STRONGLY ENDORSED

The membership of the Connecticut Chamber of Commerce has endorsed Senate Bill 131—"An act to protect the Public Health"—in a referendum just completed by the ratio of 196 to 1.

This bill is the medical practice act which raises the medical standards in Connecticut and which will be heard before the judiciary committee of the General Assembly Tuesday afternoon, March 24.

The bill is sponsored by the grand jury of Hartford county which conducted the investigations that resulted in the revocation of the licenses of 179 doctors in Connecticut following Connecticut's medical scandal.

The membership of the chamber has endorsed House Bill 874—"An act concerning the pollution of waters and creating a state commission on pollution of waters"—in a referendum just completed by a ratio of 12 to 1. This bill will be heard before the judiciary committee Thursday afternoon, April 2.

The chamber's endorsement of the pollution of streams bill carries with it an amendment which includes municipalities and the state, as well as individuals and manufacturers.

The Connecticut Chamber of Commerce held a number of private and public conferences previous to the opening of the legislature regarding the framing of the bill, and public sentiment seemed to be sharply divided as to whether or not municipalities and the state should be exempted or included under the pollution of streams measure.

The amendment that was finally adopted after several lengthy discussions by the directors of the chamber is as follows: "The term 'person' as used in this act include an individual, firm, co-partnership, association, private or municipal corporation, the state of Connecticut, and political subdivisions thereof."

The membership of the chamber has endorsed House Bill 852—which places motor trucks serving as common carriers under the jurisdiction of the public utilities commission—in a referendum just completed by a ratio of 41 to 1.

This bill places motor trucks serving as common carriers of freight "for hire" on any street or highway, operating "between fixed termini or running on a regular route or any portion thereof," under the jurisdiction of the public utilities commission with respect to "routes, rates, speed, schedules, continuity of service and the convenience and safety of the public."

Party For Miss Hazel Gore.

A delightful party was held Thursday afternoon from 4 to 6 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gore, 25 Beech street in honor of their daughter, Miss Hazel Gore's birthday. In the center of the table was a decorated birthday cake with six candles and favors for each little guest. During the afternoon games and music were enjoyed. Miss Ruth Gore giving a few piano solos. Those present were Edith Charnetski, Marion Weinert, Hazel Wood, Margaret Burns, James Fitzmaurice, Frank Burke, Ruth Gore, and Hazel Gore.

Clubs are often detrimental to a man's welfare—especially those in the hands of policemen and expert poker players.

ANALYZING 60 REPORTS DAILY ON ACCIDENTS

So important has become the prompt analysis of motor vehicle accidents, with the tremendous increase in cars being registered, that several other states are reported to be adopting the Connecticut system of setting aside a division of their motor vehicle departments for the exclusive purpose of fixing responsibility for accidents without delay.

One division of the Connecticut motor vehicle department is made up of four experts who do nothing else but analyze reports of accidents from a scientific standpoint. Their conclusions form the basis of much of the accident prevention planning for the future, as it keeps the department informed at all times as to the particular conditions causing most accidents and therefore requiring attention. In other words, by the maintenance of this branch, the department is able to "put the finger" on the serious underlying causes at all times and to observe the effect of its experiments to remedy such situations.

About fifty accidents a day were analyzed by this division of the Connecticut department last year, using primarily the reports required to be submitted by all drivers involved in accidents in which the property damage exceeded $10 or which resulted in death or personal injury. In cases of collisions between two cars, two reports of the same accident had to be studied, and in some cases there were three or more reports. Accidents which result in death are of course investigated by the coroner of the county in which they occur and a copy of his findings are filed with the motor vehicle department, in addition to the report required of the operator involved, whose license is suspended forthwith in all cases of fatal accidents, pending determination of the cause and responsibility.

The records concerning each one of the accidents reported to the department are tabulated for the purpose of securing statistics and for the discipline of operators.

HAD TO THREATEN SELECTMEN ABOUT FLAG

Representative George W. Sturgis of Woodbury told the committee on education at the state capitol Thursday that during the World war period he had found it necessary to threaten the selectmen of certain towns in eastern Connecticut with legal action to force them to provide an American flag for use at the public schools. He said that in public schools respect for the flag is fairly well taught but that in some private schools and in a few parochial schools there was a need for instruction regarding the flag. He said that he had found the pupils in a Polish school being taught from a history book printed in their own language and which taught them that they were to be loyal to Poland first and to America afterward. They were told to live and die as good Poles.

The discussion was on the reconsideration of a bill providing for flag instruction in public schools.

NEW YORK NORWICH SOCIETY WILL BANQUET

The Norwich society of New York has arranged to hold its annual banquet and meeting on the evening of March 30 at the Town Hall club when two of the guests and speakers will be Major William A. Hensley, U. S army air service, who will speak on aviation, and Dr. Francis T. Miller, managing editor of Success magazine, who is a native of Southington and lived for years in Hartford.

First Birthday Party.

A very pleasing afternoon was spent Wednesday, at the home of George E. Main of North Stonington in honor of his grandson G. Richard Main's first birthday.

The table was prettily decorated, pink, green and white being the color scheme. There were three pretty birthday cakes, and one had a penny in it, which Miss Hetty Lalley got, and won a prize.

The little fellow received many pretty and useful gifts. There were friends and relatives present from Norwich and North Stonington. Among them were Mrs. Thomas J. Lalley and daughter, Mabel and Betty, Mrs Vincent Jones, and daughter, Cecelia, Mrs. Park Main, Mrs. Thurman Main and children, Catherine, Eleanor and Ruth. Mrs. L. L. Miner, Miss Florence V. Main, George E. Main, Peter Longwood and Master G. Richard Main.

LESSONS FROM PETER AT THE PALACE FIRE

The fourth talk of the Lenten series by Dr. J. Romeyn Danforth of New London at the local Y. M. C. A. was given at noon Friday, to an audience of business men that filled the "Y" parlors. Attorney Charles L. Stewart of the Y. M. C. A. board presided. After the hymn "Jesus Lover of my Soul," was sung heartily, Rev. G. F. Bailey offered prayer, and Hugh Kinder rendered sweetly a vocal solo. Dr. Danforth took for his topic, "The Palace Fire," and in an exceptionally impressive manner talked right out of his heart to the men, the attention and interest was unusual.

Mr. Danforth's talk was on the fire in the palace of the high priest, and what we can learn by the light of it. St. Peter learned something there which his Master knew and had told him. At the time that Peter was told he would deny the Master whom he loved it seemed impossible. Martyrdom seemed far easier than that. But by that fire he three times denied that he even knew Christ.

It is a light which shines on human weakness and by the very contrast which it shows reveals the power and love of the Christ. Peter was afraid of the cold. The Syrian sun had long set and the chill of the midnight had deepened into the coldest hours which precede the new day. But if you were asked to name the coldest experience you have had you would at first think of winters and then you would think of people. People can make it colder than north winds.

Peter dreaded to be left out of human companionship. We all of us dearly love to be with people. And the price we pay for the privilege can only be matched by the price we sometimes exact of others that they may also enjoy the same. Two cannot walk together unless they are agreed. The people in that palace would not agree with Peter, so he agreed with them. That involved his denial of the one whose death they were compassing.

Peter wanted to warm his hands. So he stood close to the fire of coals. We all of us enjoy comfort and the fellowship of the comfortable. That was all Peter wanted by that fire. He wanted comfort, the comfort of the hands and the comfort of his naturally social being.

How naturally people are arranged according to the scale of their comforts. Those who have many comforts flock together, and those who have few are in their own group. The comforts of life excite more envy than does the money which provides them. It is not how much money a man has but how much he spends that makes a show in the world.

Does the fellowship of the comfortable involve denial of Christ? St. Francis took upon himself the life of poverty that he might live more like Christ. We love him. There is a poverty which maddens to crime, but there is an attitude of mind and heart toward the comforts of life which is truly Christian. What is it?

What is the most important room in the house? The parlor for those who are given most of the functions of society. The kitchen for those who love to handle the raw meat of life. Upstairs for those who are tired and love the sleep which can find its only perfect fulfillment in the grave. But in the olden time there used to be a chapel in the palace and the castle. That was for the more spiritual the most important room in the whole great establishment.

We only did away with the chapel when we reared it in our hearts. We all love comforts. But what kind of comforts do we love most? If we are creatures only we will love the creature comforts most. If the centre of gravity in our lives is in the Holy of Holies of the soul, then it is the peace of God, which passeth all understanding which we will most desire. For it we will be willing if need be to sacrifice the lower comforts of the lower ranges of our beings.

Our boys in France sacrificed many a comfort for the sake of the home land. They who have sought the north pole and the south did not travel with luxury. Peter learned to care more for his Master than for his comfort, either physical or social. He found there were fires for him in the following but they were not the fires of comfort but the fires of persecution.

No man's goodness can be measured by his hardships; but a man's devotion is measured by that for which he is willing to make sacrifice. It is all right to be in the palace if you are there to be with Christ; trouble comes if you care more for the comforts of the comfortable. The palace fire lights up the purpose of the heart. It showed Peter his own weakness. But it showed him also the way out. By its light he saw the face which down in his heart he loved the most of all. He saw the face of Christ turning and looking upon him. Then he went out in tears and found himself again.

ECHOES FROM THE LODGE ROOMS

MOOSE

Twenty-five members of Norwich lodge of Moose journeyed to New London last Saturday evening for the final night of play in the pitch tournament that has been in progress for the past five weeks. Although playing a losing game the local outfit battled stubbornly to overcome the lead New London had attained in the previous nights of play and succeeded insofar as the total of 91 points separated the winners from the losers.

New London lodge entertained the visitors royally after play had ceased for the evening. All adjourned to the banquet room where everything had been prepared for the big feed in which nothing was lacking for the most hearty eaters of the herd. George A. Raynor, past great North Moose, was toastmaster, for the evening and performed in his usual excellent manner. Entertainment galore was furnished by the members of Norwich and New London lodges. Those performing in professional manner, were George Seidel in songs and stories, William Banfield in sleight of hand, C. L. Rosler, hard and soft shoe dancing.

The return trip was by special bus. It is hoped that another tournament will be started in the future.

ODD FELLOWS

A joint meeting of the six Hartford Odd Fellows' lodges and the two Rebekah lodges in the interest of the infirmary at the Odd Fellows home in Groton was held this week.

The speakers were Grand Master James Cooper of Mystic, Deputy Grand Master Alfred I. Lilley of Hartford Grand Treasurer Sidney W. Chesgenger of Middletown, Grand Chaplain the Rev. Charles H. Smith of Barre, Mass. Grand Guardian Henry C. F. Howell of Hartford and Past Grand Master Herbert J. Phillips superintendent of the Odd Fellows' home. All spoke on the work of the home and urged donations by every Odd Fellow present. It is hoped to set an average of $5 per member in the state to pay for the infirmary.

The members of the Connecticut Rebekah lodges have raised $22,000, which will be used for equipment for the infirmary. Group singing conducted by District Deputy Grand Master William E. Hammer of Wethersfield. About 500 men and women were present.

DAUGHTERS OF VETERANS

With the president, Mrs. Alice Brinkman, in the chair, the regular meeting of Clara Barton tent, No. 7, was held Tuesday evening in Buckingham Memorial when considerable business of a routine nature was transacted, and the names of the delegates and alternates to the convention were announced. The delegates include Miss Gladys Newbury, Mrs. Alice Turner, Mrs. Lucy McDougall, Miss Lillian J. Brewster, Miss Florence Hoffman, Mrs. Cora Botham, Miss Marie Atterbury and the alternates are Mrs. Emma Tyler, Mrs. Lena O'Brien, Mrs. Elizabeth Bogue, Mrs. Hattie Parsons, Mrs. Carrie Prentice, Miss Elna Doty and Mrs. Maude Moody.

Announcement was made of flowers having been sent to Miss Lillian Brewster and also to Comrade James Turner, both of whom are patients at the Backus hospital. Report was made that $54.50 was cleared from the supper held Saturday night. An invitation was received from Commander Orrin M. Price for the Clara Barton tent to attend a camp fire to be held in Buckingham Memorial April 8th.

The mystery package was awarded to Mrs. Annie Turner, a half dozen tumblers. There were 13 present and the meeting closed in the usual form. In the afternoon the sewing society of the tent met in the Buckingham when two quilts were tied and the members sewed on aprons, after which a bountiful supper was served consisting of potato salad, hot dogs, rolls, olives, cake and coffee.

REBEKAHS

Members of Thames Past Grands association, No. 3, of Rebekah lodges, I. O. O. F., were entertained here on Wednesday by Hope Rebekah lodge. A turkey dinner was served at noon and was followed by the business meeting with election and installation of officers. Mrs. Charles A. Lewis of New London was installed as president and Grace Willey of Norwich as past president. Other officers were installed as follows:

First Vice President—Mrs. Arthur Morgan, New London.

Second Vice President—Mrs. Minnie Matthieu, Willimantic.

Treasurer—Mrs. Frederick Burrows, New London.

Secretary—Mrs. Charles L. Burrows, Pequonoc Bridge.

Marshal—Mrs. Irene Rudd, New London.

Conductor—Mrs. Daniel Gilberts, Mystic.

Chaplain—Mrs. Minnie Asburn, Norwich.

Inside Guard—Mrs. H. M. Swinney, Niantic.

Pianist—Mrs. William D. Rogers, New London.

JUNIOR MECHANICS

Buckingham Council, No. 14, met in regular session Wednesday evening with Howard Eddins presiding. Relief and several special committees reported favorably to the council.

Three members were given the obligation and twenty-eight applications referred to the various investigating committees.

The new degree team is rapidly progressing toward perfection under the most careful leadership of the degree master.

All members are expected to be present at the meeting next Wednesday when the degrees will be worked on a very large class of candidates. A suitable dinner will be served at this time with a fine entertainment afterwards.

The meeting at which there was about ninety present closed at a late hour.

MEMORIAL SERVICES FOR THE VICTIMS OF TORNADO

Ministers and Members of All Churches Joined in a Service Sunday Afternoon in the Public Square at Murphysboro, Ill—Permanent Relief Now is the Object of the Relief Forces—Four Months of Rehabilitation Confronts the Survivors—Death List, Still Incomplete, Has Reached 811—Injured List Totals 2,939.

Chicago, March 22—Looking upward and onward, the survivors of the tornado districts of southern Illinois and southeastern Indiana stood shoulder to shoulder today and prayed for courage to be strong.

Memorial services for the dead of more then 800 in the stricken sections of five states, marked the first Sunday since the fury of the elements laid waste a 500-mile stretch of territory last Wednesday.

Ministers and members of all churches joined in a memorial service this afternoon in the public square at Murphysboro, Ill., where the storm had wrought greatest havoc.

Under the sky of a bright spring Sunday, the worshippers pledged anew their faith in Providence, in themselves and in their communities.

Four months of rehabilitation work, it has been estimated, face the survivors of the worst storm this country ever experienced.

Four days have passed since the tornado broke. The Red Cross has an emergency relief unit in every devastated community, all injured are under medical treatment, and every homeless one has a temporary shelter, Henry M. Baker, national director of disaster relief of the Red Cross, has announced.

Permanent relief now is the object of the rescue forces.

Headquarters will be established where the Red Cross now is functioning in Carbondale. Here the Red Cross, the medical units, the national guard and other relief agencies have centered their rescue work.

Early this week committees from Jackson, Williamson, Franklin, Hamilton and Perry counties, Illinois, will meet to form a joint relief committee to supervise the relief and reconstruction work. Each community will have its representation in the joint committee.

This general joint relief committee means no interference with the work of any of the national organizations now in the field, but desires to aid in coordination of the work to prevent duplication and to make sure that no needy have been overlooked.

The death list still is incomplete. Tonight it stood at 811, and the injured at 2,939. There are yet bodies in Illinois, it is believed, and in the improvised hospitals that filled churches, school buildings and lodge halls, there will be many grievously wounded and die death. The bottoms east of West Frankfort in particular, are expected to yield more corpses.

But these emergency cases are slowly being reduced as the relief agencies carry on their work and numbers of the sick and injured are being made strong enough to go to temporary shelters. Identification of the dead and injured is proceeding.

Tent communities are rising in the devastated sections of Murphysboro, West Frankfort, and various wrecked villages in rural sections. Here the survivors are collecting under canvas the remnants of their once pleasant homes and bringing together in a semblance of the old family circle the remaining members of their households. One family pitched its tent on the concrete foundation, all that remained of their former home.

Debris is slowly being removed from the business sections and the store and office buildings are being repaired.

Something of the spirit of the courageous survivors was expressed today by Dr. McKown, pastor of the damaged Methodist Episcopal church at Murphysboro, where one of the services was held.

"What we need is prayer and not a sermon," he said in his brief remarks. "We will ask the Almighty that we may be so that we can do the most for suffering humanity and then to rebuild."

Only morning services were held in what remains of the churches. The undamaged Presbyterian church was not available for services—it is being used as a feeding station for refugees, and part of it as a morgue.

Work of burying the dead went on today. It has been estimated that about half of the dead have been given the simple rites that can be furnished under existing conditions. Yesterday, six ministers within hearing of each other, said requiems in two adjoining cemeteries near Murphysboro, as they passed from grave to grave.

Sanitation generally is regarded as satisfactory. The medical men are working valiantly to block any spread of disease or inection.

As the week opens, the situation is clearing up somewhat, but the usual advocations and home life still remain disrupted. At the public schools probably will not open in most of the stricken communities for another week.

State troops are occupying one school building in West Frankfort, and hospital uses have claimed another.

Troops barred Sunday visitors seeking to enter the devastated districts. Passes usually were denied to all but relatives and relief workers. Thousands of motorists were turned back everywhere in Southern Illinois and Southeastern Indiana.

The dangers of floor and disease in Griffin, Indiana, are passing, the relief authorities believe, and much the same better prospects held for Princeton and Owensville, as well as in the Southern Illinois cities.

Latest figures place the dead in Illinois at 637; in Indiana at 109; in Missouri 14; Tennessee 33; and in Kentucky 18. Total casualties have reached 3,750 in the five states.

TELLS THE CHIEF DESIRE OF THE AMERICAN FARMER

Washington, March 22—An equal opportunity with other businesses, not a "constant monkeying" with his own by the government, is held by Secretary Jarding to be the chief desire of the American farmer.

The sound "farmer businessman" he declares in an interview to be published in the next issue of the nation's business, organ of the United States Chamber of Commerce, instead of seeking legislation to fix and regulate crops, wants only legislation that will assist him in "getting reasonable profit on sound security," in developing machinery for marketing his products successfully, and that will "put him on par with other business men."

As a "business man" with a "greater capital investment than the average retail merchant" and "a business vastly more complex," the farmer must in the opinion of the secretary pay more attention to improved marketing methods. There are already 5,000 cotions in the United States, and about the same number of similar livestock shipping organizations and he emphasizes that the hope of the producer to get a larger share of the consumer's dollar "lies mainly in cooperative effort."

Discussion or curtailment of production to improve the farmer's position is described by Mr. Jardine as loose talk" even if the curtailing of agricultural production were practicable the things it would not bring the results sought, although "the acreage of certain crops should be adjusted from time to time—now increased, now cut down."

STEAMSHIP SEIZED WITH LIQUOR VALUED AT $150,000

New York, March 22.—The steamship Robert C. Clowry, with a liquor cargo of an estimated value of $150,000, and a crew of 16 men, was seized Saturday night in Ambrose channel by coast guards, it was learned today when the vessel was brought to the battery. The 16 prisoners, including Captain Daniel O'Connor, of New York, were locked up in a police station to await hearing tomorrow.

The seized steamship was a Western Union cable ship until it was sold a few months ago. The certificate of enrollment and license of the vessel showed the present owner to be Charles W. Forster, of Manhattan.

The steamer was bound for New York when seized, the coast guards said. The crew made no resistance.

FATHER AND DAUGHTER DEAD OF GAS POISONING

Passaic, N. J., March 22.—Louis Hlusick, a rubber mill worker, and his 3-year-old daughter, Victoria, were found dead of gas poisoning this morning in their home. Two other daughters, Hermina, 5, and Jennie, 8, also were overcome.

A defective gas fixture was responsible for their deaths, the police said.

Only one of 15 canary birds in the home survived.

NEW NARCOTIC DRUGS LAW PROMULGATED IN EGYPT

Cairo, Egypt, March 22.—A royal decree was issued today promulgating a new law for control of the traffic in narcotic drugs. The decree was made necessary by the alarming increase in the drug habit in Egypt in recent years.

The absence of proper regulations resulted in cocaine and similar drugs being procurable with the greatest facility, numerous druggists amassed fortunes in carrying on traffic in narcotics almost openly.

The new law provides a maximum sentence of three years imprisonment and a fine of £300 for infractions.

BOOTBLACK SHOT AND SERIOUSLY WOUNDED

New York, March 22—Flore Qurato, a bootblack, was shot in the Hotel Martinique. Rocco De Verito, a bootblack employed at the Hotel Pennsylvania, is in jail charged with the shooting.

Many guests in the lobby of the Hotel Martinique were startled when they heard the shots. Then followed a wild chase through Sunday throngs to a Broadway subway platform where De Verito was captured.

De Verito, according to the police, had resented remarks Qurato is alleged to have made about his wife.

NEW FIREPROOF HOTEL TO REPLACE THE BREAKERS

Palm Beach, Fla., March 22.—A new fire proof hotel, arising out of the ashes of The Breakers burned by the disastrous fire of last Wednesday, will be constructed immediately, Henry E. Bemis, vice president of the Florida East Coast Hotel company, made this announcement here today following a meeting of directors of the company.

1 MORE BODIES RECOVERED FROM WEST VIRGINIA MINE

Fairmont, W. Va., March 22.—Eleven more bodies were today removed from the Bethlehem Mines corporation's mine at Barrackville, near here. To date 23 bodies have been brought out, following an explosion in the mine last Tuesday night that entombed 33 men.

ROSCOE ARBUCKLE HAS MARRIED DORIS DEANE

Beverly Hills, Calif., March 22—Roscoe Arbuckle, former film comedian, and Doris Dean, motion picture actress, were married at the home of the bride' mother in San Marino, near Pasadena, Tuesday night. This was announced by Arbuckle here today.

Cincinnati law enforcement officers are predicting more arrests of persons named in four sealed indictments returned by the federal grand jury which charged 48 Cincinnati police and detectives and 23 dry agents with conspiracy to violate the national prohibition and anti-narcotic acts.

Five Persons Lost Lives In New York Fire

Blaze Was in a Tenement House Occupied by Eleven Families—Started by a Pyromaniac.

New York, March 22—Five persons, including two women and two children, lost their lives early today in a fire that destroyed an East Forty-seventh street tenement house occupied by eleven families. Fire department officials said the blaze was started by apyromanic who set fire to a baby carriage in the ground hallway.

Ten minutes after the outbreak of this fire another one was discovered in a tenement a block away. It likewise had been started under the stairs on the ground floor. Residents of the neighborhood were thrown into such a state of panic that reserves from three police stations were called out to keep oder.

The police and fire marshal's staff redoubled their efforts to find the "baby carriage" pyromanic believed responsible for these and several other fires, including three yesterday in the same neighborhood.

Four persons were injured in today's fire. The dead were Mrs. Katherine Walsh and her 17-month-old son, Joseph; Mrs. Margaret Otto and her 8-year-old daughter, Blanche, and Thomas Carey.

The body of Mrs. Walsh, with the baby still clasped in her arms, was found near a fourth floor rear window through which she was attempting to follow her husband, Patrick when her escape was cut off by the flames. Her husband was badly burned.

The bodies of the three other victims were found in a lavatory on the fourth floor, where they had taken refuge and were suffocated. Dorothy, 6-year-old daughter of Mrs. Otto, also was found in the lavatory, unconscious, but it was believed she would recover.

Several daring rescues were made by firemen and policemen. Patrolman Hugh Monahan braved flames shooting from front windows in climbing the fire escape and rescuing a 6-year-old boy. The policeman then collapsed.

Today's fire was one of seven apparently incindiary blazes within a period of 24 hours, according to police records. Five of these occurred Saturday in the same neighborhood.

Police tonight were searching for a man who, garbed in the white uniform of a baker, turned in the alarm for the East 47th street blaze and then disappeared. The fire spread quickly and when the first fire company reached the scene, a second alarm was sounded.

TWO HOLD-UP SUSPECTS ARRESTED IN PHILADELPHIA

Philadelphia, March 22—Two men were arrested tonibht on suspicion of having held up Mrs. Margaret Becker as she alighted from a taxicab in front of her home early today. They were charged with tearing from her fingers several diamond, rings valued at $14,000. In addition to the jewelry, the robbers took $565 in cash from Mrs. Becker, $65 of which was concealed in her stocking.

The prisoners gave their names as William Finley and Edward Phelps.

Police believe the robbers who engineered the hold-up were familiar with the movements of Mrs Becker, who is proprietor of a restaurant in West Philadelphia and knew that she was in the habit of wearing her jewels almost constantly.

One diamond ring, valued at $4,000 was axed by Mrs. Becker when she dropped it in her coat sleeve.

Washington, March 22—Counsel for Mrs. Samuel Gompers announced tonight that her suit contesting the will of her husband which leaves her the minimum dower right of one-third under the District of Columbia law, would be withdrawn in court here tomorrow.

In her suit, filed shortly after the death of the labor leader last December, Mrs. Gompers asked that a previous will signed by Mr. Gompers immediately after their marriage several years ago and leaving her the entire estate, valued at about $40,000 be admitted to probate instead of his last will. In the latter, Mr. Gompers stipulated that his widow should receive the minimum provided by law.

BODY OF NEGRO FOUND IN ROOM IN BROCKTON

Brocton, Mass., March 22—The body of Edwards Jacobs, a negro, was found in his room here tonight which, the police said, was disordered and bore evidence of a struggle. Articles of furniture in the room were blood stained. Death had resulted, in the opinion of the medical examiner, from a blow from a heavy instrument on the back of the head.

Other residents in the lodging house in which Jacobs lived entered his room after he had failed to appear during the day. An autopsy will be held tomorrow.

13 PERSONS WERE KILLED ON SOUTHERN PACIFIC TRAINS

Nine of the Dead Are Negroes—Five Persons Were Seriously Injured—Two Fast Mail Trains Met Head-on About Ninety Miles West of New Orleans—Engineer of One Trains Asserts That He Missed the Block Because of the Fog.

New Orleans, La., March 22.—Thirteen persons were killed in a wreck early today when two fast mail trains of the Southern Pacific railroad collided during a fog at Ricohoc, La., between Franklin and Patterson. Four of the dead were white men, the others negroes. Five were seriously injured.

According to an official report, No. 12, eastbound, ran by a signal in a fog and crashed into No. 109, westbound, at about 3 a. m.

The dead are:

Frank Stafford, of Port Arthur, Texas, newsboy.

E. E. Connery, of New Orleans, veteran engineer of No. 109.

Frank Nebily, fireman on No. 109.

August Aapast, baggagemaster of No. 12.

Nine negro passengers have not been identified.

The seriously injured:

A. J. Thibordeaux, fireman on No. 12.

Frank Mathews, engineer on No. 12.

Three unidentified negro passengers.

Others riding on the trains were shaken up.

The bodies of the dead were taken to Franklin, where an inquest was conducted late today. The injured were taken to Paterson.

The official report said Engineer Mathews of the eastbound San Antonio express came through the fog and passed the switch signal at Ricohoc, where he was scheduled to have put in for the westbound mail. About 900 feet past the switch the two trains came together.

The baggage car and the front passenger coach of No. 12 were telescoped. The negroes occupied this coach. The tender and baggage coach of No. 109 also telescoped.

Engineer Mathews telephoned railroad officials that he was badly hurt and too nervous to talk. He was said to have stated he became lost in the fog and did not know he had passed the switch.

Connery, with 42 years on the Southern Pacific and second oldest engineer in point of service, had made preparations to retire soon.

Stafford, the newsboy, was making his first trip, having started out from Houston, Texas.

It was testified at the coroner's inquest that No. 12 had orders to wait at Ricohoc switch for No. 109 but that Engineer Mathews made no attempt to stop at the east end of the switch. His conductor signalled him three times to stop and finally put on air but the train was struck by No. 109 before she came to a stop, having run over the switch. When questioned the engineer said he had missed the block because of the fog.

The track was strewn with wreckage and torn up for some distance. Tonight trains were still being detoured by way of Lafayette.

FINANCIAL DIFFICULTIES ON ST. PAUL RAILROAD

New York, March 23 (By the A. P.) The violent decline in St. Paul Railway securities which accompanied the receivership proceedings for the road unsettled last week's bond market, causing the most drastic readjustment of prices which has taken place this year.

Although the approaching crisis in the company's financial affairs had long been known and to some extent discounted in the markets, the shock of the receivership brought further heavy public liquidation, under which the market was unable to bear up. Selling was hastened by indications that terms of the proposed financial readjustment would be severe for stock and junior bond holders.

The St. Paul 4 per cent bonds, whose approaching maturity in the sum of $48,000,000 presented an insurmountable obstacle to the road, extended their decline about 7 points last week and at their record low level sold more than 30 points below the year's top price. Other junior obligations, which have little prospect of getting interest during the receivership sold 4 to 8 points lower on the week and 10 to 13 points below their 1925 peak.

While there was no tendancy to blame the St. Paul tragedy on anything but the road's unwise expansion policy, which led to an overburdened financial structure, other rail liens suffered from the general speculative disfurbance which followed the receivership. Moderate recoveries later indicated the market's relief over the removal of the uncertainty.

FELL 1,000 FEET WITHOUT LOSING CONSCIOUSNESS

New York, March 22—After a series of tests at Mitchell field today army flying officers said that the theory that a person falling from a great height loses consciousness during the descent had been disproved.

Sergeant Randall L. Bose and Corporal Arthur Borgo went up in a bombing plane, and, coached by Lieut. M. L. Elliott, parachute officer, performed four delayed parachute jumps. Each man, on the first jump, fell 1,000 feet before opening his parachute. Sergeant Bose dropped 800 feet on his second leap.

Both said that though they were falling with terrific velocity when they opened their parachutes, they were fully conscious. Officers in charge of the test said that this demonstrated that a man falling from a tall building is conscious until the moment he strikes the ground.

FIRE IN ICE PLANT IN SHREWSBURY, MASS.

Worcester, Mass., March 22.—Fire swept through the Commonwealth Ice company plant in Shrewsbury late tonight, destroying more than 6,000 of the 11,000 tons of ice stored there, damaging valuable machinery and causing a loss estimated at $50,000. Worcester fire department was called help the Shrewsbury firemen fight the fire. The plant is owned by Jack McGrath, a former widely known wrestler. The cause of the fire has not been established tonight but an investigation will be made tomorrow. The flames had made such headway before discovery that firemen who first reached the building found it impossible to check them.

"OPEN DOOR" DEP'T IN THE MOTION PICTURE INDUSTRY

New York, March 22.—Establishment of an "open door" department in the motion picture industry through which the public is invited to enter with suggestions and criticisms, was announced here today by Will H. Hays, president of the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America.

Jason B. Joy will direct the new department, the headquarters of which will be in New York city.

The "open door" in the industry means more than an invitation to the public to patronize the productions of the industry, said Mr. Hays.

"We will invite the public to come in and tell us where and why we are not—if we are not—measuring up to our job of making the motion picture industry the force it should be in promoting the best American ideals. We invite suggestions, helpful criticisms, constructive thought and every sort of viewpoint that will aid us in bringing the motion picture up to be the outstanding public influence that everyone wants it to be."

Organizations of every description throughout the world were invited by Mr. Hays to designate an authoritative representative to form contact with the motion picture industry. He pointed out that with from 10 to 20 million people viewing motion pictures each day, it is obvious that it cannot be regarded as a mere amusement enterprise that its effect on the public mind is so definite and immediate that it is a duty of public spirited citizens to aid producers and exhibitors to live up to their public obligations as well as conduct a profitable business undertaking."

Mr. Joy, director of the new department, will establish his headquarters at 469 Fifth avenue in this city.

GIRL TO GO ON TRIAL FOR MURDER OF HER MOTHER

San Francisco, March 22.—Dorothy Ellingson, 16, who shot and killed her mother, Mrs. Anna Ellingson, on Jan. 13, will go on trial tomorrow on a charge of murder. Mrs. Ellingson was shot down in a bedroom of her home after she had denied her daughter permission to go to a "jazz" party. Despite the murder, the girl attended the party.

She was arrested in a lodging house on January 15. In statements to the police the girl admitted that her love for night life had led up to the killing. She named a number of youths, some of them players in the orchestra at a cafe, as her companions, and they were questioned by the police. Three of them were arrested for contributing to her delinquency, but were later released.

No death penalty can be asked for the girl, as the execution of persons under 18 years of age in California is forbidden by law.

WILLIMANTIC

The second week of the strike of employes of the American Thread Company closed Saturday without notable developments. On the part of the operatives the programme consists in the main of picketing the mill gates, holding meetings to maintain unanimous determination to see their cause through to a finish and financing the union so that no striker will suffer from want. At the plant there have been no changes since Tuesday, March 10, when the mills were closed for lack of operatives. Although the offer remains open for the strikers to return, or new help to come to work the number filtering into the mills through the picket line is very small and fails to indicate any sign of wholesale scabbing. There are many of the strikers, however, who have experienced operatives and have found little difficulty in securing work out of town. Quite a number, mostly girls, will enter upon new duties in other cities this week. At the mass meeting Saturday morning Miss Mary Kelleher again talked on the subject of unity and perseverance. She gave some information relative to the steadily growing strikers' fund and after expressing her gratitude in behalf of the strikers, for substantial contributions being received daily from out of town individuals and concerns she gave out a list of local firms and individuals who so generously contributed without solicitation. The list complete up to Saturday: Martineau-Bacon company $100, Dr. Samuel J. Turcotte $100, Carpenters' Union, Local 625, $100, Turbidy-Welden Company $100, B. C. Hallock Company, Inc., $50, John T. Meikle (Popular Lunch) $50, R. G. Dion and clerks $50, Abraham Krug $50, a friend $50, B. P. O. E. Band $33, Louis Shakel $30, Joseph Astmann (grocer) $25, Prudential Life Insurance Co., $25, A. JOHN F. FITTS, OF ASHFORD, DIES IN WILLIMANTIC

(Special to The Bulletin.)

Willimantic, March 22.—John F. Fitts, one of the most widely known residents of Ashford died at his temporary home, 120 North street this city Saturday night. He was a native of Ashford, born May 12, 1839, the son of Stephen and Waidy Moore Fitts. Up to last fall when his home in Ashford Town was destroyed by fire, he had been a lifelong resident of the community. At various times he had held various offices among them being those of selectman and representative in the legislature. Following the burning of his house Mr. Fitts and his wife, Mrs. Ellen James Fitts, who survives him, came to this city to reside. He also leaves two sons by his first wife, (Josephine Chapman who died Novemmber 19, 1879) Fred J. Fitts of this city and Burton T. Fitts of Providence, R. ., and a sistler, Mrs. Mary C. Guilford of this city. He was a brother of the late George H. Fitts who died here last January. While in Ashford he was a farmer.

CALIFORNIA CLIMATE FAILS TO BENEFIT R. O. BAKER

(Special to The Bulletin.)

Willimantic, March 22.—Raymond Oscar Baker, 28, of Ashford, died at noon Saturday in San Diego, Cal., where he had gone to recover his health. News of his death was received by his father, Oscar David Baker of Warrenville. Instructions were given that the body be forwarded to that town. Mr. Baker was born in Warrenville, March 18, 1896 and received his elementary education in the public schools of Ashford. He had received as a heritage all the business ability of his grandfather, Davis Arnold Baker and his father, Oscar D. Arnold and following in their footsteps he was sent to represent Ashford in the Connecticut legislature, at an early age. Mr. Baker's grandfather, David Baker had entered the grovery field in 1874 and upon his death in 1903 the business passed to his son, Oscar Davis Baker, who took his son, Raymond Oscar Baker into partnership in June, 1910. The building in which the store was located contained the only meeting hall in the town. There were held all the big events and all the town meetings and voting, until the recent opening of the Knowlton Memorial building. Members of the Baker family represented the town in legislature during many sessions. The grandfather served in the sessions of 1867, 1877 and 1897, Oscar Davis Baker served in 1907 and 1915 and Raymond O. Baker served in 1919. He was on the fish and game committee. The Bakers are traditional democrats. Mr. Baker's health became impaired a few years ago until it was deemed advisable that he change to another climate and he moved to California with his wife, Marie Baker and two children, Ida Marie, 11, Carl Raymond, 10, who survive him. After a show of recovery he declined rapidly during the past few months. He was a member of Ashford grange, No. 90, Quinebaug Pomona, also the state grange.

Dupont, alternate, William D. Downing.

Friday evening the 13th. Union Hall was crowded to the doors for the premier presentation of the comedy drama, "Sunshine" under the direction of James E. Murphy. The members of the cast interpreted the parts with profesional smoothness. From the appearance of little Miss Lucille Bowen in the prologue until the close of the play they received the plaudits of the appreciative audience. Miss Bowen as Maudelia and Edward T. Connelly as Callahan, the comedy parts in the play kept the house in good humor. Musical numbers of exceptional merit were also given. A trio, Henry J. LaFontaine, Walter LaFontaine, and J. Warren Kane, were recalled many times after rendering "The Harp that Once Thro' Tara Hall," and "My Wild Irish Rose." Henry LaFontaine gave a beautiful rendition of "Mother Machree." Edward Costello sang "Love is a Builder" and as an encore "When Irish Eyes are Smiling," in his usual finished manner.

The dances given by Miss Lucille Bowen also made a big hit. The big audience showed their appreciation of the play by heavy and continued applause. Local players not only appreciated the work of the players, but generoaus spirit in coming to Voluntown at their own expense to give one of the best shows ever presented here for the benefit of St. Thomas' church. After the entertainment a lunch was served the players and their friends, at which Rev. Father Ludovic Paradis was host.

CHILDREN OF ELLERY ALLYN AND DR. LAWSON STRUCK

(Special to the Bulletin)

New London, March 22.—The little daughters of Dr. Stuart J. Lawson of Federal street, and Ellery Allyn of Waterford, were slightly injured this afternoon when they were struck by an automobile, owned and driven by Max Soltz, 41 Federal street. The injuries consist principally of bruises and scratches.

The children were amusing themselves coasting on Federal street, and between Union and Huntington streets, the machine operated by Soltz collided with the coaster, demolishing it and injuring the two girls.

TWO RUM-RUNNER CREWS ARE ADMITTED TO BAIL

(Special to the Bulletin)

New London, March 22.—The gas screw launch Avenger, Capt. Thomas E. Coombs, New York, and the sloop Edith Louise, Capt. George Williams, Atlantic City, were seized in the Sound Saturday morning by the crew of the CG-224, Greenport, the two craft having an estimated cargo of 1600 cases of liquor and 115 barrels of whiskey. All members of the crew were admitted to bail late Saturday afternoon when presented before United States Commissioner Earl Mathewson of Norwich at the custom house here for hearing Saturday next.

Both craft were but a few miles west of the rum supply fleet off Montauk Point when they were apprehended, the two boats but a few hours prior to being seized having taken on their supply at Rum Row. They were proceeding, it is understood, to Philadelphia and Atlantic City when seized.

The boats and their cargoes are now under guard at the state pier.

SIX PERSONS INJURED IN AUTOMOBILE ACCIDENT

Winsted, March 22—Six persons were injured today when an automobile crashed through a two inch iron guard rail on the bridge over the tracks of the New Haven railroad on the Torrington road a mile south of this place and fell 25 feet, landing bottom side up beside the tracks. The autoists, all of Bristol, were pinned underneath the wreckage. Residents nearby released the accident victims and they were taken to the Litchfield county hospital.

Francois Couture, Jr., was the most seriously hurt, receiving internal injuries. His mother received a fractured collar bone, scalp wound and an injury to one of her eyes, while the father suffered from injuries to the chest.

Mrs. Lavare Duguay suffered a fractured hip and her husband was badly shaken up and suffered from shock. James S. Chabot, operator of the machine received an injury to his arm and cuts and bruised about the hand.

There is an abrupt turn at the bridge and it is said that the operator of the machine was not acquainted with the road and was unable to control his machine after he had made the curve.

The party was on its way to Winsted to attend a fraternal meeting.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Breed Theater

Sinners in Silk the current attraction at the Breed theater is a picturization of the activities of The New Generation, whose hymn is jazz, whose slogan is speed. This feature throws inteo relief the things for which our flapper a ndlounge lizards are criticized, even indulging in a discussion on "free love."

The feature opens with some members of this "new generation" doing their stuff such as some intimate bathing scenes, in which an elaborate tank is used. Here are introduced some new styles in bathing suits for the unfair sex which will surely interest them and will make the men sit up and take notice. Here we are introduced to Merrill, a man grown old before his time through fast living and who upon seeing Penolope Stevens, decides to undergo a rejuvenation operation so that he can enjoy life again. And no one will blame Merrill after peeping at Penelope.

There is some fine action as Merrill lures Penelope to his apartment, but finds that she is "a good girl," as Lenore Ulric says in Tiger Rose. Eleanor Boardman is one of the most beautiful flappers we've seen on the screen and she acquits herself admirably in a difficult role.

The Pathe news, a cartoon and an Educational comedy make up the remainder of the bill.

Broadway Theatre

Lew Williams and his Chic-Chic-Revue assisted by George Rubin opens an engagement at the Broadway Theatre today. It will be a real treat for the Norwich theatregoers to see a real revue of comedy, singing, dancing and novelties, which is positively the best show of its kind on the road today. Everywhere that they have played, they have left behind an enviable reputation. The scenery, costumes and setting are at a par with the big musical comedies. Comedy is the predominating feature and as a whole is a show worthy of your patronage. There will be many vaudeville specialties nicluding Billy Howard and George Luckie in "It's Hard to Fool Us."

East is east; and west is west—but are they?

Anyway, the twain do meet in Pola Negri's new Paramount picture, "East Suez", which opened at the Broadway Theatre yesterday and will continue for today, Tuesday and Wednesday.

"East of Suez" is an adaptation by Sada Cowan of the Broadway stage play of the same name by Somerset Maugham. Raoul Walsh, remembered as the director of "The Thief of Bagdad," directed the production, which features Edmund Lowe Rockcliffe Fellowes and Noah Beery in support of the star.

Palace

This week at the Palace will be Spring Carnival with fourteen big acts, seven the first half and seven the last three days. The main features of the vaudeville bill is the Dancing Mullards and Band. This is one of the greatest acts of its kind on the vaudeville stage today.

Two very clever xylophone artists will open the show Hope and Mantion. Next on the bill is Florence Seeley and Co., in Kat Naps, a musical comedy pantomime, assisted by John Roberts and Frank Livingstone. Harry Tanner follows with comedy and singing. Fifth on the bill is Agnes a funny little rube with funny kicks. Ross and Maybelle come sixth, a pair of comedy artists that keep you laughing. Chas. and May Stanley close the show with thrilling stunts on the silver cord.

The feature picture is Her Marriage Vow.

The enthusiastic audience that witnessed the opening yesterday at the Palace Theatre of "Her Marriage Vow," did more than just see an interesting picture. Some good points on marriage and extra-marital flings were driven home rentlessly and firmly. Not that it is propaganda. But Owen Davis' story has been adapted with such skill in this Warner Bros. Classic of the screen, that the implications of the story are vivid and unforgetable.

The story deals with a woman, happily married but irritated because her husband has to concentrate on business of evenings. She is tempted by a chum to attend a party, and this seemingly innocent escapade is fraught with drama. Her husband comes home to find one of his children almost poisoned, and the home gets disrupted. Till the mother, distracted at being deprived of her children, decides to kidnap them.

Monte Blue and Beverly Bayne are excellent in the principal roles. They are supported by Willard Louis, John Roche, Margaret Livingston and others.

NEW HAVEN POLICEMAN STRUCK BY AUTOMOBILE

New Haven, March 22—Motorcycle Policeman Louis Ferdinandus, of the New Haven police department was taken to St. Raphael's hospital this afternoon with a fracture of the right shoulder, and lacerations about the face and scalp as the result of being struck by an automobile operated by Lawrence W. Strom, of this city in Blake street. Late today he was removed from the institution to his home.

Strom, it was said, was driving into a driveway when Ferdinandus was struck by the side of the automobile. Strom was placed under arrest charged with operating a motor vehicle without a license and failure to grant the right of way.

DANIELSON AND PUTNAM NEWS

DANIELSON

Says a Providence paper of the woman arrested on an alleged charge of fraud in misrepresenting the year of manufacture of an automobile sold to Mrs. Gustina Gamache of Goodyear:—

Mrs. Thelma Daley, 1446 Westminster street, charged with obtaining money under false pretenses when she sold a 1922 sedan for $350 on representing it to be "a late 1924," was fined $200, appealed, and was held for trial in the superior court, at a special arraignment yesterday. Judge Gorham heard the plea in which the defendant, through counsel, admitted sufficient evidence to convict. Mrs. Daley was arrested on the complaint of Mrs. Gustina Gamache of Goodyear, Conn., who saw the car advertised in a Norwich paper.

The following relative to Prudence Crandall is of special interest all through this section of eastern Connecticut:

Citizens of this township are anxious to revive interest in establishing a permanent memorial to Prudence Crandall, a simple Quakeress from Hopkinton, R. I., who was among the first to strike a blow to emancipate the slave, and was instrumental in winning the co-operation of the Packerville Baptist church to lead the way in becoming "the first church in America to receive colored people on an equal standing with the whites."

Bills appropriating money for the erection of such a monument have been passed both in Connecticut and Rhode Island. Charles B. Montgomery and Thomas J. Brown, surviving members of the last committee appointed to consider such a memorial, are anxious to go ahead with the work, it is claimed.

In 1863 Prudence Crandall advertised in the "Liberator" a paper devoted to negro freedom, that she would open her girls' school in Canterbury exclusively to young colored women.

When Canterbury's most prominent citizens succeeded in landing the Quakeress in jail, Daniel Packer, founder of Packerville and the Baptist society there, secured her release. It was in the gallery of the old Baptist church at Packerville, which was destroyed four years ago by fire, that the pioneer emancipator sought for refuge for herself and her colored girls.

Judge John E. Prior of Moosup secured an old engraving made from a painting by F. Alexander, showing the likeness of the Quakeress, and also a picture of the house in Hopkinton in which she was born Sept. 3, 1803. The house was built about 1778, and was torn down in 1923. Reproductions of these pictures are here shown.

GLO-COing the Hair is Aiding Nature

One reason for the wonderfully improved appearance of the hair after it has been GLO-COed a few times is that GLO-CO aids nature in creating a more hygienic condition of the scalp, which is fundamentally and positively essential to vigorous and naturally attractive hair.

GLO-CO is a liquid hair dressing. A few drops keeps the hair neatly in place all day. It is also a hair tonic with antiseptic properties. Therefore GLO-CO is doubly desirable. Whether one wishes the lightly-brushed effect desired by conservative business men, or the smooth-comb of the high school or college youth, GLO-CO is supreme.

GLO-CO is stainless and possesses a delightful, quickly-passing fragrance. A squirt-cork fitted in every bottle prevents waste or spilling. Buy it at any drug counter or barbershop, 50c and 75c, or send for liberal free sample.

PUTNAM

The police arrested two men Friday night for drunkenness and both were presented in city court Saturday morning before Judge Geissler. One of them is a well known resident of Eastford who, evidently, was not familiar with the potency of the kind of beverage that can be procured in this town. He knows more about it now. He was helpless when arrested, was penitent in court, paid the fine of $20, and costs that Judge Geissler imposed, and hurriedly departed for the western section of the county.

The second offender knew more about the quality of the liquor but was indifferent to the effects of it. Not much evidence was deemed necessary to convince the court that the charge of intoxication was justified. He found him guilty and fined him $20. He is a wodochopper and had money, and two debit entries of $20. each went down on the cash records of the court.

John Consalina, who drives a motor truck for a Springfield concern and passes through Putnam at regular intervals thought that he had his driver's license and registration card with him, when he got into a slight altercation with the police. When asked to produce them he couldn't comply with the demand, and was put under technical arrest and allowed to return home to look them up. In court he pleaded guilty and was fined $3.00 for not having his license, the same for the registration. The costs amounted to $9.84. He paid.

First practice of the battery candidates of the high school has already been held and men aspiring to the other positions were called out to receive their uniforms and go through a short practice at the high school Saturday afternoon. Last year's team is intact, excepting catcher for which place there are several promising candidates. Gerald Carter star pitcher who can in addition plays either the infield or outfield in good style, is captain. Submaster P. F. Smith will act this season as the coach.

Frank Balona, who was in the shop of Ralph Smith, recently closed, is now wroking at Vien's shop.

Rev. and Mrs. Orin D. Fisher of North Stonington and Rev. Dwight C. Stone and Mrs. Stone of Stonington were guests the past week of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Perry.

The second annual ball of Quinebaug lodge, A. F. & A. M., held in Odd Fellows' hall Friday evening attracted a representative gathering of Masons from Putnam and neighboring towns. The best evidence that the event was enjoyable and successful is the fact that it was nearly 3 o'clock before the last waltz ended.

The grand march was led by Edward Duffey, grand master, and Mrs. Duffey, after an hour of concert music by an excellent orchestra from Hartford. The hall was beautifully decorated, and the supper served by the members of the Order of the Eastern Star in the hall adjoining was one of the factors that contributed to the enjoyment of the evening. The committee in charge of the affair consisted of William E. Moss, Allie W. Marcy, Thomas Bell, Everett D. Packard, Allie S. King, Lucius P. Merrow, Charles E. Richardson, Ray C. Bodworth, Harold Mansfield and Ralph E. Thurston.

Rev. Charles H. Bedard, pastor of St. Mary's church, has sufficiently recovered from an attack of illness to be out.

Ernest L. Davis has returned from Florida where he spent the winter. The weather, he said, was mild and pleasant, there being none of the disagreeable cold snaps of the previous winter.

Frederick Very is to present Miss Rhea DeCoudres in a piano recital in his studio at Providence this week when the program will be as follows: Sonata in E Flat Op. 27 No. 1, Beethoven; Nocturne in C Minor, Chopin; Etude in F Minor, Prelude in C Minor, Prelude in G Minor, Prelude in B Flat Minor, Ous dem Volsleben Suite, Greecy; Auf dem Bergen, Norweigen Bridal Procession, Aus dem Carnival, Debussy; Passepied, Clair de Lune, Arabesque in G.

Clement Gilson, 59, well known farmer and milk producer, died at 11:30 Friday morning at his home in the Sawyer district after a short illness. His health had been impaired for some time, but his condition was not considered serious. While making milk deliveries Tuesday he was taken ill and grew worse until the end came.

Mr. Gilson and a daughter, Miss Edith Gilson, a teacher in the public schools, survive him.

Mr. Gilson came here from New York city fifteen years ago. He was a high class tailor and had a prosperous store on Fifth avenue. Because of his health he decided to seek a out-doors occupation, came to Putnam and bought a farm on the Heights. He sold this property a few years ago and bought the place in the Sawyer district where he had since lived.

Mr. and Mrs. Leo Dubois of Providence street entertained Friday evening at a miscellaneous shower in honor of the approaching marriage of Miss Edna Lavinge, daughter of Mrs. Rose Lavinge of Chapman street, and Joseph Dubois. An excellent supper was served, the decorations being yellow and white. During the evening a piano duet was played by Mrs. Leo Dubois and Miss Gertrude Marion; Mr. Decoteau entertained by singing and story telling. The prospective bride received many pretty and useful gifts and a confetti shower from a large bell hanging from the chandelier in the center of the room.

The annual banquet to the choir of the Second Congregational church was given by the Ladies' Social Circle of the church. Forty sat at tables beautifully decorated with daffodils and pussy willows. Place cards and nut cups were in keeping with the season. Rev. and Mrs. Richards were the guests of honor. The menu consisted of tomato bisque with croutons, olives and pickles, clover leaf rolls, roast lamb, mashed potatoe, creamed carrots, mint jelly, surprise salad, crackers, orange sherbet, fancy cakes and coffee. A vote of appreciation to the circle and a vote of sympathy for the enforced absence of the organist, Kenneth Sharpe, were passed. The general of Easter music followed. The committee in charge of the affair Mrs. Ora Gon Sharpe, Mrs. Luther Moss, Mrs. John Bucquette, Mrs. S. Shoff, Mrs. A. L. Mansfield, Mrs. George Twigg and Mrs. Frank Thayer. Miss Bertha Child who is a student at Simmons college in Boston, was with her mother over the week end.

Mrs. A. J. Benoit entertained several friends on the eighth birthday of her little daughter, Rita, many playmates of the little girl being her guests. The children played games and the older people played whist. Refreshments were served. Thos present were Mr. and Mrs. Napoleon Benoit, Misses Juliette and Bella Benoit, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Dubois, Mrs. Eugene Somo and family, Mr and Mrs. Louis Beausoliel and Miss Cecile Beausoliel, Mrs. Clair Lavoire. The first prizes in whist were won by Mrs. Beausoliel and Mr. Dubois and the consolation arrangement to Mrs. Dubois and Napoleon Benoit. Music was furnished by the Misses Benoit.

Edward Fisher has bought from Walter Wheaton the site of the former Wheaton home on Oak hill, which was destroyed by fire a few years ago. Since the timber has been cut on the side of Oak hill, the location is one of the best in the city, having a magnificent western view. Mr. Fisher expects to build a bungalow on his new property.

Mrs. Frank U. Johnstone and Mrs. Frank Jordan, of Woodstock, are planning to attend the sixth convention of the National League of Women Voters to be held in Richmond, Va., April 16 to 22. Hundreds of delegates from other states will be in attendance at the meetings which will be the first held in the south. An afternoon session devoted to "Women in Public Affairs" in the United States and in other nations, Sunday afternoon mass meeting on International Relations, and a special evening set aside for "Young People and the League" and a luncheon with Miss Katherine Ludington of Lyme, treasurer of the National League, presiding, are part of the thirteen sessions planned to include all league interests.

Putnam Rotarians heard the other side of the medical bill at their last meeting. Dr. Frank Wheaton, a New Haven chiropractor, presenting it. Dr. Wheaton told of the fight which the osteopaths and chiropractors have had to wage to keep a law on the statute books permitting them to practice. For eight years the chiropractors have waged this battle against the older established branches of the healing are.

The speaker said that there are now six examining boards in the state, one for each classifications of practitioners. All of the boards, with the exception of the eclectic, have proved efficient. He claimed that the allopathic and homeopathic branches are using proven inefficiency on the part of this board which resulted in the fake doctor scandal last year, as a sort of camouflage for making drastic changes on the practic art.

He said that senate bill number 131, on which a hearing will be held Tuesday at the state capitol, is similar to bills benig introduced in many other states, all at the behest of the American Medical Association's headquarters in Chicago. He insisted that the state Chamber of Commerce had baked the proposed bill without hearing both sides of the question, or getting the opinion of all its members. He also believed that the present six board system would work out better than the proposed examining committee of five laymen.

Following Dr. Wheaton's talk a letter from the state Chamber of Commerce was read, in which the club was asked to send to the hearing a delegate, instructed to speak in favor of the bill. After a short discussion the meeting was adjourned, with no actino having been taken on the letter.

Garde Foch of Putnam is planning its fourth annual prize drill and dance for soon after Easter. Several outside drill companies are expected to take part in this annual event.

Last week a St. Patrick's social was given by the Y. P. C. A. of the Baptist church and was in charge of Mrs. Ralph Spencer. The assembly room was elaborately decorated in green and white. The Ukelele orchestra was much enjoyed, and especially pleasing with the solo numbers by little Miss Beth Thompson. Other features of the program were vocal solos by Miss Corrine Wilson, violin solos by Miss Florence Smith and a reading by Miss H. W. Thompson. Games were played and refreshments were served.

Patrolman Ryan of the Putnam police force went to St. Vincent's hospital for surgical treatment. He expects to remain there but a few days.

CONRAD IS HELD IN JAIL CRIMINAL SINCE HE WAS 16

(Special to The Bulletin.)

Westerly, R. I., March 22—Thomas Conrad, 19, who first gave the name "Stanley Manners," to the Westerly police when examined by Chief of Police Thomas E. Brown, following his shooting of Wilmar A. Sandbach. The latter is a travelling salesman for Lehn and Fink, manufacturing chemists and dealers in drug supplies of New York, and resides at 46 Lexington street, Highwood, New Haven, to which city he was returning when the shooting occurred Friday Afternoon. Conrad was taken by automobile Sunday afternoon at 12 o'clock by Sargent of Police Michael Curton, who arrested him, to Washington County jail, Kingston, where he was delivered into the custody of Deputy Sheriff George S. Phillips, the jailer. At the county jail he will be held to await the action o fthe Grand Jury in the April session of superior court for Washington county, which convenes the third week of the month.

Conrad's arrest followed his being delivered to the Westerly police last Friday evening shortly after six o'clock in Dixon Square by Sanford Spink, 18, of Naragansett Pier, accompanied by two other young men. Spink found Sandbach tottering in the road, revolver in hand and his assailant Conrad seated by the roadside as the outcome of the fierce scuffle which followed the latter's firing two bullets with the intention of taking away the money of his automobile companion, ywho had given him a lift from East Greenwich to Haversham, on the Boston Post road, seven miles east of Westerly.

After the examination at the office of Medical Examiner, Dr. Michael H. Scanlon, Sandbach was given a driver who took him in his coupe as far as New London, and from there the injured man proceeded to drive his machine to New ... en and then went to Grace hospital to have the bullet removed. An operation was performed there Saturday noon by Dr. Jack and the bullet imbedded in the tissue between the esophagus and the trachea was extracted.

The arraignment of Conrad had been delayed to await the outcome of the operation in the hospital from which no serious results are anticipated unless complications set in. In anticipation of any such possibility, Coroner Mix of New Haven took a statement of the facts in the case from the patient.

Before Acting Judge M. Walter Flynn, Jr., in a special session of Third District court Conrad was presented Saturday evening on complaint of Chief of Police Thomas E. Brown, charging assault with a dangerous weapon with intent to rob. Town Solicitor John Ferguson, Jr., represented the state. Conrad entered a plea of guilty. The court changed the plea to one of probably guilty and bound the man over in $25,000. bonds to the higher court.

Conrad was "mugged" by the Westerly police department and his finger prints taken. The description of the prisoner as it appears on the blotter shows that he was born January 4, 1906 in Rockbury, Mass., the son of Robie and Mary Conrad of Dorchester, Mass.: height, 5 feet, 5 3-4 inches: weight, 125 ounds; color, white; complexion, reddish and pimply; build, slim; hair, black; beard, dark; eyes, brown; nose, medium and sharp; ears, no lobes; chin, sharp; a kewpie doll was tattooed on his right forearm.

His previous police record showed that he was arrested when fifteen in Dorchester in 1921 for walking on the streets at a late hour in Providence in 1922 and in Walpole in 1923 and that he was alleged to have stolen $90. from the home of J. A. Bell, 252 Sip Avenue in Jersey City, and in 1923 was arrested in Roxbury for the larceny of an automobile for which he was committed to the Shirley Industrial school, from which institution he escaped February 14th, 1924.

Giles Packer, crossing tender for the New Haven railroad at Noank, after his day's work was done at 12 o'clock, was walking to his home at West Mystic, on the tracks, near Barker Bridge. He was held up by a tramp and asked if he had any money. "Yes," he said, "and I am going to keep it!" The man struck him across the mouth with a board that cut him a little. Then Mr. Packer started to swing, knocked his man down the bank with some heavy blows and then made his home all right.

Noank basketball team lost a close game to Mystic Community House five, 36 to 32. Noank was ahead at half time, 12 to 10. Noank fought hard to win, but fell short with four points in the rear. Both teams made fouls because of the court being so small. Lamb was the star for Noank, getting eight baskets from the floor and four free tries. The lineup for Noank five is Lamb rf, Ebbetts lf, Smith c, Nefft rg, McCourt lg.

Lester L. Smith was a recent caller in Saybrook.

Joseph Bergman was a recent caller in New Haven on business.

MYSTIC

Meetings were held every night but Saturday last week in the Union Baptist church and will be continued this week, with Rev. Arthur J. owler, D. D. of Brooklyn, N. Y. as the speaker. Saturday he preached in the First Baptist church in Stonington, then coming to the Sunday School here, he made an eloquent plea to the young and followed this by preaching at the evening service. He is a fine speaker, and has made many friends here.

The Monday club is to meet today with Misses Emeline and Jessie Fisher, 28 New London road.

The Eastern Star meeting held in Meriden last week was attended by Mr. and Mrs. Emma Latham and Miss Ethel Latham, Mrs. Latham Packer and Mrs. G. H. Parker.

John Roy of High street who is employed in Providence spent Saturday and Sunday at his home here.

COLUMBIA

Employes of the telephone company were engaged last week in removing the main pole at the center where the roads cross, and erecting at that place the guide board which is apparently a much better location for a sign post than it formerly occupied. A new pole was then placed where the guide board had stood.

During the past week, while the frost has been coming out of the ground, water has begun to run into the wells on the Green, which have been dry so long, but a sufficient amount has not yet accumulated to be of any practical use and three wells, at least, are still dry.

Several persons have been ill recently with an affection of the larynx which has caused aching of the eyes, also deafness, and is contagious.

The Columbia Dramatic club has selected the three-act play, The Adventures of Grandpa, to be given in a circuit with the dramatic clubs of other towns.

While George H. Champlin was engaged in his business of superintending the road repairs in Lebanon, on Wednesday last, the upper lid of his right eye was struck by a piece of wood, cutting a deep gash in the lid, but apparently not injuring the eye, which was properly cared for, so soon as he could reach Willimantic.

The teachers of the schools in Columbia, held a meeting Wednesday in Hebron, with the school supervisor, Oscar C. Fleetwood and the other teachers in the school district.

Miss Marion Holmes, whose school was closed the early portion of last week, because of her illness, reopened school Thursday.

The 33d anniversary of Columbia grange was observed at Yeomans hall Wednesday evening, about 50 persons, members past and present, attending. The grange was organized in March 1892 with 35 charter members, and eight from other granges. Eleven charter members and four others, who helped to organize the grange, are living, and were invited to be present, and several of them attended.

Edward P. Lyman, the first lecturer, on the subject of anniversaries, made an address. Fred A. Hunt, who helped organize the grange, having previously been a member of the Andover grange, spoke about the organization and Chester Lyman spoke on the old days, before the Grange existed when there was a farmers' club here. Mrs. Mary Hutchins gave an extract from the Circumspect Seventies, regarding fastidious dressing, and Master Ellsworth Mitten played two well executed violin solos, 'Tis Known Alone to Me, also an Andante and Polka.

A feature of the evening was a parade of the members dressed in ancient clothing, seven of the sisters wearing old wedding dresses, one being 68 years old, belonging to Mrs. Willard Clarke.

An interesting debate at a meeting of the grange in 1897 was referred to, the subject being, Resolved, that the bicycle is more of an injury than a benefit to the community. Edw. P. Lyman and Deacon Collins, spoke on the affirmative, while Rev. J. P. Harvey and Fred A. Hunt argued for the negative, the debate being decided in favor of the affirmative.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Isham also gave short talks. Many interesting events in the history, work and benevolent influences of the grange were mentioned by Mrs. Howard A. Rice in a very energetic lecture.

An infant of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence E. Hewlitt, of the Wells Road section of the town, was buried in the cemetery at the Center Friday.

PICKING UP STRANGERS.

Perhaps you are an auto driver who has solemnly vowed that "I'll never refuse a person a ride if there's room in my machine to accommodate them."

Perhaps you have made a practice of picking up anyone you encounter, whether a ride is sought or not, and whether you know the individual or not, and giving them a ride as far as you are going.

Perhaps you have long since become aware of the studied efforts of certain ones to make their way over the country by seeking rides, recognized the danger involved and come to the conclusion that while such might be done for strangers with safety in a majority of cases there are instances enough where the experiences of others to justify the decision not to yield to any such appeals in the future.

The case of the New Haven man who yielded to such an appeal near Westerly only to be shot by the person he was willing to befriend emphasizes the danger that is involved in trying to be a good fellow. Not all those who ask may be highwaymen or robbers, but the auto driver isn't able to discriminate in advance, and having no time to look up credentials on the spot his safety lies in providing his own protection by refusing to heed the appeals.

There are many who have learned their lesson by going through just such an experience. The fellow seeking a ride near Westerly was willing to take the life of the man who was accommodating him in order to get what money he believed him to have. He came too close to being successful, and he blasts the hopes of other highway piedders who may be honest and harmless, but it is fully apparent to the autoist, especially if he is alone, that personal safety lies in turning a deaf ear to all importunities. Perhaps some deserving person may suffer, as is always the case where new restrictions and new laws are made necessary to curb the few, but the auto driver has a right to consider self preservation first and if he gives no one a ride he will not be shot or held up by such a chance companion in his own car.

REINFORCE THE HUMAN AGENT

According to the statement of New Haven road officials the responsibility for the freight wreck on that road at New Haven, when one freight crashed into the rear end of another, killing the engineer and fireman of the former, is placed squarely upon the shoulders of the dead engineer.

From the investigation that has been made it has been ascertained that the signals were operating properly, that they were set against the second freight and that they were ignored by the engineer. Frantic efforts were made by the flagman guarding the rear of the standing train, but without result. Neither his red lantern nor his screams were heeded. The speed of the second train was unchecked until it had plowed through many cars of the halted freight.

Aside from the fact that death was caused it is most unfortunate that the engineer and his fireman can give no explanation of the failure to respond to the signals. Whether the engineer was dozing, whether he was sick or whether death in his case had preceded the collision is not known. The only thing known is that the dead engineer should have obeyed the signals that were set against him and failed to do so. It is another one of those instances where the human factor failed to function, and another one of those cases which go to show that there is a great need for the automatic train stop.

Had that part of the railroad system been equipped with the device for automatically stopping trains in accord with the signals, whether the engineer is on his job or not, there would have been no collision. Mechanically the train would have been brought to a stop some time after the caution signal was passed and certainly at the signal which indicated danger and called for the stopping of the train.

In this instance, if it was negligence that failed to get action from the engineer, there was a sacrifice of his own life by the man at the throttle, but there was demonstration anew of the need of fortifying such provisions as already exist in behalf of safety by others that will operate when the human agent lapses.

RED CROSS SERVICE.

Each year there is a nationwide campaign in behalf of memberships for the American Red Cross. The proceeds of such memberships go for the purpose of carrying on much valuable local work and help to provide the national organization with funds for providing relief in case of disasters and unusual emergencies.

Response has already been made in a typical case by the forwarding of quick relief to the distressed section of the country which was devastated by last week's tornado. There are those who know how to organize and administer such relief, there are facilities and supplies ready to be drawn upon and there is in fact a general plan ready to be put into operation of meeting conditions before the full extent of the disaster is actually known.

The Red Cross is a preparedness organization ready and equipped to deal with trouble. Experience makes it evident that if effective service is to be rendered, if suffering is to be quickly allayed, if disease is to be prevented and distress kept to the minimum it is necessary to act quickly. It is another proof of that old saying that "those who give quickly give doubly," inasmuch as the worst conditions are to be immediately after a tornado strikes, or a flood occurs, the organization that is ready to go to work upon notification is the one that meets requirements.

It is for the purpose of maintaining such an organization for immediate emergency service that there is so much popular support given to the Red Cross. It has been demonstrated so many times that its efficiency is such as to deal with all conditions that there is public confidence and public reliance in the great humanitarian cause for which it stands.

Every time it is called upon to deal with trouble and distress its accomplishments are such as to justify not only the support that has been given it in the past but to assure nation-wide backing in the future.

LET IT REST.

When notice is served to the effect that there will be no special session of congress the country will not be surprised. It has been evident that congress needs a rest, and the country needs a rest from the kind of antics it has been getting from the senate. President Coolidge doesn't intend to cause any interruption in such rests.

It will be possible to know after the close of the fiscal year, if in fact it will not be known as soon as the complete returns from the income tax collections are tabulated, just about what the treasury will have in the way of a surplus and what can be advocated in the way of reduced taxation.

There have been reductions in taxes and there have been promises of more. The administration is determined that such promises shall be fulfilled. There hasn't been any reason to expect but what congress would work hand in hand with the president in bringing about a proper tax reduction, until it was demonstrated during the brief special session of the senate that more or less uncertainty exists in that branch of congress.

With that situation made known it can be appreciated that the president has no intention of getting congress together again any earlier than it is necessary and really a special session is not imperative. Congress can get down to business at the regular session and meet the requirements of reduced taxes if it will, while if it, or the senate is determined to balk nothing would be gained by calling it together any earlier than necessary. If rest is what the senate needs by all means do not disturb it.

AUTOS AND HIGHWAYS.

According to the records which have been kept concerning production it is estimated that there is today an auto for every seven persons in this country. In fact the figures go into fractions and show that there is an auto for every six and a half persons.

There has been a steady plunging ahead in the production of motor vehicles. This has been greater than the deterioration and scrapping of cars, and the number of car owners, as well as the number of cars, has been steadily increasing. At the present rate of increase it will not be many years before there are cars enough for each individual to have one, though the time will be more distant when everyone is the actual possessor of one.

With such a situation there can be no wonder concerning the problem of highway safety that prevails today. There were highway dangers before the automobile was produced, and the coming of the motor car has not decreased them. Motor vehicles have made it necessary for each highway user to so conduct himself that he will be prepared to protect himself against risks of his own creation and the menace from others, while the pedestrian endeavors to keep out of the highways at all times and look well to his own safety when it becomes necessary to use them. Each year that adds to the number of motor vehicles also adds to the dangers of the highway.

WOMAN IN LIFE AND IN THE KITCHEN

SUGGESTIONS FOR THE HOUSEWIFE

Tint mayonnaise a pale green with a little spinach juice.

Shirred eggs are particularly good served with tomato sauce.

Celery is delicious cut into small lengths, stewed and creamed.

Serve chocolate marshmallow sauce with vanilla ice cream.

Place a maraschino cherry in the center of each halved grapefruit.

Okra is exceptionally good when cooked with a small piece of salt pork.

Serve rice fritters and spiced blueberry sauce with broiled breasts of quail.

Add a few slightly floured and finely cut dates to your nut bread mixture.

Eggs are tempting when poached in cups made from hollowed-out ripe tomatoes.

Cold sliced hominy is delicious dipped in beaten egg and browned in bacon fat.

A dash of some piquant sauce may be given to veal chops just before they are served.

Garnish egg salad with strips of canned pimentos and halves of tiny button radishes.

Slices of eggplant dipped in melted butter and broiled are excellent on a hot sea platter.

If the children are old enough to accept the responsibility, allow them turns in arranging flowers for the house.

Mix cold boiled rice with stiffly whipped cream, and chilled, diced pineapple, well drained. Serve cold.

Never soak rice or macaroni before cook them. Wash the former well, but not the latter, and place both in boiling water to cook.

Cakes must be cold before being iced. The best results are obtained when the cake is made one day and iced the next.

PLANNED IN ADVANCE

There is no doubt the table that is planned a week in advance will be the most economical and varied of any. Of course we cannot always keep exactly to our original plans, for no housewife can judge exactly the amount of things left over, but the outline could then be carried over a few days and the following week's meals will be simplified.

CENTIPEDES

House centipedes are not such pests as many people think. They do not feed on household goods but on flies, roaches and other household pests. They are ugly things, but really helpful so if you see one in your home, let it go peacefully on its way.

BETTER COOKIES

Most cookies would be more crisp if the dough is thoroughly chilled before it is cut and baked. Try mixing the dough and keeping it in a covered bowl in the refrigerator to bake the next day.

HEALTH AND BEAUTY

Lime water beaten up with sweet oil is an excellent ointment for painful burns.

The windows of a sick room should never be closed. The bottom sash should be slightly raised and the space filled, causing a current of air through the center of the window.

Pay particular attention to cuts and scratches. Keep them clean and covered from the air and dust.

If a child complains of pain in the ear when insects and flies are in the air, pour warm olive oil into the ear and the insect will float out.

A nurse should move quietly about a room, learn to open and shut doors softly and be alert for any sound from the patient. She should see that the light is shielded from the patient's eyes, and that draughts do not blow on her, and withal, she must keep the room well ventilated. She should be quick to realize what annoys the patient and what pleases her and see that the former things are avoided and the others emphasized by herself and by those who come into the room.

FEEDING THE CHILD

Children, like all young animals, remain material compared or body-building matrial compared to their size than do persons who are fully grown. To insure the child's normal growth and development his food must contain certain animal protein, mineral matter, and the accessory food factors vitamins.

Protein of certain vegetables and nuts contain body-building substances but must be supplemented by animal protein found in milk, eggs and meat including fish and fowl.

Mineral matter is found chiefly in milk, eggs, meat, green vegetables and fruits, while substances regulating growth (accessory food factors) are found especially in the fat of milk, in eggs, and in leaf vegetables.

Whole milk contains not only animal protein, minerals, and the growth producing substances, but also fat and sugar. No other foodstuff is therefore so important in infancy and childhood.

Plenty of easily digested, properly cooked food should be given to the child at meal time, but nothing between meals. By the end of the first year a child should have four meals a day. By the end of the second year, three meals a day are sufficient for the average child.

USES OF BRIEF CASES

Nowadays the carrying of brief cases is not confined to lawyers. Women have discovered that they are excellent for week-end purposes. They come in shades of russet, brown or black and are large enough to carry all the necessities for a visit of short duration.

DICTATES OF FASHION

One of the great houses is showing an evening wrap entirely composed of ostrich feathers. The long lines of the vertically placed plumes are broken by bands of short, tightly curled feathers placed horizontally about the hips and collar.

DICTATES OF FFASHION

Pretty jeweled combs accentuate the graceful curve of the head at the back.

"Flat as my hat—flatter than that," made famous by Kipling, applies also to bandeaux at present.

New hair ornaments are fashioned to hold the hair close to the head and preserve that sleek appearance so desired.

The difference between men's and women's styles in coats this season is infinitesimal. Both have broad shoulders, narrow hips, broad English revers and the majority of each are double-breasted.

Black satin, one of the most flattering materials, is used for simple little straight frocks which have jabots of deep ecru lace or small rounded collars and cuffs of cream colored embroidered net and lace.

Several afternoon dresses have a deep V-necked outlined with embroidery and sometimes filled in with a contrasting color, a red crepe having a white V at back. Evening gowns are usually V-shaped at back of neck.

A turndown has a woeful effect when administered by a pretty woman, but the new Bangkok hats are the better for it. These beautiful light straw head coverings are usually very simply trimmed with a diminutive bow, and ribbon band.

Sufficient pressure has been brought to bear on the cotton manufacturers to have them turn out cotton fabrics wonderful both in color and design. Some white cloths have borders of appliqued, bright-colored linen. Other linens have lace border inserts. Ginghams are especially attractive and becoming.

BLACK AND WHITE

After all is said and done, there is really nothing smarter than black and white, and a frock of this magpie combination may be worn ten times to five when a woman in a bright color is suitable. For the woman of limited income the black and white gown is a fashion life-saver. If it is sufficiently smart, and it usually is, it may appear on almost any occasion and still give the effect of being worn for the first time.

The versatility of these black and white costumes is amazing, but much of their difference and all of their distinction lie in the skill with which the two tones are put together. If there is too great an area of white on a black frock, or black placed illadvisedly on a white gown, the result is hopeless frumpiness, but on the other hand just an accent of black of a piping of white will lift a model from the class of mediocrity to that of smart distinction.

MOIRE BOWS USED

Many perky bows of moire or grosgrain ribbon appear at the side of smart new evening shoes, sometimes having a button of onyx and diamonds or brilliants set in its center. Often, it is a pleated rosette of the ribbon. Occasionally jeweled heels are noted in black or silver slippers.

FAVOR PRINTED CREPE

Many of the ensemble suits for spring have the frock made of printed crepe, the unusual designs of which form an attractive point in front, leaving the lower part of the silk and the back plain. Over this is worn an unlined coat of the plain crepe which has two panels of the printed part of the material on its under side.

LAUNDRY HINTS

If you will always hang the selvage of your baby's diapers down in the windy weather, you will not have ragged or torn hems.

To remove perspiration stains from clothes, soak the garments in strong salt water before laundering them.

Pillow slips should be ironed lengthwise in order to get entirely rid of wrinkles.

Turpentine will remove tar from woolen stuffs or flexible materials.

Odds and ends of soap can always be cut into fine chips and used just like any other soap flakes.

Press chiffon with a warm iron while it is still very damp.

Gasoline will remove chewing gum from clothing.

THEN THEY WILL STAY WHITE

If this precaution is taken when washing white silk hose, they will never turn that ugly saffron shade. Wash them in lukewarm water with pure soap, then put in a rinsing water of the same temperature that has been made a pale blue with bluing and also contains one tablespoon vinegar. Dry in the shade or in a dark place.

GAYLY EMBROIDERED

It may be bad form for a woman to wear her heart on her sleeve but she may wear nearly any other kind of embroidered motif there this spring. The knitted silk and artificial frocks are nearly all of rather sober tints but the color and sleeves usually are a mass of colorful embroidery.

DELICIOUS FOR LUNCH

If you have left-over chicken, beef or ham, chop, season well and spread on three-inch squares of pastry. Moisten with a little gravy or milk, roll up like jelly roll, pressing the ends together tightly, bake in a quick oven and serve hot for luncheon.

KEEP BREAD BOX CLEAN

The bread box should be washed out weekly, dried and thoroughly aired by keeping the lid open a short time. If this is done the bread will never get a musty taste. To keep it from becoming too dry place a well-baked potato in the box. Moisture is given off by the potato but not enough to cause mildew.

BUYING SOAP

Soap is one of the things that is more economically bought by the quantity. Not because there is a great difference in the price, but the older and dryer soap is the longer it will last, the less harmful it is to the hands and the more efficacious as a cleanser.

PLEASE THE CHILDREN

When making bread fill a small baking powder can about half full with dough. In baking it will rise to the top of the can. This bread makes sandwiches the size children like.

CONCERNING WOMEN

Designs that come to her in dreams are worked out in fretwork by Miss Lettice Apperly of London.

For every four women in New York state one is engaged in work for which she receives wages.

In becoming director of her own theater in Detroit, Jessie Bonstelle has realized her girlhood ambition.

A bill favoring women suffrage in municipal elections is to be introduced in the French Chamber of Deputies.

Many smart women in London have banned cosmetics and now wear tinted pearls to match their complexion.

Members of the Federation of Women's Clubs in Whitewater, Wis., now issue a weekly newspaper devoted to their interests.

Miss S. M. Hall, who carried the electoral vote of Arizona to Washington, is the first of her sex to act in such a capacity.

The name of Equality state has been bestowed upon Wyoming because of its having been the pioneer state in woman suffrage.

JUST CAMOUFLAGE

When the salad is limited and you wonder if it will go around comfortably, scoop out tomatoes and use the salad as a filling. Then you will surely have enough.

WALL PAPER LININGS

Save some of the wall paper with which the bedroom is being papered and use it to line bureau and dresser drawers. It gives a dainty finish and is durable as well.

RECIPES

Apricot Omelette: Apricot omelette makes a good, sweet entremets that may be used for a dessert.

Break the eggs into a receptacle; add a pinch of salt and a little powdered sugar. Beat thoroughly and make the omelette as usual putting apricot jam in the center.

Arrange upon a dish; powder with sugar and "caramelize" in a moderate oven.

Scalloped Apples: Take two cups of soft bread crumbs, three cups of chopped apples, one fourth teaspoon of cinnamon, one-half a teaspoon of lemon juice, and some rind, two tablespoons of butter, one-half a cup of sugar, one-half a teaspoon of nutmeg, and one-fourth cup of water.

Butter the bread crumbs, chop or cut up the apples into small pieces, and add the spices and other ingredients. Put one-fourth of the bread crumbs in the bottom of a baking dish, and one-fourth of the apple mixture, then one-fourth of the bread crumbs, then the remainder of the apple mixture. Cover with the remainder of the crumbs.

Bake in a moderate oven until the apples are done and the crumbs are brown. Cover during the first 20 minutes. Serve hot with sugar and cream.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Time For Action

Mr. Editor: Another mutilation What's to be done about it?

The town alone has offered a hundred dollars reward—that is all—a paltry sum everything considered. Here is a chance for the philanthropists who are always paying tribute to pety grafts disguised under the cloak of charity, to get busy and contribute to a real humane cause. With a substantial reward offered it ought not take long to clear the matter up. If it doesn't work, they are not out anything anyhow. What is needed is.

IN THE PUBLIC EYE

Basil Miles, whose marriage to Mrs. Peabody Savell of Indianapolis is announced to take place today in Paris, was formerly connected with the United States diplomatic service and is now the American commissioner to the International Chamber of Commerce. Mr. Miles is a native of Philadelphia and received his education at the University of Pennsylvania and at Oxford. In 1905 he began his career in the diplomatic service as private secretary to the United States ambassador to Russia. Three years later he was appointed Third Secretary to the embassy there. He left the diplomatic service in 1908, but re-entered it in 1916, when he was appointed special assistant to the ambassador to Russia and in 1917 he received the rank potentiary. He was secretary to the Root mission to Russia and afterward was chief of the Russian Division of the state department at Washington. Recently he has been residing in Paris.

KEEP LOOKING YOUNG
It's Easy—If You Know Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets
The secret of keeping young is to feel young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.
Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.
Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, are gentle in their action yet always effective. They bring about that natural buoyancy which all should enjoy by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities.
Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are known by their olive color. 15c and 30c.

IN THE DAY'S NEWS

MONTREAL'S MAGIC STAFF OF LIFE

For the fourth successive year Montreal announces its supremacy as the greatest wheat exporting city in North America. So great is the yellow flow through Montreal, that its shipments abroad exceeded the combined exports of its seven chief rivals in the United States; New York, Galveston, New Orleans, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Norfolk and Boston, up to September of last year.

"The staff of life has been a magic wand for the Canadian metropolis," says a bulletin of the National Geographic society from its headquarters at Washington, D. C.

"Waving it, Montreal raises another skyscraper on her water front. Take an elevator to the 15th floor of No. 1, St. Lawrence River, Montreal's chief wheat 'office,' look out a window to the west, and the story of Montreal and its part in supplying that grain lies revealed.

"At one's feet an ocean liner rests snugly against a wharf, beside a long gallery which sprouts below like a root of the skyscraper itself. Within that gallery huge, wide, running belts are man-made creek beds for a stream bank full of wheat. The liner is receiving in its hold the product of more than 10 acres of wheat land every minute.

"Close under the protecting shadow of the liner lies a smaller steamship. It has lines like a German dachshund; much open deck lies between the superstructures fore and aft. Beneath the hatches which cut the deck into a gridiron is more yellow wheat from Port Colborne, Ontario, waiting to be stored in the main elevator. In the open water of this harbor sector fretting tugs line up at appointed places like cavalry horses. Now and then with a snort of white steam and a puff of black smoke they dart from their 'company front' on double quick to push some ocean leviathan in or out of its berth.

"At the right of the tug is the main neck of North America's wheat bottle, the end of the Lachine Canal. Montreal is the queen of wheat ports and more than 60 per cent of her 'yellow gold' comes down the St. Lawrence by water. Over to the left the sun catches the glint of white water in the Lachine rapids, head of navigation of the 1,000 Nature-made canal which is this bottle's mouth. Braving the rapids is the apidery black line of the Victoria bridge with trains shunting across it almost constantly. To the right, under wooded Mount Royal is the city, founded by Chevalier Maisonneuve, but built as much as anything by wheat.

"Westward the canal and railroad blend with the smoky mist through which one seems to see the winding miles of river, the blue of the Great Lakes and the breadth of the valleys of the Red river and Mississippi—flat plains where the sky is a cover pressed to earth at the horizon and wheat is filling between the crusts. Montreal's life springs are in Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Minnesota and the Dakotas where winter white gives way to green in spring, golden in summer, brown stubble in fall and back to white again.

"Assume out there a farm where nothing but wheat grew, where there were no houses, no trees, no waste land—just wheat. If it produced on an average of 15 bushels to the acre that farm would have to be half as large as Indiana to raise enough wheat to satisfy Montreal's shipping demands for the past year.

"Most things must be viewed from the bottom up, but no. a Montreal grain elevator; it works from the top down. As soon as a boat or train is emptied the wheat goes by conveyors to the top, finding lodging in huge bins. On the next floor below it is weighed. Stationed at a battery of huge containers, dusty workmen let in a flood of wheat from above. They can estimate a ton to a fraction of a pound. Released by a lever, the grain falls a floor to a five foot moving belt. Almost before it can settle down to a pleasant ride it reaches a big steel cart on rails which precipitately dumps it into what looks like a bottomless pit, but isn't. Later the wheat will emerge from the pit for another belt ride, through galleries stretching a mile and a quarter along the water front, to be dumped summarily into an ocean liner or tramp.

"Receiving grain is more complicated than dispatching it. At Duluth or Port Arthur or Fort Williams big lake freighters take wehat from box cars and bring it to Port Colborne, at the head of the Welland canal, or to Buffalo or Cleveland if it goes out through the United States. At Port Colborne steamers that can just squeeze through the locks of the St. Lawrence canals, take on the wheat. At Montreal, finally, huge bucket conveyors are lowered from the elevator through the hatches and start the grain to the skyscraper's top. As grain in the ship's hold gets low, men with huge steel scoops go in. A rope is attached to each scoop and when the workman has dug it into a pile of grain a winch on signal pulls it up to the conveyor snout, filling the buckets with grain. Four lake steamer loads, or a train of 116 cars of grain, are required to fill an average ocean tramp.

"Automatic car dumpers have been installed in some Montreal elevators. Picking up a loaded car like a toy they push in the door, tip the car on its side, emptying the wheat into a pit and set it back on its wheels at the rate of one box car in a little less than ten minutes.

"Farmers should never go to grain elevators. Confidence that one's efforts are doing something for the world is a handmaiden to happiness. Back in Minnesota two hundred acres of waving wheat inspire pride in a farmer's heart but they do not cut much of a figure in Montreal. If the farmer came to the Canadian metropolis he could view the arrival of his year's effort and worry in one box car and onehalf of another or in a small corner of a lake steamer. It would be unloaded from either conveyance in less than twenty minutes.

"In the top of the grain 'skyscraper' he would see his 200 acres of wheat dumped into a bin which would still be nine-tenths empty. Yet there may be a hundred more bins in this honeycomb called a grain elevator. Could he still stand the strain he might watch his wheat drop into the hold of a liner in about 12 minutes. Wheat must move fast at the neck of the bottle and faster yet when ice corks the neck between December and May and so Montreal is capital of wheat—and of agrarian humility."

Beer by the glass is sold in Vancouver, B. C., again, starting with the opening of 18 hotel beer barn, under a new British Columbia liquor law.

R. B. S. Washburn and daughter, Mrs. George F. Tubbs of Norwich spent Thursday at their Pine Grove summer home.

Mrs. W. W. Ives, of Champlin street has returned, after spending the season with her daughter, at the latter's winter home in Florida.

Mrs. Herbert F. Brown of eGr avenue, who successfully underwent a surgical operation in Hartford Saturday morning, is reported as being in a condition promising favorable recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. Nelson E. Bailey of New London were given a surprise party at their home Tuesday evening in celebration of their 30th wedding anniversary.

Rev. John J. Reilly, who was ill with grip during the week, has recovered and read the 8 o'clock mass in St. Patrick's church Sunday for the 200 of more Italian parishioners.

John Baynes, son of Mr. and Mrs. John R. Baynes, of Washington street, who broke his wrist in the Academy gymnasium eight weeks ago, was able to have the splints removed Friday and is getting well over the injury.

OBITUARY

George F. Revell

After a brief illness George F. Revell died Friday afternoon at his home, 220 Kimberly avenue, in New Haven. He is survived by his wife, one daughter, Miss A. May Revell of New Haven and two sisters, Mrs. James W. Fraser and Mrs. Sarah E. McClure, both of Norwich.

Mr. Revell was a member of the Odd Fellows and for many years had been connected with the Eastern Machine Screw Company. The funeral will be held from his home in New Haven and the body will be brought to Norwich for burial.

Fred Gauthier

After being in poor health for several years, seriously ill for the past six weeks, the death of Fred Gauthier of No. 1 Slater avenue, occurred at 5:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon at his home. Throughout his long illness Mr. Gauthier had been tenderly cared for by loved ones.

Mr. Gauthier was born in Bartonville, Vermont, 60 years ago, the son of Joseph and Louise Gauthier, and came to Taftville when a boy, spending about 40 years of his life in that village, coming to the city to reside about 20 years ago. For many years he was employed by the J. B. Martin company, but had not worked in recent years owing to his health.

In Taftville, in the old Sacred Heart church, about 40 years ago, he was united in marriage with Sarah McGee, the mass being celebrated by Rev. Fr. Russell.

He is survived by his widow and two children, a daughter, Catherine, of Norwich and a son, Fred, of Hanover. There are also 6 grandchildren.

A man of quiet habits, Mr. Gauthier loved his home and family and it was there that he found most of his pleasure in life. In his death his family will lose a valued member and his many acquaintances in this city a true friend.

Mrs. Charles F. Beckwith.

Following a long illness Alice Knowlton, wife of Charles Fenner Beckwith, died early Sunday morning at her home on Crown street, Stafford Springs. She had been a resident of Stafford Springs for practically her entire life.

She was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Chamberlain and was born in Ashford, 63 years ago. She was an earnest member of the Episcopal church and belonged to the Current Events club.

She is survived by her husband, and a daughter, Charlotte, attending Connecticut college, at New London, a sister, Mrs. Robert H. Fisk, Stafford Springs, a step-daughter, Mrs. Joseph C. McCarthy, Lafayette, Ind. and a step son, Malcolm S. Beckwith, West Hartford.

CONCERT ORGANIST AND SOPRANO IN RECITAL

The final one of the three Lenten recitals for the benefit of Connecticut college was given Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the Palace theatre with a programme by Dr. J. Lawrence Erb, concert organist, who is in charge of the music department at the college, and was assisted by Mrs Vandalia H. Burgy, soprano, of this city.

Dr. Erb's well chosen programme, that ranged from Bach down through the best of modern organ music and concluded with a composition of his own, an impressive triumphal march written at the close of the Spanish-American war, was rendered with admirable mastery of the instrument and he was compelled to give an extra number at the close. For this he gave The Song of the Volga Boatmen, an arrangement by Clarence Eddy.

Mrs. Burgy's beautiful soprano voice, which she had under perfect control and used with rare charm, made her numbers a delightful contribution to the programme, bringing such spontaneous and insistent applause that she was twice obliged to respond to encores. For these she gave Before the Crucifixion (Lafforge) and The Cunnin' Little Thing (Hageman). Frederick W. Lester was at the piano, accompanying the singer in close sympathy.

The programme:

Toccata and Fugue in D. Minor — Bach

Meditation in D Flat — Kinder
Grand Chorus in D — Renaud
Hear Ye, Israel (from Elijah) — Mendelssohn

Mrs. Burgy

Vision — Rheinberger
Pastorale in F sharp minor — Faulkes
Finale from Sonata, No. 4, in D minor — Guilmant

Mattinata — Leoncavallo
The Little Rain — Wyman
A Spirit Flower — Campbell-Tipton
The Piper of Love — Carew

Mrs. Burgy.

Within a Chinese Garden — Stoughton
From the South — Gillette
Triumphal March in D flat. — Erb

FIRE MARSHAL REFUSES PERMIT FOR BROADWAY GARAGE BUILDING

A building permit sought by Moses Klingon of Colchester, owner of the plot, 33-41 Broadway, for permission to erect thereon a one-story garage building has been denied by fire marshal Howard L. Stanton, in consequence of which Mr. Klingon will make application to the common council to have the permit issued.

Mr. Klingon bought the property over four years ago from William H. Shields, announcing at the time that he intended to erect a theatre and moving picture house on the site, which is a plot about 60 feet front and 200 deep, containing a two story and basement building, on the front of the lot. Plans for a theatre were drawn but the contractors bids came to such a high figure, it was understood, that Mr. Klingon gave up the idea of building then.

His present plan for which he asks a building permit is for a one-story garage that would be set back about 30 feet from the front line of the lot, leaving a large open space into which cars could drive. A ramp would lead down to the basement level and the entire area of the lot would be under cover to provide space for a considerable number of cars. The construction would be in steel, brick and concrete, and the entrance would be one big door with space at each side for accessory stores.

The fire marshal takes the ground that this is an unsuitable type and character of building for this location on Broadway for a number of different reasons. He points out that Broadway is a narrow, much traveled street, with the possibility that it may be made a one way street at some time, and the driving of cars in and out of a garage located here would greatly increase the hazard on the street. That side of the street is also the principal side for pedestrian travel, this including many school children, and it is the approach to the Union square section, which is more than anything else the civic center of Norwich and will be pretty sure to remain so or even become more firmly established as the civic center. On Sundays this is the side of the street used by people who are walking to the churches around Union square and farther up Broadway.

The fire marshal holds that this plot is deserving of an entirely different type of building and for a different use. While Norwich is in the midst of a discussion of zoning and city planning he is unwilling to grant a building permit for the structure that Mr. Klingon wants to erect.

SPOKE ON TUNING IN AT LAYMAN'S SERVICE

Layman's Sunday was observed at the Church of the Good Shepherd, Universalist, with a service in complete charge of the laymen Sunday morning. Those participating included Sumner W. Armstrong, Herbert E. Lawrence, Arthur G. Crowell, Walter A. Bussey, George D. Fillmore, Harry Peck and Harry J. Bjurstrom, with Rollo Harris and Hugh Laird as ushers, and there were interesting addresses by Louis M. Crandall, J. H. Bell and J. H. Cobb. The benediction was pronounced by the pastor, Rev. A. N. Foster.

Mr. Crandall spoke as follows upon the subject "Tune In:"

Friends, may I start by saying that what the laymen of the church are doing week by week is registering a vote for or against the church and God's plan. When we sit at home surroundedby our family and our books, talking machine, player piano, radio or other wonders of this century we cannot help but think of that first message sent over the wire "What Wonders hath God wrought"

In the business and social world it seems to me that the action of the radio is duplicated. While we are conducting this service here the 'air above and around us is filled with sermons and wonderful music for those who "tune in."

Tune in—those two words are the American Aladdin's lamp—those who have the training of the church and know how to use it——my but they are happy people. They are constantly tuning in on the opportunities that are not in the world as seen by others.

The world is demanding more business in religion—and more important than that is the constant demand for more religion in business. We must live every day so as to be satisfied in our conscience that we are in tune with that great broadcasting station GOD.

Of course we do not always get the message the first time as clearly as we would like at first but by careful manipulation. Get on one dial we get a little signal, then on the second dial we get it a little clearer and with the third dial the message comes in clear and of the father, the son and the Holy Ghost, broadcasting through that great broadcasting station GOD. Moses, the law giver, got in tune with that wonderful station GOD and then he turned on the loud speaker so that the children of Israel could get the wonderful message that was being sent to man. God is sending out his messages today and all the time—If we are not getting the message it must be because we are not in tune. It's our fault not God's for his word as contained in the Bible tells us just how to tune in. If we fail to tune in with that wonderful station God we will fail to win true success in life or in business.

In business the demand for us men and women who can tune in—men of character first and of specialized traning after. Invariably and in all walks of life America's great men Washington, Lincoln and others have been able to tune in with the infinite God. All great men have been four-square men—men of ability, reliability endurance and action—and these are the qualities that the church, the Y. M. C. A., and kindred organizations have been trying to inculcate into the lives of the men and women of America. Church activities, when entered into in the right spirit will develop these qualities to a marked degree in every member of the church. It is true that a little more pep in the church's activities might be worth inspiring—Pep—I cannot think of those three letters without thinking of the three words represented by each letter in the word first the P for purpose; second E for enthusiasm; and the third P for perseverance. If putting pep into the church means putting a little more purpose, entnusiasm, and perseverance into things I agree that more pep would be worth while.

This all comes back to the layman again. His church reflects his interest and his work. The church is constantly trying to teach how to win true success in life—it teaches true success habits. Habits, you know, are like kittens and lion cubs—soft fluffy, cute little fellows when small—but as they grow up, beware lest you are developing lion clubs that may some day be fierce and able to devour you. Bible and church habits are success habits. The Bible gives us real knowledge, and you know that knowledge is back of all achievement and that all achievement is preceded by action. Therefore as laymen we must acquire all the Bible knowledge possible and then if we would achieve we must translate this Bible knowledge into action—action that will bring about God's will in every life.

I like to think that in business, no matter what problems confront and annoy him the business executive can call about him his advisory cabinet of the world's best judgment, just as the president of this glorious United States calls in his cabinet to advise him what action to take.

In imagination I can hear the wisest of the wise of the members of his cabinet as he says "Where there is lack of vision they perish. As a man thinketh so is he." If you have the faith you can move your mountain. He who would be greatest among you must be your servant," and finally: "with God all things are possible."

Scouts Put Out Forest Fire.

An extensive forest fire that burned over 100 acres on Wauwecus Hill Saturday afternoon was put out by Boy Scouts and several men after three hours of strenuous work with savins and shovels.

Glee Club to Sing.

MESSAGE FOR CLASSES AT UNITED SERVICE

A Message for the Classes was brought to people in Norwich, Sunday evening, when Dr. Samuel Graffiin of the West Side Y. M. C. A., New York city, addressed the united congregation at the Central Baptist church, in the fifth of the series of lenten sermons being given in Norwich under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A.

Dr. Graffiin informed his congregation that everyone resided on Main street, and that the residents of this street could be classified in four groups, the successful, the failures, the church group and the sinners.

Speaking first concerning the successful, Dr. Graffiin, mentioned that people went to New York for two reasons, 1st, to make money. 2nd, to spend it in their own way. Success, he said, is the progressive achievement of a worthwhile ideal that has no sting to it. If you want to damn the souls of humanity give them plenty of money and they will do the rest because they have not learned how to handle it. In speaking of success, Dr. Graffiin said that it was founded on four distinct pillars, education, ability to make money, proper respect for home and women and pure religion. The reason religion is not first and most important of all, was explained by Dr. Graffiin, who said that the conscientious bigoted man is dangerous and that it is important that he be taught how to think straight. Thus, he said, education is first and most important in success.

Dr. Graffiin also mentioned the five keys to success, principle, preparation, persistant courage, common sense and courtesy.

The second group, he said, is the unsuccessful or failures and to these men is preached the story of Sampson, told in full until near the end, then shortened into three words, "they trimmed him." The failure has done something he shouldn't have done, he has been where he ought not to be, he has been a wise boy, asleep when he most needed to be awakened would not heed the warning of others. The failures are told that there is but one road in life, one end of this road ending in hell, the other in heaven. Thus it makes no difference how far one travels, it is the direction one is going that counts for all.

The story to the church people is that of the prodigal son, a story never meant for the sinner but told by Christ Himself to the church that criticised His associations with sinners. Three stories are told these people; that of the lost sheep, that of the lost coin and finally that of the lost boy. Christ does not want servants, said Dr. Graffiin. He wants sons. The church should so guide its flock that when one of them wanders off and is lost, the memory of the church will bring him safely home when all other hopes are lost.

The final teaching is to the sinners, said Dr. Graffiin, those who knowingly break the laws. The measure of God's power in us is nothing more than the measure of our faith in Him. Remember how the healed looked first into the face of Christ. Christian people should remember that testimony is valuable as it often brings the sinners back into the fold, causing them to look into the face of Christ who has everything for them and can give them that which they have wandered afar to find, only to find emptiness and despair.

Previous to the sermon Secretary Edwin Hill of the Y. M. C. A. announced that the service next Sunday evening would be held at the Central Baptist church with Dr. William B. Merrill of New York city as the speaker. The final service the Sunday evening following, will be held at the United Congregational church, he announced, with choirs of the churches of the city, assisted by other artists, rendering The Crucifixion, the accompaniment being played by Frederick W. Lester, organist.

HARRIS HOMESTEAD AT GARDNER LAKE BURNED

The old Harris homestead, near Gardner lake, in which five generations of the family have been born, was totally destroyed by fire last Monday afternoon between 3.30 and 4 o'clock. A large quantity of valuable antiques were also lost. No insurance was carried.

Miss Alice Rix, a school teacher, who discovered the fire, gave the alarm but the flames had too much headway by the time help arrived to permit of saving the house and its contents. Fire Warden Charles Malona, who reached the scene about 4 o'clock, directed the fire fighting with such good effect that the barn was saved.

The building belonged to Elmer and Henry Harris, brothers of Charles Harris, the salem inventor, and was occupied by workmen in the employ of Contractor Arrigoni, who is building the Gardner lake road.

Discovery of Quinine

Colds of the ancients were not treated with quinine, for the drug was not discovered until after the time of Columbus.

FUNERALS.

Frederic W. Cary.

The funeral of Frederic William Cary was held Sunday afternoon with a prayer service at 2.30 o'clock at his home, 1 Lafayette terrace, followed by the funeral service at 3 o'clock at Park Congregational church which was filled by the attendance of sorrowing friends. Rev. Samuel H. Howe, D. D., pastor of the church, conducted the prayer service at the home and also the funeral service at the church. The altar was banked with flowers and palms. In his eulogy Rev. Dr. Howe said:

"If this were only a family sorrow we might well be silent. We should then only approach it in silence. Spoken words would be an intrusion. But a few rare lives flood and overflow the household limitations and flow off upon larger areas. We cannot, if we would, leave our dear friends to their private grief today, since it is poignantly shared by a community, by a wide circle of private friendship, by the church, by the business world, by the city's best life, and they are all bowing today in deep and comfortless sorrow.

"We are all conscious of having lost what is most essential to a city's best life, something rare and exceptional. When some lives pass from a community, from the best social guilds, from the activities and service of the Christian church, our clocks seem to stop, our heart-beats slacken, we give way to bewilderment. We cannot immediately reorganize life or give to it its old pace and stride. We cannot fill up the gap and go on as before.

"We are never prepared and braced for death's fatal intrusion. Society is apparently such a solid fixed reality, we never think it can be broken in upon. We seem to have life reduced to such a fixity that when the breach is made the disarrangement is complete and the reconstruction impossible. All the permancies of life seem to be thrown into chaos. How can we find readjustment and start anew. When a man so trusted, so admired, so enjoyed is taken we are thrown into confusion. These fine qualities in men we recognize behind whatever veils of modesty they may be concealed, and how they grip and hold us and how grieved and broken hearted they leave us when the beloved figure passes beyond our sight.

"We do not know how this dear friend and fellow traveler on so many different paths got such hold on us, so modest, so unobtrusive, so non-assertive, so unambitious, so gentle, though so firm, so steadfast we may not be able to put into words; we only know that all this he was. And now we scarcely know how to take up our burden and go on without him at our side. Our love for such men may seem to strangers to blind us, but we love such blindness if it be such.

"It is not merely what will his household do without him, but what will his friends do, what will his church do, to which his life and service were so freely given? What will his pastor do without him?

"It is a great thing to live a life so true and so useful as to leave us all in this strange bewilderment, but it is a heavy grief to think we shall look upon his face no more. There is but one thing to worthily compensate us and that is to be ourselves so beautiful and so fine in character that we can suggest him. If these young men of Norwich will only spring into the vacant place and lift his fallen mantle we shall find some worthy mitigation of this universal sorrow for his going.

"Would that we might be baptized for the dead and newly consecrated and dedicated to those ideals, which made this, our friend and comrade in every good work, the man he was. His life was gentle and the elements so mixed in him that Nature might stand up and say to all the world: 'This was a man.' So now we can only hope his influence, his example and his spirit may linger with us as a permanent benediction and an enduring inspiration."

The church choir sang during the service. The honorary bearers were Rollin C. Jones, John F. Rogers, Harry Prentice, Frank Hempstead, Oliver L. Johnson and A. H. Chase and the following were the active bearers: Charles Morse, Horace F. Corning, Eli Crumb, Herman Austin, Thomas Sheehan, George Ahmurn, Clyde Beebe, John Hoffman. Burial took place at the Yantic cemetery and a committal service was conducted by Rev. Dr. Howe. There was a very large attendance of relatives and friends from Norwich and other cities and there was a wealth of beautiful floral forms.

The entire board of directors of the Chelsea Savings bank attended the funeral, Mr. Cary having been a member of the board, and the employes of The Eaton Chase Co., of which he was secretary, were present.

Undertaker C. A. Gager had charge of the funeral arrangements.

Mrs. Vernon L. Greene

The funeral of Mrs. Vernon L. Greene, formerly of this city, who died in Brookline, Mass., last Thursday, was held Friday afternoon from her home in Brookline. There was a large attendance of relatives and friends and there were many beautiful floral remembrances.

The body was brought to Norwich by automobile cortege accompanied by relatives and friends. Burial took place in Yantic cemetery Saturday afternoon, Rev. A. N. Foster, pastor of the Church of the Good Shepherd, Universalist, conducting the committal service.

Undertaker C. A. Gager had charge of the local funeral arrangements.

Mrs. Nunzio Tedesco

With relatives and friends present the funeral of Mrs. Nunzio Tedesco was held Saturday morning at 8:30 o'clock from the parlors of Hourigan Bros. At 9 o'clock there was a requiem mass in St. Patrick's church with Rev. Myles P. Galvin, celebrant, Prof. Frank L. Farrell presided at the organ and Mrs. Farrell sang for the offertory, De Profundis. As a waiting hymn Mrs. Farrell sang, Lead Kindly Light.

The bearers were Frederick Aldi, Albert Aldi, Leo Jacques, August Dupont, Anthony Fizzcoll and Nicholas Dominci. Burial took place in St. Joseph's cemetery, Rev. Father Galvin conducting the committal service. There were many beautiful floral forms including: Heart shape form, from her husband; pillow, Mr. and Mrs. Matteo Tedesco; wreath, Vincenzo Tedesco; wreath, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Aldi; wreath, Mr. and Mrs. Theve; spray, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Boisson; spray, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bellone; pillow, G. Pizzicoh; spray, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Jacques; spray, Arthur Aldi; cross, Biaggio Ciardielli.

INCIDENTS IN SOCIETY

Mr. and Mrs. Oliver L. Johnson, who have spent six weeks at the Mountain Lake club, Lake Wales, Fla., have come north, and Mr. Johnson is at his home on Union street. Mrs. Johnson will arrive today (Monday) having spent a week visiting her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. O. Chester Johnson, in Plainfield, N. J.

Mr. and Mrs. Grosvenor Ely, who have been spending several weeks in Havana and at Key West and Palm Beach, have reached their home at Norwich Town.

Miss Ruby E. Vaughn, of Warren street was in North Grafton, Mass., over the week end.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Royce Boss have been at Atlantic City for a short stay.

Malcolm Austin, a student at Westminster school, Simsbury, is at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Willis Austin, for the spring vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Werter Van Deusen with their little son and daughter, from Hudson, N. Y., are visiting Mrs. Van Deusen's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. Pullen, of Lincoln avenue.

LEFFINGWELL NOTES.

Friday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Nathan E. Whiting of Benjamin street, Norwich, a party of five girls met for a quilting bee. At six o'clock the hostess served a bountiful dinner.

At 7.30 o'clock about forty young people came in to give Miss Olga E. Johnson of Baltic a miscellaneous shower in honor of her approaching marriage with Roy Leffingwell Beard, of Leffingwell. Miss Johnson was completely surprised and satisfied the curiosity of all by opening the packages presented her. The gifts included cut glass, aluminum ware, linen, china, pictures, kitchen utensils, crockery, etc.

The evening was made merry by games played by all, also by programmes heard over the radio. Sandwiches, cake, cookies and coffee were served.

Distributing the Bouquets

According to a Welsh paper, Sir Walford Davies writes to Mr. Gwilym Jones as follows: "I wish to thank the splendid choir and ourself for their and our own fine work in the Mass in B minor at Wembley."—Boston Transcript.

BULKELEY WINDS UP SEASON WITH DEFEAT BY SPRINGFIELD COMMERCIAL

(Special to The Bulletin.)

New London, March 23—Bulkeley made its valedictory on the chalked court Saturday evening, but the last performance of the season was not advantageous to the Orange and Black, and their opponents, Springfield Commercial High romped off with the contest played at the State armory to the tune of 21 to 12. There was a district contrast in the playing of the Whalers in this game to the former contest played at Springfield, which ended in favor of the Bay State team by a 57 to 23 score.

Neither team was able to show its best. The slippery condition of the floor made fast play impossible. Time and again, several players would be left in the wake of the ball. Bulkeley was entitled to a better fate, but the inability to keep their equilibrium at times gave the visitors chances for scores which they did not fail to convert.

It took the teams about seven minutes of fast playing before either five counted the first score. Springfield scored on a foul and a field goal by Squire, when he disentangled himself from several players. Springfield reached a total of eight points before Bulkeley counted once. Huck Taylor carried on the fight single handed and placed the ball twice through the hoop for scores. At half time the score stood 8 to 4 for the visitors.

Increasing the volume of its attack, Springfield carried off the honors in the third quarter, and such a large margin separated the two teams that the game was virtually decided right there. Bulkeley made an effort to stem the tide, and with Parisi opening the fourth quarter with two spectacular goals the game was given a different hue But even though the locals did outplay the visitors in this quarter, the early lead piled up by Springfield was too much to over come in such a short space of playing time.

Parisi and Taylor played well for Bulkeley, while in the visiting ranks, Greenberg and White were the outstanding performers. The summary:

LAST GAME OF BASKETBALL AT NEW LONDON TONIGHT

(Special to The Bulletin.)

New London, March 22—With the high school teams already turning to baseball, basketball will stand on its final legs, and as weak as they are, a collapse will no doubt take place and "kid" basketball will give way to his contemporary in athletic greatness, baseball the national pastime. Two of the strongest teams will battle in their final appearance this year, and it will be one of the best cards ever arranged locally.

In the main event, the Coast Guard five which is determined to raise enough money to carry it to the national Y. M. C. A. tournament in Detroit, Michigan, will oppose a fast combination of basket shooters in the Providence, R. I. "Y" team. The Submarine Base which dropped the Eastern States service title to the Newport Service station last week, will culminate its season appearing in a preliminary bout with the fast stepping Mercury combination.

All this will happen at the Y. M. C. A. on this (Monday) evening, and will be in one sense of the word a benefit performance. Al money derived from the double header will go towards the fund which is be- will go towards the fund which is being created for the purpose of sending the Coast Guard five to the home of automobiles. There the locals will enter the tourney which gets under way soon. The card includes three of the foremost teams in the city and it will see basketball taking the count in this city.

MOOSUP TO HAVE STRONG BALL CLUB THIS SEASON

Indications now are that Moosup baseball fans are to be treated to a excellent brand of ball for the coming season. Some of the best material of last year's famous team has been contracted for and Manager Loughran announces that Moosup is to have as good a team this year as last year when Moosup had the championship of eastern Connecticut.

Players are now being signed up for the season which will start as soon as weather permits and home games will be played on the Carpet grounds at Moosup every Sunday until the second Sunday in June when the team will go on the road until the first Sunday in September. "Chick" Davis, that grand old pitcher of last year will be called upon to do most of the pitching. "Kid" Allard will join the team after his graduation from Plainfield high school in June and will share the catching with Liberty. Liberty, who hails from Jewett City, will do all the catching until Allard graduates. "Artie" Couillard of last year's team will hold down first, Frechette will roam about second, "Nap" Liberty will replace Kendricks at short and in view of his flashy work in that position for the Taftville team last year should be a valuable asset. Third base is still open as Eddie Burns has gone to Fredericks, Md., and if he makes good, as we hope he does, Henry Loughran will have to look for another third sacker. Frank Burndage who is at present coaching for Killingly high school will cover left field; in 1913 he had a try out with Connie Mack of the Philadelphia Americans. Center will be looked after by last year's man, Harry Mills, while left will be taken care of by Joe Strike with Lefty Harrell as utility.

The Carpet grounds will be put in perfect condition soon in preparation for the best sort of baseball. The entrance for automobiles will be the same as the latter part of last year through Union village. The entrance in front of All Hallows' church will no longer be used, an officer to be stationed there to enforce the ruling.

EIGHTY EXPECTED TO TURN OUT FOR BULKELEY BASEBALL

(Special to The Bulletin.)

New London, March 22—The climax of the basketball season which took place on Saturday evening with Springfield Commerce High, gives Coach William R. Canty of Bulkeley his first opportunity to call out baseball practice. A call for candidates has already been issued, and it is estimated that more than eighty will answer the opening call.

Discarding all intentions of having the squad work out inside before the first outside practice was to take place, the early signs of spring have brought about an early change in the plans. It will be the first time for a number of years that Bulkeley baseball candidates will assemble for outside practice before the indoor practice, which generally precedes the first outside workout. But the weather has been holding up so well, that very little time will be lost in getting the nine into condition to what is before them this year.

Coach Canty will have 11 veterans report for the first session. There will be very little hard work attached to the workouts this week, before the team assumes the work which the Bulkeley mentor has cut out for them. However with a fine array of veteran material on hand, it will not take the Bulkeley coach very long to shape his infield and his battery candidates. There are several promising youngsters who will press the veterans for their positions. But they will have to show the speed and durability to last, for they will attempt to wrestle a place from the veteran performers who in the majority of instances have held down their jobs for two consecutive seasons. An immediate change is unlikely.

CHAPMAN TECH FIVE DISBANDS FOR SEASON

(Special to The Bulletin.)

New London, March 22—With no further incentive to keep the Chapman Tech five on the floor, since cancellation of the Eastern Connecticut tournament by officials of Storrs, the Red and Black five has ended its season and turned in its uniforms. It was the intention of the Tech coaches to keep the team busy until the time arrived for the team to make the trip to Storrs to engage in the tourney. Chapman Tech refused the invitation to participate in the tournament which was held at Yale University Friday and Saturday. Tech was eligible when she won the Eastern Connecticut Interscholastic league title from Westerly on Tuesday.

EXPECT FAVORABLE REPORT ON SUNDAY BASEBALL BILL

Hartford, March 22—The judiciary committee of the legislature is expected to report favorably Tuesday on the bill introduced at the request of Major John Buckley to legalize the playing of professional baseball and football on Sunday afternoon between the hours of 2 and 6. The bill provides for the issuing of a permit for such games by the mayor of a city, warden of a borough or selectmen of a town and provides that such permit may be nullified by action of a special meeting called for registration of the opinion of the electorate on the matter. A penalty is provided for violation of the provision of the law. It is hope to take action on the report in the house this week.

LITCHFIELD HIGH WINS TITLE IN C. A. C. BASKETBALL TOURNEY

(Special to The Bulletin.)

Storrs, March 21—By defeating West Hartford here tonight, the Litchfield High basketball team won the state championship for the Class "C" and "D" high schools of the state. Litchfield outpointed their rivals 29-23, and the game was easily the most thrilling and best played of any seen here during the present tournament. West Hartford showed a slight advantage in the first quarter, the teams battled on even terms during the second and third quarters, but in the fourth quarter Litchfield had the final drive that carried them on to state championship honors. Crutch, star Litchfield forward, delivered the final blow to West Hartford's hopes, when he connected for three field baskets in the final quarter of the game.

West Hartford started off with a rush when baskets by Birge and Dowling allowed them to take an early lead. The Hartford boys flashed a flashy, fast moving attack, and at this stage of the game they looked much better than the Litchfield combination. At the end of the first quarter, West Hartford was leading 9-5.

Starting in the second quarter, Litchfield showed a better brand of play and led by Crutch, they slowly cut down the West Hartford lead. Crutch, C. French and Sanford all contributed baskets from the floor in this quarter, and at half time the score was knotted at 14 all.

The third quarter saw the lead alternate between the two teams; each showing a clever brand of play and Once again the score was tied as the Once again the score was tie das the whistle blew the end of the quarter, this time at 21 all.

In the final quarter of the game, Litchfield rose to the heights, and clearly demonstrated their superiority over West Hartford. Playing at a killing pace, but steady and collected for all that, the Litchfield attack swept on to victory. Crutch cut through the West Hartford defense three times, connecting for a field basket on each attempt, and C. French added another. Birge was the only man that could tally for his team, though enough easy shots were missed by his mates to win a couple of games. Litchfield was going stronger than ever in this quarter, while the West Hartford outfit was considerably off in its play.

Crutch, with 7 field goals, and 2 from the foul line, was easily the outstanding man of the game, and his work tonight proved him to be the best forward seen in the present tournament. He was a sure shot from any position, a good floor man and fast. The Litchfield offense was built around him, and tonight, as in other games of the tournament, he came through with the points when they were most needed.

Birge led the West Hartford team in scoring, making 7 points in all. Banks and Dowling also turned in some good work for the West Hartford team.

Immediately after the game, President Charles Lewis Beach of the Connecticut Agricultural College presented the winning team with the silver loving cup, which was awarded by the college. The summary:

AGGIE COACH PICKS ALL-CONN. HIGH SCHOOL FIVE

By S. A. Dole

(Special to The Bulletin.)

Storrs, March 21—Selecting an All-Connecticut "C" and "D" class basketball team upon what the men did in the tournament at Storrs is not a very pleasant job, to say the least, but as I have been asked to do it, I will select what I consider the best all around combination, both defensively and offensively.

Crutch of Litchfield is selected for one forward berth, and I believe him to be the best offensive man of all the players. He can pass, pivot, is very shifty, can shoot from either hand, and has a fine eye on side court shots. He is also a good team man, and is very fast.

Birge of West Hartford is my choice for the other forward position. He is a fine all around man, cuts nice for the basket, is a dead shot under the hoop, passes well, and was the best defensive forward in the tournament. Birge is one of those players who never tires.

As a running guard, there seems to be very little question but what Carlson of Deep River is the man. He is an exceptionally fast man who has a good eye for the basket from any position. His pass work is good, and his handling of the ball is all that could be desired.

The back court position must go to Osterling of West Hartford. He is a rugged player, and one that is absolutely fearless when it comes to taking the ball off the backboard. He is always cool, passes well, and when there is a loose ball he gets it. He also has a good eye on long shots.

There are a pair of three centers in the same class. Pickett of Terryville, who has a wonderful eye and a backhand shot that is deadly. Dowling of West Hartford, who is a good floor man, shoots well, and plays a steady floor game. C. French, the lanky Litchfield center is not as clever as either Dowling or Pickett, but he is a wonderful team worker, and has a good eye. Soby of Collinsville is also a good center, but not quite good enough to be considered for an all star team. He has a fine eye and is a good floor man, and plays a fast game. Pickett is my choice because of his offensive ability.

The All-Connecticut class "C" and "D" high school team selected by Sumner A. Dole, varsity coach at Storrs, on basis of ability shown at state high school tournament, played March 20 and 21 follows:

Crutch, Litchfield .....forward
Birge, West Hartford .....forward
Pickett, Terryville .....center
Carlson, Deep River .....guard
Osterling, West Hartford .....guard

AGGIE GIRLS LOSE LAST GAME OF THE SEASON

(Special to The Bulletin.)

Storrs, March 21—The Connecticut Aggie Co-eds closed their season with defeat today, when the co-eds from the University of Maine won a fast and exciting game here by a score of 25-16. Maine took the lead early in the game, and kept out in front throughout the contest. At half time, Maine was leading 12-9. Grant was the whole Connecticut offense as far as point gathering was concerned. Crackett and Dinsmore tallied often for Maine.

RANGERS AND WATERBURY PLAY TO SCORELESS TIE

(Special to The Bulletin.)

New London, March 22.—Waterbury Soccer eleven was fortunate to escape a defeat at the hands of the New London Rangers at Calkins park, the game ending in a scoreless tie. With visions of dropping into the cellar position in the state league the locals played one of their best games of the current season.

Play in the first half was equally divided with neither team having a decided advantage over the other. Launching a strong offensive game in the second half New London threatened to break into the scoring column on several occasions. The relay from the advancing forward line was accurate but the ball deviated from its intended course and three times the ball struck the cross bar, bounding back on the playing field. The Whalers were the losers by this unfortunate turn of affairs. Waterbury's goal tender stopped several attempts made for goal. He played an exceptionally fine game.

LONG SHOT WINS FEATURE ON PARIS TRACK

Paris, March 22.—A 55 to 1 shot won the first big fixture of the Metropolitan racing season today when Holbeach, a nine-year old gelding, carried off the Grand Prix du Printemps at Auteuil. Holbeach, ridden by an apprentice jockey, Jean Luc, was neglected in the betting.

The gelding showed a clean pair of heels to all the younger horses over the three miles and won handily while the spectators shivered in a snow storm. The race was worth sixty thousand francs to the winner.

The weather man scored a signal victory over the dressmakers who long had awaited the grand opening of the racing season. They had to be satisfied with another postponement of a display of their newest modes.

BIKE RIDERS MUST MAKE GOOD THEIR CHARGES

Paris, March 22.—Maurice Brocco and Charles DeRuyter, six-day race riders, have been summoned by the governing bodies of bicyclists respectively in France and Belgium, of which they are members, to substantiate alleged charges of partiality which they made against Frank Kramer, judge in the recent six-day bicycle race in New York.

Brocco on his return to Paris after the New York race was quoted by L'Auto as saying that Kramer during the race fined him $50 but overlooked worse offenses by American riders. "I might meet Kramer anywhere," Brocco was quoted as having said, "but under any circumstances I would refuse to shake his hand. He was unfair."

DeRuyter in a printed statement also attributed 'unfairness to Kramer. He charged that the American judge overlooked violations of the rules by American riders, but always kept his eye close upon the European teams.

Victory Breyer, who has represented the United States International Cycling union here for 25 years, appealed to the French and Belgian Cycling federations to have Brocco and Deruyter prove their allegations, or make an apology.

Oscar Egg, a six-day rider, when asked today concerning the recent race in Madison Square Garden, said: "Everything was all right. I have no complaint to make." Reggie McNamara, the American rider, who is now in Paris when asked about the statements of Brocco and Deruyter said: "I don't know what they are kicking about. They should know better."

INLAND A. C. TO HAVE FAST BALL CLUB THIS SEASON

The Inland A. C. held a meeting this weeke to lay plans for the 1925 baseball season and at the meeting elected John Sylvia as manager for the year. Max Nichols was elected captain. Mr. Sylvia was manager last season and piloted the team through a successful schedule. Manager Sylvia has what he considers a strong team which includes several former professional ball players, the captain at one time playing in the western league. Teams desiring games should write to Manager John Sylvia, Inland A. C., Versailles, Conn.

AGGIES HAVE FIVE MEETS ON 1925 TRACK SCHEDULE

(Special to The Bulletin)

Storrs, Conn., March 22.—The Connecticut Aggies will engage in five track meets this spring, according to the schedule announced by Manager R. E. Beveridge '26, of Middlefield, Conn. Two meets will be held at Storrs, and three away. Trinity will be met at Hartford in a dual meet on May 30.

Coach Steve Daly, Hartford man, has had his tracksters working out daily, and the men are fast rounding into form under his direction. A number of veterans from last year are working with the squad daily and these men will form the nucleus for this seasons team. In the dashes, Quigley, Atwood, McCarty and Smith all look good, and it is expected that all four will turn in some good work for the Connecticut team this spring. Atwood and Smith were members of the freshmen team a year ago, and they have shown much promise in their work thus far. Gallant, Lunney, Evans and Lisitre look the best in the middle distances, though they will be pushed hard by other members of the squad for places in the team. In the hurdles, Johnson, track captain last year, and Goodrich, Hartford boy, are the only veterans available.

In the jumps, Johnson, Evans, and Atwood are expected to show up to the best advantage, while in the filed events, Bitgood, Hohn, Wardle, Longo and Eyre are all being counted upon to corrall points for the Aggies.

Captain Jacoby and Jonson, both seniors are easily the outstanding men on the team, and Aggie followers expect them to place high in the Storrs meets this season. Both men are seniors who have been varsity track men since their freshmen year, and Johnson was captain of the team last season. Both placed in the intercollegiates at Springfield last year, and Jacoby has won the two-mile race in that meet two years in succession.

The schedule: May 2, Rhode Island at Storrs; May 9, Intercollegiate meet at Springfield; May 16, New Hampshire at Storrs; May 23 New England Intercollegiates at Boston; May 30, Trinity at Hartford.

Coach Daly will also organize and coach a freshman track squad at the state college. Many former high school trackmen are numbered among the yearlings not working out for track and it is expected that Daly will be able to develop a fast team. The frosh will engage in a dual meet with Rhode Island freshmen at Kingston on April 30, and with Dean Academy at Storrs on May 4.

SPORT WORLD BRIEFS

Some 20,000 marksmen use up about 3,000,000 targets in the registered trapshooting tournaments given in the United States each year.

Cornell has won the wrestling championships of the Intercollegiate League nine times, while Yale and Penn State have five victories each to their credit and Princeton one.

An idea of the popularity of billiards in the United States may be had from the statement that half a million tables are in use in public rooms throughout the land.

The success of the initial meeting of the Miami Jockey club and the prospect of a second winter racing plant in Florida in another year do not augur well for the future of the sport at Havana.

Radbourne, one of the celebrated baseball stars of yesteryear, set up a season's record away back in 1884 by pitching seventy-two games for the Providence team, then a member of the National league.

POETRY FOR THE WIDE AWAKES

The Owl

In the hollow tree, in the old gray tower,
The spectral owl doth dwell;
Dull, hated, despised in the sunshine hour.
But at dusk he's abroad and well!
Not a bird of the forest e'er mates with him;
All mock him outright by day;
But at night, when the woods grow still and dim,
The boldest will shrink away!
O, when the night falls, and roosts the fowl,
Then, then is the reign of the horn-ed owl.

And the owl hath a bride who is fond and bold,
And loveth the wood's deep gloom;
And, with eyes like the shine of the moonstone cold,
She awaiteth her ghastly groom,
Not a feather she moves, not a carol she sings,
As she waits in her tree so still;
But when her heart heareth her flapping wings
She hoots out her welcome shrill!
O, when the moon shines and dogs do howl,
Then, then, is the joy of the horn-ed owl!

Mourn not for the owl, nor his gloomy plight!
The owl hath his share of good;
If a prisoner he be in the broad daylight,
He is lord in the dark greenwood!
Nor lonely the bird, nor his ghastly mate.
They are each unto each a pride;
Thrice fonder, perhaps, since a strange, dark fate
Hath rent him from all beside!
So, when the night falls, and dogs do howl,
Sing, ho! for the reign of the horn-ed owl!
We know not alway
Who are kings by day,
But the king of the night is the bold brown owl!

—Bryan W. Proctor.

Autumn

The world puts on its robes of glory now;
The very flowers are tinged with deeper dyes;
The waves are bluer, and the angels pitch
Their shining tents along the sunset skies.

The distant hills are crowded with purple mist;
The days are mellow, and the long, calm nights,
To wondering eyes like weird magicians show
The shifting splendors of the Northern Lights.

The generous earth spreads out her fruitful stores,
And all the fields are decked with ripened sheaves;
While in the woods, at Autumn's rustling step,
The maples blush through all the trembling leaves.

—Albert Laighton.

UNCLE JED'S TALK TO THE WIDE AWAKES

The study of bird life is always an interesting subject for boys and girls. Among our most common winter birds are the slate colored juncos. It is during the months of April and May and September and October that the juncos migrate. Consequently they are with us about eight months each year.

During their spring migration the juncos are quite musical. They migrate in good sized flocks and trill or twitter continually in low, scarcely audible tones and flit about among the weeds and bushes. If you get too near them they voice their alarm with sharp "clicks."

The junco is related to the same family of birds as the sparrows. It eats seeds and its stout bill is conical in shape and is well adapted to threshing and crushing weed seeds. When the snow is deep the junco feeds on the seeds of tall weeds. There are of course many times when its seed supply is not limited as it is during heavy snows. Then it feeds on the seeds of many other weeds.

The junco is really a very valuable bird to the farmers and gardeners, owing to its feeding habits. On cold days they fluff out their feathers to keep warm and while feeding squat down and cover their feet with their feathers. They are somewhat restless on cold days but become alert and quite energetic on warm days. They flit about a great deal on warm sunny days and chase each other in their play.

LETTERS WRITTEN BY WIDE AWAKES

Celebrating Arbor Day

Dear Uncle Jed: Do you know a good way of celebrating Arbor Day? I do, and I shall tell you. My father once told me that every year in some parts of Europe they planted trees Arbor day. I thought it was a very good idea because so many trees are cut down to shelter us, and if we do not plant some trees in their place there would not be any trees to shelter the future people. So on Arbor day I planted a tree which is growing quite rapidly. I am going to try it also next Arbor day. I told my friends and they said they would also try it. I also hope that the Wide Awake boys and girls who read my story will tell their friends to try it. It is not only the fun of celebrating Arbor day, but also the feeling of helping your country.

At the North Pole

Dear Uncle Jed: I am going to tell you about my make believe trip to the north pole. I first went by Greenland and when by water as far as I could north because the water was frozen and there was ice so as the boat couldn't go any farther. I got off the boat and got on some dog teams which are sleds drawn by dogs. I had some warm clothing so it wouldn't be cold. Pretty soon I came to the north pole. I put an American flag in the ground and started back again. My parents were glad to see me back to my home again.

The Little Soldiers

Dear Uncle Jed: This is the first time I have written to you, I am going to tell you the story of the little soldiers.

Once upon a time there was a woman who had several children. One afternoon the mother said, "We are going to have a picnic." They each had a little lunch. At last they started. As they neared the woods they heard some one sobbing. Who was it? I will will tell you, it was an old woman. The boys ran to the old woman and asked her what was the matter. Then she told them that she had a cornfield over there and the wind blew down the fence and my cows will eat all my corn. Then the boys ran back to their mother and asked if they could stand guard for the old woman. The mother said they could if they wished to. The boys ran to the cornfield and took a stick, and if the cows came near the boys drove them back. During that time the old woman telephoned for the carpenter. He came and fixed the fence. Then the old woman called the boys in the house and gave them a great feast. She gave them nuts, apples, pie and cake. She called them the little soldiers because they guarded the cornfield so well.

How a Law is Made

Dear Uncle Jed: I have not written to you for a long time, so I thought that I would write and tell you how a law is made. First I will tell you how it is passed in the legislature. When many people want a law passed they go get one of their representatives in the legislature to take up their cause for them. A member of the house, will prepare a bill, for the cause. When the day arrives for introducing the bill, the member gives it to the clerk of the house to read. This is called the first reading. After it is read the speaker gives the bill to the proper committee. In a few days the committee in its private room will give attention to the bill. Friends of the bill will appear before the committee and speak in its favor, opponents of it will also be present to speak against it. After hearing both sides of the question, the committee makes its report to the house. If the committee thinks there is no reason for such a law, it reports unfavorably, and here the matter will probably end the bill is "killed in committee." But if the committee thinks well of it, it reports "favorably."

This means that in the opinion of the committee the bill ought to become a law. The title of the bill is again read in the house and if no objection is raised, it is allowed to pass upon its second reading.

In its regular order the bill is taken up for its third and last reading. It is then read in full by the clerk and a discussion of it begins. Speeches are made in favor of it and against it. If a member wishes to change a particular part of the bill, he offers an amendment to it. The amendment is voted upon, and if it receives a majority of the votes, the amendment becomes a part of the bill, if the amendment is voted down, the bill remains as it was before. After a full discussion and debate, the measure comes to a final vote. The speaker asks the house, "Shall the bill pass?" The house answers the question by taking a vote. If a majority vote "yes" the bill passes; if a majority vote no or if the noes equal the yeses, the bill is lost, it is "killed in the house."

When it passes in the house it is then taken by the messenger of the house to the senate. When it has passed both senate and house in the same form, and approved by the government it becomes a law.

A Kind Act

Dear Uncle Jed: I'm going to tell you about a kind act that I did the other day.

One day, as I was walking across the bridge, I met an old man who was very ragged and poor, he asked me if I would give him something to eat.

I told him he might come over to my house, my mother gave him something to eat, and also some clothes of my fathers, and I asked him to stay over night.

He thanked us very much for being kind to him and in the morning he ate breakfast with us. He said he would never forget us.

I think that when some of the Wide Awakes read this story that they will do a kind act also.

What Happened One Day

Dear Uncle Jed: This is the first time I have written to you. On day I was washing my dolls clothes. After I was through I put up a little line. Then I began hanging up the clothes. There were three bluebirds and the little one was caught in the fence and the three were making a lot of noise. I had a blue hair ribbon on and the mother bird flew to my head and pulled my ribbon thinking it was the little bird. I didn't know at first what it was. Then I ran in the house and told my mother. She came out and took the bird off the fence. Then they flew away.

A Playful Cat

Dear Uncle Jed: This is the first time I have written to you. I am going to tell you about my cat. She is very playful and is quite old. Now she is yellow and white. Every morning she goes up to my mother's room and when she sees that my mother's awake she will go up to her and start playing. There are many other thing I could tell but not this time.

Leffingwell School League

Dear Uncle Jed: This is the first time I have written to you. I want to tell you about our league. We have one every month. At the last I read the history of our town. There was also singing, spelling contests and refreshments. The problem of our league is to improve our school.

Andrew Jackson

Dear Uncle Jed: I thought I would write to you again, but about another story, which is about Andrew Jackson.

He was born at Waxham settlement, N. C., on March 15 in 1767. His father died before he was born, and he had to make his own way of living at a very early age.

After his mother's death when he was about sixteen, he worked in a saddle shop for a while, then taught school and studied law, and before he was twenty he began to practice.

When Tennessee became a state he was its first member of congress. He was elected to the senate and afterward was a judge of the supreme court and major general of the state militia.

He captured Pensacola and won his famous victory over the British at New Orleans. After Spain ceded Florida to the United States, he was a governor of the territory for a short time, was chosen United States senator from Tennessee in 1823, and in 1828 was elected president.

He held the office for two terms and was one of the most popular of all our presidents. He died at his farm near Nashville Tennessee on his 78th year.

Nathan Hale School

Dear Uncle Jed: I live in Moodus, Conn., and we have been having history at my school about Nathan Hale. My school in Moodus is named after him because he was a good man. My mother took me to see the school at East Haddam. He went to school there. It is all closed up now but it still has the stars and stripes. He died for the same as my daddy did. My daddy died in France for the flag in 1918.

Rocks Baby to Sleep

Dear Uncle Jed: This being my first letter I will tell you about a little baby I go and see every day. She is two weeks old and very cute. I rock the baby to sleep every day before I go to school. She has light hair and blue eyes. Her name is Doris. I think that is a nice name for a baby.

The First Maple Sugar

Dear Uncle Jed: In a little Indian village, near Canada, lived a little Indian boy named Samoset. He was as cunning as he was small. He was only ten years old, but he could hunt and fish almost as well as his father.

One day he took his bow and arrows, and went into the woods. He crossed a little stream, that was in the woods, and sat down to rest. He saw a little red squirrel sitting high up on a branch of a maple tree. He was just going to shoot it when the little squirrel said, "Don't shoot me, Samoset, and, I will tell you something nice. The sap of this tree is good to eat. Please taste of it." Samoset tasted of it and found it was quite good.

He went home to tell his mother about the adventure in the woods.

When he returned he had a big kettle. He filled the kettle with maple sap and hung it over a fire he had made. As he was watching the sap boil he fell asleep. When he awoke he found that the sap was hard and brown. He ran home with the kettle and let all his little Indian friends taste of it. That was the beginning of maple sugar. Since then the Indians made it every year.

My First Hunting Trip

Dear Uncle Jed: One day the man who lived over us asked me if I wanted to go hunting with him and I said, "Yes." So he went up and got his shotgun and twenty-two. He let me take his twenty-two. We went up into the woods and was walking along when the man saw a rabbit in the bushes. He asked me for the twenty-two. I gave it to him but asked him what he wanted it for. He said, "You wait and see!" He took aim and fired; then he went and got the rabbit and then we went home. That night he came down stairs for supper and we ate the rabbit and it tasted very good.

My Trip to Seymour

Dear Uncle Jed: I am going to tell you about my trip to Seymour. One day in summer about the middle of June my aunt came over from Seymour She stayed here a few days and sunday they were ready to go.

They asked me if I wanted to go and of course I said "yes." We started at three o'clock in the afternoon in the Studebaker. It was a tiresome journey for it is one hundred and ten miles to Seymour. We went through Middletown, New Haven and many other little towns. We arrived in Seymour at nine thirty in the evening. I then had something to eat and then I went to bed.

The next morning I got up and had some breakfast. After breakfast my cousin got me acquainted with some of her friends. In the afternoon we went to the reservoir in a Chevrolet.

We went through the old mill in a little boat. We then went where the water runs up hill. Of course I thought that I would see the water running up hill but we had to walk up hill instead. It was very dark there. We went around to some other places and then we went home again. I stayed in Seymour for two weeks and then I went home again.

Waiting for the Train

Dear Uncle Jed: This story which I am going to write about is a description of waiting for the train. What a hustle and hustle there was at Cedarville Depot that memorable morning in July! Outsiders could easily imagine that something unusual was going on, and why shouldn't they think so? Wasn't the whole town going to a picnic at Rainbow Lake, one of the most beautiful spots in the county? Each and every one seemed to be in a tremendous hurry to get somewhere. Everyone was gaily decked out in their Sunday clothes of various colors, and carried their lunch boxes of goodies. Small boys carried fishing poles and ball-bats, while the girls carried their jump-rope and swing-ropes. The men and women busied themselves by gathering up thier belongings and acting like children who hadn't been on a vacation for years. The young people were laughing and while enjoying themselves immensely, the train arrived and then what a rush there was! Everyone wanted to be the first to get aboard. But finally everyone was settled and the train bore them off to Rainbow Lake and to a picnic which resulted in the end of a perfact day. I hope all of the Wide Awakes enjoyed my story.

My First Fishing Trip

Dear Uncle Jed: When I was eight years old I went fishing with my brother. I had a fishing pole made of cedar. My brother's was made of bamboo. We went in the morning. My brother caught most of the fish. When I caught the first fish I was glad and excited. Then my brother caught an eel. I thought it was a snake. I have been fishing many times and caught nothing. I am going again this summer.

Freed the Slaves

Dear Uncle Jed: I am going to write you a story about Abraham Lincoln. Almost a hundred years ago a little boy came to live in a log cabin. His birthday was February 12, 1809. His name was Abraham Lincoln. As soon as he was old enough he went to school.

He was a good boy and always did his work well. All the boys and girls liked him. They loved to play with him.

He had to help his parents, and sometimes he had to stay at home while other boys played ball and marbles. When he was older, he began to think that it was wrong the way the negroes were sold to the white people as slaves.

Years passed and Lincoln became president of the United States. He freed the negroes and they were very happy.

Caught A Rabbit

Dear Uncle Jed: I am going to tell you about the story of Tom and his dog's tax. One day Tom was to school and Twisty was at home. He went out to get some chips for Tom's mother. When Tom came home he and Twisty went in the woods and Twisty saw a rabbit and he caught it and brought it home with him. Tom's uncle came and gave him the money to pay the dog's tax because Tom did not have any money.

I hope the Wide Awakes will like my story.

My Cat

Dear Uncle Jed: I am going to write a story of my sister's cat. It is a male cat. His name is Nigger. We call him Nigger because he is all black. But he has a little white under his throat. From the tip of his tail to the tip of his nose he is twenty inches long. He has yellow eyes. They look like owl's eyes in the night. He is a very good hunter. He will catch mice, squirrels and chipmunks. In the summer time he digs ground moles. When we pull his tail or ears he will not scratch or bite me. In the summer time Nigger will go down to the shore and catch fish. He will bring them to me before he eats the fish. When my sister had the dog, Snip, Nigger would get into the box. Snip would not get into his box when he was in it. When we have meat on the table and have a chair there and Niggers in it he will not touch a bit of it. His mother was gray and white and she had another one like herself and she had Nigger too. Nigger's mother's name was Beauty. I think he is a fine cat.

Sir Thomas

Dear Uncle Jed: I have a cat named Tommy. Sometimes we call him Sir Thomas. He is a very good cat and quite clever. He can open some of our doors. When he is out side and wants to come in the house he does the same, but does not succeed, as the door is harder to open. He makes us think somebody is knocking at the door. Many times my mother has heard him and gone to the door, and who should be there but my cat. Sir Thomas. We keep him in the barn at night, and in the morning when he comes in the house he comes to my bed if I am still asleep, then he will "meow" until I wake up.

What I Saw in the Pasture

Dear Uncle Jed: One day last week father and I went down to the pasture to water the cows. As there are many bushes in our pasture it was hard for us to get to the place where the water was.

We drove the cows down to where the water was, and then waited to take them back. Suddenly I looked up and I saw five animals. At first I thought they were our neighbor's cattle. I called to my father to make sure whose they were. On looking at them my dad said that they were five deer.

As this was the first time that I ever saw deer I was quite excited. I ran as lightly as I could, not to make any noise. But the deer had sharp ears, and they started to run at top speed.

They sprang over the wall and vanished completely out of my sight. They were so pretty with their coats of greyish brown. There must have been two old ones and two young ones. I was very sorry that I couldn't take a better look at them.

Every time I go to water the cows I watch that spot, always hoping that I will see another deer.

My Dream

Dear Uncle Jed: One night when I was sleeping I dreamt that while I was playing on the side walk some gypsies passed by and grabbed me.

They carried me to their tent and made me sit in the middle of the tent with a band of gypsies around me. I was dreadfully frightened when I looked around as they were all staring at me. One of the men threw an orange to me and another ugly looking gypsy threw me a banana. I was too frightened to eat the fruit so I put them in my pocket. It was growing dark so they put me to bed. It was a hard bed and I lay watching to see what the gypsies were doing. Looking up again I noticed the gypsies were asleep.

I crept to the door of the tent and sneaked out. There I saw my dog waiting for me. I ran home on the sly thinking that some one would jump from behind the bushes and grab me. When I reached home I found it was all a dream.

A Trip to Labrador

Dear Uncle Jed: I am going to tell you and the Wide Awakes about my make believe trip to Labrador. My uncle was going, so he agreed to take me with him. We bought a supply of warm clothes for we knew that we would need them up there. We started on a sunny Winters day, going on a boat which set sail quickly. I went down to the rooms that were meant for me. Night came only too quickly for there were so many interesting things. One morning, a few days later I got out of bed and wandered in on deck. Just as I was going up the stairs, I heard a strange scraping as if something was bumping against the ship.

Running up, I found it cold and windy. Looking forth, I saw a big iceberg looming up to view. Just then my uncle came running across the deck. When I asked him if we would continue our journey, he said, No. You may imagine how disappointed I felt! We stopped at a city the name of which I do not know in the morning the ship was on the way back to the United States. I was very glad to get home again.

The Cooking Club

Dear Uncle Jed: It is a long time since I have written to the Wide Awake Circle. I hope they do not think I became discouraged. I have been very busy learning how to cook, for you see I have been in the cooking club for over a year and a half. I learn to cook cake, cookies, soup, rolls, bread and many other things. I like it very much. Lots of fun in it. I'll admit that my cooking does not always come out perfectly, but I try not to get discouraged and keep on trying.

Mrs. Peckham is our cooking teacher. We go to her house about once every two weeks. There are about 12 or 13 in the club. There is one boy in it who is my brother, so you see I have fun trying to beat him. He is a little older than I am, but I do like to try and beat him.

I hope that every girl will like to cook as well if not better than I do. I also hope I will make a good cook some day.

My Pet Cat

Dear Uncle Jed: I am writing a story about my pet cat and hope the Wide Awakes will enjoy reading it.

He is a big gray cat. My sister takes him up, and when we eat our dinner he jumps on the chair with her and begs for something to eat.

We hold our arms out and he jumps through them, and we give him a saucer of milk for jumping.

He follows me to the post office every morning before I go to school.

Every night when I go to bed he follows me up stairs, and jumps on my bed, and when I send him down stairs he seems to hesitate as if he didn't want to go down.

Has Gray Cat

Dear Uncle Jed: I have a gray cat. I like her. When I sit in a chair she will follow me and will lie on my lap.

In the morning when I get up I have to go to school with Harry, my brother. I help my mother and father. Then I go out to play. Some times I see a bird. I have some money in the bank. I have thirty-six cents.

BURGESS BEDTIME STORIES

Johnny and Polly Chuck Rejoice

A judgment passed in haste or fright
You'll find is very seldom right.
—Johnny Chuck.

It was bad enough to want something and not be able to get it; it is worse to have that something and then lose it. This had happened to Johnny and Polly Chuck. A great stone had fallen and blocked the doorway to their new home under the old stonewall in the upper corner of the Old Orchard. All day they had wandered about looking for a place to build another home, but not another place could they find to suit them. They felt quite heartbroken, Polly Chuck particularly, for it was she who had made that fine home.

"Look where?" grumbled Johnny rather crossly

As the Black Shadows from the Purple Hills came creeping into the Old Orchard, Johnny and Polly sadly turned back to the new home which would be a home no longer. They would sleep in it one more night. You remember that the back door was still open.

"Look!" exclaimed Polly Chuck stopping so abruptly that Johnny, who was right at her heels, almost bumped into her.

"Look where?" grumbled Johnny rather crossly.

"Over by our new house," whispered Polly, who was sitting up behind an apple tree and peeping around it. "It is Farmer Brown's boy, and he is doing something there. Johnny Chuck, I do believe that he is the one who put that stone over the doorway! Probably he thinks he has trapped us down in there and we can't get out." Angerand suspicious mingled in Polly's voice.

"No such thing!" snapped Johnny Chuck.

"Then what is he doing over there at our doorway?" demanded Polly.

Johnny was forced to shake his head. "I don't know," he confessed. "But you may be sure it is nothing bad. Perhaps," he added as an afterthought, "he is taking that stone out."

"Huh!" Polly tossed her head and her tone was scornful. It was clear that she thought Johnny Chuck simply silly. "It must be nice to have so much faith in others," said she. "I suppose that Polly Fox should come along and tell you that he was your best friend you would believe him."

"No," replied Johnny, keeping his temper. "No, I wouldn't believe Reddy Fox. But I know Farmer Brown's boy. I know that he wouldn't knowingly do anything to harm us or make trouble for us. There, now, Polly Chuck, what did I tell you?"

Polly couldn't find a word to say. You see Farmer Brown's boy had just lifted the great stone out of the doorway of their home and put it back on the old stonewall in the place from which it had fallen, and now he was taking care to see that it was so placed that it couldn't fall again. He had remembered knocking that stone down when he had climbed over the wall in the dark the night before and at the first opportunity had come to replace it. It wasn't until then that he had found out that that stone had filled the Chuck doorway. "I would have stopped last night if I had known this," he muttered. "I do hope it hasn't driven those Chucks away."

Johnny and Polly could hardly wait for him to leave. He wasn't half way through the Old Orchard before Johnny and Polly Chuck were scampering for home as fast as their legs could take them. And such rejoicing as there was when they found their doorway open! They ran in and out a dozen times, almost squealing with delight.

"What did I tell you about Farmer Brown's boy?" cried Johnny Chuck at last.

Polly pretended not to hear. "This is going to be the best, the very best home ever," said she.

NEW LONDON BURGLAR OVERLOOKS DIAMOND RING IN HIS LOOTING

(Special to the Bulletin)

New London, March 23.—Anthony Genzone, 18 Bayonet street, complained to the police early Saturday evening that his home had been entered by a thief during the absence of his family and that an old wedding ring, a scarfpin containing eight pearls and a three-stone ring had been stolen. Genzone stated that as he entered the house by the front entrance, the thief ran through the house and left by the rear door. Sergeant Nelson Smith investigated the break this forenoon and reported that entrance to the house had been gained by means of a window that had been left unlocked and that the plunder obtained was taken from a bureau drawer, which had been pried open. A peculiar thing in connection with the break was that a diamond ring of real value and which was also in the bureau drawer was not included in the plunder taken.

Norman H. King, 25 Denison avenue, went to Plant hall, State street, last evening where he enjoyed the dancing, but when he started to leave the place he discovered that his overcoat had been stolen, the garment having been removed from a hanger in the coat room. King reported his loss to the police.

An automobile owned and operated by Ralph W. Hazler, Vauxhall street extension, in passing through Vauxhall street this forenoon hit a dog, the owner of which is not known. The animal, which was injured was removed to a veterinary establishment by Hazler.

A report is expected to be presented at the meeting of the city council, Monday evening, on the property lines on the west side of Bank street, between State street and Tilley, that an idea may be had on the proposition to widen the highway, by taking two feet or more from the walks and throwing that space into the roadway for vehicles. Already the owners of two pieces of property have come out to what they declare to be the property line under the Meyers survey. Following those lines, Meyer Hollandersky has erected two buildings two feet or more to the eastward on the street than any other property occupies. As a result, the Fournier building and the Smiddy property, the latter occupied by the O'Neil hardware store, are two feet or more behind the Hollandersky properties. The effect destroys the architectural symmetry desirable on the street. But what can the city do about it? Mr. Hollandersky claims ownership in the land and he has built upon what he declares belongs to him. Probably he is right in his claim for the city has allowed him to go ahead and build. His stores are ornamental and a credit architecturally to the street. Now the city is to determine just what is owned by the property holders on the west side of the street and it is said the city will find that the property owners are entitled to build on all they own, if they so decide. No one but Mr. Hollandersky has, to date, made use of all that he owns. The city cannot take from the property in front of the Hollandersky buildings without narrowing the walks so that they would be practically useless as a passage for pedestrians. Will the city admit that private owners have title to the properties and proceed to buy or condemn the land in question? It is claimed that Fred H. Gavitt has offered to sell to the city a section of land in front of his property and on the sidewalk. The city has to date declined to negotiate for the land in question, so Mr. Gavitt is declared to have in contemplation the occupancy of the land by extending his building to the eastward and occupying that section of the walk which he claims. He has maintained a storm entrance to the Bacon house, the hotel in his building, that projects some six feet or more upon the sidewalk. This is directly in front of the City National Bank entrance. If Mr. Gavitt was not in possession of title to the property occupied by the storm entrance it is not at all likely that he would be allowed to maintain the storm entrance. The sidewalk just south of the Gavitt entrance is about 12 feet wide. This is in front of the City bank. There a stretch of walk perhaps 75 feet long and of a width of five or six feet could be taken without detriment to the property. But who owns that strip? Is it the city or the bank? If the bank owns it, the city might well afford to buy it as it could the walk in front of the Gavitt property. It does not seem that the city can acquire title to the sidewalk anywhere along that street except by purchase or condemnation, and it is believed that such a report will be made to the council. It is understood that a survey was to be made of the street, and at the last meeting of the council time was asked until Monday that the work might be completed.

For the first time in years, Miss Lina Beckwith has no claim against the city for taking land that belonged to her and creating damage to her property by changes made in her premises by reason of street extension and alteration. She recently secured a settlement with the city by which she was paid some $400 and repairs were made to which she claimed she was entitled. Previous councils had ignored Miss Beckwith's claims, but she persisted and finally secured a settlement that was satisfactory to her and she released any claim that she had.

Railroad employes declare that they never knew a time when so little lumber was being hauled over the road. The building material in transit of late has been of steel and iron, and there has been quantities of that sort of freight passing over the line of the New Haven road. Cement has been hauled in great quantities also. Much of the wood that is in transit is in the finished state, such as doors and window frames.

There was a large increase in the number of automobiles in use today, for the weather was such as induced owners to bring out their machines.

Stephen Raymond Fraser was taken into custody this afternoon by Patrolman Braxton Hill, charged with breach of the peace, upon complaint of his wife; also for intoxication and resisting an officer. He will be in the police court tomorrow morning.

Fraser, who was presented in the court several weeks ago on complaint of his wife on a breach of the peace charge, at that time was ordered by Judge Victor Prince to remain away from his wife, from whom he had become estranged. This afternoon about 2.30 o'clock Fraser went to the home of his wife, on Pearl street, where he created such a disturbance that Mrs. Fraser requested that the police take charge of her husband. Patrolman Hill was sent to the Fraser house, but when the officer approached the place Fraser started to make his escape. He was much the worse for drink and only reached the corner of Pearl and Green streets, when he was overtaken by the officer and placed under arrest. Fraser then started to resist being taken to the police station, with the result that he was thrown to the walk and there held until Sergeants Nelson Smith and John Cavanaugh arrived in the police car. Fraser was then locked up.

City Manager William A. Holt conducted a hearing Monday morning of the charges of being intoxicated while on duty, made by Acting Lieutenant James D. Gaffney against Patrolman Patrick Sheehan, the hearing taking place in the office of the city manager in the municipal building. Besides Sheehan there were present Acting Lieutenant Gaffney, Desk Sergeant Frank Howard, who received the telephone information that the officer was in a helpless state of intoxication on Williams street, and Patrolman William Babcock, who operated the police car that conveyed Acting Lieutenant Gaffney to Williams street and to the firehouse of the Thomas Hose company, where the patrolman was found in the condition alleged. City Manager Holt did not render a decision, but will do so, it is understood, within the next 48 hours.

William Dooley, who has been a lodger at the police station nightly for about 125 nights, was made a prisoner by Desk Sergeant Frank Howard when he applied for lodging Saturday night. Dooley appeared at the police station in an intoxicated condition and a charge of drunkenness and vagrancy was entered against him. Another lodger, Edward Goddard, a stranger hereabouts, also went to the police station drunk and he was locked up on a charge of intoxication and vagrancy. Both will be in the police court Monday morning.

An automobile, the identity of the owner not established, in turning from State into Huntington street late last night, collided with the big blinker traffic signal at that point, the collision forcing the signal out of position.

Charles F. Barnes, of Mystic, will be in the police court Tuesday forenoon, charged with violation of the automobile law in evading responsibility. Barnes was notified to present himself in court Saturday afternoon, upon orders of Assistant Prosecuting Attorney Perry J. Hollandersky. Barnes' summons is the result of Mrs. H. L. Bonney, 235 Coleman street, lodging complaint a week ago Friday that an automobile bearing Connecticut registration 55-432, backed against Mrs. Bonney's two-year-old daughter and Mrs. Bonney's mother, Mrs. Galvin, of Bridgeport, as the two women and child were crossing State street, near the corner of Green street, on the 17th inst. The child and Mrs. Galvin were knocked down and bruised; is alleged that the driver of the machine failed to stop his car and determine the extent of injuries the two victims sustained.

Aaron Barbalate, formerly operator in charge of the Independent Wireless Corporation here, now employed in New York, has returned to that city, after having visited several days with Mrs. Barbalate, on Henry street.

Two marines, Rhoades and Rowell, prisoners at the submarine base, made their escape from the brig on Saturday afternoon and Capt. Curtiss of the marine corps requested civic officials of New London and the surrounding towns to be on the lookout for the fugitives who were attired in dungeries. Early last evening the fugitives were observed by a Mystic police officer passing through that village and they were apprehended, being returned to the submarine base.

Edward C. Hess, residing at the Hotel Winthrop, was removed to the Home Memorial hospital Saturday afternoon where he will undergo a treatment for rheumatism.

Commissioner of Motor Vehicles Stoeckel has caused the operator's license of Boleslaw Orlonski, recently suspended for alleged violation of the automobile law, to be returned to the owner.

The funeral of Mrs. Zoe Parent King, wife of Jacob King, Uncasville, was held Saturday morning at 9 o'clock at St. John's church, Montville, and was attended by many mourners. The mass of requiem was sung by Rev. James A. O'Meara. The bearers were David Crotty, Harry Archer, Paul Cavanaugh, Myles Leary, George Sharron and Francis Archer. Burial was in St. Patrick's cemetery, Montville.

Steve Padbiewski, 30 Ashcraft rd, reported to the police late Saturday afternoon that his bicycle had been stolen from the sidewalk on Bank street, near Howard street. A short time later Patrolman William Riordan recovered the wheel when he observed a small boy with it.

An automobile owned and operated by William Bailey, 5 Konomos street, and a machine owned and driven by Carl Gomes, 1 Moore avenue, were in collision Saturday night on State street, corner of Union street. Both machines were damaged, but the occupants escaped injury.

The body of Mrs. Annie Frances Dart, formerly of this city, whose death occurred recently in Waltham, Mass., was brought to New London Saturday afternoon for burial in the family plot in Cedar Grove cemetery. Committal services were conducted by Rev. Philip M. Kerridge, rector of St. James' church.

Mrs. Frank Morris and infant daughter of Summit avenue; Miss Harriet Forsythe Crocker street; Ernest Rowley of Gales Ferry were patients dismissed at Home Memorial hospital Saturday.

Patients discharged at Lawrence-Memorial Associated hospital, Saturday, were Lawrence Bunner, of Church street; Mrs. Albertus Maxson, Westerly; Kenneth Way, Saybrook; Michael McGarry, Tilley street; Miss Catherine Rathkant, of Montauk avenue, and Mrs. Susan Hallock, Gales Ferry.

Adler E. Saindon, 395 Bank street, will be in the police court tomorrow morning charged with violation of the automobile law for Saindon was detected this afternoon by State Police Officers Kenerson and Grant, of Groton barracks, operating a machine without having a license to do so.

Jolly Six Weekly Meeting.

The girls Jolly Six club held their weekly meeting Friday evening at the home of Miss Grace Waltz of Main street. Miss Alice MacNally rendered several pleasing piano solos and dancing to radio music was enjoyed by all. Mah jongg was the special attraction of the evening. Refreshments were served by the hostess.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

WEEKLY MARKET REPORT

New York, March 22—Drastic reactions in the securities and grain markets this week were generally construed as a correction of the speculative excesses that had taken place in the first two months of the year. The sharp rebound which followed the mid-week collapse indicated, however, that the decline had been over-done, temporarily at least, and that the so-called technical position of the markets had been improved by the elimination of many weak accounts. Weakness again cropped out toward the close of today's session.

Stock prices sagged to new levels for the year with selling accelerated by the St. Paul receivership, the break in wheat and the easing of other commodity prices. A marked improvement in sentiment was noted, however, on publication of statements of Secretaries Mellon and Hoover that business conditions were sound, the announcement that freight car loadings were being maintained at record levels and a reduction in oil money rates.

Foreign exchanges held relatively firm, demand sterling ruling between $4.77 1-2 and 4.78 1-2 and French francs between 5.14 and 5.19 cents. The recent strength of Japanese yen which crossed 41 cents to a new high level for the year was explained by the transmission to the Orient of the proceeds of recent dollar loans floated here. The support accorded by the Norwegian government to its own currency also sent the rate on that country to a new high around 15.50 cents.

LEGAL NOTICES

ISAAC FISHKEN VS WILLIAM T. Mahoney, et al, order of notice.

State of Connecticut, County of New London, March 17, 1925.

Upon the complaint of the said Isaac Fishken claiming for the reasons therein set forth judgment determining adverse claims and settling title to certain premises now pending returnable on the first Tuesday of April, 1925, before the superior court in and for said county.

It appearing to and being found by the subscribing authorities that certain of said defendants are absent from this state and are residing: John Mahoney at 31 Pine St., South Boston, Mass., Thomas Swanton at 33 Winthrop St., Malden, Mass. Ellen Mahoney and Jeremiah Mahoney at Hathravane, Ballydehole, County of Cork, Ireland; and Ellen Coggins at Glogn in the Parish of Skull, County of Cork, Ireland, and that the plaintiff does not know who the defendants, the heirs of Ellen Swanton, are nor where any of them reside.

It is therefore ordered that notice be given the several defendants hereinbefore specifically named by depositing a true and attested copy of said complaint, citation and of this order of notice in the postoffice at Norwich in said county, postage paid by registered letter directed to each of them at their respective places of residence as above stated on or before the 20th day of March, 1925; and that notice of the pendency of said complaint be given said defendants, the heirs of Ellen Swanton, by publishing this order in the Norwich Bulletin, a newspaper printed in Norwich in said county once a week for two weeks successively commencing on or before the 20th day of March, 1925, by some proper officer or person indifferent.

JOHN H. WALKER,
Asst. Clerk of the Superior Court for New London County.

TAX NOTICE

To the tax payers of the town of Sprague. All persons liable to pay taxes in the Town of Sprague, state of Connecticut are hereby notified that I have warrant to levy and collect a tax of ten (10) mills on the list as made by the Board of Assessors and perfected by the Board of Relief, of said town, for the year 1924. Due and payable on April 1, 1925. All persons neglecting this notice will be proceeded against as directed by the laws of this state.

For the purpose of collecting this tax I shall be at the Town Clerk's office, Baltic, in said Sprague on all Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays during the month of April, from 10 a. m. to 12 m., from 2 p. m. to 5 p. m. and from 6 p. m. to 7 p. m. and at the Parish House, Hanover, Wednesday, April 15th from 3 p. m. to 6 p. m. After May 1st, 1925 interest at the rate of (9) per cent. will be added from the time these taxes became due. All taxes must be paid direct to the tax collector and all bills receipted by him. If by mail enclose postage if you wish a receipt.

Dated at Sprague, this 11th day of March 1925.

JAMES McGUIRE, Collector

POETRY

The Birds' Ball

Spring once said to the nightingale,
"I mean to give you birds a ball."
"Pray, ma'am, ask the birdies all,
The birds and birdies great and small."

Soon they came from bush and tree,
Singing sweet their songs of glee;
Each one fresh from its cosy nest,
Each one dressed in its Sunday best.

Cuckoo and wren, they danced for life,
The raven waltzed with the yellow bird's wife.
The awkward owl and the bashful jay
Wished each other a very good day.

The woodpecker came from his hole in the tree,
And brought his bill to the company;
For cherries ripe and berries red
'Twas a very long bill, so the birdies said.

They danced all day till the sun was low,
Till the mother birds prepared to go;
Then one and all, both great and small,
Flew to their nests from the birdies' ball.

The Tired Woman

Up against my body
Pain has pressed its edges;
Between my thoughts are driven
Words cruel as wedges;

Ecstasy has fashioned
Sword-points inhuman
To torture and trouble
The heart of a woman.

And these wounds shall some day
Make splendid scars to wear,
But now life is pressing
Too sharp for me to bear;

Now the truth naked
Is pain to my seeing;
I am a tired,
Sick, and broken being.

Keep me from keen words;
Let harsh fact be bent
Into pliant fantasy
And tender compliment.

Let my foot be shodden
In a silken sandal;
Give my bruised fingers
Smooth things to handle.

Let not Beauty
Loom stark upon me,
Make vague the poignancies
That have undone me.

Dearest and comforter,
Till I find healing
Soften me the edges
Of thinking and feeling.

In Sussex there are more women proportionately than in any other county in England, the women numbering 1,374 to every 1,000 men. This is 108 more than the average for the rest of England, and about 183 more than in 1913 before the men went to war and the women to work in the fields.

An ideal stream for the lazy or impatient fisherman, who craves nourishment rather than the thrill of the catch, has been discovered by interior department engineers in the inaccessible, turbid San Juan river, one of the main tributaries of the Colorado in Utah. The swiftly flowing San Juan, called Pawhuska (mad water) by the Navajo Indians who live nearby, never gets clear and sometimes it carries three times as much silt as water. At times the river runs with a smooth, oily movement like that of molten metal, so red and viscous is it with silt. At such times the fish become exhausted and flounder on the surface, their dorsal fins projecting into the air. Then the fisherman needs only to arm himself with a club and wade cautiously into the mud to catch a fish with bare hands after he has stunned it with a blow.

Mrs. Harold Heap has returned to her home in North Adams after passing a week with Mr. and Mrs. Lee Heap of South Second avenue.

Miss Emma Laharre has resigned her position with the weaving department of the Ponemah company.

Miss May Anne Gouin is enjoying her annual vacation.

The regular Sunday evening meeting of the Young People's Society of Christian Endeavor was held in the vestry of the Taftville Congregational church.

Peter Durant who has been spending several days at the Ponemah house has left town.

Mrs. Lee Heap, Miss Elsie Heap and Edwin Heap have returned to their home on South Second avenue after a motor trip to North Adams, Mass.

Scoutmaster Harold Linderson of Troop No. 3, Taftville Congregational church, had a special troop meeting Friday night in th escout rooms.

Scout Executive F. A. Benton conducted a tenderfoot investiture awarding five tenderfoot badges. After the investiture, the scout troop presented a very interesting programme led by Senior Patrol Leader Edward Preston. A graphic dramatization of emergency first aid was presented; then signaling and practical knot tying and other scouting work.

A victrola, scout songs and yells enlivened the evening.

After the programme the troop chefs with Victor Davis served a generous quantity of "eats" consisting of "hot dogs" and rolls, cocoa and cake.

Scout Master Linderson announced the patrol leaders course, a scout movie soon to be held in Taftville and the promotion of Robert Schmidt from patrol leader to assistant scout master.

This troop now has a full quota of officials, Victor Davis, Jack Houston, Lawrence Heibel and Robert Schmidt all commissioned assistant scout masters. During the scout masters' minute brief speeches were given by Rev. William G. Crowdis, Allan Bogle, Scout Executive Benton and the scout master, and the meeting adjourned after repeating the Scout Oath and taps by Bugler Houston.

STORRS COLLEGE MAN TO ADDRESS POULTRYMEN

As part of the poultry program of the New London County Farm Bureau there will be two meetings in the county this week. These are to be held in Jordan at the Fireman's Hall on Tuesday evening March 24 at 8 o'clock and at the Farm Bureau Office, 19 Shannon Building, Norwich on Wednesday, evening, March 25 at 8 o'clock.

Professor Roy E. Jones of the Extension Department of the Connecticut Agricultural College will be present and give an illustrated talk on "Brooding and Rearing Problems." Such problems confront the poultryman at this season of the year and should be of interest to those now growing chicks.

These meetings are open to all who wish to attend.

RECKLESS MOTORISTS BLAMED FOR 14,559 OUT OF 20,780 ACCIDENTS

Recklessness of motorists is held to have been responsible for 14,559 of 20,780 accidents reported to the state motor vehicle department during the past year, final analysis of which has been completed by department investigators. Carelessness of child pedestrians caused 1,109 accidents, according to the record made public in the March bulletin of the department; carelessness of adult pedestrians, 1,260; contributing carelessness of motormen, bicyclists, teamsters, gatemen and animals, 1,996; defective equipment, 1,113; and carelessness of occupants, 218, the remainder being due to miscellaneous causes such has weather conditions, road obstructions, ignition of gas and defective highways.

Inattention constituted the recklessness charged against 4,226 of the drivers, failure to grant right of way, 3,566; skidding, 1,786; driving on the wrong side of the road, 1,169; careless backing, 552; inexperience, 626; failure to signal, 615; following too closely, 466; excessive speed for conditions, 405; intoxication, 289; cutting in, 262; runaway car, 131; confusion, 122; cutting corners, 117; passing on the wrong side of vehicles, 57; passing on curves, 26; passing standing trolley cars, 14; passing on hills, 13; improper parking, 12; and attempts to beat railroad trains 2.

Most of the carelessness on the part of children was in crossing the streets, children being injured in 545 such cases. Stepping from behind one vehicle into the path of another resulted in the death of 17 children and injury to 318 others; ten were killed and 136 injured playing in the street, three were killed and 51 hurt coasting, two were killed and 18 injured because they became confused and nine were hurt in boarding or leaving trolley cars.

Except for the fact that 88 adult pedestrians owed their injuries and four their deaths to intoxication, the carelessness of grown-up pedestrians manifested itself in the same kind of circumstances as that of the children listed. Twenty-eight were killed and 748 injured crossing the street and four were killed and 272 hurt when they stepped from behind one vehicle into the path of another.

The motor vehicle record of every city and town in the state for the past year is included in the department bulletin. The number of motor vehicles registered from each place, the number of accidents charged up to inhabitants of each, and the number of convictions, suspensions, and complaints for motor vehicle law violations are given in a large table. Hartford, which had the most accidents, 2,686, as against 19,917 cars registered, reported 970 convictions and the department suspended 803 Hartford operators, whereas New Haven, the largest city of the state, having 20,526 cars registered, reported 2,647 accidents and 1,390 convictions and the suspension of 1,146 New Haven operators is shown, while Bridgeport, the second largest city, which had 16,406 cars registered, reported 1,901 accidents and 1,183 convictions, and 683 of its operators were suspended.

BURNS PROVE FATAL TO WICENTY OSGA

(Special to The Bulletin)

Jewett City, March 22.—Wicenty Osga, 30, died Saturday afternoon at Backus hospital, Norwich, living a week after being terribly burned in the automobile accident which caused the instant death of John Gartska. The accident happened late Sunday night on the Pachaug road.

Both men were highly respected in the community. Mr. Osga's father was one of the first Polish families to settle in this town and owns a farm near Pachaug. Wicenty Osga was the son of Marciej and Mary Sibitchye Osga. He was born in Norwich, June 15, 1894. He was married in Voluntown to Catherine Jseliau, who survives him with ten children. He was an agent for the Metropolitan Life Insurance company at the time of the accident. Many remember him as a clerk in Grenier's clothing store, until Mr. Grenier's death. He was a member of the Holy Name Society, the St. Casmir Society, Very Reverend Michael McCabe Council, K. of C., the Polish National Alliance society, the newly organized Polish club which gives instruction regarding naturalization, the Polish corporation, of which he had been an officer, and A. A. Young Jr. Hose Ladder Co. No. 1.

Besides his wife he is survived by ten children, Benjamin, Annie, Helen, Josephine, Sophie, Bridget, Irene, Mary Victoria and Margaret. Boy twins died in infancy. He also leaves his parents and five brothers, Peter, John, Leo, Charles and Anthony of Jewett City and two sisters, Mrs. Susie Dumas and Miss Catherine Osga of Yantic.

At the funeral on Tuesday, the Metropolitan Insurance agents will attend in a body.

PARISH MAKES READY TO WELCOME MGR. MAY

The acting pastor of St. Patrick's church, Rev. Myles P. Galvin, announced Sunday the outline of the plan for the home-coming welcome of the rector, Mgr. Michael Henry May, early in April. Since there are but five other Monsignori in Connecticut and all in the western part of the state, Catholics in the eastern portion intend to show their appreciation of the honor which has come to them from His Holiness, Pius XI, through Mgr. May's elevation.

Men of the parish met Friday evening and will hold a second meeting next Friday, planning that a deputation go to New York to meet Mgr. May on the arrival of S. S. Conte Rosso from Naples. A larger delegation will meet the train at New London. On the arrival of the automobile line, probably at Washington square, the entire body of parish men and their friends will await Mgr. May's coming, escorting the Monsignor to the rectory, on Broadway. Then all will assemble in the church where, under direction of Prof. Frank L. Farrell the choir will sing the Church's jubilee hymn, "Te Deum," an dthere will be Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament.

In the church assembly hall later, there will be a gathering of all the people, and as Mgr. May reached the fortieth anniversary of his ordination as a priest last fall, yet did not make known the date till weeks after, he will be presented a double testimonial of the congratulations and affection of his parish, in the shape of a purse. At this time there will be a musical programme directed by Prof. Farrell, and later an opportunity for all to personally greet Mgr. May. It is hoped that the new domestic prelate of the Vatican may don his purple robes, to be worn at the church ceremonial and reception following. The entire parish is keyed to make the welcome an event to date from, in the history of Catholicity in Eastern Connecticut.

MISS M'GARRY WINS HONORS AT NEW ROCHELLE COLLEGE

A Norwich student, Miss Margaret F. McGarry, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William P. McGarry, of Washington street, who will be graduated from the College of New Rochelle in June, has been honored not only by being elected to read the class history at commencement, but is editor-in-chief of the class boog, a magnificent publication, which each year costs several thousand dollars.

Miss McGarry also has the distinction of having had one of her poems, "Pansies," appear in College Anthology. While at Norwich Free Academy, Class of 1921, and at Connecticut college for a year, she won high honors in English especially.

STATE-WIDE ZONING BILL IS TO BE PRESENTED

Efforts to secure the passage of a state-wide zoning bill at the present session of the General Assembly were made by representatives of several municipalities which now have local zoning bills before the Legislature at a Conference held at Hartford last week and called by the Connecticut Chamber of Commerce.

The conference was attended by John J. O'Rourke, Secretary, Norwich Chamber of Commerce; Roscoe N. Clark, City Engineer of Hartford and Secretary of its Zoning Commission; W. L. Mead, Secretary, Hartford Chamber of Commerce; Charles P. Rumpf, Superintendent of Highways and Bridges, and Secretary of Town Plan Commission, Darien; L. S. Tyler, Chairman Zoning Committee, New Haven; Robert A. Crosby, Secretary, Bridgeport Chamber of Commerce; E. G. Kingsbury, Secretary, Stamford Chamber of Commerce; E. Irvine Rudd, Chairman Zoning Commission, Stamford; M. W. Cowles, Secretary, Fairfield Zoning Commission and Fairfield County Planning Association; Harry L. Nado, Secretary, Greenwich Chamber of Commerce; Henry S. Mead, a member of the House of Representatives from Greenwich; Edward M. Bassett of New York, a national authority on zoning, zoning counsel for the State of New York, advisory counsel for the zoning plan of New York City and advisory counsel for the United States Department of Commerce Herbert S. Swan, Consultation Zoning and City Planning, New York City; George B. Chandler, Executive Secretary of the Connecticut Chamber of Commerce; and Clark Belden, Manager of the Legislative Bureau of the Chamber.

After considerable discussion, the conference voted to have a model state-wide zoning bill drafted; to confer again in Hartford Wednesday morning, March 25; to endorse this act as a unit, if possible, and to present it the same afternoon to the Cities and Boroughs Committee of the General Assembly as a substitute for the various local zoning bills now before the committee.

Mr. Bassett said that the group of local zoning acts passed for about a dozen municipalities by the 1923 session of the General Assembly were not more than 60 per cent efficient. He also said that many of the local zoning bills introduced into the present session of the Legislature were not in reality zoning bills at all, because they were so defective in many important respects.

Mr. Bassett outlined how several of the Connecticut municipalities which secured zoning measures in 1923 had met with adverse court decisions in the carrying out of these zoning acts and that these decisions had brought zoning progress to a sharp standstill.

The speaker called attention to one outstanding defect of the local zoning measures secured in 1923 which was the danger of leaving to a town meeting or a zoning commission the working out of the zoning law. He said that selfish politics too often came to the front in town meetings and that persons discriminated against were apt to secure court decisions, declaring a given local zoning act unconstitutional.

Mr. Bassett questioned the constitutionality of allowing a town meeting or a zoning commission to adopt legislative powers.

Despite the passage of a dozen local zoning bills in 923, it was declared that many communities in Connecticut today are without the power to undertake zoning programs. He outlined how Illinois—after a disastrous experience with local zoning bills—enacted a state-wide zoning measure applying to the largest cities and the smallest towns.

Mr. Bassett advocated to the conference the enactment of a state-wide zoning measure by the present session of the General Assembly, or, if this were found to be impossible, a reframing of the local zoning bills now before the legislature to conform to the Hartford zoning act which he termed "sound and workable." He added that the local zoning acts now before the Legislature were all different, but that it was utterly impossible to have twelve good, different zoning measures.

Secretary O'Rourke of the Norwich Chamber of Commerce said that his investigations had disclosed that not one Connecticut city had yet functioned successfully in regard to zoning.

Mr. Clark, city engineer of Hartford, said that Hartford would not oppose the passage of a state act, but that it wants some good act and that if there could not be a satisfactory state act, it wants one of its own.

Mr. Tyler, Chairman of the zoning committee of New Haven, outlined the various setbacks that ah doccurred in that city because of certain defects and missteps in the working out of its local zoning acts. Mr. Tyler said: "Zoning should properly deal with the future developments of a municipality. It is a great mistake to try to remake your community as it now stands."

MRS. ANDREWS' PUPILS DANCE FOR BENEFIT OF THE D. A. R.

Saturday afternoon, at Slater hall, the pupils of Mrs. Edward Andrews gave a recital—twenty-three numbers—of artistic, toe, character and national dances, under the auspices of Faith Trumbull chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution. The hall was well filled by parents and friends of the pupils and members of the D. A. R., and others. The recital proved most successful, winning many compliments for Mrs. Andrews and the class members.

The stage was very attractive, Ernst having arranged decorative evergreens and sword palms at the mase of the arch, with trailing vines as a background. Each solo dancer and a number of the group dancers received flowers. The programme follows:

Chaplet of Flowers (Dussek), Doris Brown, Lois Durie, Elsie Backus, Betty Sargeant, Marjorie and Betty Carey and Mildred Chapman; Soaring (Delibes), Myrtle Fuller; Are There Fairies? (Lacombie), The Child, Florence Smith. The Fairies, Natalie Bailey, Margarite Chapman, Mildred Potter and Evelyn Burbeck. April Showers (Kopylov) Betty McKeag. La Petite Russe (Tschaikowsky) Ilva Ranger. Borrowed Plumes (Gounod) Dorothy and Mary Stewart. Angentine Tango, Fred and Polly Benton from the Academy class. Exercises for Technique, Beginners' Class, (a) Wavelets; (b) Lullaby; (c) Trailing Arbutus. Gypsy Vagabond (Dennee) Ruth Brown. Song of the Robin (Warren) Janet Pullen, Clementine James, Virginia Brown, Ilva Hanger, Annie Marie Kenney, Charlotte Cranney, Beatrice and Harriet Hazzard, Florence Smith Evelyn Burbeck, Natalie Bailey, Margarite Chapman, Betty McKeag, Mildred Potter, and Rita Bamber. Cio-Cio San (Ganne) Mary King, Malenka (Ganne) Gertrude and Lois Latimer. Polyhymnia (Moszkowski) Nancy Pitcher. Flames (Ravina) Elizabeth and Arabel Lyman. Spanish Fandago (Moszkowski) Marion Mitchell. Minuet Waltz, Evelyn Burbeck and Florence Smith. Flute Notes (Grieg) Agnes Greenman. Gavotte Directoire, Dorothy and Mary Stewart. Cymbal Dance (Dvorak) Mary Gerarude Chapman. Zigenka Are Toe Dance (Saraaste) Bella Allard, Hungarian Rhapsody (Franz Liszt) Janet Carpenter and Dolly Edmond. Sea Dreams (Leschetizky) Emily Bidwell, Viola Allen, Elizabeth Hodge and Louise Evans. A Daughter of Sardar (Ippolitow-Iranow) Lois Latimer

Miss Virginia Chase, who was to have appeared in the pretty number, "Flames," had been ill, so was unable to be present. The accuracy of costume, the self-possession and grace of the dancers, the intelligent interpretation of the dances of other nations, the simplicity and charm with which the very little people in the groups carried out the various parts assigned to them, formed the best testimonal to the thoroughness and painstaking care of Mrs. Andrews' method and instruction. Really remarkable were the dances of Myrtle Fuller, Betty McKeag, Ilva Ranger, Dorothy and Mary Stewart—sisters dainty and graceful in their two exacting numbers—the exceedingly effective "Argentine Tango" by Fred and Polly Benton, the dashing gypsy dance by Ruth Brown, Mary King's quaint and appealing Chinese dance, Gertrude Platt and Lois Latimer, Nancy Pitcher, in a delightful number, Marion Mitchell's charming and effectively costumed "Spanish Fandago," Evelyn Burbeck and Florence Smith in their stately minute, the classic "Flute Notes" so wonderfully well done by Agnes Greenman, Mary Gertrude Chapman in the colorful Cymbal Dance, while the toe dancing of Belle Allard, a tiny miss evidently starting on a professional career, was amazingly clever. Janet Carpenter and Dolly Edmond had a beautiful Hungarian folk dance, "Sea Dreams," by Emily Bidwell, Viola Allen, Elizabeth Hodge and Louise Evans was marked by loveliness and grace, and the climax of the programme was the dash and verve of Lois Latimer, as "The Daughter of Sardar." At the piano, and adding greatly to the success of the afternoon, were Miss Maybelle Taft, Miss Gertrude Platt and Miss Dorothea Tucker. The ushers were Dorothy Whitney, Constance Raymond, Harriet Geer, Elizabeth Johnson, Helen Tirrell and Esther Evans. For the D. A. R. chapter, Miss Barbara Allen sold tickets at the door.

STATE POLICE FINED BY NIANTIC JUSTICE

(Special to The Bulletin.)

Niantic, March 22—State Policeman Henry J. Albright was arraigned before Justice of the Peace Russell J. Beebe at Niantic Saturday night charged with assault upon Michael Yuhas. He entered a demurrer which was overruled and a fine of $1 and costs was imposed. The arraignment of Albright resulted from an alleged fight that he engaged in with Yuhas two weeks ago at Niantic following a brother of Yuhas being involved in a fight outside the town court room in Niantic. When the complainant attempted to intercede in behalf of his brother who was one of the participants in the fight Albright is alleged to have struck the complainant and as a result of Albright's actions his arraignment Saturday night resulted.

It is understood that Albright will be suspended as a result of his penalization in the Niantic court.

WORKED ON POPPIES FOR MEMORIAL DAY

At the last regular meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary of Robert O. Fletcher Post, American Legion, held in the Halle club rooms, the President Mrs. Liepold was in charge. The work of the evening was on the poppies for Memorial Day and a good supply of these home-made poppies is being prepared for that day.

Following the work of the evening a social time was enjoyed and cards were played. Refreshments of coffee, sandwiches and cake were served by the entertainment committee.

During the meeting it was announced that an invitation whist for members and their friends would be held at the home of Mrs. William E. Bogue on Broad street on Tuesday evening, March 31st, when it is expected a large number will be present to enjoy cards.

Waters from the public utilities commission that a hearing will be held by the commission at the court house Saturday afternoon, April 4, at 1 o'clock on theapplication of the Connecticut Motor Transportation company and the application of Jerome J. Sullivan for permission to operate a bus line over the following route: Norwich to Middletown, via Salem, Hadlyme, East Haddam and Higganuff.

Sportswomen of England are wearing high instead of low collars.

NEWENT CHURCH PASTOR PREACHES STRONG SERMON

At the Sunday morning service at the Newent Congregational church, Lisbon, a sermon that held the close attention of his congregation was delivered by the pastor, Rev. W. J. Reynolds, who spoke upon "What Is Your Life?" from the text James 4: 14.

In part he spoke as follows:

The question which the Apostle James raised, "For What is Your Life?" still remains unanswered. In fact, all life baffles us. We can neither fathom its mystery nor explain its nature. We know that all forms of life are related and if we understood the basic principle of the minutest organism we would understand all life. Tennyson said to the little flower in crannied wall, "Little flower if I should know what you are, root and branch and all in all, I should know then what God and man is."

We can make a co-ordinate estimate of life by grouping together all plant and animal life. We walk through the fields in the early summer, and are struck by the multitudinous forms of life that swarm about our feet, that fill the air with the hum of their wings and the melody of their songs. When we try to explain it our best solution of it all is: "God,—yesterday, today, and forever."

As to human life we can make some material estimate and it is common to measure its value by the earning capacity of a man. A few years ago a statistician placed the average value of a mans life at $10,000, and his earning capacity at 6 per cent of his value. Two thousand years ago a man's life was counted of less value than a sheep. Christ came and questioned man's estimate of man and since his coming the value of man has steadily advanced. "It is the condemnation of life that one takes out of it more than he puts into it: and it is the glory of life that he puts into it more than he takes out."

From our human viewpoint, life is affected by physical strength, intellectual endowment, education, and the right choice of work, so that all our powers rightly co-ordinated enable us to do our best. These have to do with the side of life that we can estimate, but we all know they are not the real man. The scientist can weigh the body he can determine its chemical contents and measure its energy. But that which makes the man is unmeasurable and infinite.

The Psalmist knew this and: "What is man that thou art mindful of him, or the son of man that thou visiteth him? or thou has made him but little lower than God." Paul knew this and said: "or as much as he is the image and glory of God:" Wordsworth knew this when he said: "Not in entire forgetfulness, but in trailing clouds of glory, man comes from God who is his home." So the answer. "What is your life lies outside all material things."

It is this deeper self with which the Scriptures deal. Jesus is the revelation of what God is and what man may become. He came to give the more abundant life and to lead us into what we may become. The power of his life and teaching lies in the fact that there is innate in all of us that which can respond to his appeal.

Life's success or failure can not be measured by material things. A man's life consisteth not in the things he possess and yet the majority of mankind is greedy to possess the things of the earth. There is nothing more contracting in its influence on life than greed. It is possible for men and nations to lose their lives by gaining the world. Greed kills.

Life's worth is not measured by the length of time a man exists in the flesh. The biography of the oldest man on record reads: "And all the days of Methuselah were nine hundred and sixty-nine years. And he died." Martin Luther did a great work but it was the work of that day when he stood before the most formidable seat of authority in his day, and uttered his famous declaration: "Here I stand, I can do nothing else, so help me God." Nobody cares about the age of Lincoln. It is with the great sympathetic loving heart the world delights to deal. Nobody cares how old St. Paul was, all the world knows that from the vision on the Damascus road until his Martyrdom in Rome he was the living witness of the Christ he loved. For him to live was Christ's, to die was gain.

A celebrated Frenchman said of Joan of Arc: "She taught us to love our county, to lay down our lives for it, to live for it, and to have implicit faith in God. She lived a little while in the light of France, and the world and then wearing a martyr's crown she passed into the white light of heaven. She could not have lived a greater life if she had lived a thousand years." It was the character of Joan of Arc that met the tests of life. You will find the tests applied to life in the Old and New Testaments to be tests of character. Jesus says they are the peacemaker, the pure in heart, the humble folk who love the truth and who love it so well that they ally themselves with it when it is unpopular, who seek not their own but another's comfort and well being; there are they who have the secret of life, who constitute the kingdom of heaven on earth, who respond to Christ's ideals, and measure their lives by the fullness of that response.

This sort of life holds the solution of the problem of death. By it Christ abolishes death and brings life and immortality to light. By it the sting is taken from death and victory from the grave. Death coming to such as have it is neither calamity nor defeat. It is something high and holy and sublime. It is promotion: it is triumph; it is gain; it is "an eternal weight of glory."

STATE IS WITHHOLDING LIQUOR LICENSE REFUND

A mystery confronted the legislative committee on claims this week in the legislature at Hartford, a mystery as to why the bill of Fairfield county against the state of Connecticut for its proportionate share of the money refunded by the county to liquor dealers who surrendered their licenses in 1919 when war time prohibition went into effect, has not been paid. Senator Lee Roy Robbins of Norwich, chairman of the claims committee, said the situation presented is one where the state itself does not comply with its own laws, and it was his personal opinion it was a case of "passing the buck" around among the legislative committees while the comptroller ought to pay the bill under the provision of chapter 164 of the acts of 1919.

The bill is $41,396.16 and Fairfield county wants intere st on it since some time in 1923 when the county had to borrow the money to pay liquor licenses after the supreme court's decision in the Ernest Adams case which was to the effect that the county must reimburse the license holders for the unexpired terms of their licenses if they had surrendered them in accordance with the law. Not all of them had complied, but in the 719 licenses in the county there were 234 refunds. The county commissioners certified to the state comptroller the amount due the county from the state, but neither Comptroller Webster nor Comptroller Salmon has paid the county any of it, probably, Attorney General Healy says, because there has been no specific appropriation to pay it.

John J. Cuneo of Norwalk, attorney for the Fairfield county commissioners, presented the claim and County Commissioners Hill of Shelton and Hart of Bethel were present in support of it. No one on the claims committee doubts the justice of the claim, but the chairman evidently does not think it is up to the claims committee to approve it when it ought to be paid by the comptroller. The commissioners want the claims committee's approval and they will then take the bill to the appropriations committee for an approriation.

It was brought out at the hearing that Fairfield county is the only one in the state where a refund of license money has been made to the liquor dealers who surrendered their licenses. All the commissioners in the state combined to contest the Adams case which was decided against the county of Fairfield, and while that county has had to pay under the decision of the supreme court, the claims of former liquor dealers in other counties have never been put in such concrete shape that they got any results from them. Liquor dealers throughout the state are in hopes the present general assembly will do something about refunding them for a part of their 1919 license fees. Under a declaration of Attorney General Healy it became unlawful to sell intoxicating liquor after July 1, 1919.

HARTFORD PRIEST HERE FOR LENTEN SERMON

The story of the Crucifixion formed the theme of the Lenten sermon given Sunday evening at St. Patrick' church by Rev. Charles Carty of Hartford. There was the usual large gathering and Prof. Frank L. Farrell presided at the organ, Father Carty graphically described the scene at the crucifixion of Christ, how a mysterious darkness settled over the land as the watchers stood grouped around the cross on which the Christ was suffering. The preached told how Jesus in His suffering, looking down on the heads of those who had crucified Him, asked God to forgive them. Jesus, asking their forgiveness said: Father, forgive them, for they know not what they do.

Father Carty told of the criminal at the right of Christ and of how, in His suffering He turned to aid the criminal and said I say to thee, this day thou shalt be with Me in Paradis. Other touching scenes during the last minutes of Christ's earthly life weres poken of by the preacher. In his closing words Rev. Father Carty urged his congregation not to neglect their Easter duty.

LIQUOR CASE EVIDENCE KEPT FROM PUBLIC

After a hearing in chambers at the city court session Saturday morning, probable cause was found and Tony Fatone of No. 57 Lake street, Michael Barso of New London and Angelo Costa also of New London were bound over to the May term of the criminal superior court. Fatone, through a friend named Allegretti, furnished $5,000 bonds and Kate Santanillo of New London put up a $5,000 bond for Barso and one for $1,000 for Costa.

Fatone and Barso were arrested at the fairgrounds about a week ago by County Detective William E. Lawis, Police Sergeant Matthew Delaney and Officer Peter Sullivan. Fifty gallons of alcohol were found in Barso's Ford coupe. Costa was later arrested in New London by Detective Lewis as it is understood he was the owner of the machine in which the alcohol was being transported.

NORWICH POLICE ARE AFTER PAY RAISE

It is understood that the Norwich police are to make a request to the city authorities to have their pay raised $1 per day, from $5 to $6, but their request has not yet reached Mayor Milo R. Waters or the police commissioners of the common council.

A committee from the force has been named to wait upon the mayor to present the request.

Escapes From State Hospital

The authorities of the Norwich State Hospital Sunday afternoon requested the New London police to maintain watch for John Ryan, 2a whose home is in Putnam, who escaped from the grounds of the institution earlier in the day. He is described as being about five feet, six inches in height and weighs about 140 pounds. When he escaped, Mr. Ryan wore a gray suit, green cap and tan shoes. Ryan, at the time of his escape, was walking about the grounds with his parents, who had gone to the institution to visit their son.

Salvation Army Officers To Meet

A special meeting of the officers from Putnab, Willimantic and New London will be held Monday evening at Salvation Army headquarter, 10 Cliff street, when song and addresses will be heard. The public will be welcome at this meeting.

Girl Scout Hiked To Cottage

A number of girl scouts from Troop 4 of the Central Baptist church hiked to the Adams cottage, Rest-a-bot, below the tate hospital Saturday afternoon where they were the guests of Mis Maude Adam.

WHO WOULD CALL "THIS" A DAY OFF?

No woman, certainly, would call it "a day off" when she has the washing done in her own home.

There's getting the soap and the blueing and the starch ready; there's the necessary watching to see that everything is done right; and there's the picking up after the "working guest."

Sometimes—this has happened to every woman—when the clothes are ready the laundress fails to show up. A telephone call: "I got the misery, and can't come today" and so the washing is still to be done.

Sometimes, too, the washing machine is out of order and has to be fixed.

Hundreds of women, though, have found that the onty way to rid themselves of the burden of "washday" is to turn everything over to us. And all you need to do to get this day off is to call upon us.

PERSHING TO SUPERVISE TACNA-ARICA PLEBISCITE

Formally Designated by President Coolidge as Head of the Commission—The Chilean and Peruvian Members of the Commission Are Still to be Selected by Their Respective Governments—Four Months From March 4 Has Been Allowed for the Naming of the Commission.

Washington, March 23—General John J. Pershing was formerly designated by President Coolidge today as president of the Tacna-Arica plebiscite commission, on which the executive relies to end the forty year old dispute between Chile and Peru under his recent award as arbitrator.

The former commander of the American Expeditionary forces thus was called once more to active, patriotic service for an undertaking he knows will involve heavy responsibilities and much labor. He must defer indefinitely the retirement he has enjoyed in name only since he relinquished his post as chief of staff of the army.

In a brief statement issued after announcement at the White House of his appointment, General Pershing made evident the spirit which prompted him to accept his new task, saying:

"My very deep interest in the welfare of the American republic to the south and my desire for the maintenance of friendly relations among us make it a pleasure to be of any possible service toward these ends. I consider the duties of the mission to which the president has assigned me very important and most sincerely hope that they may be performed to the satisfaction of all concerned."

General Pershing is the first to be named of the three members of the commission which will supervise the determination, by popular vote and under suitable safeguards, of the sovereignty of the two disputed territories. The Chilean and Peruvian members are still to be selected by their respective governments.

Prompt action by President Coolidge in naming the American member, who will also be president of the commission, is regarded as indicating a desire on his part as arbitrator that there should be no unnecessary delay in executing his award, which allowed four months from March 4, for the naming of the commission.

Mr. Coolidge is expected also to announce this week his selection for the American member of the boundary commission which is to determine the northwestern boundary of the territories involved in the dispute. Both commissioners will be assisted by Staffs of experts to be selected by the state department.

TWO LITTLE GUINEA PIGS WERE GASSED IN COURT

New York, March 23—Two little guinea pigs were gassed in Brooklyn supreme court today.

Spectators held their noses in fear of the gas and shuddered as the pigs, in glass jars, collapsed under the fumes.

The guinea pigs were rescued from the improvised lethal chamber before they died. Their conduct under the gas was recorded as a scientific demonstration of what might be expected to happen to a man subjected to the same fumes.

The case, heard before Justice Edward Lazansky and a jury, was that of Mrs. Bernard Olsen Egenes, who is suing the Morse Dry Dock & Repair company for $100,000 damages for the death of her husband, Egenes, with two others, was killed by an explosion in the steamship Egremont castle in June 24.

Her attorneys contend that the men were killed when sparks from acetylene torches used by workmen exploded vapor which had gathered in the hold of a gasoline cargo.

Professor Allen Rogers, head of the chemistry division of Pratt Institute conducted today's experiments. He put the gas in glass jars and then created gasoline vapor.

Attorneys for the Morse company contend that the collapse of the guinea pigs proved that if there had been gasoline vapor of sufficient strength to explode in the steamship hold, the men working there would have been killed by the gas before there was an explosion.

Therefore, they said, there could not have been gas in the hold powerful enough to explode, and accordingly the company was not liable for damages.

MUST SERVE FIVE YEARS OR PAY FINES OF $160,000

Toronto, March 23.—Aemilius Jarvis, sr., yachtsman and bond broker, and Peter Smith, former provincial treasurer of Ontario, must serve two years additional in prison if they fail to pay fines totaling $160,000, imposed against them for defrauding the provincial government, the appellate division of the Ontario supreme court ruled today.

The higher court did not alter the original prison sentences of six months in jail for Jarvis and three years in the penitentiary for Smith, of which they are now serving. The original joint fine of $600,000 imposed against them was reduced by the appellate division, however.

Smith was ordered to pay a fine of $40,000 and Jarvis $60,000, in addition to the $160,000 which he paid to the provincial government two weeks ago. The appellate division ruled that the $160,000 must be regarded as a restitution of funds and not as the payment of the fine.

Jarvis and Smith were convicted for defrauding the provincial government in the sale of government lands.

MATADORS WERE GORED BY BULLS IN MADRID

Madrid, March 23—The bulls had their inning at yesterday's bull fights. They rendered "hora de combat" no less than three premier matadors and an apprentice fighter.

Rafael Garcia suffered a dislocated ankle when a bull charged upon him. Pastorel, who substituted for Garcia, was gored and trampled upon by an infuriated animal, and Torquito, the last of the matadors present at the arena, met with a similar fate.

Lack of matadors prompted a call for apprentice bull fighters, and several of them offered their services.

Salas was immediately gored by the bull he was pitted against and Picador and a Banderillero also were injured. Another apprentice offered to go into the ring and avenge his fallen comrade, but the Picadores and Banderilleros went on strike and refused to enter the fight. This brought about a suspension of the fights.

REAR ADMIRAL ROBINSON VINDICATED IN OIL LEASE

Cheyenne, Wyo., March 23—The ability of Rear Admiral J. K. Robinson, head of navy engineering, in fostering for the navy the leasing of Teapot Dome, was vindicated today by Owen J. Roberts, attorney for the government, in the Teapot Dome lease annulment case.

"Robinson wanted to get oil and storage because of his navy ideas," said Mr. Roberts. "But he didn't want to go to Congress for them, so he planned the leasing of Teapot Dome and the use of royalty oil accruing to the government as a medium of exchange with which to build great storage tanks and acuire a large supply of fuel oil as a part of his war plants for the navy."

NEGOTIATING ANOTHER EUROPEAN CONFERENCE

London, March 23—Another European conference, similar to that held in London last summer, to put the Dawes reparations plan into effect, but this year looking towards European political reconstruction rather than economic rehabilitation, is the subject of negotiations between the British and reach foreign offices.

Preliminary plans for such a conference, which would be held in August, were revealed today as a result of much week-end newspaper speculation. This gossip intimate dthat new subjects of disagreement had arisen between London and Paris on the subject of European security.

Realization by both France and England of the necessity for finding a common basis, upon which to build a new European security pact to replace the abandoned Geneva protocol, is responsible for the move toward a general gathering of European statesmen in the British capital. The absence of the strong support of the United States, which was the greatest factor in the London conference of 1924, will be felt greatly by the British, but it is hoped, would not prevent carrying out the plans now being considered.

PRESIDENT HOLDS UP $3,074,000 N. G. FUND

Washington, March 23—Appropriations of $3,074,000 for the national guard, in excess of the amounts recommended to Congress, were ordered held up today by President Coolidge pending an inquiry to determine the necessity for the expenditure.

Of the total, $1,332,000 is available to pay national guard members for armory drill work between now and June 30, the close of this fiscal year, and the remainder was appropriated for use in the next fiscal year.

Although the president signed the appropriation bill carrying the funds, a statement issued at the White House today declared he had not made known what action he intends to take with regard to these additional funds. He is considering the matter in the light of his financial program and the bearing which this additional expenditure will have on his efforts to make possible further reduction in taxes.'

Pointing out that the increases were urged before Senate and House committees by a representative of the national guard, the statement questions the legality of such action under the budget and accounting act.

TRUE BILLS FOUND IN THREE MURDER CASES

New Haven, March 23—Late this afternoon the grand jury brought in true bills in three murder cases. They were against Miss Olympia Macri, 20, who shot and killed John Bagnano, of this city in the lobby of a local theatre February 26.

John Formisano, of Brooklyn, N. Y., charged with the murder in this city of Leo Cocilove, on January 14. Cocilove is alleged to have refused to marry Formisano's sister.

Mrs. Jennie Zarzycki, charged with causing the death of her seven year old son, Edward, whose throat she had slashed with a razor at her home on January 14.

1,000 ACRES OF TIMBER BURNED IN NEW JERSEY

Pamona, N. J., March 23—One house and 1,000 acres of timber have been burned in a forest fire which began north of here at noon today. Fanned by a high wind the blaze was regarded as the worst of the season in the state.

The Egg Harbor fire department and 200 volunteers are now fighting the flames in an effort to save other dwellings in the vicinity.

PLANNING BIG AVIATION FIELD AT NEW HAVEN

New Haven, Conn, March 23—Announcement was made here today that negotiations were closed on Saturday for the purchase by John H. Tweed, who was a naval aviator during the World War, of a large tract of land on the east harbor front for the purpose of establishing a big aviation field and terminal here. Mr. Tweed represents the New Haven Air Terminal company which is composed of local men interested in aviation.

CARBONDALE CENTER FOR TORNADO RELIEF WORKERS

Carbondale, Ills., March 23—All relief organizations taking part in the work of rehabilitation in southern Illinois met here today and decided to make this city the general headquarters for the tornado-torn district.

Medical and nursing forces will be quartered here. The city ever since the disaster has been the center for the distribution of supplies and will continue to serve as such.

CABLED PARAGRAPHS

Mussolini Takes Outing

Rome, March 23—Premier Mussolini took his first real outing today since his illness. He went for a long automobile drive through the Pinician Gardens, riding on the front seat with the chauffeur and enjoying the mild spring breezes.

After an hour's drive he proceeded to the Zoological gardens, where he entered a cage and fondled his pet lion.

The Giornale D'Italia says:

"It learns that Premier Mussolini probably will attend Wednesday's session of the chamber of deputies, when the budget will be taken up for discussion."

ATTACKS CITY MANAGER FOR POLICE PENALTIES

(Special to The Bulletin.)

New London, March 23—The city council had the liveliest meeting it has yet engaged in tonight through criticism of City Manager Holt by Councilor Streeter for the action of the former in disciplining Patrolmen Patrick Sheehan and Dennis Murphy for breaches of discipline. Councilor Streeter declared that the city manager was unduly severe in one case and very lenient in the other, the leniency being shown in the case of Patrolman Sheehan, who was found drunk on his beat a few nights ago and who was laid off for thirty-eight days by the city manager in a decision rendered today. Murphy's offense was in going to his own home to a midnight lunch when he was supposed to lunch at a restaurant or a place on his beat. Councilor Streeter declared that it was his opinion that a member of the council had the right to criticize the city manager as to the latter's actions in the police cases and he asked for a written opinion from the director of law on the matter. On that motion there was some hot discussion between Councilors Streeter and Fox and Mayor Clarke, the latter siding with Councilor Streeter. Councilor Streeter finished his criticism by offering a motion for the opinion by the director of law as to the rights of members of the council.

Councilor Streeter was severe in his criticism of the action of the city manager in the police cases and declared that he had been called out of his bed by a woman whom he is acquainted with and that she informed him that a policeman was hanging over a fence on his beat and that he was drunk. Councilor Streeter said he called the city manager and that the latter got up and went to the point where it was said that the drunken policeman could be found but did not find him. Then the police station was called and from there officers sought and found Sheehan, the officer, drunk. Councilor Streeter said it was not the first time that Sheehan had offended in the same way but declared that the officer had been brought to the police station intoxicated where he was allowed to sober up and resume his duties in patroling his beat. Councilor Streeter declared that in the recent cases of Sheehan he believed that nothing would have been disclosed as to the breach of discipline had not he (Streeter) called up the city manager and that the latter had started out to investigate. He declared that in the Murphy case the offense was a slight one and the officer one of the youngest on the force, while Sheehan had been an officer on the force six years and should have known the seriousness of his offense.

Councilor Fox took issue with Councilor Streeter and said the latter had taken the occasion to announce through an evening paper that he was "going to spread himself" on the police matter. He declared that Councilor Streeter was seeking notoriety and accused him as head of the police investigating committee of denying the speaker (Fox) the right to attend the committee hearings. Councilor Fox said the whole matter of police investigation was a farce and it was giving the impression throughout the state that New London had the worst police force to be found in all Connecticut. Mr. Fox said that the loudest advocate of the city charter for the people of one man to rule was now criticising the action of the very man selected to govern. Councilor Fox charged that police officers were going to members of the committee of investigation and telling them tales to influence them. Councilor Fox said he had heard criticism of the police for 40 years and nothing had yet been brought out to sustain the criticism. He said it was an obsession with some men to investigate the police department and asked why that should be so.

Turning to Councilor Streeter, Councilor Fox said "don't listen to tales." He went on to say that he was told by the committee of investigators that he was not wanted at the meeting. He said that Councilor Streeter recognized the city manager as the head of the department and the captain of the force as an executive officer. The latter should not be blamed for what he is not responsible for. He said that it was not the greatest crime for a man to get drunk and pointed to a case where he saw a young man before the World War intoxicated in the street yet that man died on the fields of France while members of the police force remained at home and drew the biggest salaries they were ever paid. Then again he said, pointing to Councilor Streeter, "don't listen to tales, members of the police force talk to members of the police investigators and why? You went to a reporter and told him you were to spread yourself for the notoriety you would get."

Councilor Streeter interrupted with an emphatic denial, arising to a point of order and personal privilege. He said the committee might have denied Fox the right to be at the hearing but if it did he was not aware of it. Councilor Streeter said that what he said to the reporter was covered in six written lines which were to the effect that he criticised the city manager's action and that he would bring the matter to the attention of the council. Councilor Fox replied by saying "Open the doors for the investigation and let all hear what is said and know what is going on. Do your investigating in the open." Councilor Streeter again denied that Councilor Fox had ever been denied the opportunity to attend the meetings of the investigators and said that when the report of the investigation was made that citizens, he believed, would endorse it. He said he "would lay all the cards on the table and that citizens would know of the existing conditions."

City Manager Holt defended his act and said the council had two courses to pursue if it objected to his actions. They could discharge him or they could investigate his conduct of the business as he did it. He said that it was not his purpose to be too drastic and he did not think he was acting in that way. He declared that the city was proceeding in a way that would get the best results for the course now being pursued was in a degree new but he had faith that it would work out for the best interests of the city. He insisted that he have the authority to lay off policemen, to discharge them or to discipline them as he saw fit without any indication from the council.

The motion of councilor Streeter for an opinion of the director of law in the matter of criticism by members of the council was passed, and that opinion will be forthcoming at the next meeting of the council.

Stage Set For Trial Of Gerald Chapman

Murder Trial of Notorious Criminal Will Open at Hartford Today — Extra Precautions Taken.

Hartford, March 23.—(By the A. P.)—Gerald Chapman, soft-spoken, deft-witted "Count of Grammercy Square" will go on trial for his life tomorrow.

The most notorious and daring of the country's criminals—some of his patient and numerous police pursuers call him the twentieth century edition of Jesse James—is to appear in Hartford county superior court to answer to an indictment charging him with the murder last October of Patrolman James J. Skelly, of New Britain.

Placed on a stage surcharged with an air of intense excitement, this drama of life and death promises to be the most thrilling in the criminal annals of Hartford county. Hartford itself has never had such a sense of suppressed excitement since the ancient city's foundation in 1636. For days, now, "the Chapman trial" has been the morning, noon and night conversation of the entire city and most of the usually staid and unexcited county.

Consequently, the trial of the glamorous "super-bandit" is to be very much in the nature of a show, grim though it may be. Thousands want to attend, but hundreds only, may be seated in the court room over which the trial judge, Newell Jennings, presides. So there will be a large party of city and county police on hand at the county building when the prisoner is brought to court from his solitary confinement cell in the state's prison at Wethersfield, four miles from here.

Not only will these police handle the crowds, which are to be turned away with the exception of the 150 talesmen, for the first two days but they will be there to guard against a possible attempted break by the notorious prisoner. The police have a wholesome respect for Chapman's well-advertised past of mail banditry, safe cracking, prison breaks, and quick work with a gun. He will be brought from jail, shackled, with two conspicuously armed guards seated on either side of him in a closed car. Another car bearing as conspicuously armed guards will trail the prisoner's motor closely. At the court building, Chapman will enter between two lines of police.

No spectators, other than the talesmen are to be admitted into the court room until the jury has been selected, the country attorney, prosecutor, Hugh M. Alcorn, said today.

Chapman is to make a vigorous fight in this life-and-death game. He has retained five attorneys—no one seems to know where their compensation, if any, is coming from. Groehl, who previously announced he had retained John J. Weiss, New York; Charles M. Murphy, Danbury, and Harold Evans, Hartford, as assistants, today told of the retention of Nathan O. Freedman, also of Hartford, as his advisory counsel.

THE GWATHMEY DIVORCE IS VOID IN NEW YORK.

New York, March 23—The divorce the Texas courts granted Archibald B. Gwathmey, Jr., cotton broker, from Isabelle Coomes Gwathmey last year, is void in New York, Supreme Court Justice Levy held today.

The opnion was returned in connection with Mrs. Gwathmey's suit for separation on grounds of abandonment and non-support. She was denied a divorce last June by Justice Davis, and Gwathmey, obtaining a decree in Texas, married Mrs. Betsey C. Judd in Connecticut on July 4. Mrs. Judd was named co-respondent in Mrs. Gwathcey's first suit.

Mrs. Gwathmey, through counsel, contended that the Texas law forbids marriage within a year after the granting of a decree and sought to prevent official recognition of the divorce here.

The main issue of abandonment will be pressed. Mrs. Gwathmey's attorney said. Counsel for Gwathmey said an appeal from Justice Levy's decision would be taken.

Gwathmey and Mrs. Isabelle Coomes were married in 1895 and separated in 1919.

Bear Traders Cause Stock Market Break

Investors Have Become Frightened by Downward Readjustment of Quoted Values.

New York, March 23—Stock prices crumbled from two to nearly eleven points today under the incessant hammering of bear traders, the liquidation of long accounts by speculators, whose margins had been impaired, and investors, who had become frightened by the recent drastic downward readjustment of quoted values. Rail and industrial averages sank to new low levels for the year.

The day's sales ran well over 1 1-2 million shares.

In the absence of any definite news developments to account for the decline, Wall Street was inclined to describe it as a further correction of the market's so-called technical position which had become weakened by the speculative excesses committed in the first two months of the year. With money rates relatively low, bank clearings and freight car loadings at record high levels, and the steel industry in an apparently healthy condition, basic conditions are generally believed to be sound.

The recent violent reaction in grain prices and the declining tendency in oil, copper and some of the other commodity prices have served, however, to shake business confidence. Other adverse factors have been the heavy exports of gold and the high total of brokers' loans.

Despite the fact that they contained little that wasn't already known, the annual reports of the U. S. and Bethlehem Steel Corporations, which were published today and compared unfavorably with those of the year before, were used as an excuse for an attack on the steel shares. U. S. Steel common was hammered more than three points to a new low level for the year below 118, closing near the bottom. Bethlehem, Republica, Gulf States and Crucible Steels, Colorado Fuel and Iron, American Metals and United Alloy also sold at new low prices for the year.

Baldwin, which sold as high a s146 only a few weeks ago, broke more than 8 points below Saturday's final quotation to 116 3-8. Associated Dry Goods fell nearly 11 points to 174 1-2 and U. S. Cast Iorn Pipe showed a new decline of 9 1-4 at 181 after selling as low as 178 1-2. Other outstanding industrial weak spots included American Car and Foundry, Atlantic Refining, Beechnut Packing, Federal Light and Traction, Houston Oil, International Business Machines, Loose-Wiles Biscuit, Mack Trucks, Manhattan Modified FGuarantee, Mathieson Alkali, National Lead, Pressed Steel Car, Railway Steel Spring, Savage Arms, Tidewater Oil, U. S. Realty and Worthington Pump, all of which closed 4 to nearly 7 points lower.

High Grade Rails were depressed with the industrials. New York Central sagged 2 3-8 points to a new low for the year at 115 1-2 and Union Pacific was forced down more than three points to a new minimum at 140. Atlantic Coast Line broke 5 5-8 points to 154 and Jersey Central dropped 6 to 280 on one sale.

COMMONS PAYS TRIBUTE TO THE LATE MARQUIS CURZON

London, March 23—High tribute to the late Marquis Curzon's genius as a statesman, his personality and his devotion to his country's interests were paid in the house of commons this afternoon. Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin, Ramsay MacDonald, leader of the opposition, and Sir John Simon, speaking in the absence of David Lloyd George, eulogized the dead conservative statesman.

Prime Minister Baldwin said the late leader of the house of lords was "one of the greatest of men and one of the most vivid of personalities." Mr. MacDonald declared that Lord Curzon was a "man who never stinted himself in doing his duty to the public, a fine colleague, a fine spirit and a man with a noble idea of public service."

Sir John Simon, in asking the liberals to associate themselves with the tributes, said that Lord Curzon was distinguished by two 'qualities, the unremitting and devoted diligence with which he carried out his duties, and his splendid example of high-minded, disinterested public spirit.

King George today sent the following message to Marchioness Curzon: "The queen and I are greatly distressed to hear of your overwhelming sorrow, and hasten to assure you our whole hearted sympathy.

By the death of your dear husband we lose an old and valued friend. The nation will join with me in mourning the loss of a foremost statesman, and we will ever gratefully remember the brilliant and manifold services that Lord Curzon rendered during his long active career under three sovereigns."

MYSTERIOUS S. O. S. CALL WAS A REQUEST FOR SURGEON

New York, March 23.—The mystery of the S. O. S. calls which caused all New York broadcasting to be stopped half an hour Saturday night was solved today.

A fireman in a fishing trawler at sea off the Grand Banks was struck and injured by a falling ash can. The trawler wirelessed requests to ship surgeons to prescribe treatment by radio. Apparently some of the trawler's messages became construed as calls from a ship in distress.

This explanation was given today by offices of the White Star liner Cedric, which arrived from Liverpool. The Cedric was the first ship to pick up the messages from the trawler. Dr. A. G. V. Elder sent a wireless prescription and the trawler messaged later that as a result the injured man was improving.

MERCHANT MARINE OFFICER SENTENCED FOR ABDUCTION

New York, March 23.—Captain Hubert F. Jennings, a merchant marine officer, was sentenced by Judge McLaughlin in the county court today to serve from five to ten years in Sing Sing for abduction.

He pleaded guilty of taking Anna Brohassek, 14, from this city to Philadelphia, Washington and Norfolk, Va., without the knowledge and consent of her parents.

In an appeal to Assistant District Attorney Geoghan to intercede in Jennings' behalf, the girl today promised to marry the man should he be released.

WILLIAM SHEPHERD HAS BEEN RETURNED TO JAIL

Chicago, March 23—William Shepherd, indicte don the charge of murdering his foster-son, the "millionaire orphan" William N. McClintock, last night was again returned from the criminal court building to the jail from which he is seeking release on bail. The hearing on bail opened Saturday and will be resumed tomorrow.

Chief Justice Harry Olson of the municipal court referred to by defense counsel as "self-styled attorney for the dead," repeatedly consulted and apparently prompted State's Attorney Robert E. Crowe, in charge of the prosecution. Judge Jacob Hopkins refused to permit Justice Olson to testify yesterday.

Assistant State's Attorney George Gorman, called to the stand by defense counsel, admitte dhe had examined Shepherd in connection with the McClintock dest hand had released him.

On cross examination Mr. Gorman said earnestly, leaning forward in his chair: "If I had heard half the testimony that developed later, I would have held Mr. Shepherd, and I would not have waited for him to come to my office, but would have gone to New Mexico after him."

"I'll still accept you for the jury," said defense counsel, William Scott Stewart.

A. F. Reichman, former co-guardian of McClintock, repeated testimony given at the coroners inquest, that the Northern Trust Company, of which he is counsel paid out of McClintock's patrimony to the Shepherds, $700 a month for maintenance of the McClintock home during the years that William was in their custody.

J. F. Marchand, who said he was "salesman" for the school conducted by C. Fairman, who confessed to telling Shepherd how to inoculate his foster-son with typhoid germs, admitted on the stand that his real name was Patrick J. McMahon, "my wife didn't like that name," he explained.

SOVIET OFICIALS KILLED WHEN AIRPLANE BURNED

Moscow, March 2—Three preminent officials of the Soviet government and the two pilots of a military airplane were killed today when the machine caught fire a few miles out of Tiflis and crashed from a height of 6,000 feet. All five occupants met instant death.

The airplane was making a trip from Tiflis to Suchum. The Soviet officials were oin their way to attend a Soviet Congress. They were M. Miassnikoff, an Armenian, and secretary of the Transcaucasian Communist Party, M. Mogilievski, active head of the Sheka, and M. Atarbekoff.

M. Miasnikoff was one one of the most influential men in the government. He was the warm friend of all Americans in the Caucasus and did much to further the work of the Near East relief organization, frequently addressed the orphans under American careat Alexandropol.

Mogilievski was of Jewish origin and a great power in all trans-Caucasian affairs. Atarbekoff was a Tartar and the two dead associates, he played a quiet but vital part in the local political and administrative matters.

The death of the three officials has made a profound impression throughout Southern Russia, where all were well known. They will be accorded an imposing state funeral.

CHRONIC ILL-HEALTH WAS CAUSE OF SUICIDE

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., March 23—Chronic ill health, caused by internment in German prison camp sduring the world war, is believed to have caused Professor George Stuart Fullerton, sixty six year-old philosopher, to hang himself in a closet off his study this morning. Mrs. Fullerton was away from home making arrangements for a trip south for the professor's health at the time, he had been dead half an hour when found.

Professor Fullerton came to Poughkeepsie several year ago, his health impaired as a result of the internment which interrupted his work as a professor in the University of Munich in 1917. He was a guest lecturer at Vassar College and was considered by his associates one of the most eminent contemporary American philosophers. His "a system of metaphysics," and "introduction to philosophy," were his most noteworthy contributions to philosophy.

Funeral services will be held Thursday afternoon at his home.

He is to be guest of honor at the South African luncheon club tomorrow. On Friday he will make a semi-official visit to Wembley exhibition, which will be reopened to the public in May.

SUMMING UP IN THE SUIT OF MRS. DENNISTOUN

London, March 23—"Heaven has no rage like love to hatred turned, nor hell a fury like a woman scorned." These words of Congreve were cited by Justice McCardie, who is a bachelor, in summing up today the evidence in the suit of Mrs. Ian Onslow Dennistoun against her former husband, Lieutenant Colonel Dennistoun, for money she alleged he borrowed from her. There was tense excitement in the courtroom as the judge delivered his address.

"I have formed the view," said Justice McCardie at the commencement of his speech, "That Mrs. Dennistoun is one of the most adroit and most ingenious witnesses I have seen in thirty years; and if she invented a claim against Colonel Dennistoun whether for maintenance or otherwise, she would be one of the most dangerous women I ever have seen. She has a quick brain, absolute self composure, a resolute will and wonderful mastery of answer."

Referring to the alleged agreement between Colonel Dennistoun and his former wife the judge said to the jury: "You are asked to believe the vagues agreement known to me was made as a definite legal bargain." Regarding Dennistoun, he said his conduct was "gravely to be condemned" and added: "His conduct discredits him in a very great measure, but thought a man has been guilty of unmanliness such as that, it might well be that by reason of these very circumstances you ought to view the case with greater care."

The courtroom was jammed, mostly by women who were anxious to hear what would be the reply of Sir Ellis Hume-Williams, counsel for Mrs. Dennistoun, to the address of Norman Birkett. Birkett on Friday had scathingly denounced Mrs. Dennistoun as "heartless" and "a traitress."

Sir Ellis, however, did not indulge in any great vituperative fireworks. "Contemptible creautre" was about the harshest reference he made to Colonel Dennistoun. Referring to the former wife's letters to Dennistoun counsel argued that seldom had more suitable appeals been read. "Blackmail is intimidation and Dennistoun has tried to intimidate Mrs. Dennistoun," he declared.

Sir Ellis scornfully spoke of Dennistoun's "weakness and pliancy." Referring to the late Sir John Cowan's laison with Mrs. Dennistoun, counsel said it was incredible for a man to write as the colonel had done to his former wife, unless he desired her to continue to have illicit relations with another man.

"If anybody is going to throw stones at her," exclaimed Sir Ellis, "it should not be the hand of this complacent husband, who stood by while she acted wrongly."

Justice McCardie had not finished summing up when court was adjourned until tomorrow.

THREAD STRIKERS REPUDIATE RADICAL INTERFERENCE

(Special to The Bulletin.)

Willimantic, March 23—The opening of the third week of the strike at the American Thread Company plant Monday morning was marked by two decisive steps, one by the strikers to bar out the radical advice of Communists and Reds whether printed or in person, and a movement on the part of Alderman James J. Lee to have the common council take action toward the settlement of the strike.

The first step came about at the mass meeting of the strikers early in the morning when the meeting was called a closed one and a man known here as William Simons, a representative of "The Worker" a Communistic publication printed in Chicago, was refused admittance to the session which was held in the Gem Theatre. Other reporters gained entrance only through special invitation from the strikers' committee. When Simons came to the door he was informed that he could not enter. Although somewhat disgruntled he walked away without argument. Within the theatre, Miss Mary Kelleher of Scranton, Pa., an organizer of the International United Textile Workears of America was denouncing Simons as responsible for writing and talking in language adverse to the policies of the strikers "This man," she said, "states that he is an officer of the bookbinders' labor local and a representative of the paper known as 'The Worker.' Although he had attended our meetings his reports of the strike as printed in his newspaper have been based absolutely on his own radical viewpoint. He has never consulted the committee about any statement or anything relative to the strikers' program and his pen is already beginning to spread poison in our ranks. He is not a member of the textile workers and we should pin our faith to no other organization but the United Textile Workers of America, under whose banner we are striking at present."

Simons came to this city Thursday, March 12 and was a speaker at the mass meeting that morning. His talk was based on facts, but it was later discovered that the figures which he used were those taken from a recent hearing before a legislative committee on the forty-eight hour working law for women and children. The propaganda which he has been circulating about town during the past ten days has been most harmful to the morals of the strikers, although in his activities he has kept within the law The police received a series of complaints and have been keeping Simons under surveillance and any attempt on his patr to cause violence will be quickly checked.

Miss Amy L. Hooker, president of the local union, and Jan Mark were the speakers. Mr. Mark duplicated the good impression which he made at White Eagle Polish American Hall Sunday afternoon when he spoke in Polish to the strikers of that nationality. In closing the meeting Miss Hooker, stated that at the mass meeting to be held this (Tuesday) morning Thomas Callahan of Philadelphia would be the speaker.

POLICE CHIEF'S RABBIT DOG GETS CAUGHT IN SNARE

(Special to The Bulletin.)

Willimantic, March 23—Dugal McTavish, pedigreed rabbit hound owned by Chief of Police Allan McArthur, ca mehome Monday forenoon dragging a steel trap and chain fastened to his hind leg. It is believed that the dog stepped into the trap in the woods in the vicinity of the McArthur home. The contraption weighed several pounds and it was some time before the animal could be released from the steel grip. The accident has brought to light the unlawful practice of game seekers with little if any sportsmanship who set traps in direct violation of the law. It is believed that at least two dogs missed recently met their fate by being caught in traps.

Wants Council to Mediate.

The common council of the City of Willimantic will appear in the role of mediator in the present strike situation, if the board approves a personal letter sent to Acting Mayor George W. Hickey Monday by James J. Lee, alderman of the third district. Alderman Lee calls attention to the fact that Willimantic is entering upon the third of one of the most serious situations in its history and that as the peace, contentment and well-being of the city is at sake, it is fitting that the common council, as city officials, elected by the people and sworn to maintain peace, honor and well-being should move to help settle the strike. The note requests the calling of an informal meeting of the entire board with an invitation extended to the local officials of the American Thread Company and a committee of the textile workers who are out on strike, for the purpose of a general discussion.

COLUMBIA

The semi-monthly whist party, for the benefit of the Village Improvement society, was held at Yeomans' Hall Friday evening, and was attended by about 60 persons. Eleven tables were in use by the players, while some preferred to visit. The highest scores were obtained by Miss Margaret Blakeley and Clinton Lewis. The net receipts during the evening were about $17.

A case of women's hat frames and samples of materials for trimming the same, which were sent by Miss Annan Extension millinery specialist of the Connecticut Agricultural college, were received at the home of James A. Utley on the green, Saturday and were in charge of Mrs. Hubert P. Collins. Many residents of the town, made their selections of the hat frames and trimmings desired, to be made up on Friday March 27th., when Miss Annan will be present to give expert instruction and advice in practical millinery.

It is stated that the water in Columbia lake has risen ten inches since the recent rains, and about six feet since the first of the year, as shown by measurements at the dam.

The cottage and grounds on the north side of Columbia lake, known as the Green property, has been sold to George Wardell of Manchester, who is having the peace put in excellent condition.

Monday March 23d., a change was made in the time of the departure of the mail to Willimantic, which is to be 7:45 a. m. The mail will leave Willimantic for Columbia at 8:30 a. m., arriving here at 9 a. m., one hour earlier than formerly.

New Haven, March 23—Miss Olympia Macri, who shot and killed John Bagnane, February 26th while he was in the lobby of a New Haven theatre, was held criminally responsible by Coroner Eli Mix in a finding made public yesterday morning.

BALTIC

The photoplay, After Six Days, given at Lodoin theatre by the management of the theatre for the benefit of St. Mary's parish, netted $114. Louis Cuprak, of Norwich, is manager of the theatre.

The dog posters, explaining the dog laws for the dog year which begins May 1, 1925, and ends April 30, 1926, have been received by the selectmen and have been posted according to law. The posters are made of cotton cloth instead of paper as in former years so will be of more durability and weather-proof.

The Men's League of the M. E. church and the men from Versailles church made a surprise visit Thursday evening to their pastor, Rev. C. W. Ruoff, to pay their respects to him, before he leaves for a new home. Rev. Mr. Ruoff is leaving Baltic after a period of three years, and owing to ill health is going to take a year's rest before taking charge of another church.

Richard Orme, president of the league, in a pleasing address, told of the object of the visit and expressed the sympathy for the pastor through his illness, and wished him a speedy return to health and strength. He then presented him a gift of money from the men of the league and a few other friends who had been desirous of helping in this part of the farewell.

Mr. Ruoff, on accepting the testimonial gift, thanked the men for the spirit shown, and with emotion, spoke of the relations between himself as pastor of the church and the men, thanking them for their willingness to cooperate with him in the work he had been engaged in. He also spoke of the pleasant times he had spent on the bowling green. He trusted that the men would keep up the good work, and that when the new pastor came all would get busy and assist him in every way possible, and not let him feel that he is a stranger, but get behind him to carry on the good work.

The remainder of the evening was spent in a social way.

Matthew Bailey and Albert Hilton sang several numbers, including solos and duets. Joseph Ashworth also sang two songs. Joshua Heap and Harold Wilson entertained on the piano and community singing was heartily enjoyed by all.

The following scores were shot on the Baltic Rifle club range: 50 shots off-hand at 50 yards, on standard N. R. A. target: H. Sargent 484, W. Watson 473, H. Stewart 480, W. Magill 466, C. Watson 460.

Harold Wilson acted as accompanist for the evening.

RATIFICATIONS EXCHANGED OF ISLES OF PINES TREATY

Washington, March 23—Formal exchange of ratifications of the Isle of Pines treaty took place today at the state department, Secretary Kellogg and Ambassador Torriente affixing their signatures to the document on behalf of the American and Cuban governments.

The exchange was made after Ambassador Torriente had advised the state department that his government had accepted the reservation and understanding adopted by the senate in its resolution of ratification.

By the terms of the treaty, the date of the exchange of ratification brings the pact into immediate effect will full recognition of Cuban sovereignty over the island by the United States after a wait of more than 30 years.

The date is chiefly important because of its effect on the legal status of real estate titles in the island by placing all under Cuban jurisdiction. There is no necessity for further formalities, since the island always has been under Cuban administration and there are o American federal agencies to be withdrawn.

Philadelphia, March 23—Important radia patent rights are involved in a legal battle, which was begun yesterday in the United States district court in Philadelphia, before Judge J. Whitaker Thompson, between two radio manufacturers.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Palace Theatre.

Spring Carnival at the Palace theatre brings a wonderfully well balanced seven-act bill. Manager McEvoy certainly exercised good judgment in the selection of every act as each seem to fit in place perfectly.

Hope and Mantion open the show with a very smart xylophone act. Mr. Mantion also playing a triple-tongue cornet solo with much ease. The act works fast and makes a very bright opening for the bill.

Harry Tanner, the hobo comedian as well as being funny, is an exceptionally good bass singer. He seems to sing twenty fathoms deep. Harry pleases his audience very much.

Many a man claims that he is "leading a dog's life" to please some pretty girl. It is not often that two versatile young men will openly boast that they "lead cats' lives" to please the same girl. But such is the case with the two chaps that appear with Florence Seely. This young girl's unusual novelty act is called Kat Naps. Kat Naps is sure highly amusing.

Agnes Alton billed as a comedienne presents a laughable bit of song, dancing and talking. Her act is clean and is enjoyed by the audience.

In the heart of the bill is the Dancing Millards and Band. The band has a very smart set of musicians and the snappy tempos they take on each number, one can't keep their feet from patting the floor. The dancers give a very clever interpretation of the Apache Dance.

Rose and Maybelle are a couple of cross-talking comedians and are two of the best of their kind seen in Norwich in some time. They have the audience with them every minute.

Charles and May Stanley close the show with a sensational trapeze act. Charley tells a lot of little jokes while working and for the finish of his act he does a trick called the "hair razor." All we can say is, if Charley breaks his neck it is his own fault.

The feature picture is Her Marriage Vow.

Whether a marriage vow should be something holy and inviolable, or something to toss frivolously away when one tires of it, is the choice which faces one of the characters in Her Marriage Vow, the screen adaptation of the Owen Davis play now showing at the Palace theatre. It is a Warner Brothers classic of the screen.

Broadway Theater

All roads will lead to the Broadway Theatre, today and Wednesday for another great show is being shown at that popular playhouse.

Lew Williams, is the main attraction, presenting his Chic-Chic Revue assisted by George "Wise Guy" Rubin. It's a fast stepping, lively moving comedy revue, that you're going to like. Beautiful scenery and costumes make this an outstanding attraction. Comedy and fun is what you'll look for and what you'll get.

Howard & Luckie offer a vaudeville specialty entitled "It's Hard to Fool Us." They are out for laughing purposes only and in this they succeed beyond a doubt.

The final showings of the Paramount picture, "East of Suez," a Raoul Walsh production starring Pola Negri which opened Monday at the Broadway Theatre, will be held there tomorrow.

The picture is an adaptation by Sada Cowan of Somerset Maugham's stage play by that name.

Edmund Lowe, Rockcliffe Fellowes and Noah Beery are featured in support of Miss Negri in the production.

"East of Suez" is a mystery love-drama with scenes laid in China.

Bread Theater

With a brilliant cast headed by Adolph Menjou, Eleanor Boardman, Conrad Nagel and Hedda Hopper, Sinners in Silk, Metro Goldwyn's latest release as a picture depicting the so-called jazz era of the younger generation is the feature attraction at the Bread theater today. The picture is of a decidedly sophisticated trend, dealing for the most part with an ultra-fashionable set of debutantes and youths. The expected riot of settings and locales with such a theme is well evidenced throughout the entire production. As is the prevalency of atmospheric wealth.

The society flapper parties are commendably peppy and unstrained. Eleanor Boardman, who takes the lead in these, enacts a difficult part to perfection.

The Pathe News, a cartoon and an educational comedy make up the remainder of the bill.

AMERICAN FARM PRODUCTS IN 1924 VALUED AT $12,404,000,000

Washington, March 23—American farms produced $12,404,000,000 in 1924, according to estimates prepared by the department of agriculture, indicating an increase of $56,000,000 over 1923. The department attributed the increase to higher market values for certain crops, as contrasted with reduced values of livestock products.

Cereals accounted for $5,320,000,000 or 45.8 per cent. of the total, compared with 39.6 per cent. in 1923; corn was valued at $2,890,000,000; cotton at $1,701,000,00 and hay and dorage at $1,733,000,000.

A decrease of $66,000,000 in the farm value of dairy products in 1924 was noted by the survey, the gross value for the year being $2,886,148,000.

Nashville, Tenn., March 23—Teaching of evolution is barred in the public schools of Tennessee, under a bill signed by Gov. Austin Peay.

Your Child

Scientists now agree that it is far better to let children have the right kind of candy regularly.

Then they are less inclined to over-eat.

The active growing bodies of little folks need sugar to replace the energy they burn up so quickly in play.

You can find no more ideal candy for children than Life Savers—the mints with the hole. Youngsters like these china-hard circles of pure goodness. They eat them slowly because they are hard.

Don't Fuss With Mustard Plasters!

Musterole Works Without the Blister—Easier, Quicker

There's no sense in mixing a mess of mustard, flour and water when you can easily relieve pain, soreness or stiffness with a little clean, white Musterole.

Musterole is made of pure oil of mustard and other helpful ingredients, combined in the form of the present white ointment. It takes the place of mustard plasters, and will not blister.

Musterole usually gives prompt relief from sore throat, bronchitis, tonsillitis, croup, stiff neck, asthma, neuralgia, headache, congestion, pleurisy, rheumatism, lumbago, pains and aches of the back or joints, sprains, sore muscles, bruises, chilblains, frosted feet, colds of the chest (it may prevent pneumonia).

To Mothers: Musterole is also made in milder form for babies and small children. Ask for Children's Musterole.

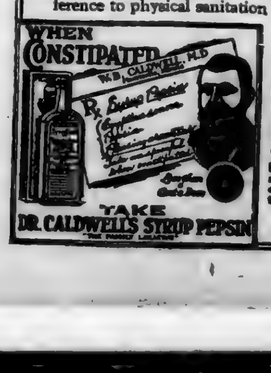
CONSTIPATION means WEAKNESS

Constipation is practically universal among civilized human beings. It is a national curse causing inefficiency and physical unpreparedness. It causes disease, premature old age, lessens endurance and resistance, and many times fatal illness is directly traceable to its obnoxious results. The clear eye, healthy look, vim, vigor and vitality can be had only when the bowels are free and are moving regularly.

Dr. Caldwell's SYRUP PEPSIN

The Family Laxative

—promptly relieves constipation. It is not a bitter medicine nor a griping, nauseating, uncomfortable physic. It is a pleasing liquid combination of Egyptian senna, pepsin and aromatics that Dr. Caldwell, with his long and extensive practice, found effective and an aid to Nature in performing her proper functions when the bowels were mistreated through improper food, lack of exercise, and indifference to physical sanitation



Gently Restores The Bowels To Health

The first dose will gently ease the bowels to action and as Nature resumes her proper functions, the dose may be gradually decreased. Your bowels should act at least twice daily. If they do not, you need Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. 10,000,000 bottles sold annually prove its effectiveness. Used nationally over 30 years.

It is sold everywhere medicine is sold—and guaranteed. Try it at our risk. Your druggist will return your money if it fails to do as promised.

DANIELSON AND PUTNAM NEWS

DANIELSON

Walter Anderson, Broad street, member of the court of burgesses, will be a candidate for nomination as warden at the borough caucus this (Tuesday) evening. This was made known Monday afternoon, when Mr. Anderson, who did not seek consideration for the place said that he had agreed to the presentation of his name. Mr. Anderson, however, is willing to serve if the voters so decide.

Mr. Anderson will make a highly acceptable candidate, it was indicated from the favorable comment among those who knew Monday that he had agreed to accept a nomination if preferred by the caucus. He is a good business man, has had experience in Borough affairs as an official and is much interested in Danielson and its progress. Mr. Anderson is associated with the Jacobs Manufacturing company in a responsible capacity.

Slot machines seized here more than a fortnight ago were adjudged a nuisance when the question came before the town court, Monday morning, and Deputy Judge Charles S. Francis, presiding, ordered that they be destroyed. The court order was executed forthwith by members of the state police at the barracks on North Main street, where the machines have been stored since the seizures. Attorney Louis A. Weigard, representing owners of some of the machines, appeared in the interest of these owners.

Such parts of the machines as are of future value in legitimate uses—screws, bolts, nuts and the like—were preserved. The machines netted a box full of nickels and slugs. The money will be divided between the town and the state, as the law requires.

There is an old saying about being as "wild as a March hare" and probably some like comment might apply to a man who was reported running, shouting and gesticulating on the Green Hollow road, Monday morning. A call relative to the man received by Chief John McFarland of the borough police was turned over to state officers, in view of the fact that the complaint was from out of the borough. State officers who immediately went into the territory where the man was reported as being found no trace of him.

From an eastern section of the town or Brooklyn comes another report about a man going about doing things that have become a bit terrorizing to the residents of the section where he has been prowling. This man is said to have left a note threatening death to the members of one household. His missive was placed under the door. There may or may not be any connection between the writer of the note and the alleged lunatic who stirred up things on the Green Hollow road Monday. March apparently is making a few of them wild.

At 11.48 Monday forenoon Capt. Put Engine company went out on an alarm for a grass fire in the Hawkins street section. The firemen were back in quarters within a very few minutes.

Grass fires have been very numerous throughout this territory the past few days. One that occurred at Elmhurst Sunday resulted in a telephone call for assistance from the local department, but Chief A. P. Woodward could not see the necessity of sending apparatus out of the borough for such a minor fire. Only in such cases as indicate that there is a chance to save valuable property is fire apparatus allowed to leave the borough, and only then when there is a chance for the firemen to have ample water with which to work effectively.

Because there is to be a contest for the nomination of borough tax collector it is not unlikely that a larger number than is usually the case will attend the annual borough caucus this (Tuesday) evening. Arthur A. Dean and Sidney H. Perry are the opposing candidate. One of them will be named as successor to Edward S. Carpenter, who has been collecting taxes here for fifty years and has declined further acceptance of office.

A placard attached to the door of a home on Riverview added to the gaiety of the season Monday. The surreptitious placing of this placard followed closely upon the appearance of publicity in a Boston paper at the week end, this publicity dealing with what is represented as an unusual phase of life in an orderly community. The home where the card is posted is temporarily unoccupied. The man of the house is at Reno Nevada, the housewife with relatives in either Norwich or Jewett City.

It has been done at last! Someone was bound soon or later to discover how to eliminate grade crossing accidents. The solution is exceedingly simple. Upon approaching a railroad crossing the motorists simply blows his horn very loudly. In case a train is coming, the engineer is supposed to give instant heed and stop at once, lest there being an accident in which his locomotive get all mussed up with automobile parts and bits of human wreckage. That must be the theory, in any event, for motorists are now observed sounding their horns at grade crossings. Many of them are in such a hurry going nowhere, it would appear, that if there is any stopping to be done the train is supposed to do it. Hence the honking at crossings. It is a great idea!

After an illness that had been of a serious nature for the past eleven weeks, Mrs. Sarah J. Pike, 78, died Monday morning about 9.30 at her home on Main street, opposite Davis park. Mrs. Pike was born in Plainfield July 16, 1846, a daughter of Charles and Susan Phillips Crane, and for many years until coming to Danielson was a resident of that place. Mrs. Pike was the widow of William E. Pike, who died many years ago. She leaves a daughter, Mrs. Ella Adams, with whom she made her home here, and a son, John Gallup, of Moosup. Mrs. Pike was twice married, her first husband being Luther Gallup

John Crosby, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry D. Crosby of Academy street, went to Hartford Monday for a conference with a specialist relative to whether one of the bones in his leg, broken in a high school football game here last Thanksgiving day, will have to be broken and again set. An X-ray indicates that the bone in question overlaps about an inch at the place where it was broken and causes the youth to limp. Upon his return here Tuesday evening it was stated that no further operation is necessary, that the leg is mending as well as can be expected and that its condition will materially improve in time.

The zest that comes to youth with spring may be responsible for the high aimed rock throwing that has resulted in the breaking of window panes on an upstairs level of the graded school at School street. Whatever the reason, the windows have been broken and it is believed the mischief was done with stones. The police are making an investigation.

Patrick P. Lyons, 73, native of Ireland and many years resident in Dayville, died at his home in that place Monday morning. Mr. Lyons had been an employe in the carding room of the Assawaga Woolen company. A daughter, Mrs. William Carpenter, of Dayville, survives him.

STATE OFFICER KEITH SHOT IN THIGH BY OWN REVOLVER

(Special to The Bulletin)

Danielson, March 23.—State Officer Merrill Keith was wounded Monday evening when a 38 calibre revolver he was handling was accidentally discharged, in a room at the barracks on North Main street. The bullet entered the right thigh, went downward until it struck a bone and was deflected, passing out of the leg just above the knee.

A physician attended Officer Keith at the barracks and he was afterward removed to his home. While the injury is a very painful one it is not expected to develop any serious consequences.

STOLEN CAR RECOVERED NEAR FOSTER CENTER

(Special to The Bulletin)

Danielson, March 23.—A Ford coupe stolen from School street where it was parked by its owner, Herbert Hopkins, a week ago last Saturday night, was recovered Monday, near Foster Center, R. I., about seven miles east of here. The car was minus its battery, a collapsible steering wheel, motometer, tools and other things. The car was abandoned some time during Sunday night or early Sunday morning, but where it had been since it was stolen there is nothing to indicate. The car was brought back here by Mr. Hopkins.

PUTNAM

Simon Bertraume was in the city court Monday mornning, charged with keeping liquor with intent to sell and with one actual sale was arrested last Thursday and the case was continued to Monday. He pleaded guilty to both counts and Judge Geissler fined him $200 on each count with costs of $15.00. And $400 more went into the city treasury.

Putnam High school basketball team is not likely to compete in the eastern Connecticut interscholastic basketball tourney to be held at Storrs College, owing to the postponement of this event from last week to March 27-28. A mild outbreak of scarlet fever at the state college was the direct reason of the postponement.

O. F. Smith, coach of the Putnam High, and Coach Keyes of the Tourtelotte High both state that their teams will not compete in the tournament. Putnam does not care to prolong its training period in order to take part and for Tourtelotte it would mean the postponement of the annual Washington trip of the senior class, since the majority of the team members belong to the graduating class.

At the superior court session at Putnam divorced were granted to two women petitioners, Inex C. Curtiss of Danielson was given a decree from Nelson L. Curtiss, now of Griswold, Conn., on the ground of cruelty.

He married Elizabeth Holmes March 15, 1882, and they had one child, Clara May, who died in infancy.

In early life he was baptized at Westerly and later became a member of the De Ruyter Seventh Day Baptist church, where he was a faithful member the remainder of his life. April 19, 1908, he was chosen deacon of the church and was ordained at a meeting of the Central association at De Ruyter the following June. He was also moderator of the church at the time of his death.

Mr. Crandall had been in good health up to about a week before his death, when he suffered a shock.

Besides his wife he is survived by his only sister, Mrs. Charles H. Stanton, and a nephew, Harry C. Crandall both of Westerly.

MYSTIC

The sudden death of Mrs. Ann Rollinson, 81, widow of Samuel C. Rollinson, formerly of Wakefield, R. I., occurred at the home of her son, Wilfred L. Rollinson of West Mystic avenue Friday night. Mrs. Rollinson who had been making her home with her son during the winter was in her usual health Friday morning. Either going up or down stairs, it is thought, she must have been stricken with a shock, as she was found at the foot of the stairs unable to account for anything that had happened and she was found soon after it occurred by her daughter-in-law. She had severe bruises on her forehead, a fractured wristbone and her back and thigh were badly wrenched. A doctor and nurse were called and she lived from 11 a. m., until a few minutes before midnight. The body was taken to Wakefield, R. I., where funeral services were held Monday afternoon in the Baptist church of which she had been a faithful member for many years. She was a kind mother and leaves a number of warm friends who deeply regret her death. She leaves four sons, Wilfred L. Rollinson of Mystic, F. B. SAYS GEORGE J. GOULD WAS RECKLESS IN WALL STREET

New York, March 23—Frank Seabury, counsel for Frank Gould, in the accounting suit over the $82,000,000 estate of Jay Gould, declared in his summation today that George J. Gould, "was not only recreant to his trust but he was a daring and reckless Wall street speculator."

Mr. Seabury, who began his summation on Friday morning told Referee O'Gorman, that he would probably require part of tomorrow to complete his review of the evidence in support of the contention of his client that the estate had been mismanaged by George J. Gould.

Although Germany was an important competitor in the automobile tire trade before the war, today it is an unimportant factor.

Her Wonderful Teeth

Remove the dingy film that's clouding yours and you'll be surprised that your teeth are just as white and charming as any one's—make this unique test.

HERE is a simple test that proves the truth that most of us have pretty teeth without ever knowing we have, or ever revealing it.

This is the reason:

Run your tongue across your teeth, and you will feel a film. A film which absorbs discolorations and hides the natural color of your teeth.

Remove it and your teeth take on a new beauty. Maybe you have really beautiful teeth without realizing it.

Film is charged too with most tooth troubles. It clings to teeth, gets into crevices and stays. Germs breed in it. And they, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea.

So, besides loss of tooth beauty, film is a serious danger to healthy teeth. You must remove and constantly combat it. It is ever present, ever forming.

Old-time dentifrices were unable to combat it successfully. And tooth troubles were a serious problem.

Now modern science has discovered a new way. A new-type tooth paste called Pepsodent that acts to curdle film, then harmlessly to remove it. No soap or chalk, no harsh grit dangerous to enamel.

Mail the coupon for a 10-day tube free. Or, buy a full size tube at any druggist's today. See what beauty lies beneath the film on your teeth.

WOMAN'S BACK STOPPED ACHING

I Suffered Three Years. Relieved by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

St. Paul, Minn.—"I have a little girl three years old and ever since her birth I have suffered with my back as if it were breaking in two and I had a bearing down feeling all the time. I also had dizzy spells and was sick at my stomach every month. I had read several letters from women in the newspapers and the druggist recommended Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to my husband for me. As a result of taking it my back has stopped aching and the awful bearing-down feeling is gone. I feel stronger and do all of my housework and tend to my little girl. I have also taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Liver Pills for constipation. I have recommended these medicines to some of my friends and you may use this letter as a testimonial if you wish. I will be pleased to answer letters of other women if I can help them by telling them what this medicine has done for me."—Mrs. PRICE, 147 W. Summit Avenue, St. Paul, Minnesota.

Many years ago a physician discovered it—

SOOTHING, healing Resinol Ointment. Since then doctors have been prescribing it widely for skin and scalp troubles, because they know that its unvarying quality, its gentle medication, and the success which attends its use are sufficient to insist on Resinol.

It seldom fails to give quick relief in all itching, burning skin troubles, because its soothing properties cause it to ease the irritation while healing the disorder.

Resinol Soap is a ready aid in treating skin troubles, and is a favorite for the toilet and bath with thousands who like its cleansing, refreshing lather.

SHOWS NEED FOR ZONING.

With Norwich in the midst of a campaign for a zoning law, and seeking in common with other cities of the state to provide proper protection for property and investment in various districts, perhaps no better argument for the existence and the adoption of such a law could be asked than the petition which has been sought for the establishment of a large garage in the center of the business district that will involve the crossing of one of the most used sidewalks of the city.

That there will be scores of objectors to such a proposal, not only from property owners in the immediate vicinity but from those who have the welfare and appearance of the city at heart can be anticipated.

That there will be general support given to the decision which has been reached by the fire marshal in refusing a permit for the erection of such a building at that point is sincerely believed.

With the final decision resting with the court of common council there seems to be no question as to what action ought to be taken there for the benefit of one of the most important and most used streets of the city.

In this instance there does not arise the question which has come to the front repeatedly about extending a new building beyond the long existing building line, but it is one of those matters which a zoning law is intended to cover, whether the matter under consideration happens to be in the heart of the business district or in the manufacturing or residential sections. If Norwich has not been warming up to a zoning law as it should this is one development which should bring it forward for serious consideration.

THE NEXT TAX BILL.

From Washington there comes word to the effect that when a new tax reduction bill is introduced care will be taken to see that it does not bear the name of the secretary of the treasury. The inference from this is that there will be an endeavor to avoid opposition because of personal animus.

It is known of course that Senator Couzens sees red every time the name of Secretary Mellon is mentioned. He has demonstrated his personal feelings against one of the greatest secretaries of the treasury the country has ever had, and while Senator Couzens may not be a necessary influence in connection with the securing of tax reduction it is a cutting in federal taxation that is desired and the wisdom of removing any impediments will be appreciated. It is by no means the name of the bill that carries weight with the administration or the country, provided the desired ends are accomplished. It makes no difference whether it is the Mellon bill or a bill bearing the name of some member of congress, if it hits the mark. What is desired is to get congress to pass honest judgment upon it and adopt the provisions to which the country is entitled.

The treasury department is bound to play an important part in furnishing the facts and figures for the drawing up of tax reducing legislation. It was as an expert, and for the purpose of going about the cutting in a scientific manner and with the aim to get the best results, that Secretary Mellon responded to the call for suggestions from the last congress. Since as such efforts may be there are those who are only too eager to distort and misrepresent, and even to claim that an executive department is trying to order congress about.

It is in anticipation of what may be expected as the result of past experiences that plans are already underway concerning the name that may or may not be given to the forthcoming tax reduction measure. It is a move which has for its object the obtaining of a proper reduction in taxes for the country.

STREET ACCIDENTS.

When the National Safety Council makes report following a careful investigation of accidents in which motor vehicles and pedestrians are involved, finds that it is not the jay walker that is responsible for the great majority of the accidents, but that they occur at crossings where there is police supervision, it becomes evident that there must be greater cooperation between the drivers of motor vehicles and the pedestrians than there has been in the past or else there must be an extension of the position which has been taken by a Pennsylvania judge that there are rights to which the pedestrian is entitled at crossings, the same as on the sidewalks, and that the drivers of vehicles must be prepared to safeguard and respect those rights.

At crossings there may or may not be any real protection afforded for the pedestrians. There are times when pedestrian traffic moves with the vehicular traffic, and yet there are instances when one or both moving close to signals is likely to become involved in an accident. It is in connection with such an affair that the Pennsylvania judge holds that the driver of the auto must be prepared to stop under such circumstances and have his car under such control that a collision will be avoided.

There is a big responsibility that rests upon all users of the highway. It is not a place to be taking chances. There is and will continue to be great need for looking out for self and also for the other fellow. It is much preferable for either to yield than to become involved in an accident, and in too many instances it is the unwillingness to do this that is responsible for accidents.

When it comes to children there is a problem that rests heavily upon the shoulders of the parents. There cannot be too much stress placed upon keeping out of the streets and always looking before crossing. A daily implantation of such safety points will make the right impression. While they easily get their minds charged with other things to the exclusion of about everything, there are plenty of cases which show the good results of constant drilling in behalf of safety first.

PROPOSED MEDICAL ACT.

Of much interest to the people of Connecticut is the hearing that is to be given today on the proposed medical act for this state. This proposed legislation is the direct outcome of the disclosures which were made when the conditions under which quacks and diploma-mill products were doing business in this state and were able to get licenses to deal with health conditions were disclosed.

It was evident then that the people of this state were in need of much better protection than they were getting from the laws. A special commission was put to work to provide a law that would give the needed safeguards and the act to protect public health is the product of its investigation and study.

It is required that all who practice the art of healing, which is defined, must have a license, issued by the state board of medical regulation made up of laymen appointed by the governor, which board shall have the assistance of expert examiners and examinations will be so conducted as not to discriminate against any bona-fide organization, sect or school. Existing licenses which have not been obtained by fraud will remain unimpaired.

The aim of the act is to meet the deplorable situation that has been disclosed, to insure competent persons in all branches of the healing art and to safeguard the public against a flood of incompetents, who have neither the training nor the ability to render the service expected of them.

Possibly the bill isn't perfect. There may be need for amendments in some places, but if there are weaknesses now is the time to have them pointed out. If there is opposition it should be for good and sufficient reason, and after a thorough understanding of the bill's provision.

PERSHING'S SELECTION.

Confidence in any plebiscite depends upon the manner in which it is conducted and those upon whom the responsibility of carrying out the provisions rests.

In the decision reached by President Coolidge concerning the Tacna-Arica matter between Chile and Peru provision was made for a commission to have charge of the plebiscite, each country to name one commissioner and the third to be appointed by the United States.

In the naming of General Pershing for the commissioner representing the United States, and serving as chairman, President Coolidge has not only picked a man nationally known but one of outstanding international prominence. General Pershing has just completed a tour of South American countries, and he is a man who must impress not only those countries which are directly concerned, but all others, that no better man could have been selected to direct, with the aid of two assistants, the unenviable task of determining the wish of the people of those two provinces.

Fairness is of the utmost importance. Likewise it will be necessary to guard against the exercise of force and intimidation. General Pershing's position as a military commander eminently qualifies him for establishing the necessary safeguards and taking the precautions that may be required for seeing that all are given a full and free opportunity to express their views at the voting places when the time to do so comes.

WASHINGTON AFFAIRS

(Special to The Bulletin.)

Washington, March 23—Whatever the merits of the Warren controversy—and it will avail little to discuss it longer—the final vote on the confirmation of the president's selection for attorney general, which was 46 against to 39 for, served to impress on the American people that the republican party, while it may have a majority for organization purposes in the senate as a result of the November elections, is just about as far away from having a sufficient control of the senate to put over administration policies as it was a year ago.

The day following the first vote on Warren a Washington paper ran a cartoon showing the democratic donkey and the one-horned goat of the radicals hitched together to a harrow, driven by Senator Borah, and leveling the field of "Coolidge policies." It was entitled "In harness again." The cartoonist's idea, apparently, was to create the impression that Borah had succeeded La ollette as the leader of the radicals. In this one, is fain to believe that the artist erred with respect to Borah and that Senator Bingham, of Connecticut voiced the general opinion of Borah when he said, in discussing the Warren nomination:

"I should be the last to impute to the senior senator from Idaho any narrow partisanship. He has always in his record here shown that he makes up his own mind without regard to partisanship and acts in accordance with the dictates of his own conscience."

A gratifying sequel to the organization of 350 republican clubs in colleges and universities throughout the country last year is the announcement that more than 200,000 college students will vote the republican ticket in next year's congressional elections, and of course a larger number in the next presidential election. That number of votes is not important in comparison with the whole number cast in the country. But it is highly significant because of its source. It has the wholesome and encouraging meaning that the young men and women in the colleges are learning to regard practical politics as worthy of their attention, and voting as their civic duty. As the colleges of today will be the leaders in professional and business life of tomorrow, their participation in politics gives promise of an increasingly healthful spirit in public affairs.

The British rejection of the protocol of peace at Geneva, which probably assures the final abandonment of that pernicious instrument, was a two-fold vindication of American policy as steadfastly maintained by the present republican administration—the policy of remaining outside of the league of nations, and that of giving our adherence to the permanent court of international justice on terms consistent with our own Constitution. The reasons given by Mr. Chamberlain for British rejection of the protocol were largely identical with the American reasons for not entering the league, and they suggest cause for profound gratitude for our absence from a body capable of producing and seriously proposing an instrument which was in fact chiefly a revival of the most offensive principles of that old-time holy alliance against which the Monroe doctrine was framed and directed.

The abandonment of the protocol, which will probably be the result of the British action, will open the way for our entrance into the court, which, had the protocol been adopted, would have been quite impossible. Flouting some of the most important fundamental principles of international law, reducing the permanent court of international justice to a powerless puppet, and placing all the world's power of declaring war or concluding peace in the unrestrained hands of a council of ten politicians, the so-called "protocol of peace" was in fact a protocol of war and despotism.

President Coolidge's statesmanlike proclamation of Forest week deserves the careful attention and sympathetic response of the whole nation. In it he indicates with convincing clarity and directness the true solution of what has come to be called the forest problem. "There must," he says, "be a change in our national attitude. Our industries, our landowners, our farmers, all our citizens, must learn to treat our forests as crops—to be used but also to be renewed. We must learn to tend our woodlands as carefully as we tend our farms." That is the policy which other nations have pursued, with great success and profit. It is the policy which we must adopt, if we are not to suffer the woes of a treeless country.

Clem L. Shaver, democratic national chairman, wants the leaders of the various factions of that party to get together, sink their differences and effect a harmonious reorganization. The same desire is strongly expressed by Franklin D. Roosevelt, democratic candidate for the vice-presidency in 1920 and expectant candidate for the presidency in 1928. It is also put forth with much detail and circumstance by Professor Allen Sinclair Will in an article in "The North American Review: "So, we recall, according to Shakespeare, Owen Glendower once boasted, "I can call spirits from the vasty deep." But a cynical interlocutor shrewdly demanded, "Will they come when you do call?"

Consider the wool industry, how it grows; they toil and likewise do they spin, and Solomon in all his glory was not arrayed like Americans of the present day. Let us note a decade of development: In 1914 the census bureau counted 799 mills engaged in the manufacture of woolen and worsted goods. These factories employed, to use round numbers, 159,000 hands, who were paid an aggregate in wages of $476,000,000 or an average per capita, part and full time, skilled and unskilled, of $480 a year. The cost of materials was $246,500,000, the value of products was $379,500,000, and the value added by manufacture, $133,000,000.

In 1923, according to a bulletin just issued by the census bureau, there were 851 mills engaged in the industry. They employed 194,500 wage-earners, who were paid an aggregate of of $1150, an increase of nearly 140 per $223,000,000, or an average per capita cent over 1914. The cost of materials was $623,000,000, an advance of 163 per cent in the course of the decade; the value of products was $1,063,000,000, and the value added by manufacture was $440,000,000.

The woolen industry today is protected by tariff rates. So is the wool which the farmer produces. In 1911, under the protective policy, we had 53,000,000 sheep. The democrats free-listed wool in 1913 and in 1920 the number of sheep had fallen to 35,000,000. Protection to wool was restored in 1922 and last year we counted over 38,000,000 sheep and more are coming along this year. Meanwhile, the price of wool clothing, while it has advanced appreciably, compared with 1914, has not begun to record such an increase as have wages and the cost of materials.

IN THE PUBLIC EYE

Saul Singer, who is to be banqueted in New York tonight in celebration of his election as vice president of one of the big banks in the metropolis, landed in the United States 25 years ago as a Russian immigrant and began his career as a worker in a sweatshop. When he arrived he knew very little of the English language, but he learned enough to express his opinion concerning the dreary life of the sweatshop worker, and, according to his story of his experiences, he determined as an immigrant lad that he would some day remedy the conditions then existing. This he was enabled to accomplish in later years through his exertions and influence as president of the Cloak, Suit and Skirt Manufacturers' Association. Among employers of garment workers he insisted upon more healthful conditions for the needle workers, and to this end and largely through his influence many state laws were enacted.

A MATTER OF INCHES

If a man is but five feet four inches in his stocking feet that fact is nothing against him but he must step discreetly. So Andy White instinctively had no eyes for any girl who was not a wisp, a dainty little creature with whom he could feel a bluff, strong brute of a man. Somehow, Loraine English had talked to him ten minutes before Andy realized that she stood head and shoulders above him. He lost interest in the conversation at once. It cramped his ideas to realize that when they arose from the dinner table Loraine would be one of those lithe, sky-scrapery girls utterly outside his pale.

A pang of real fear shot across him later when she deliberately called him over to her to talk. He went home dazed and upset, was almost unhappy. Small men who went around with tall girls always were called shrimps by the girl's youthful relatives! Good looking, but heavens, she was tall!

Andy hastily called up the smallest girl he knew and took her out to dance and regained his comfortable feeling of being big and strong. He observed that her eyes were not as big and dark and that she talked about herself all the time.

One day when he started down Michigan avenue and Loraine emerged from a shop just in time to step along with him for a few blocks he was almost gruff in return for her bright chatter. Somebody he knew was sure to be back of them and he could hear the inane jokes—the long-and-short of it and quips like that. Just as he expected the club cut-up hailed him next day at lunch.

"Who's your stunning friend?" was what he demanded. "Some looker, you lucky dog!"

Andy knew what Henry was thinking, even if he didn't dare say it! Golly, why didn't the girl have sense enough to turn the corner when she saw him coming?

When he found her among the guests at a dance his heart sank, but she only nodded cheerfully at him. Andy was so relieved that he maneuvered to sit at her table at supper—such good sense should be rewarded, although he did not put it exactly after that fashion. It was too bad there was a difference in their stature because he should have liked to have danced with her otherwise.

She was bright and ufany and clever and sweet all mixed up together and her eyes were lovely pools of darkness. Andy found himself remembering them when he smoked a last cigarette at night.

Being in the same crowd they met frequently. One night the most shocking and unexpected wave of red rage surged through Andy when he watched Loraine dancing with a handsome man who stood over six feet. Andy shook so that he turned abruptly, blindly away through the first door and never knew it was a staircase before him until he plunged heavily downward with a crash.

When he came to his eyes opened on Loraine's face just above his. She was dripping cold water from her finger tips on his forehead and when she saw he was conscious her face quivered surprisingly and she gasped, "Oh, Andy!"

"Loraine!" he breathed in reply and somehow had his arms around her and she was whispering that she thought he was killed. The rest of the circle of people somehow did not count at all.

"Why, I hated the idea at first like poison!" Loraine told Andy when they were finally engaged and deliriously happy. "But now it doesn't seem to matter in the least, your being shorter than I am!"

"I should say not!" Andy laughed. "Why, I never even think about your being taller than I am! How foolish!"

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Time to Check Tendency to Deterioration.

Mr. Editor: The Bulletin of March 7th has just found me. As I have been autoing through Florida The Bulletin failed to reach me.

It is interesting to see how differently tourists see the conditions of a country that they tour through. I have been in Florida since Nov. 1, and have had an opportunity to have something more to say about the moral conditions than your correspondent of Danielson. Sitting on the piazza of the Windsor hotel, Jacksonville, day after day, listening to the excellent band one would have the happy vision of the city that prompted the above correspondent to glorify the "aridity" of Florida.

The flying squadron visited this city in the interests of law enforcement. I was one of about 25 who attended the morning session and one of less than 50 who attended the afternoon session. The two evening sessions, I was told, had scant attendance, which shows that there was no keen interest in law enforcement in the largest city in Florida.

At the morning session Judge Simons gave a heart-breaking account of the lack of "aridity" in Jacksonville and the superintendent of schools told a most shocking story of the moral conditions in the schools, how boys came so intoxicated that they had to be carried home and others would fall asleep with breaths foul with the odor of liquor which they drank the night before. With the greatest earnestness he drove home the fact that there was something radically wrong in the homes and the city of Jacksonville. I was told that on New Year's night nearly one hundred young people were taken from the streets by the police. I do not dare write here the awful conditions existing in the schools as was reported to me not only in Jacksonville but in other sections of Florida. They are almost beyond belief.

Personally, I did not see the booze conditions because I did not go where I could see it but I was told by those who attended functions in the grill rooms of some of the finest, so-called, hotels in Florida one could get anything intoxicating they called for. So much for the "aridity" and "interference with personal liberty" in the beautiful state of Florida.

I thought very seriously of making Florida my home state—but not now. Give me my native state—New York —and my adopted state—Connecticut —bad as they are, in preference. Floridas whole talk is booming real estate and truly they are making it the beautiful garden of the world. "What profit it, if a man gain the whole world and lose his own soul?" What is to be expected of the womanhood of America when our young girls are universally painting their faces and wearing dresses almost to their knees and last but not least, smoking cigarettes? What has become of modesty? Why must our young people have their "petting parties"?

I have tried to feel optimistic about the future of our country, but when I see women smoking everywhere I realize that unless there is a change our country must go the way of other countries that have risen to great heights of prosperity and culture. We are now on the downward course.

Dr. Robinson said, "When women smoke the race is doomed." At a banquet given in New York city this toast was given by one of the prominent New York men: "To women, who were our superiors, now our equals." There is much food for thought in this toast. I happened to be in a company where this toast was repeated and a young man said, "Now our inferiors." He told how last summer at a seaside resort several young popular society women urged him to smoke cigarettes. Another remarked "Men can't be decent nowadays—the girls won't let them." I have seen enough with my own eyes this winter in our fashionable hotels to make me feel that there is too much truth in the above remarks and it has made me heartsick over the future.

It has been proven that 90 per cent of the crimes are by youths under 25 years of age. The question is being asked throughout our country, "What is the matter with our country?" The Catholics and Seventh Day Adventists have their own schools because they will have the Bible taught to their children. Protestant public schools are without any religious teaching and we are producing a race of Godless men and women. We are notoriously known as a law-breaking people. Law breaking has increased 1200 per cent in comparatively few years. It has been a gradual growth until now it has become a scandal world wide. What is the cure? Christ in the heart; the Christian principle of purity of thought, word and action. The painting of faces, smoking of cigarettes and display of legs by our girls and women are not conducive to either. If our beloved country is to be saved men and women must wake up and face about and cooperate to change the present trend to deterioration if it is not too late. It may be that the evil virus has so inoculated the masses that we are a doomed nation. Hitherto we have been like the ostrich, hiding our heads in the sand, refusing to face the rising tide of crime and minorality. The destruction of our young people is at our door.

MARINDA C. ROBINSON.

In the Practice of Christian Science.

Mr. Editor: As reported in a recent issue of your paper, Bishop Chauncey B. Brewster spoke kindly of Christian Science in a sermon, when he said "Christian Science is right in many things. It is right when it teaches the power of mind over matter and the power of the spirit to exercise control over the body." We would, however, point out that in the practice of Christian Science, it is not the exercise of human will, but the operation of the divine Mind which heals.

Bishop Brewster is evidently not fully informed regarding the real teaching of Christian Science, when he stated that "it denies the reality of things." In Science and Health with key to the Scriptures, which contains the whole and undivided garment of Christian Science, Mrs. Eddy reveals the nature and character of God as divine Life, Truth and Love. And on page 472 she writes: "All reality is in God and His creation, harmonious and eternal." "That which He creates is good, and He makes all that is made. Therefore the only reality of sin, sickness or death is the awful fact that unrealities seem real to human, erring belief, until God strips off their disguise. They are not true, because they are not of God."

By authority of the Scripture God being all and in all—all power and presence—it follows that Christian Scientists believe in the reality of God, His spiritual universe including spiritual man, and deny the unreality of all that is unlike the divine qualities of God.

Jesus, the Master Metaphysician said, (John 6, 23) 'It is the spirit that quickeneth; the flesh profiteth nothing: the words that I speak unto you, they are spirit, and they are life."

Even physical scientists understand and are proving today that matter can no longer be regarded as substance or reality.

Therefore while Christian Science denies the seeming reality of the claims of sin, disease and death, it affirms the power and presence of God to help and heal every condition in human experience.

Christian Scientists are proving their faith and spiritual understanding by their works.

IN THE DAY'S NEWS

ADELAIDE

Adelaide, capital of South Australia, where workers, going beyond the government's "white Australia" policy, recently staged a protest in criticism of the kind of white immigrants who were arriving, is the subject of the following bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

"Adelaide's pride in its citizenry probably has been a definite community feeling all along," says the bulletin, "based on the fact that it was the first Australian colony to be started directly from England with other than convicts. The selection of a site around the southeast corner of the continent from the existing settlements and 600 miles westward along the southern coast gave the new colonists an isolation that produced a marked individuality before railroads came along to bind them back again as neighbors to New South Wales and Victoria.

"Americans can gauge Adelaide's age by the fact that it was founded while our own pioneers were forging westward planting cities of their own. It had its beginning in 1836 the year in which colonists in our southwest wrested Texas from Mexico, in which Arkansas became a state, and during the period when St. Louis was making its first marked growth under American influence. To British ears its name, too, fixes its birth date, for it was named for Queen Adelaide, consort of William IV, whose death in 1837 placed Queen Victoria on the British throne.

"Adelaide is the only great city in Australia not directly on the coast. it was established six miles up the Torrens river from St. Vincent gulf. Almost simultaneously, however, Port Adelaide was built some six miles from the city and seven or eight miles up the coast from the river's mouth. Connected with the city, first by highways and later by rail, the port is now practically a part of Adelaide. The situation is not unlike that of Los Angeles, also established inland, which has built its port on the nearest salt water; or like that of Lima, Peru, which has its port, Callao, eight miles distant.

"Adelaide is the third city in size in Australia, being surpassed only by Sydney and Melbourne. Its population of about 260,000 makes its comparable to Portland, Oregon, or Denver. It is well built and is particularly rich in parks. One unique feature is the ringing round of the business district by a zone of park land beyond which lies the residential sections. Wide streets and substantial buildings, combined with the parks, give Adelaide at once the appearance of a thriving mart of trade and a substantial home city.

"Adelaide owes much to its immediate surroundings. It is set down in a vale of plenty. The plain of Adelaide which surrounds the city and extends up and down the coast, is a level and fertile region closely packed with farms and gardens. Back of this 15 mile strip, about seven or eight miles from the city rises the Mt. Lofty range of hills affording excellent pasturage. The gentler slopes are used for fruit growing and wine production. In the rougher portions of the hills many prosperous Adelaidians have built summer homes.

"Parks do not stop with Adelaide's municipal limits. Numerous national parks and reservations have been set apart in the hills. Good highways connect them with the city and a government Tourist Bureau operates motor busses to these pleasure spots making them accessible for small fares. In the other direction Adelaide has a bevy of sea-side resorts within easy reach."

Stories That Recall Others

He Knew His History

The owner of the building had instructed the janitor to raise the flag on Washington's birthday. When he arrived at the office the owner took note of the fact that his order had been obeyed, but the flag was at half mast. He told the janitor to raise it to the top of the pole, but he was moved to inquire, "Why on earth did you put it at half mast?"

"Well, George Washington is dead, isn't he?"

A Particular Customer.

The firm of clothing dealers has many problems to solve relative to the architecture of men's clothing, but an agent recently handed in a deep one. The letter tells its own story:

"Am returning to you today via parcel post the pair of pants ordered special from you for a customer. The waist measure and length are all o. k. but the pants are too small in the leg for him. When he got them on he was unable to pull them up to take his socks off. If you can send same length and waist measure with bigger legs, do so at once."

The result was that the "socks-off" customer got a pair of sheik trousers that would make Valentino's famous bell bottoms look narrow guage.

GAVE SURPRISE FAREWELL FOR MISS NELLIE KINGSLEY

On Monday evening the degree team of Mercier Assembly, No. 12, C. L. of C., tendered a surprise farewell party to one of their members, Miss Nellie Kingsley, who is soon to leave for Hartford. The color scheme for the evening was green and white with dainty place cards, candles and unique favors in keeping with the spirit of the evening. A surprise cake was cut, the different articles affording much amusement to the winners.

During the evening a handsome leather traveling bag was presented to Miss Kingsley by Mrs. Hannah Eirmann with the good wishes of the degree team for Miss Kingsley in her future work.

Cards and music concluded a most enjoyable evening.

To Attend Zoning Hearing

Arrangements for attending the legislative hearing in Hartford on city zoning bill for the state were made at a meeting of the civic pride committee of the Norwich Chamber of Commerce which was held Monday afternoon at 5 o'clock at the Chamber of Commerce rooms. Walter F. Lester, chairman of the committee, presided. Chairman Lester, secretary John J. O'Rourke, corporation counsel William H. Shields Jr., and civil engineer Shepard B. Palmer are among those expecting to attend the hearing and a conference that will be held in the morning.

Delta Epsilon Phi Whist.

On Friday the members of Delta Epsilon Phi sorority gave a bridge and whist of twelve tables at the home of Miss Agges Deane. The first bridge prize was awarded to Helen Tirrell, and the consolation to Doris Browning. In whist Ruth Furlong had the highest score and Helen Risley received the consolation. At the close of the evening light refreshments were served.

HARTFORD DRIVER IS HELD AFTER AUTO CRASH NEAR THAMES SQUARE

A Chevrolet delivery machine driven by David Goldberg of Voluntown and a Ford coupe owned and driven by Charles Turner of No. 62 Church street, Hartford, collided Monday evening about 7:30 o'clock on West Main street, near Thames square. As a result of the accident the Hartford driver was summoned to appear in the city court this (Tuesday) morning to answer a charge of violation of the motor vehicle laws.

Following the accident both drivers were escorted to police headquarters by Officer Peter Sullivan. Goldberg claimed that he was driving down the West Main street hill leading into Thames square when the Hartford machine, in passing him, collided with his machine, considerably damaging it and pushing it into the gutter.

Mr. Turner stated that he was past the Chevrolet when the crash occurred and that Goldberg's machine ran into his coupe. Mr. Turner was summoned to appear in court this morning to answer to a charge of failure to grant the right of way.

Both front mudguards on the Voluntown machine were damaged as was the steering gear and the engine was put out of commission as the machine could not be started after the collision. The running board on the Hartford machine was damaged to some extent. The Chevrolet is owned by Fannie Goldberg of Voluntown.

A number of new games were played by a group of 20 scouts in the capacious Y. M. H. A. hall.

THEATER OWNERS OPPOSE NEW AMUSEMENT BILL

Strong opposition to the amusement bill, which would make unlawful for boys under 14 or girls under 16 to attend a theater unless accompanied by parent or guardian, was expressed at a meeting held here Monday at the Wauregan hotel by the Eastern Connecticut theater owners association. In the opinion of the theater owners, the bill is too drastic and a committee consisting of Hyman Schwartz, Joseph S. Nejime and Edward McEvoy, all of this city, was appointed to confer with Senator Lee Roy Robbins, with whom they discussed particularly the age limit and the jail sentence penalty provided for under the bill.

The association re-elected its officers as follows: President, John R. Pickett, Willimantic; treasurer, J. A. Alpert, Putnam; and secretary, Joseph S. Nejime. Others in attendance were Morris Posner, New London; Joseph Raymond, Wauregan; N. F. Fournier, Moosup; H. W. Fontaine, Plainfield; and D. Barnett, Jewett City.

TO GIVE HEARING ON PROPOSED MEDICAL ACT

There is state-wide interest in the hearing to be held this (Tuesday) afternoon at 1.30 in the hall of the house of representatives at Hartford upon the proposed medical practice act, which has been introduced by Senator Brigham of the Seventh district.

The following is the text of the proposed act:

Unlicensed Practice Forbidden.

Section 1. That no person shall engage in any way or to any extent in the practice of the healing art as a profession or business or occupation except as licensed thereto in the manner hereinafter provided, nor unless registered under and in accordance with the provisions of this act as a legally licensed practitioner of the hearing art.

Section 2. Any person shall be deemed to be engaged in the practice of the healing art as a business, occupation or profession within the meaning of this act who shall diagnose or attempt or offer to diagnose the nature or cause or condition of any abnormal or painful or deleterious or traumatic or pathological state or functioning of the body or mind of another person, whether actual, imaginary, or hypothetical, or who shall administer, prescribe or advise any remedy or treatment or appliance as being actually, probably or hypothetically a remedy or treatment or appliance for any such state or functioning of the body or mind of another person, whether actual, imaginary or hypothetical, or who shall perform or advise any operation, whether surgical or otherwise, for any such state or functioning of the body or mind of another person, whether actual, imaginary or hypothetical, or who shall diagnose or advise or prescribe for pregnancy or childbirth or in any way practice obstetics. Any person shall be deemed within the meaning of this act to be engaged in the practice of the healing art as a profession, business, and occupation, who shall perform any of the acts or do any of the things above mentioned as constituting practice of the healing art for any valuable consideration directly or indirectly received by him or another, or charged, demanded or expected to be so received, or who shall by any advertisement, or circular, or written or printed matter, or by a letterhead or display of any sign or by representations or offers of any kind by any form of words whether oral or written, or by a use in connection with his name of such letters or words as "doctor" or "healer" or "Dr." or "M. D.", or by conduct of any kind hold himself out to others as standing ready or willing to attempt to prevent, cure or alleviate ailments, or injuries of other persons, or to perform some one or more of the acts or do some one or more of the things which are above mentioned as constituting practice of the healing art as a business, occupation or profession.

Who Are Exempted.

Section 3. The following classes of persons are specifically exempted from the prohibitions and penalties of this act, but in any legal proceeding the burden of proof shall be upon any person practicing the healing art as a profession or business or occupation to establish his exemption under this section;

1. Licensed practitioners of another state in consultation with a licensed practitioner of the State of Connecticut;

2. Licensed practitioners of an adjoining state residing therein, who do not maintain an office in the state of Connecticut for the reception of patients, or a place for the receipt of calls for their services, provided they have filed with the state department of health a true sworn certificate showing the facts as to their licensing to the satisfaction of said department and are registered with said department in the manner provided for persons licensed under this act.

3. Medical officers of the United States government in the performance of their official duties;

4. Scientifically educated chemists, physicists, bacteriologists, pathologists, biologists, and hospital internes, when acting either as research workers, or in assistance of, or under the direction or supervision of a licensed practitioner of the healing art duly registered under this act and in accordance with the provisions thereof;

5. Legally licensed pharmacists, provided they refrain from all diag-

OBITUARY

Mrs. Mary S. Clark

(Contributed.)

Mary Graves Stark was born in Hadlyme, Conn., Sept. 19, 1831, the daughter of Abial and Mary Griffing Stark. The family moved to North Lyme in the spring of 1834 and this remained her home till marriage.

She was an active church and Sunday School worker and a friend to all in the community. She attended school in her home town and in Norwich and New London. At eighteen she was engaged to teach a private school at Pepper-box Hill, Waterford, and she was a teacher for seven years. In 1851, she attended the Normal School at New Britain which was opened the previous year.

She did fine work with her needle, to which many pieces of her handiwork bear witness today. She made the suits of clothes her two oldest sons wore when they entered college. When the Wheeler and Wilson sewing-machine was introduced into New London, two machines were brought in and she purchased the second one sold, paying one hundred dollars for it, and indulged her spirit of enterprise in making "New Haven shirts," the work being sent, cut and ready for finishing.

She was fond of nature and out-of-door life. Her daily habits, as long as she lived, were system and order.

Feb. 26, 1850, she married Jonathan S. Clark of East Lyme, who died March 21, 1885. In 1876, they located in Colchester, that their children might be educated at Bacon Academy. Since 1910 she has made her home in New London with her daughter, M. Fanny Clark.

She leaves besides, three sons, three grand-children and three great-grand-children: Byron, and daughter Lillian Lee of Niantic, Homer Sr. of Dallas, Texas., whose sons are Hale Austin of Detroit, Mich. and Homer Jr. of Stratford, Conn., Theron Clark of the University of South California, Los Angeles. The great-grand-children are Marian Austin, Gordon Lewis and Sheldon Homer, children of Homer Clark Jr., Doris Mae, a daughter, was welcomed March 16 into this home.

At Eastertide, March 13, ninety-three years young, she has passed on with faculties of mind and body perfect, but with failing strength.

A quiet faith in God, manifest in perfect trust and gratitude for every blessing bestowed, marked her life. Friends and relatives have paid kind tributes.

Mrs. William Robinson.

After an illness of several months, the death of Harriet Williams Robinson, widow of William Robinson of New Haven, occurred Saturday afternoon at 5.45 o'clock at the home of her father, John W. Williams of West Main street, East Great Plain.

Mrs. Robinson was born in Norwich, January 15, 1887, the daughter of John W. and Georgianna Wheeler Williams, and spent the greater part of her life here. About ten years ago she was united in marriage with William Robinson of South Carolina, making her home in New Haven after her marriage. Mr. Robinson died about two years ago.

She is survived by her father, John W. Williams of Norwich, a sister, Alice Williams of this city, and several cousins. She was a member of Mr. Calvary Baptist church while in Norwich and had many friends here who learned of her death with deep sorrow.

Edward Jones.

The death of Edward Jones a resident in Yantic for many years, occurred Monday evening at 6.45 o'clock at his home there following an illness of ten days. His death was due to bronchial pneumonia.

Mr. Jones was the son of William and Ann Jones and was born in Newtown, Wales, Oct. 11, 1842, coming to this country about 58 years ago and settling in Glenham, N. Y. He lived in that place for one year and then came to Yantic where he has since been a resident. In Newtown, Wales, April 15, 1866, he was united in marriage with Miss Elizabeth Hamer, who died in Yantic twenty-two years ago.

He is survived by six children, Mrs. Sarah A. Schlough, of Waterbury, Edward A. Jones of Yantic, John B. H. Jones of Waterbury, William H. Jones of Oakville, Conn., Mrs. S. Howard Bishop of Yantic and Evan H. Jones of Waterbury. He leaves six grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

Mr. Jones was a member of Uncas lodge, Odd Fellows, and was an honary members of the Yantic Fire Engine company.

LEGION STATE COMMANDER MADE OFFICIAL VISIT

The March county meeting of the American Legion was held Sunday afternoon at the post rooms of Robert O. Fletcher Post, No. 4, American Legion, of this city with County Commander William A. Anderson in charge, and with Legion members from all towns in the district present.

State Commander Ned White paid his first official visit to the Legionaires of New London county at this meeting and spoke on the coming membership drive and also outlined the plans being laid for the big state convention of the Legion to be held in New London in August. Commander White also had a message on the good of the Legion and during his remarks indicated that the Connecticut Legion was due to go over big this year and that New London county with the convention here in August should certainly make a fine showing during the months intervening.

At the close of the county meeting Chef de Guerre Jonathan L. Johnson of the New London County Voiture No. 743, took charge and it was voted that this Voiture hold a banquet during the latter part of April. All particulars for this big event were left in charge of the committee comprising Charles L. Olsen, Norwich, chairman, John Cruise and William Reid of New London, Frank P. Chase, George Cutler of Colchester, Orville Arpin of Baltic, Max Schramm of Mystic. It was also voted to adopt a parade uniform and samples are being examined to be presented at the next meeting.

TUBERCULOSIS CHIEF CAUSE OF PERMANENT DISABILITY

Accidents, contrary to the general assumption, cut relatively a small figure among causes of disability resulting in complete and permanent loss of earning power. On the other hand tuberculosis against which vigorous campaigns have been waging for years, still stands out as the major cause.

Actuarial statisticians of the Prudential Insurance company of America have found in analyzing approximately 8,000 disability claims approved during the last ten years that disablements directly or indirectly due to accident made up only 3.4 per cent. of the whole, whereas tuberculosis was responsible for 41.2 per cent., or almost half.

Loss of sight or of limbs, attributable in some cases also to accident, but mainly the result of disease, accounted for an additional 2.4 per cent.

Next to tuberculosis insanity ranked as the greatest cause of disability. More than 1,400 cases were charged to it, with a percentage of 15.4. Next were cancer, with 10.3; paralysis, with 8; nervous diseases, 4, and derangements of the circulatory system, 3.3 per cent.

The cases examined included only those in which disability was considered total and permanent. Nevertheless the records show that about 840 of the disabled insured recovered, a fact ascribed by the investigators as partly due to the advance made in the treatment of disabling diseases, principally tuberculosis.

TEXTILE WORKERS ARE OUT OF HAZARDOUS CLASS

Spinning and weaving of cotton and wool, crafts which, with collateral trades in the textile mills, comprise nearly 750,000 workers in this country, are among the latest to be removed from the rapidly contracting list of occupations regarded by life insurance companies as hazardous.

A new rate book prepared by the Prudential Insurance company of America for immediate distribution to its 20,000 agents in the field, makes further premium concessions to operatives in cotton, woolen, worsted and knitting mills.

No so long ago—in the early days of life insurance in this country—workers in these crafts were flatly rejected as insurance risks. In comparatively recent years, however, successive editions of insurance rate books, which reflect the effect of improvements in working and living conditions in all departments of industry, have shown a marked tendency to let down the bars.

As a matter of fact about the only people who are not accepted on any terms for ordinary life insurance today are aviators, civilian divers and submarine workers, jockeys, steeplejacks, those engaged in the recovery of arsenic, sand blasters, certain classes of glass workers, lead burners operating within enclosures, hide salters in the packing industry, and fur cutters in hat manufactories.

In the department of industrial life insurance, where the sums involved are smaller and requirements fewer, the ban is even more limited. Almost anybody in good health and of insurable age can get an industrial policy, excepting aerial performers, acrobats and submarine workers.

For years there has been a gradual removal of restrictions which were once applied to a large number of industrial classifications. The liberalization of life insurance requirements in fact has kept step with the progress made in sanitation, public health work, the multiplication and efficiency of safety devices and the improvement in housing and living standards.

RED CHAPMAN WINS OVER DUNDEE IN FEATURE BOUT AT BOSTON ARENA

Boston, March 23.—Red Chapman of Chelsea tonight won a decision over Johnny Dundee of New York in a 10-round bout here. Both men exceeded the featherweight class limit, Chapman weighing 127 pounds and Dundee 131.

Clever boxing by Chapman, combined with aggressive tactics gave him an advantage over Dundee in eight of the ten rounds, according to ringside observers. Chapman beat Dundee to the punch consistently, scoring with a left jab to the face with a frequent right cross to the jaw.

Dundee led in points in the first round but in later rounds was unable to get set in the fast pace forced by Chapman. An effort to open up in the ninth was offset by a counter-offensive by Chapman. Dundee once forced Chapman to the ropes in this round but missed frequently.

Al Mellow of Lowell, former national amateur 147 pound champion, won a decision from Al Sears of Boston in an eight round semi-final.

In a preliminary bout, Stanley Stasiak, heavyweight Boston wrestler, turned boxer, lost on a foul to Harry Van Patten of Boston, after he had knocked down his opponent in each of the first three rounds. He was disqualified for striking Van Patten when he was on one knee in the third round.

New London, March 23.—A record breaking squad, the first of the season reported to Coach William R. Canty for baseball at Bulkeley in the opening outdoor workout held at Morgan Park this afternoon. With a tough season this afternoon. With a which is the stamping ground of both local high schools gave the appearance of a big league camp on the opening day. Although as many as were expected reported for the first workout, the number which reported today is expected to be swelled by new candidates who have yet to report.

The main interest lies in the number of veterans that reported for the opening ceremony. Of this number, Captain Tillie Daniels, Geno Montali, Joseph Parisi, Alvin Locke, all twirlers from last year were ordered to warm up. Other veterans to report were George Sheflott, catcher; Joe Barry, 2b; Joseph Gaetano, ss, and Edward Mansfield, rf. Arthur Shurts, utility outfielder last year together with William Lonergan who saw some service in the minor games also reported for the first time. On the missing list for veterans were Harold Hutchinson, 3b and William Booth center fielder. Walter Rice who was suspended from school and who romped in left field last year was also on the missing list from last year's great combination as well as Sam Tuttle, who covered first base.

Only left field and first base need to be filled to round out a very efficient ball club. And from the batch of ambitious youngsters, on whom there has been little opportunity to observe as to their ability on the ball diamond, there is expected to be a merry melee for the open positions. However there seems a possibility that Geno Montali who is very handy with the stick will be given left field to protect from fly balls. The first base job is a problem in itself, and there seems to be no capable player off hand to hold up this important position in any style which will warrant his placing on the first team when it is formed.

The workout this afternoon was of a light nature. The regulars from last year had two rounds of batting and outside of this little else was done. The field was dotted with so many embryo fielders that they were in the way of each other when fielding a batted ball. The practice was terminated with a jog around the track. A more strenuous workout will be had this (Tuesday) afternoon, when the school will be dismissed earlier than usual.

There is a possibility that the season will open earlier than first expected and a game with the Alumni is pending for April 4. The regular High School season does not open until two weeks hence.

HEXATHLON MEET STUNTS AT LOCAL Y. M. C. A.

The local Y. M. C. A.'s participation in the national "Y" hexathlon athletic meet began at the association last night when the employed boys' division met for the opening events making some good scores. The events will be conducted at the "Y" all this week, after which the best six records of each weight group will be sent to national "Y" headquarters from where the winning association will be announced. The leading scores in last night's events were as follows:

Standing broad jump: (Unlimited class) W. Krohn 8 feet, 3 1-2 inches; J. Falcone; 125 class, A. Armstrong, 8 feet, 6 inches; F. Lambert; 110 class, A. Krone, 7 feet, 3 1-2 inches; 95 class, Demosthenes Angelopolis, 6 feet, 9 1-2 inches; George Pechewlys.

Potato race, unlimited weight class: W. Krohn, J. Falcone; 125 pound class, A. Armstrong, Guido Ottavians; 110 pound class, A. Krohn; 95 pound class, Demos Angelopolis, George Pechewlys.

Running high jump, unlimited class: F. Barber, 4 feet; P. Planfer; 125 pound class, A. Armstrong, F. Lambert tied, 4 feet 8 inches; 110 pound class, A. Krohn 3 feet 10 inches; 95 pound class, G. Pechewlys, Demos Angelopolis.

Bar snap, Demos Angelopolis, 6.8.

The hexathlon meet is looked upon as one of the feature athletic contests in various Y's each season and offers an unusual opportunity to the boys to compete on a nation wide basis. Over twenty-five thousand boys competed in last year's contest.

COAST GUARD TEAM OFF FOR DETROIT TOURNEY TODAY

(Special to The Bulletin.)

New London, March 23.—Concluding its basketball season prior to embarking for the trip to Detroit which seems almost certain now, the Coast Guard five will leave this city if all is well financially at 12.37 Tuesday night and arrive in Detroit late Wednesday night. The Coast Guard will participate in the National Y. M. C. A. basketball tournament which gets under way on Thursday, March 26 and will continue until the 28th.

Besides the regular five, two substitutes from the Coast Guard, Coach Donahue and two fast players picked from the Y. M. C. A. House league will also make the trip. These players are Foote and Lord. Foote can be used advantageously at forward, center or guard when the occasion requires, while Lord is a guard.

Local merchants have been rather liberal with their donations, and the price which is to be charged for tonight's game with the Providence "Y" is expected to swell the total to the required sum which will carry the team to the national tournament. It will be the first time this thing has been accomplished in this city. It is estimated by officials handling the tourney that the New London team will travel the longest distance of the teams who are to compete.

THIRTY CANDIDATES REPORT FOR CHAPMAN BALL TEAM

(Special to The Bulletin.)

New London, March 23.—Although the uniforms at Chapman Tech were distributed to the veterans of last year and other promising recruits, the initial workout of the year was held this afternoon for the first time at Morgan Park. A squad of more than thirty candidates turned out for the nine. Some of the veterans of last year were missing from the initial workout but are expected to join the squad before the week is out.

The Chapman Tech coaching staff faces an unwholesome problem, and unless some means are established to help the Red and Black out of the bad situation, the early success as well as later success of the Tech baseball nine is very uncertain. The big problem which confronts the Tech coaches is the pitching staff. Last year there were no dependable twirlers, and some of the games were lost because of this deficiency in the harmonic pull toward a better season Tech will be at sea. The outfield situation is also bad, but the infield shows up much better, weathering the storm of graduation which depleted the ranks somewhat. Hewitt at first, Brown probably at second when he is not drafted to do the twirling, Captain Courbois at third and Aquilla at short stop will probably be the early arrangement of the team.

Captain Courbois, alternated in the infield and outfield last year, and he will no doubt be assigned a more permanent berth this year. Coach Weaver took charge of the squad today, and a few laps around the track, followed by some light batting and fungo hitting ended the day's workout. The opening game is against Madison on April 11th.

BENAULT OUTPOINTS ROMERO IN VERY SLOW BOUT

Newark, N. J., March 23.—Jack Renault, Canadian heavyweight, tonight outpointed Quintin Romero of Chile in a 12-round bout here, in the opinion of newspapermen.

Romero was the victim of terrific jabbing in the early round that drove him to clinching, although at times his right rocked his opponent's head. In the tenth, a right uppercut opened a gash over the South American's left eye.

The Chilean appeared to be on the point of plunging to the canvas several times during the latter part of the battle but Renault could not deliver the vital blow. Renault weighed 199 and Romero 197.

Willie Harmon of New York, 142 pounds, knocked out Jack Green, a Providence negro, 141 pounds, in the first round of a ten-round semi-final match.

TAFTVILLE BOY WINS BOUT IN NEW BEDFORD

In the opening bout of the star card in New Bedford Monday evening Young Al Coulon of Taftville knocked out Young Joe Burton of Brockton in the third round of the scheduled six-round session. Coulon was supposed to have gone up against George LeBato but the Fall River boy was far overweight and the commission would not allow the bout to go on.

On the same card Bobby Mays won the decision in his bout and in the final Young Delaney of Fall River got the decision over Jackie Gordon of New York

FIFTY FOOTBALL CANDIDATES REPORT AT HARVARD

Cambridge, Mass., March 23.—Fifty Harvard football candidates reported today for their first outdoor gridiron practice of 1925. Work was in charge of Edwin Farrell, track coach, who supervised instruction in starting and sprinting and Captain-elect Cheney, who supervised drill in passing and kicking.

The football candidates are scheduled to practice daily until spring recess April 17. Formal practice under the supervision of the football coaches will begin April 27.

SANDE TAKES TO SADDLE FOR FIRST TIME SINCE FALL

New York, March 23.—Earl Sande, famous American jockey, today was astride a saddle for the first time since he suffered a broken leg in a spill early last August at Saratoga Springs.

Sande mounted Laplander, a three-year-old, at the Jamaica track, and indulged in a spirited run. He said that he felt no ill effects from it. The jockey will leave for the Rancocas farm next week.

NORWICH TO ENTER RELAY TEAM IN NEW LONDON MEET

A team representing Norwich will be entered in the New London indoor track and field meet in the relay race next week. The team from Norwich will be Joe Jackson, Courbois, the Chapman Tech flash, Majewski and Johnny Marra with Higgins as an alternate. All these men are fast boys and have marks in the 100-yard events of better than 11 seconds.

NURMI MAKES LAST APPEARANCE IN EAST TONIGHT

New York, March 23—Paavo Nurmi today completed the program for the remainder of his American visit. Planning to sail for home early in May without competing on eastern outdoor tracks, the famous Finn signed entry blanks for a dozen meets in this country and Canada and tentatively agreed to compete in three more.

The schedule, which is regarded as final in view of the National Amateur Athletic union's decision that Nurmi should sign today for all meets in which he expects to run, is as follows:

March 24—244th Artillery games, New York City.

March 26—106th Field Artillery games, Buffalo.

March 27-28—107th Field Artillery games, Pittsburgh.

March 31—Elks games, Boston.

April 3—Ottawa.

April 4—Montreal.

April 6-7—Detroit.

April 15—Loyola College games, Chicago.

April 20—St. Louis (outdoors).

April 25—Los Angeles American Legion games (outdoors).

April 30—San Francisco (outdoors).

In addition Nurmi has been asked to appear at Minneapolis on April 16 at St. Paul on April 18, and at Omaha on April 21, but he is not yet certain whether he will be able to include these games on his schedule.

New York city track fans before whom Paavo has made many of his records in this phenomenal indoor season, will see him for the last time tomorrow night when he runs in the mile and a half event at the 244th Field Artillery games in the Ninth Coast Artillery armory. James J. Connolly, former Georgetown star, will be his chief opponent.

Officials of the San Francisco meet, it was said, had asked Nurmi to appear early in May but he has requested them to assign him the April 30 date, inasmuch as he hopes to leave for Europe shortly thereafter. He has several engagements in England and Germany about the middle of May.

LOOKS AS THOUGH TEX WOULD DRAW JAIL SENTENCE

Trenton, N. J., March 23.—Strong indications that George L. (Tex) Rickard and probably all of the defendants in the Dempsey-Carpentier prize fight conspiracy case will be sentenced to Atlanta penitentiary was given by Judge Bodine in United States court here today in granting a motion to suspend sentence until next Monday at Newark.

Walter D. Van Riper, acting for all the defendants, argued that sufficient time had not been granted to allow counsel to proceed through the testimony and prepare an appeal.

"I suppose that an appeal will be taken," Judge Bodine inquired of Van Riper.

"That depends on the nature of the sentence, Your Honor," he replied.

"Well, when you come into court next Monday you had better have your appeal papers prepared," the judge concluded.

Previously the judge had spoken of the case as being a flagrant violation of the law. He said that the defendants or their agents had taken the films into twenty states and had immediately communicated with the district attorney's office in each, showing, he claimed, guilty knowledge that they were violating the law, and "after telling a cock and bull story" about showing the pictures in hospitals, were allowed to plead guilty and escape with a moderate fine.

STEWART FORFEITS BAIL IN ASSAULT CASE

St. Paul, Minn., March 23—Nelson Stewart, captain of the Cleveland hockey team, of the United States Amateur Hockey league, forfeited $100 bail when he failed to appear in municipal court today to answer a charge of assault and battery.

The charge grew out of a game with St. Paul which ended when the Cleveland team left the ice after a dispute over a goal. Subsequently, Stewart is alleged to have attacked a spectator.

Petty Is Sold to Dodgers.

Indianapolis, Ind., March 23.—Jess Petty, star left-handed pitcher of the Indianapolis American Association team, was sold today to the Brooklyn Nationals, says a despatch to the Indianapolis News, from Tampa, Florida. Pitcher "Dutch" Henry and an unannounced amount of cash was turned over to the Indians, the despatch says.

Petty was the leading American Association pitcher last year, winning 29 games and losing seven. He is 34 years old. Petty came here in 1920 from Cleveland.

Brown Track Schedule.

Providence, R. I., March 23.—The Brown track team will engage in a four dual contests and four intercollegiate meets this spring, according to the schedule announced tonight. The list follows:

April 25, Amherst at Providence; May 2, Williams at Williamstown; May 9, Bowdoin at Providence; May 16, Columbia at New York; May 22-23, New England Intercollegiates at Boston; May 29-30, National Intercollegiates at Philadelphia.

Tex Rickard last week closed a deal whereby he obtained the use of the New York Yankees' park for staging bouts during the outdoor season.

COAST GUARD FIVE WINS FINAL GAME OF SEASON AND WILL PLAY IN DETROIT

(Special to The Bulletin.)

New London, March 23.—Local basketball came to an official close here this evening with the Coast Guard and Mercury Five the winners in a fast double bill. In the preliminary game the Mercury combination forced the Sub Base to accept a 31 to 20 decision against them, while in the main event the Coast Guard five convincingly trounced the Providence "Y" five by a score of 41 to 12.

The Sub Base was pushed into third place in the city standing when the Gobs dropped their game to the Mercury five. The winners took the lead from the very beginning and held it despite numerous attempts by the base to dislodge them from their lofty perch.

Playing for the last time prior to leaving for Detroit to take part in the National Y. M. C. A. tournament the Coast Guard easily won over the Providence, Rhode Island, Y. M. C. A. quintet.

Shooting from long distance, while the visitors were unable to find the hoop but once throughout the contest, the Coast Guard early overcame a one point lead of the Providence outfit and had clear sailing from then on.

At half time the score stood 18 to 3 for the Cadets. The game was marked by unusually rough play, this being especially true of the Cadets, who had two of their members ejected from the game, due to personal fouls. Seventeen personal fouls in all were committed by the cadets. The scores:

SPORT WORLD BRIEFS

Bill Mizeur, young outfielder of the St. Louis Browns, has been released to Tulsa of the Western League.

Dutch Ussat, who played third base for the Houghton, Mich., Copper Sox last year, has signed with Saginaw.

Orville Haley, an Indianapolis semi-pro catcher, has been signed by Manager Punch Knoll of Danville of the Three-I League.

Percy Bandy, infielder, and Francis Thorn, pitcher, both of Beardstown, Ill., have been signed by Dubuque of the Mississippi Valley League.

Bloomington of the Three-I League, has acquired first Baseman George Beck from Fort Smith of the Western Association. He formerly played with Rockford.

New Haven has signed Bill Loehmann, who for the past three springs has started with Miami College, of Oxford, O., He is a shortstop, and looks like a good prospect.

Captain Frankie Frisch of the Giants, has signed his contract with the Giants. Not a word was given out as to the stipend he will receive. It was a one-year agreement.

Leland Dunham, who gained a reputation as a hard hitting outfielder with the Illinois Wesleyan team, has gone to Bradenton, Fla. for a try-out with the Philadelphia Nationals.

Cedric Durst, property of the Browns, who will be with St. Paul of the American Association this season, married Miss Leona Campbell of Seattle, before departing to join the Saints.

John Montgomery Ward, captain of the New York Giants in the late 80's died March 4 in Augusta, Ga., from (pneumonia) contracted while hunting. He was 56 years old, the day before his death.

Dallas Hass named Lillard Belcher, an outfielder, who until he broke his hand last season was in the East Texhand last season was in the East Texas League. Belcher has quite a record as a long distance hitter.

Syracuse of the international League, has announced the sale of Pitcher Harmon Minetree to St. Joseph of the Western League. He was obtained by Syracuse from Nashville last year in a trade for shortstop Walter Keating.

Frank Kitson, former star left-hander of the Detroit Tigers, who has been seriously ill has returned to his farm near Allegan, Mich., in much improved health after a course of medical attention at the University of Michigan hospital.

Tom Blodgett, left-handed pitcher, who dropped baseball after the 1917 season to become sheriff of Marshall county, Kansas, will be back with Memphis this season if he has not worn out his arm opening and closing cell gates. All he wants is a chance, says Blodgett.

President E. S. Barnard of the Cleveland club, has sent out a letter to every member of the team, notifying them that they must not touch liquor in any form during the playing season. This was one of the rules set down at the annual meeting of the stockholders of the club.

Fred Koonts, a young catcher from the East St. Louis Muny League, has joined the St. Louis Browns at Tarpon Springs. He is a 21-year-old lad, who weighs 190 pounds and appears to have the makings. Scout Pat Monahan got him to report when George Sisler sent out an SOS. The absence of Leo Dixon, the catcher obtained from St. Paul, who is holding out for part of his purchase price, makes the Browns short-handed in a catching way at camp.

The Boston Braves are not a bit pleased at having Babe Ruth and the Yankees as neighbors at St. Petersburg. It is charged that the men of Huggins are getting most of the attention; that the Yankees guarantee is considerable in excess of that being taken down by the Braves, and that the St. Pete people do not appreciate the fact that the Braves have some seniority rights on the training burgh. Manager Bancroft is said to have notified the people there that his men will train in Miami next year.

Colburn Jones, former Denver high school player, has signed for a try-out with Chattanooga of the Southern League. He is an infielder.

Cliff Heathcote, outfielder for the Cubs, has lost something it took him all winter to grow—his mustache. When Harry Nelly caught sight of the fleet outfielder's hirsute prior to leaving for the Catalina camp, he predicted that Cliff would not wear it long. Some of the players caught him in the club house and zipped the comical little thing off. It was a prized treasured possession for the simple reason that it took much cultivation and urging to make it look like anything.

Such popularity must be deserved

AMONG the many factors contributing to Mr. Belasco's success is his knack of anticipating changes in popular taste.

And this knack is just as important in other fields. For example, Chesterfield was first made in anticipation of a change in cigarette taste.

The change came . . . how completely Chesterfield met the new demand is proved today by its unprecedented and sustained popularity.

COAST GUARD THEFTS FIXED ON HENRY SANTAS, NEW LONDON

(Special to The Bulletin.)

New London, March 23. — Horace Santas, 18, residing at 659 Main street was taken into custody tonight charged by Lieut. Frement Daniels, of the local company, Connecticut Coast Artillery, with having stolen property of the government. Santas was locked up and will be given a hearing in the police court tomorrow morning. When arrested Santas had some of the stolen property, mostly wearing apparel, in his possession.

For some time there have been numerous thefts of government property, as well as thefts of money and jewelry from members of the coast artillery soldiers from the state armory. Santas had long been suspected of being implicated in the thefts and tonight he was instructed to attend a hearing at the armory for the purpose of ascertaining the identity of the thief. Santas failed to present himself and an officer of the artillery went to Santas' home and escorted him to the hearing. Upon Santas' arrival at the armory and after lengthy questioning, he admitted committing some of the thefts. He was then taken by Lieut. Daniels to the police station and turned over to the civil authorities.

Billy Dooley today has a place he can call "home" for the next three months. He hasn't had such in a long time. He has made the police station his lodging place almost without skipping a night for the past three months. Today he was charged with vagrancy when the city court assembled and try as he would Billy could not prove to the court that he had visible means of support and that he labored for a livelihood. He pleaded guilty as he always pleads, and when asked if he had means of earning a living pointed out that he had two legs and two hands and arms and that he meant to use them.

Peter Cox didn't get what was coming to him as the court preferred to send him out of town rather than to jail. He was intoxicated when he went to a restaurant where he had been given a few days' employment as a dishwasher, and there was no offensive that he was boosted out. Peter declared that his brother is a Wall street operator who has all sorts of money, but not enough to attract Peter to him. The court ordered him to get out of town before night and suspended judgment that he might do as ordered.

Edward Goddard has been loitering about the city the past fornight. During that time he has been before the police court twice before today for drunkenness. Today he was there as a vagrant. Goddard had $200 in cash when he blew into town, but he hasn't a dollar of that sum now. He has made things pleasant for his companions and he found these numerous. He will be at the jail during the next forty days, and there he can be useful in many ways as he has some knowledge of mechanics.

Stephen Raymond Fraser was fined $25 for intoxication and causing disturbance to his wife Sunday throughout the neighborhood of Pearl street, and was arrested after a fuss. Fraser was on probation when he appeared this morning, a suspended $10 hanging over him. He was ordered to pay that with the fine of $25 or else draw on his bank for $46 to settle for his drunk of Sunday. Mrs. Fraser is seeking a divorce and her husband has been ordered not to annoy her at her home.

The damage suit of Michael Mc Grail of this city against the Central Vermont railroad company will come to trial in the superior court in this city Tuesday. Mr. McGrail was yard switchman in the employ of the company and was throwing switches in the local yard when a Norwich train arrived and discharged passengers. Then the train backed up and Mr. McGrail was caught and thrown under the wheels. The lower portion of one leg was severed. Since that accident proposals for a settlement have been made but Mr. McGrail would not agree to the terms. So the case will go to trial now before Judge Allyn L. Brown.

A breach of the peace case is to come on in the police court Tuesday in which Sam Ashkendursin and Charles Horagerian are the interested parties. They had some trouble that resulted in a fight and they got before the court some months ago. Since then the case has been held in abeyance.

Complaint was lodged with Assistant Prosecuting Attorney Perry J. Hollandersky this afternoon by Mrs. George Crandall of 71 Norwood avenue, that her little son, 3 1-2, was frequently beaten by the seven year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Holaburton, also of Norwood avenue. Attorney Hollandersky caused Sergeant Samuel Hick to instruct the parents of the youth complained against that the treatment to the Crandall child must stop.

Virginia Mosely of Shaw street, a patient at Home Memorial hospital, was able to return to his home today.

Mrs. William A. Holt of Whittlesey street, wife of City Manager Holt, was summoned to South Weymouth, Mass., today by the sudden death of her brother, Henry B. Chandler, of that city.

John Jordan, alias Jack Curry, of Mystic, was before Judge Cornelius C. Costello in the Groton town court this morning charged with poultry theft. He was sentenced to four months in jail. Jordan was arrested Saturday by State Police Officer Fred Caron on complaint of Nathan Latham and Daniel Chesebro, who alleged that Jordan had stolen 40 chickens from the premises of complainants. When arrested Jordan had 16 chickens in his possession, but only three were identified, Latham identifying three of the chickens as his property.

City Mgr. Wm. A. Holt today rendered his decision in the matter of Patrolman Patrick Sheehan being intoxicated while in the performance of duty last Friday morning. The punishment meted out to the officer is a suspension from duty, the suspension dating from today and until April 30th, inclusive. The suspension makes it imperative that Sheehan remain off the city's payroll five weeks, a more severe penalty than ever before imposed upon an officer for violation of the rules and regulations of the department. In the past officers have been suspended for the first offense only for 30 days.

Mrs. Harold Priestly and infant daughter, of Lee avenue; Mrs. Frank Roche, Old Lyme; Harold Albin, U. S. S. Coast Guard; Mrs. John F. Sullivan and infant daughter, 100 Bliman street; Miss Marguerite Parker, Garfield avenue; Ray Feeney, U. S. Coast Guard; Mrs. Salvatore Sylvester Groton; Mrs. Joseph Bojorquez and infant daughter, Howard street; Mrs Lieberman Sharaf and infant daughter, Fairs Harbour place; Thomas Hamilton, Fourth street; Robert Schantly, Montauk avenue; Herbert Maynard, Viets street; Mrs. Rosetta Lewis, Blackhall; Miss Mildred Lewis, Franklin street; Mrs. Adoniram J. Chandler, Thames street, and Harry Smith and George Miller, U. S. S. Jouett, were patients dismissed at Lawrence Memorial associated hospital Sunday and today.

John Bacon, of this city and Carl Angule, a sailor, stationed at the submarine base, suffered the loss of their operators' licenses today when Commissioner of Motor Vehicles Robbins B. Stoeckel suspended the right of Bacon and Angale to operate cars.

Thieves continue active in this city, but in an attempt by the crooks to burglarize the store of F. L. Barnet, 40 West Coit street, Sunday night, they were unsuccessful and it is believed that they were scared away. The attempt to enter the place was made by jimmying the front entrance, but the door was of such construction the crooks found it difficult to manage. When Barnet opened the store this morning he discovered the attempted break and reported it to the police.

Tomorrow afternoon nineteen boys, who have been implicated in the commission of various infractions of the law, will be given a hearing in the juvenile court for this afternoon the boys were ordered to present themselves before Judge Victor Prince. The offenses the youths have committed for the most part are petty thieving and the starting of brush fires that have endangered property.

Patrolman Clarence Martin was forced to abandon patrol duty Sunday night and is now confined to his home on Williams street, suffering from a severe attack of grip.

The funeral of Mrs. Ann Amelia Mc Card, widow of Walter McCord, was held this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the residence of her niece, Miss Carrie Carlough, in Waterford. The services were conducted by Rev. George H. Simons. Burial was in Jordan cemetery.

Mrs. Jennie Sutera, 52, wife of Matteo Sutera, of 335 Huntington street, died at Lawrence hospital late Saturday as a result of a shock suffered earlier in the day. Besides her husband, Mrs Sutera is survived by several children. Mrs. Sutera was engraved with the household duties throughout the day and during the afternoon suffered a paralytic stroke. She was given medical treatment, but so serious was her condition that she was transferred to the hospital where she died a few hours after her arrival.

William Joseph Connelly, 22, son of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Connelly 9 Central avenue, died Sunday at St. Francis hospital, Hartford, following an operation for appendicitis. He was employed as store keeper by the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad at Midway. Besides his parents, he is survived by three sisters, Mrs. John Denehee, and Misses Helen and Ann Connelly. Mr. Connelly went to Hartford last Friday to remain a few days with relatives. Saturday he suffered the attack of appendicitis and an emergency operation was deemed advisable. He was operated upon late in the afternoon and died yesterday.

The funeral of Mrs. Ellen Kelley, widow of John J. Kelley, was held this morning at 9 o'clock at St. Mary's Star of the Sea church and was attended by a large assemblage of mourners. A solemn mass of requiem was celebrated by Rev. Raymond O'Callahan, with Rev. Dr. Timothy M. Crowley deacon and Rev. Alexander Wollschlaeger sub-deacon. The bearers were Terrece M. Cook, Christopher J. Collins, Peter J. Eschenfelder, John J. Farrell, Louis Geary and Albert Paquette. Burial was in the family plot in St. Mary's cemetery.

Wilson S. Renzoni, 11, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ferdinand Renzoni, 207 Jefferson avenue, died Saturday afternoon at the residence of his parents, after a brief illness.

RUM-RUNNER POCOMOKE SEIZED AGAIN OFF NIANTIC

(Special to The Bulletin.)

New London, March 23.—The two masted schooner Pocomoke, hailing from New York and in command of Captain Jack Hansen, Greenport, was seized in Long Island sound this morning by the crew of one of the United States Coast Guard patrol boats, the Pocomoke being laden with 1000 cases of rye and Scotch whiskey. The schooner was taken in tow and brought to this port, being tied up under guard at the United States Coast Guard pier. The crew comprising Captain Hanson, Oscar Miller, Andrew Baisen and Harry Anderson, were presented late this afteroon before United States Commissioner Earl Matthewson, of Norwich, at the customs house, where bail was fixed for the appearance of the alleged rum-runners at a hearing to take place on the 31st inst: Captain Hanson's bail was fixed at $1500 and each of the other members of the crew provided a surety on their respective bonds of $500.

The Pocomoke has before been seized as a rum-runner and a charge against the crew who were aboard the schooner at that time is pending in the United States district court. The craft was first seized last November and on December 1 the crew was released.

The Pocomoke was loaded from the supply fleet off Montauk Point and during the early hours started for New York or Philadelphia. When about two miles south of Hatchett's Point, off Niantic, the Pocomoke was sighted by the crew of the patrol boat and soon boarded. In the hold was found the liquor cargo valued at $30,000

LEE & OSGOOD CO. OFFER TO ALL WHO SUFFER STOMACH AGONY, GAS AND INDIGESTION

Money Back If One Bottle of Dare's Mentha-Pepsin Doesn't Do You More Good Than Anything You Ever Used.

You can be so distressed with gas and fullness and bloating that you think your heart is going to stop beating.

Your stomach may be so distended that your breathing is short and gasp.

You think perhaps you are suffocating.

You are dizzy and pray for quick relief—what's to be done?

Just one dessert spoonful of Dare's Mentha-Pepsin and in ten minutes the gas disappears, the pressing on the heart ceases and you can breathe deep and naturally.

Oh! What blessed relief; but why not get rid of such attacks altogether? Why have chronic indigestion at all? With this wonderful medicine you can banish indigestion or dyspepsia, catarrh of stomach or any abnormal condition that keeps the stomach in constant rebellion and one bottle will prove it.

And how happy you will be when your stomach is as good as new for then dizziness, nervousness, sleeplessness, headache, dull eyes and other ailments caused by a disordered stomach will disappear and you will be your old happy, contented self again. Lee & Osgood Co. and every regular pharmacist guarantees one bottle of Dare's Mentha-Pepsin to show the way to stomach comfort.

Over 6,000 bottles sold in one small New Jersey town last year—ask yourself why?

NORWICH DOINGS 75 YEARS AGO

The fight between the Whigs and the Locofocos in the state continued to wax bitter and the columns of the Courier 75 years ago were largely devoted to this, together with the trial of Dr. Webster of Boston. One correspondent reported seeing lightning during a snowstorm early in the month and that the lightning hit a tree.

Extracts from the Courier files of 1850 follow.

Tuesday, March 19, 1850—William C. Osgood slaughtered yesterday a pair of the fattest and handsomest cattle we have ever seen. The united weight is about 4,500; they are only five years old and were raised and fattened by Ebenezer Sanger of, Canterbury.

We are in receipt of a letter from a Pequonock man in which he states that on March 1st during a snowstorm between the hours of 1 and 2 o'clock the inhabitants of Poquonock were aroused by vivid flash of lightning accompanied by an explosion louder than a hundred pieces of the heaviest ordnance, shaking every house to its foundations. The lightning struck a tree near the Phelps farm and shattered it from top to roots.

Thursday, March 21, 1850—The locofocos of the 8th Senatorial district have nominated as their candidates for senator from that district Edmund Perkins of Norwich, who was last year the free soil candidate for secretary of state. Thus this unprincipled party maneuvres. In their state convention the free soil resolutions were thrown under the table and their friends were not even allowed to discuss them.

It will be seen by a recent advertisement that the New London, Willimantic and Palmer railroad has been opened up as far as Stafford—nearly 50 miles—and that the trains commenced running to that point on the 19th inst. Local people, however, have missed them daily because of the absence of a schedule.

Saturday, March 23, 1850—The whigs of the 7th senatorial district nominated on Thursday last, the Hon. Asa Fish of Stonington as their candidate for senator. The nomination is a capital one and we ask the whigs of that district to put their shoulder to the wheel and elect him triumphantly.

The house yesterday passed the bill concerning the issue of new stock by the Norwich and Worcester Railroad Co. The bill had previously passed the senate.

The Norwich and Worcester Railroad thus far this year shows a gain of 15 per cent over the receipt of last year to the same time. The receipts of 1849 were $236,000. Should the above ratio of increase continue during the year the receipts of 1850 will reach $270,000. In anticipation of this result the stock is daily advancing.

During the last two weeks there have been several tests and experiments made to ascertain and demonstrate the relative qualities of coal gas and water gas as invented and patented by a Mr. Brown of Baltimore. The experiments showed that the water gas gave better light and used only about a quarter as much gas.

PLAINFIELD

The Women's Bowling League of Plainfield held a supper and entertainment for its members and guests at the Community House, each member coming in old-fashioned costume. The menu was grapefruit, roast chicken, mashed potato, mashed turnip, cranberry sauce, pickles, celery, creamed onions, punch, cake, ice cream, coffee, candy and peanuts.

The dining room was prettily decorated, the color scheme being green and white. After dinner speeches were made by the President, Miss J. Kirby, Secretaries Marion Lee and Celia Israel, Treasurer P. Sullivan and Mrs. Moffitt, and Miss Hartwell.

Following the supper a kitchen shower was given Miss Hartwell. In behalf of the League Miss Kirby also presented her a handsome picture, "Dawn," by Hamilton. Mrs. Augusta Nolan and D. J. Connell were also presented gifts for valuable assistance rendered the bowlers during their minstrel.

The committee in charge was Mrs. D. J. Connell, Mrs. Alice Moffitt and Miss Sullivan.

Those attending were Misses Joan Kirby, Marion Lee, Celia Israel, Theresa Sullivan, Katherine Kirby, Margaret Reid, Rose Constantine, Edith Buthwhistle, Semon Lapearle, Pauline Peltier, Elizabeth Gorman, Nelsie Hartwell, Mrs. Heap, Mrs. Connell, Mrs. Brightman, Mrs. Flagg, Mrs. Moffitt, Mrs. Potvin, Mrs. Robertson, Mrs. Raney, Mrs. Lamothe, Mrs. Nolan, Eastham, also D. J. Connell and S. A. Coffey.

There was a short entertainment consisting of Old Fashioned Songs, by all; Readings, Celia Israel; Vocal solo, Elizabeth Gorman; Irish jigs, the Misses Kirby; Planatation song, D. J. Connell; Song, Marion Lee; Reading, Mrs. A. Moffitt; Solo and Dance, S. A. Coffey; Violin Solo, Edith Birtwhistle; Dance, Mrs. C. Robertson.

NORWICH TOWN

"The World To Which Jesus Came," was the theme of Rev. Gurdon P. Bailey's sermon, at Sunday morning worship at the First Congregational church. Luke 2:1, was the text. And it came to pass in those days that there went out a decree from Cesar Augustus, that all the world should be taxed.

This was the first in a series of four sermons on The Life of Christ. At six o'clock, the Young People's Christian Endeavor service was in charge of the Lookout committee. Miss Elizabeth Avery, chairman. The theme "What Can We Do, To Win Others To Christ?"

Members of the committee had a part in the service: Miss Dorothy Waterman read the Scriptures, Miss Elizabeth Avery spoke of Winning Others to Christ through Christian Endeavor, Miss Mabel Corrigeux spoke of winning them through the church, while Ralph H. Marsh mentioned how to win others by living a Christian life.

Members of the congregation joined with the Central Baptist church, in the Sunday evening Lenten union service.

The mid-week prayer service of the Congregational church, is to have for its theme, Thursday evening in the chapel parlors, "The Disciples Daily Life." Luke 12:22-34.

Rev. James B. Aldrich, preached Sunday morning at the First Methodist Episcopal church on "The Blood of Christ." Hebrews 9:14. How much more shall the blood of Christ, who through the Eternal Spirit offered Himself without spot to God, purge your conscience from dead works to serve the living God.

The Sunday school of the Methodist church, presented in the evening, a pageant on The Life of Fanny Crosby.

Rev. James B. Aldrich leaves today (Tuesday) for Fall River, where he will attend for the next week, the annual New England Southern Conference, to be held in the Union Methodist church.

While there, Rev. Mr. Aldrich with two other clergymen, will be guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Urban Wallace of 270 Banuk street.

Mrs. Hattie Rudge came Saturday from Preston City, where she has resided lately, to pass several days at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George A. Peck, of Otrobando Avenue.

MRS. WALTER H. GALLUP BUYS HARLAND'S CORNER TRIANGLE

The triangular lot at Harland's corner which faces Washington street on one side, and Town street on another, has been purchased from the Harland estate, by Mrs. Walter H. Gallup of 5 Town street, whose property this piece of land adjoins, formerly having been a part of said property.

Many years ago when the late General Edward Harland resided in the Harland homestead on Sentry Hill which faces this location, he purchased this corner lot, so that he might be privileged to have an immense Elm tree cut down, to enable him to have a better view. The deed was transferred to Mrs. Gallup, through Attorney Wallace S. Allis, Wednesday, March 18th. Now the Gallup property includes the entire large triangle bordering on Washington street, Town street, and Schoolhouse Lane, the homestead facing Town street. The corner lot referred to is an historic spot. On this triangle of land at the fork of the roads, formerly stood the shop of Colonel Christopher Leffingwell, in the seventeenth century. Here he sold goods of his own manufacture and everything else that could satisfy the needs of those days. Later, he was succeeded by his two sons, William and Christopher.

When the post-office was transferred from the Woodbridge shop on the Green, William Leffingwell served the town as post-master, from 1789 till 1793. About this time William left Norwich and entered into business in New York. Christopher Leffingwell, Jr., carried on the postoffice and store for a while longer. In 1801, this shop was occupied by the firm of Baldwin and Strong.

The store which was of two stories, with a gable roof, was purchased in 1803 by Joseph Strong. Behind the store was a lane, leading from the upper to the lower road. This is known as Schoolhouse Lane. About 1773, there was a shop standing near the store of Christopher Leffingwell, in which Thomas Harland began his watchmaking business.

These two shops stood close to the walk on the upper road, and the walk passed outside the handsome Elm tree on the corner, therefore the present sidewalk passes over the site of Christopher Leffingwell's store, which was the plot of land recently purchased by Mrs. Gallup. In the boughs of this magnificent tree with its spreading branches, which later was cut down, the Norwich Town boys of other days built an arbor, to which they could ascend by means of a rope, and which, when the rope was also drawn up, formed as delightful and inaccessible a retreat, as a boy's heart could desire.

It is a legend that the troops assembled under this tree, the day they marched to Lexington.

In 1824, the house now occupied by the Gallup family was sold to William, Sally and Lucretia Goodell, the son and daughters respectively of Captain Silas Goodell of Norwich, since which date it has changed ownership a number of times. The house was built about 1758, being 167 years old.

Granny Fox Pays Her Respects

If you are pleased why care a jot
If other folk are pleased or not?
—Johnny Chuck.

Of course the new home of the Chucks was no secret. They didn't intend it should be. Johnny Chuck learned long ago that it is quite impossible to keep the kind of a house he and Polly Chuck have a secret. It just can't be done. So whenever they get a new house they expect that every one in the neighborhood will know about it before long, enemies as well as friends. Instead of wasting time trying to hide their home they put all their thought and efforts into making it safe even though their enemies do know where it is.

"I shall have to pay them my respects," said old Granny Fox with a grin

Of course this new home under the Old Orchard was the talk of the stonewall in the upper corner of neighborhood for a short time. Some of their friends thought Johnny and Polly Chuck had done just the right thing in coming up to the Old Orchard. Others thought they had been very foolish and didn't hesitate to say so. Johnny listened and smiled and said nothing. It was a good home. And it suited Polly Chuck. So what other people said didn't matter to Johnny.

Of course it wasn't long before old Granny Fox heard that the Chucks had left the Long Lane and moved up to the Old Orchard. Reddy Fox told her. There is little going on in the Green Forest or on the Green Meadows that the Fox family doesn't know about. With Reddy Fox and Mrs. Reddy and old Granny Fox it is part of the business of living to know what is going on about them.

"I shall have to pay them my respects," said old Granny Fox with a grin.

"Of course they will be delighted to see you," replied Reddy, also grinning. "They didn't invite me in when I called, but perhaps they will you."

Of course old Granny Fox knew that Reddy was joking. She grinned more broadly than before but said nothing, and Reddy trotted away about his business. "I'll have to have a look at this new home of the Chucks," said she. "Johnny and Polly are very clever, but the cleverest people sometimes become careless or make mistakes, and the wise Fox is always ready to profit by the mistakes of others."

So when Johnny Chuck poked his head out of his doorway the next morning there sat old Granny Fox grinning at him. Johnny grinned back. He knew she couldn't get him as long as he didn't venture out of his house.

"Good morning, Johnny Chuck," said old Granny Fox, and she said it very pleasantly. "I heard about this new home of yours and so I ran over this morning to pay my respects to you and Polly. You certainly have a fine home."

"I'm glad you like it," replied Johnny politely.

"I dont like it. I didn't say that I like it. I said that it is a fine home," retorted old Granny Fox, her sharp eyes twinkling. "I don't like it at all. You are altogether too safe in it. I looked it all over before you were awake and there is no chance to dig you out and no chance to catch you by surprise as long as you stay near your doorway. Whoever planned this house knew what they were doing."

Then give Polly my compliments and tell her that old Granny Fox never wastes time if she knows it and coming up here will be a waste of time," said Granny. "This is the safest house you ever had and this is why I dont like it. Good-bye, Johnny Chuck. Let me know when the young Chucks are ready to leave home. I won't be at all interested in you or your affairs until then."

Old Granny Fox chuckled as she turned to trot away, and Johnny Chuck surprised himself by chuckling, too. He knew that old Granny Fox had meant just what she had said.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

STOCK PRICES DROP.

New York, March 23.—Selling pressure was renewed against today's stock market with the result that prices collapsed to to nearly 11 points carrying the rail and industrial average into new ground for the year. Reactionary tendencies also prevailed in the grain, cotton and most of the other commodity and financial markets, with the exception of the foreign exchanges, which held relatively steady.

Stocks showed extreme weakness from the start of the session, initial 1 to 3 1-2 points being quite common among the popular rail and industrial issues. Selling pressure was directed chiefly against the steel shares, presumably because of the relatively poor showing made in the annual reports of the United States and Bethlehem Steel Corporations, which were published in the morning papers. U. S. Steel common broke a new 1925 low at 117 3-4 and then rallied to 118, where it was off nearly 3 points on the day. Bethlehem Steel was hammered down to 38 3-4 and then snapped back to 39 1-2, off 7-8. New lows also were recorded by Republic common and preferred, Gulf States, United Alloy, American Metals and Colorado Fuel and Iron.

Professional traders threw large blocks of stocks into the market at opportune intervals and succeeded in touching off a number of stop-loss orders and inducing rather extensive liquidation by freightened investors. In all, fifty-eight stocks established new minimum quotations for the year. American Can, which had met with fairly good support in the early stages of the decline, broke six points to 168. Baldwin fell more than eight points to a new low at 116 3-8. U. S. Cast Iron Pipe dropped nearly 11 points to 178 1-2 and then rallied to 181. Associated Dry Goods showed a net loss of 10 3-4 at 174 1-2.

Net losses of 5 points or more also were recorded by American Car and Foundry, Atlantic Refining, Jersey Central, Mack Truck, National Lead, Savage Arms and Worthington Pump.

The Pan-American Petroleum issues showed splendid resistance to selling pressure, rallying about 2 points from their early low levels and closing at small fractional gains on the day in anticipation of an early announcement regarding the company's proposed reorganization plans.

Further weakness of the Interborough Rapid Transit and allied securities was traceable to thoughts of a receivership growing out of the company's confessed inability to pay for improvements recommended by the state transit commission.

Establishment of new low records for the year by New York Central at 115 1-2 and Union Pacific at 140 had a depressing effect on the other railroad shares, losses of two points or more being recorded by Atchison, Rock Island, Norfolk and Western, Northern Pacific, Texas and Pacific, Atlantic Coast Line, Chicago Great Western preferred, Delaware and Hudson, Denver and Rio Grande Western preferred, Reading and a few others.

Call money renewed at 3 1-2 per cent. and then advanced to 4, closing at the top. Time money and commercial paper rates were unchanged in quiet trading.

Foreign exchange rates fluctuated within rather narrow limits. Demand sterling held fairly steady around $4.77 2-4 and French francs were slightly higher around 5.20 1-2 cents. Norwegian exchange touched another new high at 15.52 cents.

THE CHELSEA SAVINGS BANK

At the meeting of the Directors of The Chelsea Savings Bank held at their banking house on Monday, March 23, 1925, the following minute and resolution was unanimously passed regarding the death of one of our directors, Frederic W. Cary.

Mr. Frederic W. Cary was elected a member of the Corporation of this Bank September 16, 1908. He served as an auditor from March 15, 1911 to September 15, 1914.

May 4, 1915, he was elected a director and has been unanimously reelected until the present time.

In all of his connection with this Bank his genial disposition and winning personality has endeared him to all. The interest of this Bank has been continually in his mind and he used his best effort in its behalf. His good judgment has been sought and approved in matters vital to this Bank.

We find that this Bank and the community of Norwich and vicinity have sustained a great loss, and that we shall miss Mr Cary from our gatherings.

Therefore, That this minute be entered on the records of the Bank, published in the newspapers of this city and a copy sent to his family. Attest:

FRANK HEMPSTEAD, Secretary.

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT

At a special meeting of the Board of Directors of The Johnson Home, held March 23, 1925, to take action upon the death of the secretary and treasurer, Hon. Gardiner Greene, the following [illegible] was adopted:

Hon. Gardiner Greene, formerly a Judge of the Superior Court of Connecticut, died at his home, 328 Washington St., in this city, Feb. 10, 1925.

Judge Greene became the first secretary and treasurer of the Johnson Home after its incorporation May 24, 1905, and continued in each until the time of his death, thus rendering to the home nearly 20 years of conscientious and able service.

He possessed a profound knowledge of men and a grace and bearing which instantly attracted and held the respect of all who had business with him. He was a master of detail, and delighted in the perfection of achievement. In addition he possessed a keen insight and rare judgment in matters affecting the business management of the Home. These qualities of mind and heart made his services invaluable.

Not alone has the Johnson Home suffered an irreparable loss in his death, but a deep and abiding sense of personal grief comes to every director whose privilege it was to come into immediate fellowship with him in the management of its affairs.

It was unanimously voted that this minute be spread upon the permanent records of the Home, on a page set apart to his memory, and an attested copy of same mailed by the secretary to Mrs. Greene. Attest:

CHARLES L. STEWART, Secretary.

SPOKE ON NEIGHBORLINESS AT SHOP MEETING

At the noon meeting held at the Richmond Radiator on Monday, Rev Charles H. Ricketts spoke on Neighborliness, basing his thought on an exposition of the Parable of the Good Samaritan. The meeting was under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A.

The following was the substance of his remarks:

What true neighborliness is we get from the teachings of the Man of Nazareth. Here we have the first clear statement of the universal brotherhood of man. Up to this time a man's neighbor had been considered the person who lived near, in the same community, belonging to the same tribe; or, by some stretch of the imagination, his countryman who lived at a distance, but nothing beyond that. Hence the teaching given in this parable does not belong exclusively to the age in which it was spoken, but to all time as containing the great fundamental fact of the universal brotherhood of man.

The Man of Nazareth at this time was at the very height of his popularity and great crowds followed him everywhere. Among them a certain lawyer asked him how he might "inherit eternal life." Jesus points to the Mosaic code as teaching that love for God and one's neighbor contains the essentials. The lawyer then asks, "and who is my neighbor?" Jesus answers by giving the immortal Parable of the Good Samaritan.

Here we have three attitudes given. 1. The attitude of the present—who was selected as being the least excusable for "passing by on the other side," and leaving the victim of robbery without giving first aid. The main business of the priest was to show the great, kind heart of God in helping the bleeding, suffering man. 2. The attitude of the Levite was the same. He represented the busy man who made business of more importance than saving a man's life. 3. The attitude of the Samaritan—one belonging to a despised race—was one of thoughtful kindness. He dropped everything just to give kind attention to one in need. This story is to told to teach that the one who showed mercy was the real neighbor to the unfortunate man.

The speaker showed that today are those who heartlessly "go on the other side," as seen in many automobile accidents. He made a special application of the subject to the race problem; what our attitude ought to be toward all unfortunates; how we are admitted to our country from other shores. They are here to stay and it is wisest to help them to be good citizens.

Wild Geese Went Over

Officer Albert Lamphere, who was on the night beat on Broadway Saturday, heard six flights of wild geese go over towards the north between 11 o'clock Saturday night and 4 o'clock Sunday morning.

TAFTVILLE

The Sacred Heart Dramatic club presented For the Love of Johnny, a play in three acts, to a full house at Martish hall, Sunday evening. This was the annual play of the club, and as event always looked forward to by the villagers. This year the scene of action was laid in northern New Mexico, and the plot was only equaled by the ability of those taking part. Miss Margaret R. Hasler, who had one of the leading parts in the play last year, was again cast in the lead, and the manner in which she carried out the part assigned to her, showed that the committee had made no mistake in choosing her for that role. Miss Nora Murphy as Harriet Banks, the aunt, and Miss Katherine Hasler, who played Dorothy Banks, the daughter, had been assigned the other two female parts in the production, which they took faultlessly. John H. Murphy was Dick Wayburn, the coward, a difficult part which he held down admirably, while Thomas Corcoran as Jerrymeyer Banks, the uncle, and John Sullivan as Phil Osborne, the soldier, were excellent. James Murphy starred as John Turkey Legs, a southwestern Indian, James Manion, as Father Ryan, delighted the audience, and Victor Fontaine played Johnny Banks, the nephew in a pleasing manner. He also appeared as Mr. Woods, the stranger. Between the acts there were vocal solos by William T. Delaney, Miss Elizabeth Corcoran and James Garvin, accompanied on the piano by Miss Mayme Hasler. The stage arrangements were by Fenton & Carroll. The proceeds will be added to the treasury of the Sacred Heart church.

A meeting of the Business Men's association was held Monday evening.

Miss Dorothy Wood of Willimantic is spending this week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Wood and family of South Second avenue.

Grand Knight John J. Daley was the presiding officer at the regular meeting of Ponemah Council, No. 34, K. of C.

Joseph Legare of Norwich avenue has returned from a two weeks' stay with relatives in Canada.

The Community sewing class met Monday evening in the Red Cross rooms in the Ponemah building.

The members of the Christian Endeavor society are to hold a rehearsal in the vestry of the Taftville Congregational church Wednesday evening, for an entertainment that they are to give in the near future.

Mr. and Mrs. William Volkman and family of Terrace avenue are moving to Hunter avenue.

Miss Helen C. Aberg of the Willimantic Normal School is spending the spring vacation at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Axel L. Aberg of North Third avenue.

Miss Mary Murphy has returned to her home on South A street after spending a short time in Fall River, Mass., where she was the guest of Miss Fannie Coughlin.

Taftville radio owners recently had the pleasure of listening to the vocal music of the Kresser quartette, which was broadcasted from Station WFBL of Syracuse, N. Y., and of which Charles E. Belair, a former Taftville resident, is a member.

Theodore Fregeau of Danielson spent the week end at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Fregeau of Providence street.

Joseph Witt of South Third avenue is able to be at work again after an attack of the grip.

A large flock of wild geese were reported flying north over the village Friday, which is rather late in the season. On Thursday, a flock was noted flying south, which is another unusual occurrence.

Guest at D. of N. Meeting.

Mrs. D. Louise Atterbury of this city, past state president of the Daughters of Veterans, was the guest of honor at the meeting of Ann Rogers Lyon Tent of New London at its meeting last Friday.

German shoes are being worn extensively in Canada.

Mothers everywhere demand a reliable cough remedy free from injurious narcotics. Supplying this demand for fifty years made Foley's Honey and Tar Compound one of the largest selling cough medicines in the world. Children like it. "My little boy had a very bad cough, and after he used Foley's Honey and Tar Compound he got relief at once," writes Mrs. Van Belle, Penroy, Mont. Refuse substitutes. Lee & Osgood Co.

RUNAWAY TEAM STOPPED BY TREE

ON LAWN OF BROADWAY RESIDENCE

Just as his runaway team of horses, drawing a heavy farm wagon, was about to dash into the front door of the home of Judge Allyn L. Brown at 262 Broadway, a farmer named Hansen, who lives on Scotland road, was able to swing them sharp off to the left and steer them into a tree that brought their dash to an end Monday afternoon about 4:30 o'clock.

While Mr. Hansen was driving up Broadway, his team became unmanageable and started on their dash. At Judge Brown's driveway they took to the sidewalk, passing between a tree and a telephone pole and dashing through the hedge at the front of the lot. This brought them onto the lawn where they took to the concrete walk, leading to the front door of the house, running straight along the walk till within a few feet of the front steps when Mr. Hansen yanked the lines with all his strength, managing to swing the horses sharp off to the left where they ran over and broke off a small bush but were brought up short against a good sized tree. One horse passed on each side of the tree, the pole of the wagon was broken off short, but the runaways were stopped and were held when Mr. Hansen jumped off the seat and got to their heads.

A cut on the lip of one of the horses, a limb broken off the tree, the pole of the wagon broken and the cutting up of the lawn by the wagon wheels and the hoofs of the horses were about the extent of the damage.

Officer Charles Smith from police headquarters went to the spot when word of the runaway was telephoned to Chief George Linton.

BENJAMIN LEE MANSION NOW CHRIST CH. RECTORY

A member of the Tyler family supplements the facts which Edward Harland Miller, of New York recently gave The Bulletin, regarding the historic home of Gen. Dan Tyler, on Washington street. The writer says:

"The misunderstanding about the present Christ church rectory, which Mr. Miller corrected, was evidently caused by the fact that it was built and occupied by Mrs. Daniel Tyler's mother, Mrs. Benjamin Lee.

"Mrs. Tyler—Emily Lee—was married from that house. Benjamin Lee passed the greater part of his time in the northern part of New York state and came to Norwich only for an occasional visit. The Lees were very fond of each other; but both being possessed of high tempers, they did not spend very much time together.

"Benjamin was an Englishman, a midshipman in the British navy, when he came within an ace of being hanged at the yard arm for striking a superior officer who had given a brutal blow to a sailor in irons. That fate was averted by the intercession of the young Duke of Clarence (afterward William IV) a friend of Benjamin Lee, who was a midshipman on the same vessel.

"After that close call, Benjamin concluded it would be the part of wisdom for him to join his brother Thomas, who was a very prosperous shipping merchant in Boston.

"Soon after his arrival in this country he married the beautiful Elizabeth Leighton, of Cambridge, Mass. —said to have been the greatest belle of her time. When their children were young, they came to Norwich and built the Lee house, on Washington street."

These facts are interesting additions to what is remembered of these ancestors of Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt.

It is worth noting that the memory of the beautiful Elizabeth Leighton is perpetuated by her descendants; for the granddaughter of Gen. Dan Tyler, a daughter of Mrs. Cornelia Osgood Tyler and the late Col. Augustus Cleveland Tyler, of New London—both Norwich-born—Miss Edna Leighton Tyler is named for her ancestress so famous in and about Boston in Revolutionary days.

NORTHFIELD CLUB GREETS ALUMNAE SECRETARY'S VISIT

A most enjoyable afternoon was spent by members of the New London Northfield Club on Saturday at the New London Y. W. C. A., when Miss Fanny C. Hatch, alumnae general secretary, of Northfield Seminary, East Northfield, Mass., brought all the latest news from their beloved school. Miss Hatch has visited many of the 30 clubs scattered throughout the United States, since February 3rd, and as she told of her varied and amusing experiences, and brought greetings from sister clubs, the eager group of about 20 listened with intense interest, anxious to learn from former teachers and schoolmates, of whom 104 are on the foreign field. Interesting pictures were displayed, and many were the questions asked during the social hours. Westerly members of the club were particularly favored in having Miss Hatch with them over Friday night, when they were entertained at the home of Mrs. Samuel Carthcart, sister of the late Miss Evelyn S. Hall, beloved principal of the Seminary for many years.

Miss Maude E. Allen of Norwich, president of the Club, presided at the business session, when reports were read by the secretary, Miss Jennie G. Perkins, of Gales Ferry, by the Treasurer, Miss Charlena Elliott, of New London, and Mrs. Richard M. Harding, of Norwich, chairman of the alumnae membership committee. Miss Fannie E. Wilcox of Westerly was appointed chairman of the alumnae fund campaign. Several invitations were extended for entertaining the club, and two meetings are planned for June and August.

Refreshments of sandwiches, cake, cookies, cocoa and home-made fudge were served during the social hour, Mrs. Dwight W. Avery of Norwich Town, in charge, after which the Northfield benediction was sung, as Miss Hatch departed for Springfield, Mass. Notice was given that Dr. Paul Dwight Moody, President of Middlebury College, Vt., and son of the late Dwight L. Moody, founder of the Northfield Schools, is the Lenten speaker for April 1st at the First Congregational Church, New London, and the girls were urged to be present to greet him.

Others present during the afternoon were: Mrs. Richard J. Whitham, Vice President of Groton, Mrs. Nelson Parker and Mrs. J. E. Norman, of Gales Ferry, Mrs. Clarence L. Brockett, of Niantic, Miss Ellen T. Greeley, Norwich, Mrs. Walter Abbe, Jr., of South Windham, Rev. and Mrs. Dwight C. Stone, Stonington, Miss Nellie J. Starr, Uncasville, Mrs. William W. Goff, Miss Ruth R. Taylor, and Mrs. Thomas Chadburne of Westerly, Miss Blanche V. Smith, Yantic, and Miss Helen S. Whitcomb of New London.

Seeks Divorce For Desertion

Myra Weir Minhold of New London who married Oscar M. Minhold on April 20, 1914, has brought suit for divorce from him on the ground of desertion since March 2, 1922. She asks for change of name to Myra E. Weir. The suit is returnable in the superior court in April.

MYSTIC CHICKEN THIEF GIVEN JAIL SENTENCE

John Jordan, alias Jack Curry of Mystic, who, state police say, has a weakness for chickens, was arrested Saturday afternoon and in Groton town court Monday morning was given four months in jail for the theft, after he pleaded guilty. Curry is held responsible for the loss of 40 chickens during the past few weeks, but when he was taken into custody Saturday only 16 were found in his possession. Only three could be identified as stolen.

Complainants in the case are Nathan Latham and Daniel Chesbro, both of Mystic. On March 9, Curry is alleged to have stolen 16 birds from the Chesbro coops, and on the 19th, 18 more. On the night of the 18th, it is alleged, Curry visited the hen yards of Latham and took away six, bringing the total known missing up to 40. When arrested Saturday by State Policeman Fred Caron, 16 birds were found in his possession. Three were identified as belonging to Latham but the other 13 were not identified as stolen.

AHAB SANCTORUM HELD MEETING IN NORWICH

The first annual business meeting of Ahab Sanctorum, No. 26, U. O. of S. and P., of Mystic was held in this city Saturday evening out of deference to the many members living here who belong to the local order. About 30 from Mystic made the trip, which was by automobiles.

The new board of officers is as follows and these, with the ones to be appointed by the incoming grand hyastytee will be installed at the April meeting:

Grand Hyastytee—A. Orville Lewis. Vice Grand Hyastytee—John J. Spicks. Registrar—Charles M. Gremley. Banker—Ralph O. Hughes, Trustee for Three Years—C. H. Eldredge.

Following the election an entertainment was given which included monologues, songs and fancy dancing by vaudeville artists engaged for the occasion.

TO GIVE HEARING ON PROPOSED MEDICAL ACT

nosis and medical advice or treatment;

6. Dentists, nurses, midwives, barbers, chiropodists and optometrists, when merely acting in the normal practice of their respective skilled occupations;

7. Any skilled person who merely administers physical exercises or rubbing, massage or manipulation of the body, provided he refrains from all diagnosis and from offers or attempts to diagnose the nature or cause or condition of any abnormal or painful, or deleterious, or traumatic, or pathological state or functioning of the body or mind of another person, whether actual, imaginary or hypothetical, and also refrains from all representations and declarations and suggestions as to the effect of any methods or courses or kinds of treatment or appliances upon any such state or functioning of the human body or mind, and also when he is acting in assistance of or under the direction and supervision of a licensed practitioner of the healing art duly registered under this act and in accordance with the provisions thereof.

8. Those who depend solely and entirely upon the exercise of spiritual, religious or mental influences.

"Board of Medical Regulation"

Section 4. The governor shall appoint by and with the consent of the senate five persons and they and their successors, duly appointed as hereinafter provided, are hereby constituted a state board of medical regulations hereinafter in this act referred to as the "board." One of them shall hold office for two years, one for three years, one for four years, one for five years and one for six years, as shall be determined among themselves by lot and reported to the governor. Any vacancy on said board created by the expiration of a term of office shall be filled by appointment by the governor for a term of five years. If any member of the board shall die or resign or become incapacitated, the vacancy on the board thus created shall be filled by appointment by the governor for the unexpired term. No person shall act as a member of said board who is engaged in the practice of the healing art as a business, occupation or profession. The members of the board shall receive no compensation except as otherwise herein provided.

Character and Education.

Section 5. The said board shall have power from time to time to make and amend general regulations having the force of law governing the licensing under this act of practitioners of the healing art. These regulations shall define such conditions and proofs as to age, moral character and educational training and attainments of candidates for licenses and provide for such expert examinations of candidates as in the judgment of the board shall be best adapted to secure protection of the public against the future licensing to practice the healing art of any persons who are not by character, training and attainments reasonably equipped therefor, including persons who lack a reasonable amount of practically beneficial knowledge of the fundamental sciences of physiological chemistry, biophysics, biology, parasitology and toxicology, and of human physiology, anatomy, pathology, and hygiene, and also including persons who lack a proper knowledge of the sanitary code of the state and of the laws regulating the status and duties of practitioners of the healing art. The board may also from time to time make specific orders adapted to secure the proper execution and enforcement of its regulations, and this power may be exercised by properly authorized committees of the board when the board is not in session.

Section 6. The board shall appoint a secretary to hold office at its pleasure. Said secretary shall record in a book to be kept for that purpose all doings of the board and of its committees. A copy of any part of such record certified as such by the secretary for the time being shall be received by any court of this state as evidence of such action by the board or of a committee thereof as is therein stated. The secretary shall also perform such other duties as shall be prescribed by the board. The board may adopt a seal of which the secretary shall be the custodian with authority to affix such seal in accordance with the regulations of the board and orders of the board or of its committees. The secretary shall receive such reasonable compensation as the board may determine.

Discrimination Prohibited.

The board shall from time to time appoint experts to conduct examination at such convenient times and places as the board shall prescribe under and in pursuance of its regulations and directions. These examiners shall hold office at the pleasure of the board and shall be entitled to receive such compensation as the board may determine. No person shall be admitted to any examination for a license until all the prior requirements established by law or by the regulations of the board have been duly complied with by such person. All examinations shall be so conducted as not to discriminate against the particular views of any bonafide organization, sect or school as to any remedies or treatment or any system of therapeutics.

Section 7. The regulations of the board shall prescribe the terms and form or forms of licenses to practice the healing art to be thereafter issued. These licenses shall be issued to those persons who are found to have passed the examination as provided by the regulations and orders of the board and who are found to have met all other requirements of the board. Licenses may also be issued in accordance with regulations of the board to any person holding a license to practice the healing art which is determined in the manner provided in such regulations to have been elsewhere issued under requirements of as high a grade as those required by the state of Connecticut at that time of the issuance of such licenses; provided (1) that the applicant for such license shall have satisfied the conditions prescribed for such a case by the regulations of the board; (2) that he is a resident of Connecticut or intends in good faith to permanently reside therein; (3) that he has been actually practicing the healing art or serving as an interne in an approved hospital for a period of at least one year during the two years immediately preceding the date of his application for a license in this state, and (4) that he is ascertained under the regulations of the board to be of good moral character and professional standing.

The Bill Not Retroactive.

Section 8. All licenses to practice the healing art within this state either generally or to a limited extent heretofore issued without deceit or fraud on the part of the licenses shall remain in force subject to any lawful limitations upon the exercise of such licenses as these existed at the time of the issue thereof.

Section 10. The State department of health shall, when requested by the board, and in accordance with its regulations, perform any activities which are necessary or proper for the full execution of the purposes of this act, and the commissioner of health shall act, if and as required by the regulations or orders of the board, as its executive arm.

Section 11. The board shall provide by its regulations for the payment of such preliminary fees by applicants for a license to practice the healing art as in their opinion will be sufficient to pay all expenses incurred in the execution of this act. These fees shall be collected by the secretary of the board and paid over by him to the state department of health, which upon the orders of the secretary of the board shall pay all the expenses incurred in the execution of this act, including the travelling and other expenses of the members of the board and its committees, officers and agents incurred in the performance of their duties hereunder.

"Grievance Committees"

Section 12. The board may appoint, either from its own membership or otherwise as it may deem expedient; a grievance committee, which shall have power by its order to revoke the license of any person to practice the healing art within this state, who shall be found by said committee after due notice and hearing to have been guilty of any professional misconduct, or to be of unsound mind, or to be addicted to a disabling use of drugs or alcoholic drinks, or to so practice the healing art as in any way to menace the public health. If any person shall consider himself aggrieved by the findings and order of the grievance committee, he may within thirty days after written notice of the revocation of his license has been mailed, addressed to him at his address as registered with the state department of health, appeal therefrom to the superior court to be held within the county in which he shall reside, which court may grant proper relief. This appeal shall not act as a supercede as of the order unless so ordered either by said grievance committee or by the superior court or a judge thereof. It shall be the duty of the states attorney for such county to act as attorney in the public interest in defending from said appeal. The board may for cause shown restore any license thus revoked. Said grievance committee shall have the powers for the taking of evidence of a court in accordance with the provisions of Chapter 296 of the general statutes and all revisions and amendments thereof. The secretary of the board may sign subpoenas for witnesses, which shall have the same force as if signed by a clerk of a court under the provisions of said chapter. The grievance committee shall receive such reasonable compensation as the board may determine for time spent in hearings under this section.

Forfeiture of Licenses

Section 14. Any license to practice the healing art issued to any person whether under this act or previous laws shall be forfeited without any hearing by the grievance committee, if and when such person shall be convicted of criminal abortion or of any offense for which an infamous punishment is inflicted.

Section 15. Every person whose license to practice the healing art shall be invalid, or shall have been revoked or forfeited shall surrender such license to the commissioner of health, either upon his demand or upon the demand of the secretary of the board, and any court of this state shall have jurisdiction to enforce by appropriate remedy any such lawful demand upon complaint in a civil action of either

Why Druggists Recommend Swamp-Root

For many years druggists have watched with much interest the remarkable record maintained by Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder medicine.

It is a physician's prescription.

Swamp-Root is a strengthening medicine. It helps the kidneys, liver and bladder do the work nature intended they should do.

Swamp-Root has stood the test of years. It is sold by all druggists on its merit and it should help you. No other kidney medicine has so many friends.

Be sure to get Swamp-Root and start treatment at once.

However, if you wish first to test this great preparation send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. When writing be sure and mention this paper.

the commissioner of health or the secretary of the board.

Applying for License

Every person who desires to practice the healing art in the state of Connecticut shall make application to the state department for registration as a licensed practitioner. Upon application, duplicate registration blanks shall be furnished such person by the state department of health. These blanks shall provide for the recording thereon of the applicants' name, age, place of birth, and present residence, the college from which the applicant graduated with the date of graduation, the town in which he intends to practice the healing art and such other matters of information as the state department of health may prescribe. The applicant shall furnish on these blanks the information indicated and shall have said statements sworn to before a proper officer. Said applicant shall prior to engaging in such practice file these duplicate registration blanks with the department of health of the state of Connecticut. Upon receipt of these duplicate registration blanks properly filled out, the state department of health shall transmit one of said blanks to the town clerk of the town wherein the person so filing the blank resides; and in case such person does not reside in the state of Connecticut, the registration blank shall be transmitted to the town clerk of the town in this state nearest to the place of residence of such person, or to the town clerk of the town in which he has upon such blank indicated intention to practice. Said town clerk shall record the same in a book to be provided for that purpose of the state department of health and shall then return the registration blank to the person who filed the same with the state department of health. Said town clerk shall receive for such recording a fee of twenty-five cents, to be paid by the state department of health. Any such practitioner changing the chief location of his practice to another town within the state shall, prior to engaging in such practice there register with the town clerk of that town and with the state department of health upon blanks provided by the state department of health for that purpose. Every person licensed to practice the healing art in the state of Connecticut shall, annually during the month of January, register with the state department of health, on blanks which shall be furnished by said department for such purpose, giving his name in full, residence and business address, and such other available information as said department may call for upon said blank, and for failure to do so shall be punished by a fine not exceeding one hundred dollars. The state department of health may appoint a clerk and fix his salary to be paid only out of fees and penalties received.

Section 17. Every practitioner of the healing art shall show by proper letters or symbols after his name on all signs and professional stationery the degree conferred on him as evidenced by the diploma or certificate presented when he made application for a license to practice the healing art.

Section 18. Any person licensed under this act to practice the healing art shall be empowered to sign certificates of death in compliance with the regulations of the state department of health.

Fraud in Securing Licenses

No person shall wilfully make any false statements or representation or wilfully conceal any material fact for the purpose of obtaining a license to practice the healing art or of securing registration as a licensed practitioner with the state department of health. No person shall procure or communicate to another in advance of an examination conducted under the provisions of this act any information concerning the particular questions to be asked in such examination or in any way influence or attempt to influence unfairly or improperly the action of the examiners or of the board or its officers or committees.

Revocation of License

Section 20. The secretary of the board or the commissioner of health may bring a civil action against any person, complaining that such person is practicing the healing art in violation of provisions of this act. The writ in said action may be made returnable to the superior court in any county, and said court shall have jurisdiction to hear such cause and to afford appropriate relief in the public interest by way of injunction against such person, or otherwise. If so requested by the plaintiff, the states attorney of said county shall act as attorney for him to represent the public interest in said action.

Section 21. Any person violating any provision of this act not otherwise provided for shall for the first offense be fined not more than five hundred dollars or imprisoned in the county jail for not more than six months, or both, and for each subsequent offense shall be fined not more than one thousand dollars or imprisoned in the county jail for not more than one year, or both. All fines imposed under this act shall be paid to the state department of health. Every person who shall swear to any falsehood as to any material matter in any statement made pursuant to this act or pursuant to any lawful regulation or order of the board of its committee, or in any hearing before a grievance committee, shall be guilty of perjury.

Section 22. If any separable part of this act shall be declared by lawful authority to be unconstitutional, such decision shall not affect the validity of other provisions of this act.

Sections Repealed

Sections 2854, 2855, 2856, 2857, 2858, 2859, 2860, 2864, 2865, 2866, 2867, 2868, 2870, 2871, 2872, 2873, 2874, 2875, 2876, 2877, 2878, 879, of the general statutes and chapter 120 of the public acts of 1919 and Chapters 30, 121, 245 and 281 of the public acts of 1923 and all other acts and parts of acts inconsistent with the provisions of this act are hereby repealed.

Section 24. This act shall take effect from its passage.

BEWARE THE COUGH OR COLD THAT HANGS ON

Chronic coughs and persistent colds lead to serious lung trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with twofold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and kills the germ.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by the medical fraternity as the greatest healing agency for the treatment of chronic coughs and colds and other forms of throat and lung troubles. Creomulsion contains in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and destroys the germ that lead to consumption.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of chronic coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, catarrhal bronchitis and other forms of throat and lung diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or the flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold, no matter of how long standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. Creomulsion Co., Atlanta, Ga. (Adv.)

POETRY

the Past Is Trailing Me

The past—the past is trailing me,
Its joy and pain, its tears and smiles,
Faces I nevermore shall see,
Its happy journeys, weary miles,
Its dreams that never could come true,
Its hopes like withered petals blown—
The past—the past is trailing me
To futures bleak, and all unknown.

Old memories are fluttering
Like little birds about my heart;
Faded voices softly sing,
Caress my brain, and then depart.
And come again—the kind words said
By loving lips forever still:
Come shadowy forms forever fled,
Dim laughter, like a distant rill.

Footfalls, without, upon the stair,
No nigher sound, and die away;
An old love-song to me will fare,
Then vanish in the twilight gray.
With secret sighs I flood the night
As through my casement shines a star;
The past—the past is trailing me
Although it seems afar—how far!

Wraiths sometimes too from childhood come,
Small phantoms gay, with twinkling feet;
With lays of birds and wild bees' hum
Their frolic blends 'neath blossoms sweet;
And I—and I, I heat me too—
It rings my heart, that passing gleam;
To clouds I wake, not heaven's blue,
And find it all is but a dream!

Youth's poppy blossoms now are shed,
And life has little left but cares;
My sheaves are nearly harvested,
With little wheat and many tares.
If but an hour I could go back—
I'm homesick for the sunny then—
The past—the past is trailing me
But we shall never meet again.
—Samuel Minturn Peck in Boston Transcript.

Longfellow's version:
This is the forest primeval. The murmurous pines and the hemlocks,
Bearded with moss, and in garments green, indistinct in the twilight,
Stand like Druids of old, with voices sad and prophetic,
Stand like harpers hoar, with beards that rest on their bosoms.

Today's version:
This is the cut-over region; the firm-rooted stumps and the scrub oaks,
Blackened with fire and in dismay, semi-grotesque in the sunlight,
Look like statues to Greed, all voiceless, crushed and pathetic,

The building and loan association movement has expanded greatly in the last decade. In 1912 there were about 6,300 associations in the United States, and by 1924 this number had increased to nearly 11,000. Membership in associations increased from 2,500,000 to more than 7,200,000, and total assets of associations from $1,000,000,000 to $3,900,000,000.

Since he started his musical career seventy years ago by playing in a comb band, he has organized more than fifty brass bands, taught more than 1,000 pupils and marched from 12,000 to 15,000 miles in parades. Every town in Knox county has organized a band under Mr. Ingraham's leadership.

Mrs. Della Austin, postmaster at Ft. Kent Mills, Me., has a pet deer which she has had since it was a fawn and it has become thoroughly domesticated. Not only that but it shows marked housekeeping abilities. A little outhouse has been provided for the deer, and it has an electric light which may be turned on with a string. The door is kept hasped to keep out intruders but when the Austin deer feels the need of food or shelter it will nose up the hasp, enter, pull on the electric light and proceed contentedly to munch the supply of Aroostook potatoes which are kept in a box, says the Boston Globe.

The reason Argentines rank among the best shots in the world, as shown in various international rifle contests in past years, is that marksmanship is obligatory upon every male citizen of Argentina between the ages of 12 and 45. This is a part of the Argentine system of compulsory military instruction. Not all citizens have to serve in the army, its ranks being recruited by lot, but those chosen may reduce their one-year term of service by three-fourths if they take the marksmanship course. Those not chosen are obliged to take the course anyway. Statistics recently issued by the ministry of war show that during last year 44,000 citizens took lessons at the 120 rifle ranges in the country, and shot 4,500,000 cartridges.

FIVE JURORS CHOSEN FOR TRIAL OF GERALD CHAPMAN

Of 86 Examined the Defense Peremptorily Excused 17—Four Were Challenged by the Prosecution—the Accused With Nods Directed the Action of His Counsel—A Panel or Ninety New Jurors Has Been Summoned to Appear Today.

Hartford, March 24—The debonair Gerald Chapman fought with his back to the wall in the superior court today, the opening day of his trial for the murder of Patrolman James J. Sheehy in New Britain on the grey Monday dawn of last October 12.

Eighty-six talesmen were examined as potential jurors, but only five of them were chosen in the two court sessions aggregating five and a half hours, it was only after Chapman, crowded into a chair in the midst of his counsel, had nodded his head affirmatively that each of the five was accepted by his counsel. A number of others over whom his attorneys seemed to hover doubtfully were dismissed on peremptory challenges at negative nods from the notorious bandit.

Slouched into his chair and seemingly indifferent, Chapman virtually had a voice in every important action taken by the lawyers. He used his tongue little, but his large blue eyes lodged under prominent brows spoke a ready language. Glances between the accused prisoner and his chief counsel, Frederick J. Groehl, of New York, were exchanged before each decision. And it was Chapman's glance which caused the situation in a number of important occasions.

It was a day of exhaustive, patient weeding on the part of the defense, ending in an order for an augmented panel of talesmen to be in court when the trial is resumed at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning. Judge Newell Jennings supervised the selection of the new names and summonses were made out and served tonight. It was a rush job, as the court feared the seven needed jurors could not be chosen from the remainder of the original panel of 150 talesmen.

The state's prosecutor, Hugh M. Alcorn, whose soft voice is belied by the sharp glitter of his eyes, spent little time in his questioning of talesmen, putting to them pertinent questions. If the answers were satisfactory to him he turned the prospects over to the defense. Groehl and his chief associate, Nathan O. Freedman, a Hartford lawyer, alternated in this work, questioning each talesman through an exhaustive questioning. It was slow work, and tedious.

From the spectators' viewpoint, this tediousness characterized the day's routine proceedings. To them the humdrum routine was obviously suffered only because of the attraction of the prisoner, a lithe, small man of easy grace. Throughout the day he was the target of a barrage of staring eyes. He didn't even look at the spectators.

A crowd, held from the doors by an augmented guard, kept vigil throughout the day outside the court building, opposite it or at its sides, unrewarded by any scrap of sensation. Even Chapman's going to and coming from the state prison at Wethersfield, four miles from here, brought them no reward. For the prisoner, guarded on all sides, was transported in a closed car which was preceded by a pair of sputtering motorcycles bearing still other guards and followed by a motor car bristling with the guns of yet another detachment of police.

The prisoner was rushed into the basement through a rear court yard and door, and into the grim prisoners' cage in the court room. Here two guards kept unwavering eyes on him, until the case was called, when he took his seat at Groehl's side. Even then the guards followed, for three other seats behind him. They did not move until the prisoner moved. Chapman, seemingly unaware of the hatred that had managed to force or wheedle its way into court, slumped in his chair and, chin in hand, looked at the counsel table. His counsel spoke to him. He mumbled a reply, without lifting his head. He read and returned without comment Groehl's brief objecting to the jury panel and seemingly didn't hear Judge Jennings over-rule the counsel's motion. In his well tailored suit of dark material his face as expressionless as a mannikin's, Chapman did not look the part of the daring mail robber, jail breaker, safe cracker and alleged murderer. He looked more like a well-to-do young business man with little on his mind.

But to the acute observer it could be seen that his eyes never rested. Without turning his head, he watched everything that went on about him. The eyes, bold and blue and strangely contrasting with his sensitive mouth and rather indefinite chin, roved elsewhere.

Only two jurors were selected at the morning session. The first was Fred W. Viets, a East Granby farmer apparently in his thirties. Chapman was much pleased with his selection, saving during a court recess that he believed Viets "would arrive at a decision on the evidence," and that he looked "a fair man." These were his only words he spoke, except his brief and infrequent talks with Groehl.

Just before the morning session adjourned Thomas Rourke, a middle aged insurance man of Farmington was selected as the second juror. A. W. Burrows, a Bloomfield bookkeeper, elderly and serious-looking, was number three. He was selected shortly after the afternoon session opened. He was followed into the list of accepted by Lawrence Klein, an Enfield talesman, and Walter S. Case, a general store-keeper at Anton.

But that was the day's harvest. A veritable parade of talesmen took the stand and left it, excused for various reasons. More than a score of them did not believe in capital punishment. Others had physicians certificates testifying to their physical incapacities. Others disqualified themselves by declaring themselves possessed of irradicable opinions on the guilt or innocence of the defendant. Excused on peremptory challenge.

Groehl asked all the talesmen he examined if they would be prejudiced against Chapman if he did not take the stand in his own defense. Asked what if it was his plan to keep the prisoner from the stand, he replied that the events of the trial would decide that. Newspapermen—the room is literally flooded with them from all parts of the east—pressed him for reasons that might cause him to keep his spectacular client off the stand.

"There are times," he replied, "when a man may be asked questions which he cannot, with honor, answer. Questions concerning a woman, for instance."

He refused to further explain, but his enigmatic answer was connected with wide flung and persistent rumors that a more or less prominently connected Providence, R. I., woman would clinch Chapman's alibi should she choose to be a defense witness. This woman is supposed to be one to have been humorously referred to by the police and detectives who ran down Chapman in Muncie, Indiana, last January "as Mrs. Beeswax."

"Mrs. Beeswax," said to be the wife of a well-to-do business man was, according to hardy rumors, in correspondence with Chapman during the months he dodged police throughout the middle west. She is even referred to as his "bank" who provided money for him whenever the exigencies of his flight exhausted his funds but this is only one of many current rumors, and many are inclined to consider it just another of the myths that have been thrown in with the known facts for the modelling of Chapman as he is known to the public.

Groehl, refusing to discuss his defense, has declared that more of his witnesses are yet in Hartford. He is keeping them "under cover" he said, adding that he will keep them there until they are needed.

On the other hand, there are about sixty of the state's witnesses here. They have come from many parts of the country. It is through their testimony that Alcorn, a bird-like man of seemingly inexhaustible tenacity, expects to tie Chapman to the New Britain crime.

Few of the state's witnesses were in court today, as it was expected that the actual trial could not possibly get under way until Thursday, as at least one more day must be consumed in completing the jury.

NINETY ADDITIONAL JURORS SUMMONED

Hartford, March 24.—Ninety additional jurors were placed at the service of the state in the trial of Gerald Chapman for the murder of Patrolman James Sheehy of New Britain at a drawing held late today in the office of the clerk of the superior court. The drawing was necessitated by the approaching exhaustion of the original list of nearly 150 men. The drawing met the objections of Charles W. Murphy, of Danbury, associate counsel in the defense fo Chapman, raised in his motion at the opening of Chapman's trial, challenging the array of the ground that Hartford was not represented in the list of jurors. Hartford now has 20 jurors no the new list, while the towns of Manchester, Southington, Bristol, Suffield, West Hartford, Ellingfield and Wethersfield, have ten each on the list.

The jurors are expected to report at the superior court before Judge Newell Jennings at 11 o'clock tomorrow morning.

DISMISSAL OF INJUNCTION AGAINST LILLIAN GISH

New York March 24.—Dismissal of the injunction suit brought by Charles H. Duell, Inc., against Lillian Gish, to retain her exclusive services until 1930, was asked by Max D. Steuer the screen stars attorney, before Federal Judge Mack today.

Mr. Steuer said that documents presented to Miss Gish, modifying her contract with Inspiration Pictures, Inc., had been accepted without full understanding of their intent. These modifications, he claimed, had resulted in the loss of various sums of money to Miss Gish as percentage from the receipts of motion pictures in which she starred. Sums amounting to $7,500 were also lost, he said, when $50,000 was charged to overhead without her consent. Percentage receipts from the films, amounting to $75,000 were likewise lost when she agreed to increase from $300,000 to $600,000 the amount upon which the percentage payments should begin, her attorney said.

Miss Gish displayed little interest in the proceedings, engaging herself mainly in nibbling at a carrot as Judge Mack heard the arguments.

FELL FROM 17TH FLOOR OF EQUITABLE BUILDING

New York, March 24.—Harold Van Winkle, 21, a clerk employed by an insurance company, died late today, four hours after he fell from an upper floor of the Equitable Life Assurance Co. building, opposite the Pennsylvania hotel. Van Winkle crashed through the roof of a taxicab standing at the entrance of the hotel. Although his skull and both legs were fractured, he retained consciousness long enough to tell his name.

The police are investigating, in an effort to ascertain whether it was a case of suicide or an accident.

Scores of pedestrians witnessed Van Winkle's fall.

SOVIET DECISION OVER THE SINCLAIR OIL CO.

Moscow, March 24.—(By the A. P.)—The soviet government in the district court here today won a decision over the Sinclair Consolidated Oil company in its suit for the annulment of the oil concessions granted the American company on the Island of Saghalin in 1923. The court ordered the government to return to the company 200,000 rubles it had deposited as security for the carrying out of the terms of the concessions.

FRANK A. VANDERLIP'S TEMPERATURE NORMAL

Scarbrough, N. Y., March 24.—Physicians attending Frank A. Vanderlip, retired banker, said that his temperature today was normal for the first time since he became seriously ill three months ago with influenza which later developed into typhoid fever and pneumonia. His complete recovery is expected soon, the doctors said.

LEGISLATIVE HEARING ON MEDICAL PRACTICE BILL

Hartford, March 24.—The hearing on the bill described as an act to revise the medical practice act held in the house chamber at the capitol this afternoon, drew an audience which filled the place. The judiciary committee heard the bill while in previous sessions bills of this nature went before the committee on public health and, safety Dr. Eddy, of Canton, who last session was house chairman of the committee which had revision bill before it, this afternoon sat on a step in an aisle while he listened to the speakers.

The bill heard today originated in the inquisitorial grand jury which investigated the medical situation in the state, with Benedict M. Holden, as foreman. The text of the bill is understood to have been put into shape by Edward G. Robbins, long general counsel for the New Haven road. The Connjecticut Chamber of Commerce had taken a referendum of its members and on that basis supported the bill. Much publicity had been given the bill, both in printed form and through speakers who attended meetings in various cities and towns.

This afternoon, after Mr. Holden had explained the origin of the bill, the functions of the grand jury, the inquiry into conditions which had arisen over the traffic in "fake medical diplomas" issued by western institutions, he analyzed the sections of the bill and also offered a number of amendments to it. The committee then allowed the opponents of the bill to have two hours, and they were followed by proponents for nearly two hours.

At first it was thought that two afternoons would be given up to the bill but House Chairman Alling was of the opinion that four hours would be sufficient.

W. D. Kilpatrick, of Bridgeport, representing the eclectic physicians, many of whom had had their license suspended by the state department of health, made the first argument against the bill, claiming as one important ground that the bill was unconstitutional, saying that the section which provided for delegated power of the laymen board of experts to be appointed by such board was in itself contrary to the constitution. Mr. Kilpatrick made the remark that in his opinion the grand jury which originated the bill "was a disgrace to the state and every good lawyer bellived it to be."

Mr. Kilpatrick made many references to comment upon the bill. He was followed by a number of others who represented different cults, the chiropractors, and osteopaths and the naturopaths. Each, as a rule, singled out certain things in the bill which made it objectionable from their viewpoint. Mr. Berry, for the chiropractors mentioning that there was no right of appeal for a person aggrieved by a decision of the board. The chiropractors at the outset declared that they favored high educational standards for those who apply for licenses. F. B. Munn, for the osteopaths said that under the present law they required even higher standards than the law requires.

All the opponents of the bill had emphasis on the provision that would set up five laymen to pass upon the qualifications of applicants for licenses. There were many ready to talk when the time limit was up.

For the bill Mr. Robinson made a general explanation and was followed by a number of others in behalf of the bill.

WINNERS AT EXHIBIT OF NAT'L ACADEMY OF DESIGN

New York, March 24.—Winners of nine prizes for works in the 100 annual exhibit of the National Academy of design, opening next Wednesday, were announced tonight by Secretary Charles C. Curran of the academy.

Hobart Nichols of Bronxville, N. Y., was awarded first Altman prize of $1,000 for his landscape, "Across the Valley," second Altman prize of $500 was won by E. L. Blumenschein of Taos, N. M., for a painting, "Sangre de Christo Mountains."

Other awards follow: $300 Thomas B. Clarke prize to Miss Gertrude Fiske of 132 Riverway, Boston Mass., for "Sunday Afternoon"; $300 Hallgarten prize to Clarence Johnson of Lumberville, Pa., for "Lumberville Lock"; $200 Hallgarten prize to Stanley Woodward of 247 Newbury St., Boston, Mass., for "Mid Ocean"; $100 Hallgarten prize to Jerry Farnsworth of Washington, D. C., for "Helen"; $300 Speyer Memorial prize to Carl Rungius of New York for "Across the Barren"; $100 Isaac Maynard prize to William Auerback-Levy of New York for "Father and Daughter"; Saltus medal for merit to John E. Costigan of Orangeburg, N. Y., for "Landscape with Figures."

FINDS PUBLIC SENTIMENT AGAINST THE VOLSTEAD ACT

Waterbury, March 24.—Superintendent of Police George M. Beach, when interviewed in regard to an article which appeared in The Outlook magazine claiming Waterbury to be one of the "wettest" cities in the state of Connecticut, stated that there would never be perfect enforcement of the liquor law until public opinion was firmly behind the law. He said that public opinion was not behind the liquor law and that reformers and others would do much better work by stirring up public opinion in favor of the liquor law than by talking about lax liquor law enforcement.

The police official said: "No law can be properly enforced unless public opinion is back of the law. For the few who are in favor of the law there are thousands who are not in favor o fthe law. Detection and conviction of murderers, even, could not be brought about unless public opinion is behind the law. Why don't these reformers and ministers stir up public opinion in favor of the liquor law?"

Surveying For Naval Limitation Confab

Kellogg Has Undertaken Study at the Direction of President Coolidge.

Washington, March 24—President Coolidge's plans with respect to calling a supplementary naval limitations conference are taking more definite shape. By his direction, Secretary Kellogg has initiated an intensive study of the minutes of the original Washington conference to acquaint himself fully with what then transpired in regard to those elements of naval armament for which no formula of limitation was found.

The president feels that there is opportunity now for a conference to take up and complete the work of the 1921 meeting, which laid down the 5-5-3, rule as to capital ships and also found it possible to limit proportionately aircraft carrier tonnage and to fix the maximum size of auxiliary craft and naval guns. A decision as to extending an invitation or even as to informal sounding out of sentiment of foreign capitals with regard to further conference is unlikely, however, until the secretary has completed the preliminary survey just undertaken.

The study probably will require discussions with the secretaries of war and navy and with the naval and military experts of the government so the president may be made fully aware of the practical and technical aspects of the supplemental conference proposal.

There has been no time for such conferences so far, because the data of the original conference are so extensive that Mr. Kellogg, with other duties requiring most of his attention, cannot complete his examination yet.

There is no doubt that the aircraft question occupies a large place in administration consideration of the arms limitation matter. In view of the recent controversies as to relative military value of battleships and aircraft and also because of the pressure for heavily increased aircraft appropriations, that subject already has been given much thought.

There is a decided feeling in some quarters that failure of the original conference to reach an aircraft limitation agreement does not foreclose another effort to that end.

In any event, it now appears certain that views on the conference project will be undertaken until the subject has been fully explored here and a definite conclusion by the president made possible.

BODY OF YOUNG WOMAN FOUND IN A SWAMP

Newport, Vt., March 24.—The body of Miss Edith M. Young, 24 years old, who had been missing since last November, was found today in a swamp above Lake Memphremagog, a few miles from the Coventry railroad station today with the remains of a horse and buggy nearby. Miss Young was last seen when she left this place in a hired buggy with Charles H. Hutchins of Newport Center, and grapplers were still searching late today for his body.

Ted Corliss, a trapper, saw a horse's head above the swamp water today and notified the Coventry selectmen, who ordered a search. The body of Miss Young, who had taught in the Newport schools, was brought here to await the arrival of State Pathologist Dr. harles Whitney from Burlington.

Hutchins and his wife were separated six months ago, and thelatter recently began divorce proceedings charging desertion and misconduct.

Miss Young had been working in the Newport Center creamery factory of which Hutchins was manager, but for three months before her disappearance had been employed in a handkerchief factory in Orleans, eight miles from here. On November 24, she came to Newport by train and Hutchins is said to have met her at the railroad station to drive her to her home in Orleans. The two drove away over a road which led through the swamp, with high water on each side, and neither was seen again alive.

The divorce suit of Mrs. Hutchins was scheduled to be heard in the Orleans county court today.

TORNADO DEATH TOLL NOW, ESTIMATED AT 830

Chicago, March 24 (By the A. P.)—Total deaths in the tornado of last Wednesday increased today in Illinois until they were within three of the 830 estimated slain, in first reports of the Associated Press, the night following the storm. There were 13 additional deaths reported from Murphysboro, the heaviest sufferer, and these with an additional demise at McLeansboro brought Illinois' loss of life to 660.

Deadly Poison In Fields Of Bay State

Capsules Scattered by Persons Who Sought to Kill Fur-Bearing Animals.

Boston, March 24—An area of more than 75 square miles in middle Massachusetts has been sowed with capsules containing deadly poison with danger to animal and even human life, several witnesses testified today before a joint legislative committee at the state house. Wild and domestic animals and birds have been destroyed in large numbers, these witnesses said, in northern Worcester county and the northwestern end of Middlesex county. The capsules were scattered by persons who wished to kill fur-bearing animals.

The committee after the hearing voted to report to the legislature a bill sponsored by the fish and game division of the state department of conservation to make the poisoning of animals punishable by jail sentences. The present penalty for this offense is a fine.

Judge Francis G. Hayes, associate justice of the Ayer municipal court, James A. Peck, a state fish and game warden, Dr. C. A. Keene of Fitchburg, and others described the "poison area."

"I am sure that there are today hundreds of these poison capsules waiting for some animal, either domestic or wild to pick them up." Judge Hayes said. "It is actually a menace to human life. As the water trickles off the hills and the snow evaporates, the poison goes down with the water and remains there. If anybody drinks any of that poisoned water it means death."

For several years, the witness said, farmers and others in the region affected were at a loss to explain the heavy mortality of domestic animals. It was found that capsules of tallow filled with a deadly poison and sealed with parafin had been scattered about to kill foxes and other fur bearing animals. The capsules were "planted" in woods and fields by a man who went about in a small car and covered great distances. The affected area was from Ashburnham near the New Hampshire boundary to Acton, Judge Hayes said.

MARRIAGE OF ROSCOE ARBUCKLE POSTPONED

Los Angeles, March 24.—French law reached across an ocean and a continent today and as a result Roscoe Arbuckle, former film comedian and Doris Deane, screen actress, were not married tonight as they had planned.

On the advice of Arbuckle's attorney in Paris, who said that the divorce of Minta Durfee, the former comedian's first wife would not become fully effective until April 8, the wedding was postponed until that date, at least.

A marriage at this time would be illegal and might lead to complications, the Paris attorney is quoted as saying.

"So," said Arbuckle, "we decided to postpone it. Miss Deane and I will be married, but the ceremony will not take place tonight.

"I expect to hear further details, so it cannot be said that April 8 has been set definitely as the new date, but it looks like that date with the information we now have."

The cable from Paris which proved an insurmountable obstacle to tonight's wedding, was the culmination of the troubles which the former comedian has encountered in endeavoring in endeavoring to make his second trip to the altar.

Reverend J. Whitcomb Brougher, who, the portly Arbuckle announced, would perform the ceremony, discovered that he had a previous engagement and sugested that the groom-to-be obtain the services of a civil authority, as "very few clergymen wish to marry divorced people."

Judge J. W. Summerfield, who next was announced as the one who would officiate, found that he also had an engagement, but aided the ex-comedian out of his difficulty by definitely obtaining the services of Judge Hugh J. Crawford.

The wedding was to have taken place in San Marino, a suburb at the home of Miss Deane's mother

JAPANESE AMBASSADOR HAS NO THOUGHT OF WAR

New York, March 24—Tsuneo Matsudaira, new Japanese ambassador, told the Japan society at its annual dinner here tonight that on his way to Washington he had been asked what he thought of the possibility of war between Japan and America.

Convinced that no issues existed between the two countries which awaited adjustment by force, the ambassador said he replied:

"I don't think about it."

With unimportant exceptions, he said, both peoples have disclaimed bellicose desires and depracdated all idea of discord.

"I am curious, therefore, to know," he said, "who is going to start a war between the two countries, and who is going to fight in it. I should not mind witnessing an American-Japanese war in which neither America nor Japan is involved. That would be a queer war."

Ambassador Matsudaira confessed that the American law excluding Japanese had given Japan "a great shock and disappointment" but the Japanese placed faith in the justice of the American people, a faith which "gives us hope that the day will come when this question may be settled in a manner satisfactory to both countries."

ARRESTED FOR ATTEMPT TO BRIBE POLICEMAN

Hartford, March 24.—"Here, take this and go ahead out," said Ignatz Perdenosky to Policeman D. J. Hurley, today when the latter entered his home, offering him a $100 roll of bills, according to the police. Hurley said he had found a 10-gallon still in operation in the Perdenosky apartment.

The officer took the roll, grasped the man by the collar, and brought him to the nearest police box, from which he sent in a call for the liquor squad. When the liquor squad arrived at the apartment, they found six gallons of liquor in a pantry and forty gallons of mash. While the officers were in the apartment, the still produced a quart of alcohol, which was also taken along to the police station as evidence. Perdenosky was charged with violation of the liquor law and attempted bribery of an officer.

BRITAIN ESPOUSES GERMAN OFFER BASIS FOR PARLEY

Austen Chamberlain, British Foreign Secretary, Has Informed French, Belgium and Other Statesmen That European Nations Should Make the Recent German Proposals the Basis For Peace Pact—Views of Security Problem Were Given in the House of Comons.

London, March 24—After delivering a sort of funeral oration over the discarded Geneva peace protocol, Foreign Secretary Austen Chamberlain today told the House of Commons, he had informed French, Belgian and other statesmen that the European nations should make the recent German proposals the basis for real security. In the course of his speech, he declared that American opinion viewed the pact rather as a possible cause of war than as affording increased security for peace.

Mr. Chamberlain added that in his own opinion, as well as the opinion of all whom he had talked regarding the security problem, the essential element of such an agreement was "that Germany should enter the League of Nations, taking her place on the league council on a footing of equality."

Arthur Henderson, home secretary in the MacDonald government and one of the parents of the Geneva protocol, opened today's debate with the statement that he declined to regard the pact as dead.

Replying to this, Mr. Chamberlain sarcastically described the circumstances of the protocol's conception "when though they thought themselves agreed, it was evident to skillful observers that they were poles apart Nevertheless, the two premiers returned to their respective capitals, leaving their representatives to put into the form of an international agreement the opposite ideas which were embodied in the Geneva formula."

The British foreign secretary stated that his government, the British dominions and India were not able to sign the protocol because they did not think it would promote security and thereby lead to disarmament.

Admitting that France's need for security was great, Foreign Secretary Chamberlain declared it was Great Britain's "interest and duty to contribute and provide for that security. This is recognized as the common policy of all British parties."

"But the whole nature of the Geneva protocol," he continued, "was not to deal with naval power, but to serve the special purposes of states with land forces and land frontiers who were anxious about those frontiers." The foreign secretary informed the House of Commons that he had been required to inform Premier Herriot and other European foreign ministers that it was not within the power of the British government to offer France or Belgium a one-sided pact of guarantee directly pointed against Germany.

He had told them, however, that he attached the highest importance to the recent German suggestions. These, as he understood them, were that Germany was prepared to renounce all desire for a change in her western and to enter a mutual pact to guarantee the existing situation there. She also was prepared to renounce the idea of war, as a machine for changing her eastern frontiers, although she was not prepared to say that she did not hope some day to have these frontiers modified by negotiations.

"Or for aught we know, by the good offices of the League of Nations."

Mr. Chamberlain said that he told Premier Herriot and the other foreign ministers that these German proposals ought to be considered carefully to see if they would "close the door on the war-like atmosphere that has endured in Europe since the signing of the peace of Versailles."

MRS. DENNISTOUN WINS VERDICT FOR £5,000 DAMAGES

London, March 24.—After fifteen full days of testimony, during which an amazing amount of "soiled linen" was washed in public, the famous Dennistoun case ended today as far as the main action was concerned.

The jury which had been listening to the evidence gave damages amounting to £6,000 to Mrs. Dorothy Muriel Dennistoun against her former husband, Lieutenant Colonel Ian Onslow Dennistoun, now husband of the former Dowager Countess Carnarvon. The verdict was for breach of contract in not having provided Mrs. Dennistoun's support after they were divorced in 1921. The divorced wife also under the verdict of the jury was awarded various sums of money she charged she had loaned Dennistoun and which he had not paid.

It is estimated that the cost of the trial will amount to £40,000.

Popular interest in the case has been at high pitch throughout. Beautifully gowned women fought for seats in the court room, while outside the law courts in the stand a dozen stolid "bobbies" were busy keeping curious crowds moving along the sidewalks. Mounted police were necessary to keep the roadway clear.

BEAR TRADERS FORCING DOWN STOCK PRICES

New York, March 24.—Stock prices continued to tumble today under the persistent hammering of bear traders and the liquidation of investors and speculators. Rail and industrial averages crashed to new low levels for the year.

Railroad shares bore the brunt of the selling pressure, bear attacks against these issues being predicted on the publication of relatively poor February earnings statements, particularly by the northwestern carriers. In all, 86 individual issues, 30 of them rails, attained their lowest prices of the year.

Attempts to rally the list met with partial success during the morning, but fresh buying power was lacking and quoted values continued to melt away when selling pressure was renewed during the season. Strong banking support made its appearance just before the close, being particularly effective in General Electric which was bid up over 6 points to 265 1-2. So much stock has been pressed for sale in other parts of the list, however, that the recovery failed to make much headway when the closing gong sounded.

ORCHESTRAS TOO LOUD FOR THE HUMAN VOICE

New York, March 24.—The human voice as an instrument of music is fast being pushed into the background by new methods of orchestration and may soon have to be surrendered outright, is the belief of A. H. Thorold of the chair of music in history at Munich and Frankfort universities, who arrived today on the Deutschland.

"It is impossible for the human voice to rise above the music of the modern orchestra, and unless the composers go back to the old methods of orchestration, as developed by Bach, Mozart and Beethoven, the opera singer must either adopt the speaking voice or fall into pantomime and let the orchestra do the interpreting of the words," he said.

TROUBLE FOR NEW YORK TICKET SPECULATORS

New York, March 24—For the past two months District Attorney Banton has been secretly investigating theatre ticket speculators along Broadway suspected of charging more than the 50 cent commission the law allows.

Today he forwarded evidence and affidavits of his detectives to the state comptroller which would hit dozens of these dealers.

Tickets marked $6.50 were sold as high as $9.90 according to Mr. Banton's evidence, and there were frequent cases where $6.60 was asked for tickets selling at $3.85 at the box office.

ARGUMENTS FOR DEFENSE IN TEAPOT DOME CASE

Cheyenne, Wyo., March 24.—(By the A. P.)—Holding the court, the attorneys and spectators for four and one-half hours—the entire court day—J. W. Lacey, of counsel for Harry F. Sinclair's Mammoth Oil company, closed his fight today in the Teapot Dome lease annulment suit.

He quoted decision after decision of the United States supreme court to support his contention that the lease given Harry F. Sinclair by former Secretary of the Interior Albert B. Fall, was legal, and binding on the government.

He spoke at great length on the provision in the act of June 4, 1920, under which congress gave to the secretary of the navy the right to "develop, conserve, use and operate," the naval reserves, and argued that the act made it mandatory for the head of the navy to proceed with that program.

"Every portion of the statute is replete with instructions to get the oil from the field, and there are no contingencies—no "ifs" he said.

Mr. Lacey argued that the powers granted to the secretary of the navy under the act were so broad that he was not required to submit the project to competitive bidding.

Mr. Lacey maintained that the powers of congress were not over-ridden because under the act it was self-evident that, if development were ordered, there must have followed provisions for oil storage. He said the government contention that oil storage tanks could be built for the navy under congressional appropriation as an incongulty in the fact of the act of 1920.

The argument was followed so closely by the court and spectators that Federal Judge T. Blake Kennedy's rules for recesses and limiting of arguments were by the board.

When Mr. Lacey closed in his argument, court adjourned, leaving George P. Goccor, Washington attorney, representing the defense without a place on the schedule, for he was to have started at three o'clock. The result was that a place had to be made on tomorrow's docket for Mr. Hoover.

DEAD ENGINEER HELD RESPONSIBLE FOR WRECK

Hartford, March 24.—Engineer Thos. P. Moore, of New York city, is held responsible for the freight wreck in the yards of the New Haven railroad in New Haven March 19, in a report submitted to the state public utilities commission today by Joseph P. Wadhams, assistant engineer of the commission, and accepted by that body. Engineer Moore and Fireman William H. Fish, of Springfield, Mass., were killed in the wreck and E. A. Rabinold, Thomas B. O'Brien and W. G. McAllister were injured.

"In my opinion," the report says, "this accident was caused by Engineman of extra 0110 (Moore) disregarding the automatic block signals set against him; the signals of flagman of HN-3 (O'Connors) and the rules of the company governing the operation of trains within yard limits. Apparently this disregard was due to the fact that both the fireman and the engineer were insensible to their surroundings at the time of passing said signals."

COOLIDGE INVITED TO VISIT NEW HAVEN

New Haven, March 24.—Judge John L. Gilson returned today from Washington where he called at the White House and presented a formal invitation from the Second company, Governor's Foot Guard of New Haven to President Coolidge to attend the ceremonies commemorating the 160th anniversary of the charter grant of the historic local company, and its departure to Cambridge in 1775.

The president, who has twice reviewed the Foot Guard on the Boston Common while he was governor of Massachusetts, and again in Washington on the battalion's trip to Richmond, received the invitation cordially and expressed hope that his engagements would permit his attendance here.

WILLIMANTIC

Hundreds of striking operatives of the American Thread Company marched Tuesday from the mill gates to the Opera Theatre were they listened to an address by Organizer Edward F. Callahan of Philadelphia. His talk was centered on conditions as they exist in the textile world and he explained the movement at hand to bring the textile worker on a social level with his brother employees of other industries. He gave no statistics but centered his address on the Biblical axiom "Man cannot live unto himself." He showed in various ways how an individual, especially if he was a worker could not be self-sufficient and yet retain his social standing and respect. In the case of mill operatives, co-operation in the form of trade unions is a necessity. There is strength in numbers and unity of purpose is the only secret to better working hours, fair wages and good working conditions. Relative to the alleged well-dressed mill employe Mr. Callahan asked why it was that the general public demanded that because some fellow-man was a mill operator he should be kept in a deplorable condition. Although a mill worker has as a rule been deprived of that wonderful luxury called education he readily acquires a taste for the better things of life which his more fortunate brothers are enjoying. It is directly against the Golden Rule for anyone to ask that millhand to wear overalls on the street because he has to wear them in the mill during working hours. Organizer Callahan was given a rousing cheer at the conclusion of his talk. Miss Amy L. Hooker was in charge of the meeting which was opened with remarks by Miss Mary Kelleher, national organizer assisting in leading the local strikers.

William Simons, representative of The Daily Worker, an avowed Communist labor paper printed in Chicago was reported Tuesday as having left town Monday night after he had been barred from attending meetings of or conferring with any of the committee of the strikers. The nature of Simons' accounts of the strike in his newspaper and his informal talks to groups on the street led the committee to believe that he had become a harmful element and that he was endeavoring to stir th operatives to acts of violence. It is said by some that he went so far as to advise some of the strikers to throw stones through the windows of the mills. Such a procedure is in every way against the policies of the strikers, whose demonstrations, consist mainly of marching quietly from the plant to their headquarters. It is understood that before his departure from the city Simons attempted to have the strikers' committee accept a donation for $170 watch he said he had collected by a house-to-house canvass in Hartford. The money was refused and Simons was informed that the committee would not see for talk with him.

The common council will not take up the proposed movement suggested by Alderman James J. Lee that the board take up the matter of bringing the strike at the American Thread company plant to some form of satisfactory close. Acting Mayor George W. Hinman answers that by mutual vote of the council members the matter does not come within the jurisdiction of the body although the council is open, upon request, to consider the side of parties interested and attempt to arbitrate.

With the exception of one of the textile mills in the city, all others are running on full time schedules. That remaining one will begin on a full time basis within a few days. This will bring local industries, other than the Thread Company, on full week schedules. Of the 900 or more operatives engaged in the manufacture of silk in this city all are at work. There are about 3,500 textile operatives employed here and with those of other manufacturing plants the number of mill workers is brought to 4,000. Aside from the American Thread Company, other plants in this city and the help which they employ are: Rossie Velvet Company—275. Holland [illegible] Co.—225. Quidnick-Windham Co.—280. Windham Silk Co.—90. H. K. & W. Weisbergen Silk Co.—20. Chaffee Silk Co.—15. S. C. S. Box Co.—90. Atwood Machine Co.—20. Vanderman Machine Co.—20. Smith & Winchester Co., South Windham—90. L. M. Hartson Co., North Windham—25 and Ray Davis Co., North Windham—15. The ninety employes at the S. C. S. Box Shop have been working day and night shifts for some time. The Vanderman Machine Company is on a five-day schedule. The Quidnick-Windham Manufacturing Company is operated on a basis of 30 per cent of its usual working force and the Windham Silk Company is on a 75 per cent basis.

Charged with operating his Jewett sedan equipped with 1924 markers, Mike Stivinski of Brick Row, Tuesday morning in Willimantic police court pleaded guilty to the charge, saying that he had applied for 1925 markers, and had not received them. It was impressed upon him that ignorance of the law is no excuse. A fine of ten dollars and costs amounting to $15.15, was imposed by Judge Foss, and was paid.

Detected by State Policeman Henry Heimeld in the act of coasting down the grade in the vicinity of the Mansfield Hospital and Training School at a speed of forty-five miles an hour, John Amos, driver of a three and one-half ton truck appeared before the Mansfield town court Monday, on a charge of reckless driving, and he pleaded guilty. A fine of $25 and costs, amounting to $39.25 was imposed by Pudre George H. Andrews. This was paid.

Rev. Paul Bartlewski was celebrant of the requiem mass at the funeral of Thomas Haran, held from Killourey Bros. funeral parlors Tuesday morning. The requiem high mass was sung at St. Joseph's Church at nine o'clock. The services were attended by a delegation from the Catholic Welfare Council. "Nearer, My God, to Thee" was sung by Miss L. Monica McKeon and Walter J. Costello, as the body was being borne into the church. At the offertory, they sang "Pie Jesu," and as a waiting hymn, "He Wipes the Tear from Every Eye." Burial was in St. Josephs cemetery, where the committal prayers were by Father Bartlewski. The bearers were John F. McCarthy, James Casey, John Killourey, and Raoul Lariviere.

To see if the electors of the town of Mansfield will vote to pay a portion of the cost of erecting a new bridge over the Willimantic River at the Jones Crossing, so-called, between the towns of Mansfield and Coventry, a warning for a special town meeting has been issued by the board of selectmen, Daniel C. Fisherty, Robert W. Gardiner, and C. H. Crane.

A wooden fence on the property of the Central Vermont Railway on Windham Road, was afire early Monday evening, necessitating the calling out of Engine Co. No. One. Three gallons of chemicals were used to extinguish the blaz.

Rev. A. S. Muirhead officiated at the funeral services for John H. Fitts, held from his home, 120 North street, Tuesday afternoon. Burial was in Ashford cemetery, where a committal service was conducted by Rev. B. C. Bugbee. Avery and Van Zandt were in charge of the arrangements.

The Monday evening whist club met at the rooms of the Windham Girls' Club with Mrs. Evelyn Farrell and Miss Minnie Peterson acting as hostesses, and eight tables in play. First prie went to Miss Mildred Moulton, second to Miss Hilda Berard, and third to Miss Margaret Ryan. Refreshments were served.

An all-night camping party for the members of the boys' department of the local Y. M. C. A. was held Tuesday night, under direction of Physical Director Leroy Dissinger.

STORRS COLLEGE PROFESSOR SEES "GREATER WILLIMANTIC"

(Special to The Bulletin.)

Willimantic, March 24.—"Greater Willimantic" was the subject of a highly interesting talk given at the weekly meeting of the Willimantic Rotary club Tuesday noon by I. G. Davis, professor of agricultural economics, Connecticut Agricultural College. "Willimantic is the capital of a farmer empire" began Professor Davis, and he went on to tell of the ever-growing interdependence between Willimantic and the ten or more towns which surrounded it. "Your economical, social and religious relations are gradually becoming more mutual with the residents of these towns," he said, "and the towns in this vicinity are becoming incorporated into an urban community." He advised a constructive, Greater Willimantic program. Towns which he suggested should be included in this are Lebanon, Windham, Hebron, Scotland, Hampton, Coventry, Willington, Columbia and the Mansfields, basing his figures strictly on an agricultural survey. Professor Davis stated that there were 14,000 farm houses located in the ten principal towns in this section. Those whose occupation is strictly agricultural spend an aggregate of $1,700,000 a year, most of which is gradually finding its way into Willimantic.

Professor Davis was introduced by Richard E. Dodge of Storrs. Other guests were Rev. William S. Heard, formerly pastor of the local Congregational church, and Ray Woods of Dayton, Ohio, guest of Everett Harrington. Dr. William E. Hendry will give his life history at the meeting next week. Next Tuesday night the losing team of the recent attendance contest, headed by Jim Bath, will give the long awaited dinner which is justly due the winning aggregation. The place or nature of the banquet will be a secret until later. The affair will be in the evening. Charles W. Hill started to lead in a song and when his band quit him cold he continued on in a melodious rendition. Rev. Mr. Beard was called upon for a resume of his life history which he gave in a novel manner.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Broadway Theater

Norwich theatregoers will not easily forget the rare treat they had the fortune to see at the Broadway Theatre last week Thurs. Fri. and Sat., which had the greatest program ever seen in Norwich in years, consisting of seven acts and a picture.

The Broadway Theatre management will offer for this Thurs. Fri. and Sat., seven more B. F. Keith acts and we'll wager that it will surpass even the show of last week. It will be to your interest to watch for the announcement tomorrow.

Visualize a happy married couple entering the lobby of a hotel on their wedding night. Turning from the desk after registering, the happy bride-groom encounters an old "flame", who greets him effusively, almost kisses him in her joy and coquettishly accuses him of being a night hawk and hiding on her for a month.

Agnes Ayres is the star in the production. Pat O'Malley, who appeared opposite Miss Ayres in "Worldly Goods," again heads the cast as the uncomfortable bridegroom.

The picture is an adaptation of the Saturday Evening Post story, "Interlocutory."

Palace Theater

There were many who saw the vaudeville program Monday and Tuesday at the Palace Theatre, who declare that it easily surpasses the best vaudeville offerings which have been presented here during the entire season.

Hope and Mantion still continue to please with their novel musical act. Mr. Mantion playing a cornet solo and accompanying same on the xylophone.

Harry Tanner the hobo comedian the man who sings low "C" as going over very big with his audience. He is something different, besides being a comedian he is an exceptionally good bass singer.

High art in animal impersonations is made in Florence Seeley's act called Kat Knaps. The comedy pantomime of John H. Roberts and Frank Livingstone is real kat knap komedy par excellence. The two do a flirtation that is almost human and get many laughs.

Agnes Alton billed as the original Sis Hopkins of vaudeville is one of the bright spots of the show. She is very clever and portrays a rube character excellent.

Dancing Millards please their audience and the band with them are a very snappy combination. All seem to be on their toes every minute. They provide some very good entertainment.

Ross and Maybelle the two young talking commediennes are a great favorite with the audience. They put out a laugh every second.

Closing the show is Chas. and Hoy Stanley. Mr. Stanley does a most sensational trick on the trapeze, he is in a sitting position, swing out into the audience and while in motion falls forward catching himself with his heels on the bar. He says he is a Laplander, so far he hasn't proven it—we hope he doesn't.

The feature Her Marriage Vow is very amusing.

Monte Blue, popular screen star, knows what it is to be a "kid" again. For the steenth time during the filming of scenes for "Her Marriage Vow," he was forced to change his makeup, due to a pair of crawling youngsters who insisted on "mauling" the handsome player.

Breed Theater

Would you pay ten million dollars for something, if it happened to be the last of its kind in the world?

That is what was paid for the last man on earth in the film by that name which is the feature attraction at the Breed theater today and Thursday.

Earle Foxe was the man and Cherissa Selwyn, playing the role of Dr. Prodell, paid the money, after outbidding all the other women in the world who were desirous of possessing him. It all takes place in 1950 after the world had been scourged by a strange plague which killed every man save this one.

The sad part about the whole affair was that the hero, just as he was about to be turned over to the doctor, sees his old sweetheart and takes things into his own hands, refusing to marry any one else.

"The Last Man on Earth is described as "the ultimate in satire," and, according to reports from cities where it has been shown, it is breaking some records as a laugh-producer. Besides it seems to be wielding a potential influence in the matter of starting a set of debates in the various interesting questions it raises.

Out of the storm, a true detective story, the Fox news and an Educational comedy make up the remainder of the bill.

WESTMINSTER

A pleasant gathering of near relatives and friends of Mrs. Eunice L. Bingham was held at her home Saturday in celebration of her 75th birthday. Mrs. Byron Bingham served cocoa and cake.

Russell Sage of Norwich was a visitor at Mr. and Mrs. James Jones' Sunday.

Levi Clark and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Burdick of New London were callers on the hill, Sunday.

Mrs. Lulu Cook and sons, Dorrance and Alexander Cook, from Providence, R. I., were recent guests at Mr. and Mrs. Frank Linnell's.

Andrew Colburn entertained friends from Providence Sunday.

Earle MacLeod has resumed his work in New York, after a short vacation with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. T. MacLeod.

Mrs. Herman Stevens is ill at her home. Mrs. Charles Robbins is assisting in the care of her.

DANIELSON AND PUTNAM NEWS

DANIELSON

Checking up the brooks in this section Tuesday morning against the possibility of trout fishermen trying their luck before the opening of the season a week from this morning, County Game Warden Charles Letters of Putnam and Deputy Game Warden H. D. Bloom of North Woodstock escorted a party on Snake Meadow brook under the ledges near the Sageous trout hole.

The result was a court appearance for two of the youths—Stephen Kosot, 18, and John Klocka, both resident in the Hayes Hill section of the town. A spear and two trout rods were seized by the officers and also a sack containing four large suckers, and he explained he had a right to do that because he was in company with John Klocka and another young man on property belonging to the Klocka farm, also known as the old Eastern place.

Though the party carried two trout rods rigged for fly fishing, Klocka insisted that no fishing for trout had been done, nor was there any intention of doing any. The charge of violating the fish and game laws that had been filed against was not possible of proof under the circumstances, so Deputy Judge Charles S. Francis found him not guilty.

Kosot in his own defense, insisted that he is under sixteen years of age he is not supposed to have a license to go spearing, but it was pointed out to him by Prosecuting Attorney Arthur G. Bill that the law is such in this particular respect that he had no right to take the suckers. The court imposed a fine of $5 and costs, a total of $20.24.

Warden Letters and his deputies will continue to scout the brooks of the county for the next week to protect anglers who are obeying the law and waiting for the opening of the trout season from the fishing raids of those who fish while the closed season is still on.

An open meeting of the auxiliary of Leo J. L'Homme post, American legion, is scheduled for this (Wednesday) evening and all the members of the legion post have been invited to attend. An invitation also has been extended to the auxiliary and legion post at North Grosvenordale and it has been accepted. A plan has been worked out to entertain the visitors in an interesting manner.

This young spring is becoming a bit unreasonable. After opening delightfully it bucked up with the opening of this week and freezing temperature came to plague the people Tuesday morning. As in the early part of last winter, numbers of cars which have been deprived of the radiator alcohol on the strength of recent mild weather froze and required repairs.

State Officer Merrill Keith, accidentally wounded with a bullet from his own revolver at the barracks here Monday evening, was reported Tuesday as resting comfortably at his home here. Tuesday morning he was taken to the Day Kimball hospital at Putnam, where an X-ray revealed that there was no injury to the bone in his leg which was hit by the bullet. There is a space of about eight inches between the point where the bullet entered his thigh and where it merged just above the knee cap, which was not injured.

Postmaster E. H. Keach has his order placed for the new issues of stamps that are to go one sale here April 15. The new issues includes a one-half cent stamp which will go on what is rated as second class matter. A statement will be issued from the post office for the information of the public relative to the new stamps before they are placed on sale.

Thursday evening of this week brings a meeting of St. Alban's parish to hear the report of a special committee composed of E. H. Keach, E. L. Darbie and F. E. Storer on the proposal of constructing a parish house. If the action of the meeting is favorable, it is likely that building operations will be undertaken almost at once. The parish has need of the proposed structure and the impression Tuesday appeared to be that the action of the meeting would be favorable.

There are times when those who advocate public improvements and civic betterments become a bit discouraged in trying to get things for the general public. A case in point is the abuse and misuse of the comfort station at the town hall building. Probably a few are responsible for things that are complained about, but that does not help the situation a great deal.

It was stated here Tuesday that the Danielson Rod and Gun club will not offer any prizes for the trout fishermen this spring, as has been its custom for the past two years. To the members of the club who are deeply interested in trout fishing, more so than in any other sport that the club fosters, this will be very much of a disappointment. But there will be compensation. Announcement will be made tomorrow (Thursday) of a prize offer for the trout fishermen from an individual here.

SYDNEY H. PERRY NOMINATED FOR TAX COLLECTOR

(Special to The Bulletin)

Danielson, March 24.—More people than have attended a borough caucus in years came out Tuesday evening to help nominate the candidates for borough officials during the coming year. There were no contests excepting for tax collector and the balloting for this gave Sydney H. Perry 99 votes against 69 for Arthur A. Dean, the other candidate. All the other candidates were nominated by acclamation and without opposition. The list as it will be presented to the voters at the annual borough election on the second Monday in April will be as follows: For warden, Walter Anderson; clerk and treasurer, Frank T. STOMACH UPSET?

Get at the Real Cause—Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

That's what thousands of stomach sufferers are doing now. Instead of taking tonics, or trying to patch up a poor digestion, they are attacking the real cause of the ailment—clogged liver and disordered bowels.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets arouse the liver in a soothing, healing way. When the liver and bowels are performing their natural functions, away goes indigestion and stomach troubles.

Have you a bad taste, coated tongue, poor appetite, a lazy, don't-care feeling, no ambition or energy, trouble with undigested foods? Take Olive Tablets the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil. You will know them by their olive color. They do the work without griping, cramps or pain.

Take one or two at bedtime for quick relief. Eat what you like. 15c and 30c.

PUTNAM

Anselm Mayotte Post of the American Legion had a meeting scheduled at the Chamber of Commerce rooms, but because there was not a quorum in attendance no business was transacted. For over a year there has been no meeting of the local Legion post because of the failure of a quorum of the membership to attend. Last year there was only fourteen ex-soldiers with paid up dues as members of the post. Even with such a small number a sufficient number should be secured for a business meeting.

The local post started a year after the close of the war, getting charter number thirteen, which was hoped to prove lucky rather than the contrary. It began with a membership of 101. Through lack of interest on the part of the community in the doings on the part of the war veterans as a legion post, and htrough apathy on the part of the eligible men themselves, the membership dropped to the low number of last year. Sectional and personal differences also made themselves manifest in the post and prevented it from being successful. For a time the post had club rooms, available at any time to members, but they failed to keep up the interest in the organization.

There is much work which falls to the part of the Legion post to perform. The observation of Memorial Day, Armistice Day and other holidays, if they are to be observed at all in a public fashion, must be raranged by the Legion. The carrying out of suitable exercises on Memorial Day has for a few years past been attended to by the Legionnaires, who have taken the responsibility from the faltering G. A. R. men.

Relief work from among ex-soldiers is also placed in the hands of a committee from the post. This very important task takes considerable time, especially in a city like Putnam, where because of the existing unemployment conditions there are many needy cases among the former fighting men.

A faithful few of the Legionnaires have for two years or more handled the phases of public and semi-public work mentioned.

At the meeting five veterans paid their dues for the year 1925 to the treasurer, Whitman Danielson, with the understanding that unless at least ten former service men continue their membership, or become members of the post within a short time, the money will be refunded and the post will again resume a state of absolute inactivity.

If such is the case Anselm Mayotte Post, Number 13, will undoubtedly be dissolved. This would necessarily place the mater of any observance of the patriotic holidays in other hands and might also result in the discontinuance of the administration of relief to needy veterans in Putnam.

Funeral services for Clement Gilson were held at St. Philip's Episcopal church Monday afternoon conducted by the rector, Rev. Mr. Hatch. The bearers were Walter J. Bartlett, Ellsworth L. Kelley, Ray Bosworth, John O. Fox, W. E. Moss, Edward packard.

Frank Gilson, Edward Gilson and Robert Gilson of New York city, brothers of the deceased, and Mrs. Robert H. Sellars, of Montclair, N. J. and Mrs. Frank Weeks of Cranford, N. J. sisters, came here for the funeral.

Mr. Gilson was born in London, England, March 14, 186. His parents came to America when he was a child. For many years prior to his coming here in 1910 he conducted a merchant tailoring shop on Fifth avenue, New York.

The Fall River Globe has the following to say of Miss Iona LaBlanc whose home has been with her sister, Mrs. P. E. Tetreault of Providence street in this city.

"Miss Iona LeBlanc of Putnam has been engaged as organist in one of the largest churches here, St. Anne's church. She succeeds Prof. Orpha F. De Veaux. Miss LeBlanc played for the first time at the church, Sunday, and made a favorable impression on all who heard her, exhibiting a perfect command of the instrument and a musical appreciation and feeling that added ne weharm to the numbers she played. She is also a member of the New England Conservatory of Music."

Miss Dorothy Nichols has been visiting Miss Evelyn Calhoon at South Woodstock.

Little Eileen Marcy has been at the Day Kimball hospital where she had amputated her finger that was injured recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Cutler motored Moran who had recently been operated to Worcester and brought home Floyd on for appendicitis at St. Vincent's hospital.

Miss Mary Lester of Woodstock, who has been a patient at the Day Kimball hospital has returned to her home, much improved in health.

Past Grand James A Gifford represented Israel Putnam Lodge, I. O. O. F. at a meeting of the corporators of the Odd Fellows' home in New Haven.

Walter LaCroix of Hartford has been the guest of his sister Mrs. Wilfred Maynard of Church street.

Miss Florence Bizaillon was at Goodyear and Danielson last week visiting friends.

Catherine Annis Ash has been appointed executrix of the estate of the late John Ash.

HERBERT W. BOWEN OBJECTS TO RESERVOIR BILL PENDING

(Special to The Bulletin)

Putnam, March 24.—Herbert W. Bowen, of Woodstock, counsel for the trustees of Roseland Park, takes exception to the bill pending in the general assembly amending an act concerning bathing in and pollution of reservoirs. He has addressed the following open letter to the senators and representatives:

Gentlemen: The substitute for House Bill No. 879, entitled, "An Act Amending an Act Concerning Bathing and Pollution of Reservoirs," should itself be amended so that there may be no misunderstanding in regard to the fact that it refers to reservoirs and their tributary lakes, ponds and streams, and that it does not refer to lakes, ponds, and streams that are independent of, and not connected with, reservoirs.

In the first part of the substitute bill that distinction is clearly made by the words, "Reservoir," and, "Any lake, pond, or stream tributary to such reservoir," but in the concluding sentence the distinction is not made, for the word "tributary," does not appear, and the words, "lake, pond, or reservoir," that are used may be interpreted to mean a lake or pond that is independent of, and not connected with, and reservoir.

As the bill provides for a fine or a term of imprisonment for persons found guilty of disobeying the act, the reason for making the act clear is perfectly apparent. Persons bathing in lakes and ponds that are not tributaries to reservoirs should not be led to believe that they may be fined or imprisoned.

Another objection to the act is that it is undertaken to support any water company or supplier that has a vested interest in lakes, ponds, and reservoirs, but does not undertake to support others who are not water companies or suppliers, but who also have vested rights therein. One man's vested rights are just as good as another man's vested rights, but no better; and the law should not attempt to make them better.

The part of the amending act, (the whole of which is printed in full below) that should be amended I have indicated in bolder type, and is followed by what, it seems to me, should be substituted for that part.

I am, Gentlemen,

Yours very respectfully,
HERBERT W. BOWEN,
Counsel for the Trustees of Roseland Park.

Woodstock, Conn., March 12th, 1925.

Substitute for House Bill No. 879—

An act amending an act concerning bathing in and pollution of reservoirs.

Section 1—Section 2544 of the general statutes is amended to read as follows:

Every person who shall bathe in any reservoir from which the inhabitants of any town, city or borough are supplied with water, or in any lake, pond or stream tributary to such reservoir, or who shall cast any filthy or impure substance into such reservoir, or any of it tributaries, or commit and nuisance in or about it or them, shall be fined not more than one hundred dollars or imprisoned not more than six months or both. Prosecutions under this section may be had in the town in which said city or borough is. Provided, however, that this act shall not apply to any lake, pond, or reservoir, unless the municipality, private corporation, association or individual supplying said water have a vested interest in said lake, pond, or reservoir.

Suggested amendment of the four preceeding lines:

Provided, however, that this act shall not apply to any reservoir or lake, pond or stream tributary to such reservoir unless the municipality, private corporation, association or individual supplying said water have a vested interest in said water supply and duly respect the rights of any others who may have a vested interest in said water supply.

JEWETT CITY

The funeral of Wicenty Osgar was attended by nearly all the Polish residents in town as well as by a large number of others who knew him as a business man and friend. Solemn requiem mass was sung at St. Mary's church, with Rev. J. J. McCabe celebrant, Rev. B. P. Morrissey deacon and Rev. J. J. Tyler sub-deacon. During the singing of the Gregorian mass Mrs. Noel Garand sang Pie Jesu as the offertory. After the mass Frank J. Murdy of Norwich sang Vale. Edward T. Connelly of Norwich sang Face to Face for the waiting hymn. As the body was borne from the church, Nearer My God to Thee was sung by Messrs. Murdy, Connelly and John Fontaine. Burial was in St. Mary's cemetery, the bearers being friends of the family.

Rev. Father McCabe read the burial service. Eighty-five members of the Polish organizations attended the funeral in a body, leading the procession. They were followed by Chief Thomas Wakely and five members of A. A. Young, Jr., Hose and Ladder Co. No. 1, all in uniform. A delegation from Very Rev. Michael McCabe council, K. of C. attended. Twenty-three Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. agents attended, including Superintendent Frank J. Murdy, Henry J. Brown, Louis Trachtenberg, Edward T. Connelly, J. H. Finnegan, Charles Appelby, Albert Keen, John Cotter, Murray Seigal, Peter Barber, Earl Christman, John Fitzgerald, John Fontaine, Geo. H. Dolan, John Grimicikli, Leon DeCelles, Howard Benjamin, Lawrence Sylvia and Simon Ruszenas, all of Norwich; Frank Bernier, Plainfield; George J. Meyer of Lisbon; Noe Caron of Baltic; James Morey and Louis Masse of Jewett City. There were beautiful floral pieces. Hourigan Bros. were in charge of the arrangements.

The owners of Camp Hillcrest, situated on the Quinebaug river, William McGovern, Dennis Sullivan and Thos. Barnett, dedicated the opening of the camping season, by giving a supper at the Jewett City hotel to anumber of friends. After the fine roast beef supper was disposed of, the remainder of the evening was given over to entertainment, Edward Wyatt acting as toastmaster. Every one present was called upon and each responded. The evening was brought to a happy conclusion by the singing of popular songs of the entire assembly. The following guests were present: Edward Wyatt, Homer Gagnon, James Stafford, Theodore Boule, Leo Gagnon, John Tracy, Ulderic Jodoin, Francis McLaughlin and Edmond Dudkowski.

DRIVING THE AUTOMOBILE.

From time to time it becomes necessary for those who hold the position of commissioner of motor vehicles or its equivalent to urge greater safety on the highways through the observance of the rules of the road, the rights of others and a proper speed. Occasionally reference is made to the situation that is caused by the slow driver, frequently referred to as a "mope."

The slow driver is certainly not reckless. He has his machine under control, he is ready to stop on short notice, he can take his corners without encroaching on the other fellow and he isn't trying to crowd the others off the highway. The trouble with the "mope" is that other drivers must pass him in order to get ahead, and in that passing there is some chance of an accident unless due care is exercised. It is, however, the impatience and speed of the other fellow rather than the presence of the "mope" that is really to blame.

The "mope" drives slowly because he prefers such speed, because he may be a new driver or because he prefers to err on the side of going seriously to hitting up a breakneck speed to keep ahead of the field.

It is difficult to say at just what speed a driver must go to keep out of the classification of being a "mope." He must go 20 miles an hour and there are those who will pass him. He may go 30 miles and there will be those who will overtake and go ahead of him and if he were doing 40 there would be those who would insist on stepping on the gas till they got ahead of him just for the sake of doing it.

But when it comes to branding the "mope" as a menace to the highways he is not believed to be justified. The accidents are caused by the speeder and the reckless, who, if they were willing to exercise a part of the caution that is displayed by the slow driver would provide much greater protection for themselves and for others. There is far more heed of observing the speeding and the cutting in than there is for trying to force the slow driver into a burst of unnecessary recklessness.

PATCHING HIGHWAYS.

It makes little difference how well our streets and highways are laid, if they are not kept up thereafter for any reason whatever and improperly repaired those who use them are bound to criticize and condemn that botchy patchwork which fails to restore the original smooth condition but leaves humps and depressions.

Sometimes a dirt road when excavation had been made is not always accomplished successfully at the first attempt and this is especially true if the work is done in a careless manner. Undertake to restore a brick, asphalt or concrete surface by merely filling the hole with dirt, putting in crushed stone or pavers, without making an effort to do as good a bit of patching as was done when the roadbed was laid is bound to result in an unsatisfactory surface, and if there are many of such patches the result is deplorable.

While efforts to anticipate the possible need of work on pipes in streets before new roadbeds are laid probably result in preventing much of the tearing up that would otherwise follow, there are, nevertheless plenty of instances where pavements have to be torn up, and it is notorious that they stand as a permanent disfigurement and discomfort unless something more than hit or miss attention is given to putting the roadbed back in the condition it was found.

The idea of requiring those who tear up the roads to put them back in satisfactory condition is the right one, if that cannot be done then the work should be left to those who are capable. There may be seasons of the year when more or less temporary fillings must be employed, but when it comes to replacing these it should be done with proper care and a display of efficient workmanship.

There is no reason to give sanction to the idea that anything goes, when it costs no more to do a good and satisfactory job than it does to do several poor ones.

PROVIDING AID FOR OTHERS.

Leopold Schoppe has amassed such a large fortune and reached such an age that he believes it is time to give recognition to some of his faithful employes and at the same time to begin to distribute his money. Like many others he holds to the idea that he would like to see how his conception of the way in which he desires some of his money used actually works out. He has an interest in more than actually providing funds for a worthy cause.

Having been a very poor boy, who began to work as soon as he was able, Mr. Schoppe is reported to be worth more than $10,000,000 today. He knows what it is to struggle, he knows what it means to fight against misfortune and he knows what it means to a young man to be able to look to some organization or some fund for assistance in bettering his conditions and improving his prospects. It is with his clear understanding of such a situation, and the many who are facing it each year, that he has decided to establish a fund of $2,500,000 the proceeds of which are to be available for boys between 18 and 18 that they may prepare themselves for careers of usefulness. They must pledge themselves to refrain from bad habits, to be law abiding and to be considerate of others. The foundation will be open to all boys without racial or religious restrictions and means $200 for each if at the end of two years they have kept their premise.

It is a method that differs from many others. How it will work out Mr. Schoppe does not know. He believes in it and believes in the young men of the present day. He wants to give them a better chance than he had, though it is doubtful if he expects them to show greater results at a corresponding age.

His desire to do something for others is most commendable, and it is to be noted that he wants to get it started while he is alive. There is satisfaction in being able to establish such a fund but there is also much satisfaction to be gained from knowing that it is going to be all that was expected of it and is being properly administered. A desire that its success or failure should be established during his lifetime can be readily appreciated.

THE FUTURE OF FLYING.

Much progress has been made in the development of the flying machine since the Wright brothers demonstrated that it was feasible to fly. Much greater progress has been made in the development of motor vehicles for use upon land. It is not so long ago that the horseless carriages were attracting attention along the entire street. Today the attention would be halted by the coach and four or the span of high steppers.

In view of what has been done with the airplanes is it too much to expect that there will be an early realization of the "flivver of the air"? There are those who have confidence in the belief that it will not be long before such vehicles will be available in numbers even as the flivver has made its way among the autos. It is going to mean a decided change and it is going to call for much different ability in guiding them than is the case with the machines which crawl over the ground.

Flying doesn't appeal to a large number, but it is always possible to wear down such prejudice. There are even those who maintain that there is greater safety today in flying machines than there is on the highways, or even railroads, and they will refer to statistics to support such a contention.

What the advance is going to be in aviation in the next quarter of a century no one would dare to predict for a certainty. Enough has developed to create the belief that it will go forward steadily, with increasing safety and with fear of it or uncertainty concerning it changing as time goes on and flying becomes more common. Preparations for the "flivver of the air" indicate a determination to keep abreast of the time in that direction as well as in others.

PEACE IN EUROPE.

Ever since the treaty of Versailles the countries of Europe have been trying to bring about a peace policy that will safeguard the future. It will be admitted that, considering the conditions which have prevailed for so long among those countries, the problem is not a simple one. However easy it might be to produce a plan that ought to work, it is a decidedly different thing to get full approval and cooperation.

How long will it be before the nations of Europe begin to take Germany into consideration when it comes to the development of any new peace plan, or any new defensive measures? The answer may depend entirely upon the manner in which Germany continues to respond under the Dawes plan. Germany might have created a much different impression in the past than it has. It has a chance to apply some thing in the way of a corrective influence now. It is in fact intimated that it may seek admission to the league of nations at the next session of the assembly. Germany, it has been intimated, might be considered in connection with defensive arrangements which may develop as the result of the recent rejection of the Geneva peace protocol, and such consideration would of course depend to a large extent upon whether it is a member of the league.

In the search for the best method of obtaining security by the nations of Europe present day conditions must be taken into consideration. Dropping the protocol ended one plan. Naturally there is much interest as to what will be suggested in its place.

FROM LUCILLE'S DIARY

My cousin, Marie Thornhill, called me by long distance and invited me to come up to Milwaukee to help her and Billy celebrate their wedding anniversary. I accepted at once as I adore staying in Marie's luxurious home.

"We have decided suddenly," she said, "to have a rather large dinner at Billy's club. Dr. Bracewell, Billy's old Harvard roommate, and his brother Harry are coming up. They're taking the 4 o'clock train from Chicago, you'll try to come up with them, can't you?"

"I'll try to, dear," I replied sweetly.

I felt I must get a present for the Thornhills and I made it a point to attend to that first. I went to several jewelry stores and to shops where I thought I might pick up some bit of foreign bric-a-brac, but I found nothing that came with my $10 limit, for that was all I could afford to pay for their anniversary present. The only thing that appeared to me at all was a charming French desk set that had been marked down because in one place the enamel had been chipped. The more I looked at it the better I liked it, but of course I could not buy anything imperfect for them.

However, it was too tempting a bargain to leave, and I got it for my own desk, as I have been wanting just such a set for ages. I thought I could tell dad about it and he could give me the price of it for part of my Christmas.

"No, no, Lucille," he said, laughing, when I broached the matter to him, "I'm doing my own Christmas shopping, my child, and I've settled on something much more useful for you than that trumpery." I realized from the finality of his tone that I couldn't urge him, and I could not return the "as is" set. It was most annoying.

When I went out to Betty's to borrow her new hat box I found no one but Molly, the maid, there. It struck me that she was rather reluctant to give it to me. I fear poor old Molly is getting cranky.

I was glad that I had had the forethought to obtain such a smart piece of luggage for I did go up to Milwaukee on the same train as the Bracewells, and it was a comfort to feel that I was doing dear Marie Thornhill credit with Billy's charming friends. We had a very pleasant little trip. I told Harry Bracewell how fond I am of sailing and he invited me to go out in the Daredevil next summer.

"Lucille," said mother today when I returned from my short, delightful visit to Milwaukee, "you know that blanket that I—"

"Oh, mother, why talk about anything so prosaic as a blanket when I'm bursting to tell you all about the gorgeous anniversary dinner. Marie looked simply regal, and I think I looked pretty nice myself in that gold—"

"Yes, dear, I'll hear all about that later, but now I wish to know if you have any idea where that hand-woven powder blue blanket is. You know I had it made in the Kentucky handcraft school for your Aunt Rachel, and it's too vexing not to be able to find it. I ought to get her Christmas box off to Florida right away.

"Well, mother, it was this way. I thought you wouldn't mind if I took that blanket to Marie and Billy for an anniversary present. You see, I couldn't find anything half so nice, and you were out the day I left."

"Hush, Lucille," exclaimed mother crossly. "Spare me any more excuses." She went into her own room, closing the door with what granny used to call an "unladylike bang." I often wish mother were more serene.

As if that weren't enough to spoil my homecoming, Betty appeared just then and asked jelly for her hat box.

"Why, Lucile, it looks as if you'd played football with it! Bob bought it for little Elizabeth to give me on my birthday, and now it's ruined."

"Nonsense, Betty. You ought to know that a brand new piece of luggage isn't chic. It looks as if you'd never traveled. You see Marie gave me a lot of the dinner flowers and I had so much to carry that I checked the hatbox. I suppose it did get knocked about a bit."

"I'll say it did!" ejaculated Betty. —Chicago News.

IN THE PUBLIC EYE

Hoffman Philip, nominated to represent the United States as Minister to Persia, is one of the group of American young men with social standing and a personal income, who entered the diplomatic service as a "career" during the days when Presidents Roosevelt and Taft were encouraging such action. He completed his studies at Cambridge University, England, in time to participate in the Spanish war as one of the "Rough Riders" under Col. Roosevelt. His diplomatic career began in 1901 with his appointment as vice-consul at Tangiers. Subsequently he served in a similar capacity in Abyssinia and then was shifted to South America, where he was secretary to the embassy at Rio de Janeiro. In 1910 he went to Constantinople as First Secretary, and during the war he did splendid work in the Balkans. In 1917 he returned to South America as Minister to Colombia and in 1923 he was appointed Minister to Uruguay.

CHILD TRAINING

PAT-A-CAKE
Nella Gardner White

Dear Mother:

Frobel does not need to teach us how to play the ages-old game of Pat-a-cake with our babies but I wonder how many of us have played it without realizing its real significance? Frobel used this old, old nursery play as a symbol in life of his kindergarten.

The making of a loaf of bread seems to hold fascination unending for childhood. Do not children the wide world over delight in mud cakes and pies and bread? Wouldn't you feel that you had accomplished something toward broadening your child's life if you made him see the loaf of bread as one of the links in a long chain of world activities?

There's your own loving service that transformed the flour into bread. That's the nearest point of contact. The child will delight to go on from there with that same love to point the way. The flour comes from the grocer—the grocer gets it from the miller. Before that it was grain in the farmer's fields. And what a wealth of interest there is in the "farmer's fields!"

They combine the beauty of the out-of-doors and things growing with a world-reaching service. Who can estimate the service of the man who brings food out of the soil? The child cannot, perhaps, take in the vastness of it but if he gains a little of the wonder of it, the greater knowledge and understanding will come with maturity. Did you find it so yourself—that old phrases and lessons heard often during childhood suddenly took on new and greater meaning as you grew to womanhood? And higher still than the farmer is the Power that makes the grain grow, that sends the sun and the rain, that brings each year's unfailing cycle of seasons, the Power that makes harmony among worlds full of growing things and causes millions of stars to swing through the heavens. And isn't there a lesson for us, too, in the importance of right beginnings? If the grain does not grow aright, the flour is inferior, the bread is not so healthful, and his mentality also suffers through the physical ill-being. This thought Froebel considers worthy of place in kindergarten life.

Nevertheless, all these lessons as I have given them are for a mother, not for a child. You would not repeat them to your little one any more than you would a sermon. It should be borne in mind that "Pat-a-cake" is just and always a game. Nothing must be allowed to take from its merriment and joy. But joy will be deepened and seriousness forever sweetened if from infancy thoughts rich with real meaning are imparted now and again at playtime.

And do you know these lines by Maltby B. Babcock? Children love them.

"Back of the loaf is the snowy flour,
Back of the flour is the mill—
Back of the mill is the wheat and the shower
And the sun and God's good will!"

Stories That Recall Others

English As She is Spoken

Five year old Bobby was sitting on one end of a board while his older brother was sawing. Not having much luck with the saw he asked Bobby to get him the hatchet. His mother, fearing for his safety, cautioned him to stay away, but he replied: "No, mother; he wants me to stay there while he hatches."

'Twas Food, Not Drink

He drove up to the railroad siding to claim a carload of products bought for the farm. When he stepped up to the car to open it he was nabbed by a couple of constables. They loked as if they meant business.

"I guess I' nguilty, boys. Did I drive through a one way street?"

"That's not what we are after," one of the constables said. "What we want to know is what you have in this car. Smells like liquor to us."

The car was opened, some interest even being displayed by the owner of the consignment, but it proved to be nothing but special food which had been bought, composed of malt, oats, corn, wheat and other grains, ground up and giving out the oder of whiskey mash, which had attracted the attention of a passerby who notified the constable.

L. C. ANDREWS NOW ASS'T SECRETARY OF TREASURY

Washington, March 24—Lincoln C. Andrews of New York, was appointed by President Coolidge today to be Assistant Secretary of the Treasury, succeeding Eliot Wadsworth of Boston, who has resigned.

Mr. Andrews was born in Minnesota and graduated at Cornell University. He served in France during the World War as a Provost Marshal General and was chief executive of the New York Transit Commission from 1921 to 1923. Mr. Wadsworth's decision to return to private life did not become known until late last night, has exercised supervision over foreign and railroad loans and the public department and, in addition, has acted health service within the treasury as secretary of the World War Foreign Debt Commission.

REQUISITION WAS AGAIN DENIED BY GOV. FERGUSON

Austin, Texas, March 24—Governor Hiram A. Ferguson, of Texas, today again denied the requisition of Governor Alvin T. Fuller, of Massachusetts for the return t othat state of Albert P. Russell, charged with wife desertion.

Two requests have been made by Massachusetts authorities for the return of Russel. In her reply, Mrs. Ferguson said she would not permit the "Lone Star State to become a haven of refuge to which criminals might flee or allow its high office to degrade to the order of a collecting agency."

POETRY

In Early Spring

O spring, I know thee! Seek for sweet surprise
In the young children's eyes
But I have learnt the years, and the the yet
Leaf-folded violet.
Mine ear, awake to silence, can foretell
The cukoo's fitful bell.
I wander in a gray time that incloses
June and the wild hedge-roses.
A year's procession of the flowers dots
My feet along the grass.
And all you sweet birds silent yet, I know
The notes that stir you so.
Your songs yet half devised in the same dear
Beginnings of the year.
In these young days you mediate your part;
I have it all by heart.
I know the secrets of the seeds of flowers
Hidden and warm with showers,
And how, in kindling spring, the cukoo shall
After his interval.
But not a flower or song a ponder is
My own, but memory's.
I shall be silent in these days desired
Before a world inspired
O dear brown birds, compose your old song-phrases.
Earth thy familiar daisies

The poet mused upon the dusky night,
Between two stars toward night.
His purpose in his heart. I watched a spark,
The meaning or his face;
There was the secret, fled from earth and skies,
Hid in his gray young eyes.
My heart and all the summer wait my choice,
And wonder for his voice.
Who shall foretell his songs, and who aspire
But to divine his lyre?
Sweet earth, we known thy dimmest mysteries,
But he is lord of his.

Alice Meynell.

The Wild Honeysuckle

Fair flower, that dost so comely grow,
Hid in this silent, dull retreat,
Untouched thy honied blossoms blow
Unseen thy little branches greet;
No roving foot shall crush thee here,
No busy hand provoke a tear.

By Nature's self in white arrayed,
She bade thee shun the vulgar eye,
And plaited here the guardian shade,
And sent soft waters murmuring by;
Thus quietly thy summer goes,
Thy days declining to repose.
Smith with those charms, that must decay,
I grieve to see your future doom;
They died—nor were those flowers more gay,
The flowers that did in Eden bloom;
Unpitying frosts and Autumn's power
Shall leave no vestige of this flower.

From morning suns and even dews
At first thy little being came;
If nothing once, you nothing lose,
For when you die you are the same;
The space between is but an hour,
The frail duration of a flower.

—Philip Freneau.

HUMOR OF THE DAY

Grocer—Well, little girl, what can I do for you?

Eva (aged 4) — Please, sir, my mamma wants a can of condemned milk.—Exchange.

Maid—If you please 'm, Fido and Toutou's a-chasing each other all over next door's flower beds.

Mistress—Never mind; it keeps the darlings out of mischief.—Life.

The doctor entered the grocery store. "How's the cheese today?" he asked.

"Well, it's a bit stronger, doctor," replied the grocer.—The Progressive Grocer.

Willis—Does psychology interest your wife?

Gillis—If it is fashionable this season and costs more than $5 a yard —Capper's Weekly.

Short—I say, old man, can you lend me a fiver?

Long—Impossible. I've tried to lend you money several times, but you always seem to look upon it as a gift.—Drexel Institute Drexerd.

Irate Guest—Look here, the rain is simply pouring through the roof of my bedroom.

Summer Hotel Proprietor—Absolutely according to our prospectus, sir. Running water in every room. — University of Toronto Goblin.

"I want to know how much money my husband has in this bank," demanded the lady masterfully, as she strode up to the cage.

"I'm sure I couldn't tell you that, ma'am," replied the official.

"Is that so? Well, why do they call you a teller, then?"—American Legion Weekly.

The stock salesman, after painting a beautiful word picture, said "Now, Mr. Jones, you know this company hasn't got a dollar's worth of watered stock in it. How much are you going to buy?"

"Young man," he said, "the next stock I buy is going to have four legs, and I will water it myself."—Judge.

The Tokio municipal government applied recently to the department of railways in the national government for a permit to construct forty-nine miles of subways in Tokio. It is estimated the cost of construction will be approximately $100,000,000. The plans are to be completed by 1940.

The little town of Vise, near the border line between Belgium and Germany, the first scene of German operations in August, 1914, has recently completed its restoration program. Vise was very badly scarred by fire, but all its historic edifices have been rebuilt in the old style. Principal among these are a sixteenth century church and Town Hall, and a famous ancient convent school.

Spotted eggs have appeared in the London markets recently in such numbers as to arouse not only the curiosity of the naturalists, but of food authorities as well. Investigation revealed that the spotted eggs had been dipped in a solution of coffee to give them a brown tint that in many instances, if left in the liquid for an insufficient time, the eggs became spotty after being withdrawn. While in some parts of the United States white eggs bring the best prices, it is the brown eggs which for years have been sold in London at a premium. It is only of late that poultry dealers have taken to coloring the shells with the coffee solution.

The engagement is announced of Miss Rose W. Foster of New York city, formerly of Moosup, to Samuel Zweibaum also of New York. Miss Foster was a member of P. H. S. class of '17, and since graduation has been with a New York insurance company.

A Hartford paper says: Miss Margaret F. McGarry, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William P. McGarry of Norwich, a student at New Rochelle college, has been elected class historian for the commencement exercises in June. She is also editor-in-chief of the class book.

The under-arm style of handbag, there are many variations of it in decoration and otherwise, continues the leading thing in this merchandise. Buyers are stressing leather bags, which are shown in a large array of colors to harmonize with the spring ready-to-wear.

Dentist's Shoulder Dislocated

Dr. S. M. Goldberg, the well known dentist, is taking an enforced vacation from active work, due to a dislocated right shoulder which he suffered recently when he put up his hand to stop a basketball as he was watching a game at the rooms of the Y. M. H. A.

The force with which the ball hit his hand renewed an old trouble that he had with that shoulder several years ago.

PERSONALS

Mrs. Edith Kennedy of Central Village was a recent visitor in Norwich.

Mr. and Mrs. William F. Harvey of Norwich have been guests of relatives at Liberty Hill.

Miss Edna Harvey of Willimantic Normal school is spending a week's vacation at her home in Flanders.

OBITUARY

Elijah S. Abel

At the Presbyterian hospital, New York city, Tuesday at 12:30 p. m., Elijah Stark Abel, a life long resident of Bozrah, died following operations for a bone disease. He had been ill since last September. Mr. Abel was taken to the New York hospital two weeks ago for treatment.

He was born in Bozrah, Feb. 2, 1868, and was the son of Elijah H. and Mary Bosworth Abel. He received his early education in Bozrah and graduated from the Connecticut Agricultural College at Storrs. Mr. Abel was a farmer by occupation. In Lebanon, October 15, 1889, he was united in marriage with Amorett Avery of that place.

At the time of his death Mr. Abel was town health officer and registrar of voters of the town of Bozrah. He had held the office of registrar for 15 years and four years ago represented his town in the general assembly at Hartford. Mr. Abel was a former member of the Bozrah Congregational church.

Surviving are his wife, two daughters, Mrs. Jabez Lathrop, and Mrs. George Maples, four sons, Lloyd and Lawrence Abel, (twins) Alfred and Theodore Abel and eight grandchildren. He also leaves his mother, who is 84 years old and a brother, Dr. L. Horsford Abel of New York City.

Miss Erviette Maples

Following a long illness Miss Erviette Maples of Wauwecus Hill, 70, died in Preston Tuesday afternoon about 5 o'clock. Miss Maples had been an invalid for 30 years. She was born at the old Maples family homestead on Wauwecus Hill and was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Charles Maples. All of her life had been passed in Norwich.

Surviving are one brother, Frank T. Maples of this city, two nephews, Louis and Fred Maples, and a niece, Miss Edna Maples, all of this city.

FUNERALS

Mrs. William Robinson

At 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon the funeral of Mrs. William Robinson was held from the home of her father, John W. Williams, West Main street, East Great Plain. There was a large attendance of relatives and friends and there were many beautiful floral tributes.

The service was conducted by Rev. G. G. McGee, pastor of Mt. Calvary Baptist church. Friends acted as bearers and burial took place in Yantic cemetery. Rev. Mr. McGee conducted a committal service at the grave.

Undertakers Church and Allen had charge of the funeral arrangements.

William A. Brown

The funeral of William A. Brown of Montville was held from the parlors of Undertaker C. A. Gager Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Relatives and friends were present from the city, Bozrah and Montville, and there were a number of beautiful floral remembrances.

The service was conducted by Rev. Edward C. Dunbar, pastor of the First Baptist church, and burial took place in Maplewood cemetery. Rev. Mr. Dunbar conducted a committal service at the grave. The bearers were George Randall, John Connelly, Walter Blacker and Ernest A. Lathrop.

WEDDINGS

Greenwood-Willett.

Tuesday afternoon at the parsonage of the Greeneville Congregational church, Thomas Greenwood, Jr., of Taftville and Miss Helen Jeanette Willett of Preston, were united in marriage by Rev. Charles H. Ricketts. The couple were attended by Mr. and Mrs. Carlos Barry, Jr., of Waterford. The bride was charming in poudre blue satin crepe and carried sweet peas.

After the wedding ceremony there was a buffet luncheon and a reception at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. F. C. Spicer of No. 18 Washington street. After a brief wedding trip the bride and groom will reside in a newly furnished apartment at No. 82 McKinley avenue.

Mr. Greenwood is the son of Thomas and the late Teckla Rasmussen Greenwood of Taftville and is employed as an accountant by the Central Vermont railroad at their Norwich office. He is a graduate of the Norwich Free Academy. His bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rossiter Willett of Preston and attended the Norwich Free Academy. She has been a primary teacher in the North Stonington school for several years.

Earned Money for Missionaries

A very pleasant time was enjoyed on Wednesday afternoon at the pleasant home of Mrs. Charles Geisthardt of Preston. The Missionary meeting was held and every member was expected to earn 50 cents in some way for missionaries. Then they were to tell how it was earned. Much laughter followed each tale of the 50 cents earned. A good meeting followed by sandwiches, cake and coffee ended a happy afternoon.

UNFAVORABLE REPORT ON NORWICH CHARTER AMENDMENT

The senate at Hartford Tuesday adopted the bill which will allow street railways to establish bus lines and at the same time abandon tracks on those lines without losing franchise rights over such routes.

The senate received unfavorable reports on bills requiring a referendum in New Haven on appropriations of over $50,000; amending the Norwich charter concerning the police commissioners; and for additional division of net incomes to depositors in mutual savings banks.

Time never hangs heavy on the hands of a boy with his first watch.

CITY COURT MAY MEET EXPENSES OF SALARY RAISES FOR OFFICIALS

If the Norwich city court can keep up next year its record of receipts made this year and last, it may easily pay its way in providing for the increase of salaries for the court officials that have been proposed in bills that have been presented before the legislature.

The proposed increases are as follows: Judge, from $1,500 to $1,900; deputy judge, from $500 to $700; prosecuting attorney, from $1,800 to $2,500; clerk from $1,200 to $1,700; assistant clerk and assistant prosecuting attorney, from $500 to $800. There is thus a total salary raise from $5,500 to $7,600, an increase of $2,100.

A year ago, in the twelve months up to May 15, 1924, the city court turned into the city treasury the sum of $17,252.59, which was about $5,000 more than it had been estimated the court receipts would be when the annual city budget was made up for presentation at the city meeting. That was a year of great activity in liquor prosecutions when the standard fine imposed was $200 and the court receipts were swollen in consequence of the number of cases of this character that came before it.

In the last monthly report of the city treasurer for the present fiscal year, the receipts from the city court were shown to have been $11,313.83, this being up to February 15, 1925. The expected receipts from the city court this year, according to the budget estimate, were $12,000, so that it is apparent this amount has been nearly reached and as there are still three more months to go in the city's fiscal year will probably be considerably increased by the end of the year.

ATTORNEY GENERAL'S RULING AFFECTS BANK TAX

An important opinion possibly affecting the taxes on real estate holdings of many banks in the state, disallowing Citizens' Bank and Trust Co. of New Britain from deducting taxes paid on real estate in New Haven from the amount of stock tax paid the state, was given by Attorney General Healy Monday to Tax Commissioner Blodgett. The attorney general rules that as the real estate in question was not assessed in the name of the Citizens' Bank and Trust Co., it does not come within the exemption statute. The approximate amount involved in taxes is $2,200.

The property is at No. 96 Orange street, New Haven. Contract for its purchase was made by the bank and the contract later was assigned to the Citizens Holding Co. The bank then leased the property from the holding company for a period of ten years, assuming all expenses, including taxes, repairs and improvements.

The Opinion

The attorney general's opinion says: "The intent of this agreement is perfectly clear. The Citizens Holding Co. as owners of the property known as No. 96 Orange street in the city of New Haven, has leased it to the Citizens' Bank and Trust Co. for a period of ten years, coupled with an option to sell the same during said period under certain conditions. The property is recorded and assessed as belonging to the Citizens Holding Co., and the Citizens Bank and Trust Co., has never owned said premises and by the terms of the agreement there is no binding obligation on the Citizens Bank and Trust Co. to acquire the title to this property by purchase.

"The present law as contained in chapter 209 of the public acts of 1921, provides for the exemption in the following language: 'Less the amount of taxes paid by such corporation upon real estate assessed in its name in the state during the year ended on the 30th day of September next prior thereto, which real estate shall be assessed and taxes in the town or other taxing district within which it is located.

"While this statute has been somewhat changed in its phraseology from the former one which the supreme court construed, it is perfectly clear that there has been no essential change in its meaning.

"The real estate in question has not been assessed in the name of the Citizens Bank and Trust Co., as the owner thereof, and it therefore does not come within either the letter or spirit of the statute.

"I therefore advise you that in my opinion the Citizens' Bank and Trust Co. is not legally entitled to the deduction claimed by it for taxes paid on real estate in the city of New Haven."

BIRTHDAY SURPRISE IS GIVEN JOHN TRANKLA

An enjoyable birthday surprise for John Trankla, foreman of the Bulletin job department, was given Saturday evening at his home, 169 Laurel Hill avenue, having been arranged by Mrs. Trankla, when a few intimate friends were guests for the evening.

Mr. Trankla was entirely unsuspecting of the pleasure in store for him and he received a further pleasant surprise in the receipt of a handsome basket of flowers from his two sisters in Grand Rapids, Mich. There was also the gift of a beautiful picture from the company of Norwich friends, who included Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Comstock, Mr. and Mrs. James C. Fitzpatrick, Mr. and Mrs. Peter S. Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. Harry B. Ford, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Cudworth.

Whist was played and dainty refreshments were served by Mrs. Trankla during the evening.

GREEN MOUNTAIN WAITER AT WAUREGAN LUNCH BAR

Patrons of the lunch bar at the Wauregan hotel rubbed their eyes in wonder Tuesday night when they saw a Vermont farmer behind the bar waiting upon customers. There he was—brown linen duster, wide-brimmed straw hat, goggles and long chin whiskers—a real rube from the Green Mountain state, but apparently perfectly familiar with all the culinary intricacies of a first class hotel. But when he spoke the secret was out. It was Fritz Rimek, the well known waiter, disguised in the costume he wore several nights ago at the Vermont night of White Cross council, Knights of Columbus.

Fritz had a wire during the evening from the folks back home, a telegram signed by the governor of Vermont being delivered to him with a few choice vegetables from the governor's farm.

CONANT-McCLELLAN JURY WAS KEPT LOCKED UP

Despatches from Hartford conveying the news that, in all probability, State Attorney Hugh H. Alcorn will ask that the jury that will try Gerald Chapman for the murder of James Skelly, New Britain patrolman, be locked up during the course of the trial, and indicating that if the motion is granted it will be the first time in the history of the state that such a procedure has been followed, is contradicted in New London.

Older residents of that city and students of New London county criminal records will recall that in the famous Conant-McClellan murder case which was tried in the county court house in New London 35 or 40 years ago, the jury was locked up for nearly six weeks, the trial of the case occupying that length of time. The jurors were lodged at the county jail and had their meals at the Crocker house hotel during the entire trial. It is thought, hereabouts, that that occasion was really the first and only one of its kind in the criminal history of the state.

Many a man's shattered fortune is due to his negligence in mending his ways.

HIGH SCHOOL PRINCIPALS' CONFERENCE FOR WILLIMANTIC

A conference of the high school principals of the state is scheduled to be held at the state normal school in Willimantic March 26 to 28. The general topic for the conference will be "Some Recent Significant Tendencies in Secondary Education." At the noon luncheon on Friday, Dr. Joseph E. Harry, formerly professor of Greek language and literature, the Sorbonne, Paris, will be the speaker. Dr. Harry has had wide experience in university and secondary school work, both in the United States and abroad and is an author of textbooks which are extensively used in the colleges. Dr. Harry is also considered one of the best authorities on foreign and modern language subjects. The local Y. M. C. A. has offered its entire equipment, including bowling alleys, gymnasium, swimming pool, etc., on Friday, March 27, from 4:30 to 6 o'clock free.

The program will be as follows:

Thursday, March 26, 6:30 p. m.—Dinner. Dr. A. B. Meredith, commissioner of education, will preside. Speaker to be announced later.

Friday, March 27, 9:00 a. m.—Group meetings. 1. "The New Course of Study in English Composition and Literature," Principal Homer K. Underwood, Bulkeley high school of New London. 2. "The General Intellectual and Moral Tone of a School as a Paramount Factor in Determining Its Efficiency," Franklin E. Pierce, superintendent of secondary education. 3. "The Examination as a Reliable Factor in Determining Student Ability," Principal Henry A. Tirrell, Norrell, Norwich Free academy. 10:30 a. m., Entre Nous; Dr. Meredith; general meeting, 12 m., luncheon. "Attitude of the European Student Toward His Work, a Comparison with the American Student," Dr. Joseph E. Harry, formerly professor of Greek language and literature, the Sorbonne, Paris France.

2 p. m.—General meeting. Topic: "How We May Improve the Quality of Scholarship of Our High School Pupils," Principal Clement C. Hyde, Hartford public high school. 3 p. m., group meetings. 1. Saturday, March 28, 9 a. m.—General meeting, "The Manual of Social Studies for Secondary Schools." Carl Nutter, Stamford high school. 10 a. m., group meetings. 1. Discussion of Social Science Course of Study," superintendent S. E. Butler, Litchfield. 2. "Scientific Basis of School Administration," Principal Clarence P. Quimby, South Manchester high school. 12 m., luncheon and adjournment.

POLICE PRESENT REQUEST FOR RAISE IN PAY

Mayor Milo R. Waters, with the board of police commissioners, Alderman Patrick F. Sweeney, Councilmen Frank H. Quinley and William H. Aldrich, gave a hearing Monday evening in the chief's office at police headquarters to a committee from the patrolmen who presented their claims for an increase of one dollar a day in their pay. The police committee consisted of Sergeant Mathew Delaney, Officers Joseph Farrell, John Donovan and Albert Lamphere.

At the present time the patrolmen receive $5 a day, have two days off each month with pay and fourteen days vacation with pay, a total of 28 days off with pay in the year. It was pointed out at the meeting that in many cities the patrolmen receive their uniforms free and have sick leave pay, whereas the Norwich men have to buy their own uniforms, get no sick leave pay, and put two per cent. of their pay into the police pension fund. The city of Willimantic was given as an instance where the police pay is higher and there is a sick pension fund.

The commissioners took the request under consideration.

UNIVERSALIST MEN'S CLUB MEETS WITH PRESIDENT

The Universalist Church Men's club met Tuesday evening at the home of Louis M. Crandall, No. 129 Broad street. It was the club's March meeting and the members enjoyed hot apple pie, cream, cakes, fruit and coffee. Victrola and radio music were followed by a demonstration of sleight of hand by Mr. Crandall. Mental telepathy by Miss Helena Crandall added to the attractiveness of the programme. Then followed a story telling contest in which all took part. M. A. Barber was voted the champion story teller of the evening. Honorable mention went to John Bell, Walter Bussey and Herbert Peck.

The class adjourned after voting to hold another get-together in April at the home of Mr. Crandall, who is the class president.

SUCCESSFUL WHIST EVENING BY A. O. H. AUXILIARY

Division No. 18, Ladies Auxiliary, A. O. H., held a very successful whist party Tuesday evening at the Buckingham Memorial. There were 24 tables in play and the prizes went as follows:

Ladies—first, Miss Veronica Roberts, glass dish; second, Miss Josie Healy, fancy powder puff; consolation, Mrs. John Foley. Men—first, Bert Webber, tie; second, Dennis Sullivan, stockings; consolation, James Brady.

The fancy tray donated by Mrs. David Dunn was awarded to Miss Margaret Monaher. Miss Mary Hartle, president of the division, was in general charge of the whist, and was assisted by Mrs. Charles Mumford, Mrs. James Fox, Mrs. Nellie Callahan, Mrs. David Dunn, Mrs. James Brady and Miss Margaret Monaher.

Thieves have twice robbed the home of Harry Vardon, formerly open golf champion of England, taking trophies and championship medals.

Connecticut College

The annual track meet of Connecticut College is to be held in the gymnasium on Friday, March 27, at 7.15 p. m. The various track teams have now been chosen, as well as dancing and formal gym teams. The training rules are very stringent and are in effect until after the meet is over.

Miss Dorothy Nannette Pasnik, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Pasnik of Williams street, is the only one of the local girls making a team.

The teams follow:

Senior: Helen Furgeson, New London; Janet Goodrich, Middletown; Jessie Jessolowitz, Bristol; and Charlotte Tracy, Cleveland.

Junior: Dorothy Ayers, Bloomfield, N. J.; Mildred Dornan, Philadelphia, Pa.; Harriet Stone, Southburg, and Margaret Williams, Rosemont, Pa.

Sophomore: Pauline Alper, New Haven; Elizabeth Battey, Mt. Carmel, Marie Copp, New London; Dorothy Harris, New York; Rachael Harris, Westport; Sarah Ritthouse, Philadelphia, Helen Smith, Oak Park, Ill.; Minnie Watchinsky, New London; Margaret Wheeler, Paducah, Ky.; and Mary Wilcox, Middletown, Conn.

Freshmen: Mary Dunning, Mary Fan, Hazel Gardner; Emily Hopkins, Putnam; Helen Little, Philadelphia, Pa.; Dorothy Pasnik, Norwich; Eleanor Penney, New Britain.

The indoor track rules are as follows:

1. Three square meals a day.
2. A bath or shower every day.
3. Eight hours of consecutive sleep, beginning no later than 11.
4. Not more than one cup of tea or coffee daily.
5. Six glasses of water between meal times.
6. No eating between meals.

Track practice daily from 7 to 8 a. m.

The dancing team which will give an exhibit of dancing on Friday evening, consists of Margaret Battles, New London; Margaret Bell, Philadelphia; Barbara Bell, Plantsville; Edith Clark, Montclair, N. J.; Celestia Dennison, West Hartford; Betty Gordan, Katherine Maniscika, Dorothy McDonald, Bradford, Mass.; Helen Suffern, Helen Tatum, Eleanor Ward.

The formal gym teams are:

Seniors: Bennet, Burnham, Demarest, Stella Levine, Locke.

Juniors: Hazel Bracken, Elise Burbrow, Jean Gillett, Hazel Osborne, Marjorie Thompson.

Sophomores: Margaret Elliott, Margaret Rich, Margaret Dunham, Estelle Vars, R. Peacock.

Freshmen: Catherine Van Buskirk, Elizabeth McDonald, Truth Wills, Esther Freeman, Grace Bigelow.

The Biblical play, Ruth, dramatized by Marie Copp of New London and Beryl J. Gelhaar of Upper Montclair, N. J., is to be presented on Wednesday evening, March 26, in the college gymnasium. Dr. Wallace Gallup is editing and coaching the play. The entire cast and ushers are taken from the classes in Biblical literature with the exception of those assisting in music. Dr. Lawrence Erb is writing and arranging the music for the entire production.

Miss Sarah Barber of Putnam is cast in the role Chilion, father of Ruth. The cast follows:

Ruth, Barbara Bell, Plantsville; Elimalech, Elizabeth Allen, Chicago; Naomi, Margaret Rich, Middletown; Boas, Olive Hulbert, Chicago; Chilion, Sarah Barber, Putnam; Mahlon, Bereyl Gelhaar, Montclair; Orpah, Francis Joseph, Stonington; Nathan, Margaret Elliott, Montclair; Miriam, Marie Copp, New London; Adriet, Constance Nobel, Yonkers; Deborah, Grace Damarest, Bloomfield; reapers, Jerry German, Mary German, Marjory Thompson, Astoria; woman, Eleanor Harriman, Chicago; elders, Jerry German, Margaret Elliott, Marjory Thompson; townsmen, Helen Farnsworth, New Jersey; narrator, Aileen Fowler, Westerly; chairman of committee in charge, Olive Hulbert; chairman of scenery, Helen Hewett, Troy; chairman of costumes, Lois Wilkins, Waterbury; ushers, R. Cox, Sara Dodd, Ruth Hitchcock, Idel Godard; assisting with music, Lucy Barker, pianist; Isabel Grinell, violinist; Isabel Willis, soprano soloist.

John Finley, editor of the Times, will be the next speaker at convocation at the college. The convocation will be held on March 26 at 2 p. m., instead of 4, the usual time.

Alumnae week-end is dated for March 28th. It is then that the graduates will return for their annual week-end. In the afternoon a basketball game is planned between the varsity and alumnae teams. Immediately afterward tea will be served by the local chapter of alumnae in the faculty room of the library. The student council have been invited to this affair. All will then attend the Colonial Shop for dinner at 6.30. There is to be a get-together in the gymnasium in the evening, where a one-act play will be given by the dramatic club and several songs will be sung by the glee club. Sunday morning there will be chapel service at 9 a. m. by President Marshall.

Many a good man has strayed into the crooked path by following the direction of a corkscrew.

CHURCHES REPORT GREAT GAINS IN MEMBERSHIP

Whatever else may fail in civilization, there is constant proof that the church does not. It presents itself again this year with its usual harvest of gains. First, making good all its losses—by withdrawal, dismissal, denial of the faith and the life, the call to the blessed estate—the church added to its numbers in 1924, somewhat less than three-quarters of a million, points out the Christian Herald. Growth is the best proof of life that it can ever show, and that with all the differences and difficulties with which it is beset, within and without, is no insignificant act—that the church is living and growing, doing greater and nobler things for humanity as each year passes.

The total figures of members, or communicants, in the United States has now risen above forty-six millions—all of the Christian church except less than half a million, chiefly of the Jewish faith, out of which that of Christ has proceeded. These figures are not those of population, but as far as they can be obtained, of communicants. The Roman Catholic church, the largest body in this country and in the world, reports officially only "population," which practically includes all baptized persons; but it is represented in these tables by estimated communicants, which constitute 55 per cent of its population. The communicant membership of the Christian church is not, however, fully presented in the total given herewith, because the ordained ministers of most Protestant churches are counted separately, as Lutherans, Presbyterians, Reformed, Methodists, Episcopalians and others. These would raise the grand total to perhaps forty-six and a quarter millions.

Evangelical Group Gains.

As in former years it is those who are known as Evangelical which have the larger gains, as shown herewith:

Groups.	Communicants.	Gains.
Methodist	8,700,007	79,974
Baptist	8,227,225	88,093
Lutheran	2,503,642	37,801
Presbyterian	2,500,466	37,909
Disciples of Christ	1,668,906	47,703
Episcopalian	1,147,814	7,739
Congregational	861,168	3,535
Reformed	552,668	32
United Brethren	405,103	10,540
Evangelical Synod	307,177	6,738
Evangelical Church	209,684	2,722
Adventists	144,167	4,819
Brethren (Dunkards)	143,889	1,192
Friends	116,077	33
Christians	108,500	5,409
Mennonites	85,629	3,000
Assemblies of God	75,000	5,000
Pentecostal	78,783	6,783
Scandinavian Evangelical	42,758	804
Moravians	26,802	804
Various other bodies	122,928	.....
Totals	28,021,953	366,336

These various bodies with a total of 28,021,953, roughly speaking, may be considered as constituting the Evangelical group, or more than 60 per cent of all the entire denominational strength of the country.

The gains in membership of this Evangelical group amount to a total of 366,336, which is not proportionate in percentage to the total gain; that is, while the Evangelical strength is 28,021,953, or over 60 per cent, the Evangelical increase is 366,336, or less than 52 per cent.

The changes in the number of ministers and churches continue to move, up or down, in an uncertain way, as though they were governed by no particular set of rules. Thus the ministerial increase for 1924, is 3,740, while in 1923 it was 5,297, and that of churches is 541 for the past year, though it was 2,404 in 1923. There has been a marked tendency since the war for churches of the different denominations to consolidate for the sake of economy and efficiency.

Roman Catholics Lead.

Changes are gradually appearing in the order of denominations as to numbers. The Roman Catholic keeps well in advance of all the communions, with its nearly sixty million communicants and its more than 18,000,000 population. Its estimated increase in 1924 was over 220,000.

The second largest body is the Methodist-Episcopal church with 4,438,494; the third the Southern Baptist convention, with over 3,500,000; the fourth, the Negro Baptist convention, with more than 2,000,000; the fifth, the Methodist Episcopal, South 2,470,000; the sixth, the Presbyterian church in the U. S. (Northern), 1,701,559; the seventh, the Northern Baptist convention, 1,362,000; the eighth, the Disciples of Christ, 1,351,000; the ninth, the Protestant Episcopal church, 1,139,200. These are the only single bodies which have a million or more.

When the order by groups is considered, after the Roman Catholic and associated churches, with 16,093,000; comes the Methodists with 8,700,007; the Baptist, with 14 bodies, third, 8,227,225; the Lutheran 18 bodies, fourth, 2,503,642; the Presbyterian 8 bodies, fifth, 2,500,466; the Disciples of Christ, 2 bodies, sixth, 1,668,906; the Episcopalian, 2 bodies, seventh, 1,148,000.

If the various groups are at all anxious to get nearer or into the front rank, they may do so by consolidation with others of their particular group, or, as in Canada, with other Protestant bodies.

Big Missionary Gains.

These same churches have great and growing constituency in the rest of the world and some of them are reporting larger gains mostly in states. The New World Missionary Atlas shows that this foreign work is carried on in larger measure by the missionary societies of the United States than by any other or all other societies combined. It expended on this work in 1923, $45,272,293.

In the last quarter of a century, the number of Christian communicants has increased in Asia from 622,480 to 1,538,057; in Africa from 342,857 to 1,045,883. In China the growth has been from 112,808 to 402,539; in India, from 276,617 to 811,506. Everywhere indigenous peoples have been moved by the Christian appeal.

The Methodist Episcopal church, which in 1923 had a larger increase in its foreign fields than at home, has also more of its total gains abroad than in this country the past year.

Y. M. H. A. CHARITY BALL GIVEN WITH SUCCESS

NURMI WINS HIS RACE IN FINAL APPEARANCE ON NEW YORK TRACKS

New York, March 24—Paavo Nurmi tonight won his last race in New York, scene of many of his record breaking performances. He defeated Jimmy Connolly in a mile and one-half run. The time was 7:01 3-5.

The Finn won by a lap over Connolly, former Georgetown star.

Nurmi will complete a tour of this country and Canada April 30 at San Francisco. He then plans to return to Europe.

Ugo Frigerio, Olympic 10,000 metre champion walker, defeated Joe Peraman of the New York A. C., in a special 2,500-meter race. The time was 10:47.

The two events were star attractions of the 244th Coast Artillery meet. The Italian walker plans to sail April 11. His last race here will be the long-expected 10,000 metre clash with Willie Plant, America's champion, next Saturday night.

COAST GUARD FIVE LEAVES FOR DETROIT TOURNEY

(Special to The Bulletin.)

New London, March 24—A chance for better train accommodations to Detroit, Michigan, brought about a change in plans of the Coast Guard Cadets relative to the time they were to leave from this city. A squad of eight men under the direction of Lieutenant Commander Donahue left this city at noon today for Detroit to represent the Nutmeg state in the National tournament to be held at the Detroit "Y" on Mar. 26, 27 and 28.

The Coast Guard five brushed aside the Providence Y. M. C. A. five last night in the final game before leaving for the home of the tourney. A large delegation of local fans were present to give the local five a send off. In defeating the Providence five, the Coast Guards wound up their season in a glorious manner, having the distinction of winning a total of 22 straight games, failing to lose a single contest in all their engagements. This is the best showing made by a local team in a long time, and the Coast Guard five deserves the right to represent the local Y. M. C. A. in the National tourney.

The personnel of the Coast Guard five which left for Detroit on the 12 o'clock express is as follows: Lieut. Commander Donahue, coach; Lipholm, Stewart and Colghlin forwards; French and Foote centers; Purcell, Thiele and Lord guards. Lord and Foote are representatives from the "Y" House league from which the local selection was made. But the combination of the Coast Guard Cadets was so great that a better balanced team could not be desired.

In discussing their efforts, the local detachment was confident of making a fine showing. The Coast Guard five is regarded by the teams which they have played to be one of the most dangerous fives to oppose. The distinction which the Cadets have is their ability to cage the ball from long distances. In this respect they are dangerous from any point of the floor. Every member of the five has an accurate eye, and this may be attested by the scoring of the Cadets in the games played this year. Nearly every member of the team corrals at least one counter from the field. The team may be summed up as five shooting Roosmas. Why they are classified under this peculiar caption is due to their long distance ability to shoot them. If anyone has seen Roosma of the Army cage them, they can well appreciate the naming of the Coast Guard five.

A complete schedule of the games to be played in the tourney are as follows: The Coast Guard five appearing opposite the Detroit five in their opening contest.

Thursday, March 26.

Tournament game B, hour 6.30, Madison, Wis., vs. Ohio Runners Up; C, 7.30, Grand Rapids, Mich., vs. Oak Park, Ill.; D, 8.30, Little Rock, Ark., vs. Cincinnati, Ohio; F, 7, Niagara Falls, N. Y., vs. Warren, Ark.; G, 8, Binghampton, N. Y., vs. Wisconsin Champions E, 9, New London, Conn., vs. Detroit, Mich.

Friday, March 27.

Tournament game I, hour 3, Toronto, Ont., vs. Winner B; J, 4, Winner C vs. Winner D; K, 4, Ohio Champions vs. Winner F; L, 5, Winner G vs. Winner H; S, 5.30, Loser G vs. Loser H; M, 7.30, Winner I vs. Winner J; N, 8.30, Winner K, vs. Winner L; O, 7, Loser C vs. Loser D; P, 8, Loser B vs. Loser I; R, 9, Loser K vs. Loser F.

Saturday, March 28.

Tournament game T, hour 2.30, Winner P vs. Winner Q; U, 3.30, Winner R vs. Winner S; V, 6.30, winner T vs. Winner U; W, 7.30, Loser 6-M; O, 8.30, Winner M vs. Winner N.

BULKELEY HIGH STUDENT BODY HOLDS BASEBALL RALLY

(Special to The Bulletin.)

New London, March 24—The second gun of Bulkeley baseball was fired at a spirited school rally held at the school auditorium today. Ex-Principal Walter A. Towne commended the fine work of the team which represented the school last year, and he said that he expected this record to be bettered this season. Eulogizing Charles F. Noyes, former Norwich Free Academy player and now of New York, who with two other former Norwich men extended an invitation to the team to be their guests during their stay in the metropolis.

Mr. Towne reminiscenced the days when Charles Noyes opposed Bulkeley. In those days, Mr. Towne went on to say were not so bright for Bulkeley. Norwich always seemed to give us a good battle for first honors, and in many instances the locals were forced down to a defeat. A more recent letter written to Manager Martin Harris of the baseball nine by Mr. Noyes was read in the assembly. The letter was received with an ovation from the student body, and the meeting wound up with the placing of season tickets for sale in the hands of the various assistant managers.

This part of the rally was the most important to insure a successful season, financially. The season tickets which will sell for $3.00, for a total of approximately 13 games presented a good investment to the buyer. The home expenses were about half defrayed when over 200 students subscribed for the season tickets. This meant a ready revenue of $400 in the treasury. It showed that Bulkeley baseball, in its endeavor to bring the best possible in the state and thus decide the state championship in this city was being met with popular acclaim.

Without a doubt the largest crowd to assemble at a baseball game last year was in the Bridgeport contest. At a conservative estimate, 7,000 people easily jammed their way to Morgan Park, and were treated to a fine game. It was the largest single attendance at any one gathering in this city, and with such an attraction as Crosby High school there on that day, Bulkley will probably hit a new attendance record.

From present plans, Coach William R. Canty will continue baseball practice all this week. Basketball ended officially with the contest which was played at the State Armory with the fast Springfield Commercial High five of Springfield, Mass., doing the opposing. The season financially was not a success, and just how much the deficit will be I unknown at present.

SEVENTY-FIVE REPORT FOR ACADEMY BASEBALL TEAM

Never in recent years has such a large number of candidates for the Academy baseball team reported as this year. The number out for positions is approximately 75 with indications that more will turn out before the week is over. Coach Brigham is highly pleased over the number that has reported and the amount of enthusiasm that is being shown.

The material is exceptionally promising and from early indications it looks as though some of the veterans of last year would have to look up or they will find themselves relegated to the second squad. With five or six fighting for each position the competition is going to be keen and competition is what makes a ball player.

Coach Brigham will divide the squad up into teams and each team will be coached as though it was the varsity team. As soon as a player shows he is getting too fast for his team he will be graduated and as soon as a player shows that he is slowing up he will be dropped to another team and his place taken by the graduate from the team below. In this way Mr. Brigham intends to make every player work for his position and at the same time keep the interest in baseball at a high pitch.

It is expected that they will arrange a schedule for the second varsity team and there will be short games every afternoon during the season between the varsity and second varsity. The second varsity will be run as an independent team and will play against the varsity the same as against another school team.

BALTIC AND TAFTVILLE MAY MEET AGAIN IN BASKETBALL

There is a strong possibility that a third game between the Taftville Army and Navy five and the Baltic Wanderers will be arranged and played before the final curtain is run down on eastern Connecticut basketball. Manager Harry Collins of the Wanderers is not satisfied over the way the games for the season stand and neither is Manager Johnny Murphy of the Taftville five. Each team has won a victory on its own floor, both by close scores. Of course Taftville won the championship title but Baltic feels that this does not mean much as two of Taftville's games were won by a team composed largely of hired players. Collins and Murphy have discussed the matter and it is probable that arrangements will be made some time this week for the third and deciding game.

MCGALL TO ASSIST IN COACHING YALE TRACK TEAM

New Haven, Mar. 24—Announcement was made by the Yale track management tonight that Al McCall had been appointed an assistant coach to help in the field events during the coming season.

McGall comes to Yale from the Stevens Institute and has been a follower of track for many years. He started his work at Yale this afternoon. McGall takes a place made vacant by the resignation of Ned Merriam last summer.

PLAINFIELD FIVE CLASHES WITH FALL RIVER FRIDAY

The fans will see some fast company at the Plainfield Community house Friday night when the Army and Navy club will play the Fall River team. The visiting team has already defeated the home club and Friday's game will be a different result as Manager Salisbury stacks his team up against anything in the state. The local boys, Normandin, Dessinger, Noriss, Benson and Provost are now working like Trojans and it takes very fast company to defeat them. Some real lively basketball will be seen at the club house Friday.

The former Buddies players who tossed the ball around three years ago, will play the present Buddies. This preliminary game promises to be real fast. The Old Buddies will play Struthers, Cooper, Kelley, Archer, and LaCourse.

NURMI TO APPEAR IN TWO RACES AT DETROIT

Detroit, March 24—Paavo Nurmi will run the mile and one-half and one other distance race to be decided when he makes his two appearances here April 6 and 7. Nurmi will be a feature of the Michigan A. A. U. relay carnival at the Coliseum, state fair grounds.

Joie Ray, James J. Connolly and Lloyd Hahn have been invited to compete in the carnival. Willie Ritola, countryman of Nurmi has indicated he will participate in two events here.

Ugo Frigerio, Olympic walking champion, Willie Plant of New York, Charley Foster, Detroit, also will take part in the carnival.

THOMPSON WINS QUALIFYING ROUND IN FLORIDA TOURNEY

St. Augustine, Fla., March 24—Stanley Thompson, Canadian amateur, won the qualifying round in the ninth annual Florida winter championship golf tournament here today, coming in ahead of his brother, Frank Thompson, who holds the Canadian amateur title.

Stanley Thompson, made the round in 71, two strokes more than the amateur course record held by Willie Hunter, former British amateur title-holder, and now a California professional.

THE BABE MAKES HIS FIRST 1925 HOME RUN

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 24—Babe Ruth, home run champion, hit his first circuit clout of the year in the New York's final exhibition game against the Brooklyn Dodgers here today. Ruth placed a fast ball over the centerfield bleachers.

He was robbed of a home run on a hit of the same length yesterday by ground rules which gave him only two bases on a smash over the short and Fournier also hit home runs in a game which the Dodgers won, 10 to 5.

WILLIE O'DOWD OF CENTRAL UNDER WESTERLY MANAGER

Willie O'Dowd of Central Village, a bantamweight, is now under the management of Frank Murphy of Westerly. Murphy has signed O'Dowd to box Jimmy Grills of Westerly on the next card which will be run off in about two weeks. SPORT WORLD BRIEFS

The hitting of William Marriott in the practice games indicates that he will be a big asset for the Boston Braves.

The Calgary Golf and Country Club is to be the host of this year's tournament of the Western Canada Golf Association.

This year, for the first time, the American Marathon of the Boston A. A. will carry with it the National A. A. U. championship title.

March 28 is the date fixed by the Commonwealth Sporting Club of New York for a 12-round bout between Cowboy Padgett and Larry Estridge, the negro battler.

The largest stadium in America is the Grant Park Municipal Stadium in Chicago, with a seating capacity of 100,000, or two and one-half times that of the celebrated Harvard stadium.

The reorganized Three-I league will start on its championship season May 5, with Bloomington playing at Danville, Peoria at Terre Haute, Quincy at Evansville and Springfield at Decatur.

Commissioner Landis left his Chicago headquarters for a three week's swing around the southern training camps of the majors. He plans to present the World's Series emblems to the Washington players at their camp March 14.

On September 14, 1907, Pitcher Wilhelm, of the Birmingham Southern league team, shut out Shreveport in both games of a double-header, and in fifty-nine consecutive innings of those two and other games not a hit was scored on him.

John McGraw was chosen to be king of the orange blossom festival at Sarasota, Fla., but he turned down the assignment. Far be is from Jawn to doll up in the purple of a king and ride around at the head of a parade. He passed the job along to Jack Bentley, his left-handed flinger, who did some splendid kinging, it is said.

The Oxford-Cambridge boat race to be rowed over the Thames course from Putney to Mortlake on March 28 will be the 75th annual contest in which the rival eights of the two big English universities have engaged. To date the count stands 40 victories for Oxford to 33 for Cambridge. In 1877 the series was punctuated by a sensational dead heat.

Mooseheart, Ill., where the Loyal Order of Moose maintains its headquarters and a training school and other institutions for boys, promises to take a prominent part in athletics in the near future. Plans have been completed for the construction of one of the largest and costliest gymnasiums in the country. The cornerstone will be laid next June, at which time an interscholastic track and field meet will be held.

The Grand National Steeplechase, which will be run on March 27 at Aintree, near Liverpool, has been run there every year for more than 85 years, except for three years during the war, when a substitute race was held at Gatwick. The Grand National is essentially the race of the English country people, for no sooner is one over than the farmers begin to discuss the prospects of the next. The race may also be called a church festival, for it is said that more country parsons attend it than can be found at an archbishop's convocation.

THREE MINERS DROWNED IN LEHIGH VALLEY MINE

Mahanoy City, Pa., March 24—Three miners were drowned and a dozen others narrowly escaped a similar fate today when a dynamite blast in an abandoned gangway of the Vulcan mine of the Lehigh Valley Coal company flooded the mine with thousands of gallons of water which had accumulated behind a wall of rock, unknown to the miners.

No Other Car Delivers Such Results as These

The real reason for the remarkable Chrysler Six sales record its initial year—a volume of more than 32,000 cars—is its departure from ordinary motor car practice and performance.

Its three-inch motor gives a high speed range from 2 to over 70 miles, combined with gasoline economy safely over 20 miles per gallon.

With a touring car weight, ready for the road, of 2875 pounds, the Chrysler Six can be driven in comfort at 60 miles over rutted roads or cobbled streets. A new type of spring mounting makes it possible to take a turn at 50 miles an hour. Side-sway and road-weaving are eliminated.

The Chrysler Six adheres strictly to the soundest principles. Only the results are radical. You must ride in the car to appreciate what they are. We are eager to give you a Chrysler ride.

DEMPSEY IS BARRED FROM BOXING IN NEW YORK STATE BY COMMISSION

New York, Mar. 24—Jack Dempsey, world's heavyweight boxing champion, today was placed on the New York State Athletic Commission's ineligible list.

The boxing board further decreed that no licensed club, matchmaker, nor "any official connected with a licensed club in this state," shall enter into a contract with or have any negotiations for a match with any boxer suspended or declared ineligible by the commission.

The action against Dempsey was taken because of the champion's failure to make satisfactory reply to the commission's ultimatum of March 6 giving him fifteen days in which to accept the challenge for a title match submitted by Harry Wills, the negro heavyweight who has been on Jack's trail for several years.

A recent letter addressed to the commission by Jack Kearns, Dempsey's manager, in which Kearns said Wills' challenge of three years ago had been accepted by the champion but that the commission had ultimately refused to sanction the bout, was deemed an insufficient reply to the ultimatum.

Dempsey was not suspended, it was said, because he does not hold a New York license; hence the declaration of his ineligibility to box in this state was the only legal action the board could take against him.

James A. Farley, chairman of the commission, voted with William Muldoon, another member, to discipline Dempsey in this manner. George F. Brower, the third commission, was not present at the meeting.

Replying to a query as to whether the edict forbidding promoters for negotiating with an ineligible boxer would prevent Tex Rickard from angling for a Dempsey match in Boyle's Thirty Acres, Jersey City, Farley said:

"We would not consider such action on the part of Rickard as 'clubby.'"

The chairman also informed newspapermen that he regarded the Dempsey-Wills affair as "closed." The champion, however, would be restored to good standing before the commission were he to agree to box Wills in a decision bout. Kearns, in his recent letter to the commission, accepted the challenge of Tom Gibbons, but the boxing authorities considered this an evasion.

Rickard announced today that he was proceeding with his endeavors to Match Wills and Gibbons as the main attraction on the Milk Fund card in the Yankee Stadium on the night of May 29. It had been planned to have the winner of this bout meet Dempsey in the stadium in September.

Kearns, who as manager of the champion is automatically barred from negotiating for Dempsey in this state, said he would "let the matter drop where it is," asserting that he had nothing to add to his statement to the boxing board.

Tex Rickard, promoter, said today that he would make no immediate effort to sign a Dempsey-Wills bout.

"I do not wish to make any move which would antagonize the boxing commission," he asserted. "When matters right themselves I shall be in the field for the match."

MUST DRILL WITHOUT PAY OR DISCONTINUE DRILLING

Hartford, March 24—President Coolidge's order to hold up the $3,074,000 National guard deficiency appropriation approved by him March 4, pending the result of an inquiry to determine the necessity for the action, if made final, means that the more than 4,300 officers and enlisted men of the Connecticut National guard will either have to drill without pay or forego all armory drill periods until July 1 next.

The original appropriation for the fiscal years 1924-1925 was cut by the director of the budget to 75 per cent. of the amount estimated by the militia bureau of the war department as necessary to provide the armory drill pay authorized by the national defense act, under the impression that not enough guardsmen would turn out to drills to require the full amount.

So great was the interest displayed by the members of the National guard, however, that last January it was seen the appropriation would be insufficient. All of the units of the Connecticut National guard, when told of the situation, voted to continue the regular drills without pay, for the more than three months of the fiscal year remaining.

BLOCKING ROOSEVELT BIG GAME HUNTING EXPEDITION

Washington, March 24—Letters of protest from various Americans accusing the British government, and in one case the ambassador, Sir Esme Howard, personally, of wilfully blocking the Roosevelt big game hunting expedition into Turkestan, have floored the British embassy here. The India office of the London government recently refused permission for the party to enter Turkestan through the Hunza pass.

Embasy officials expressed dismay today over what they termed the widespread misconception of the reasons why passage by the Hunza pass route was denied Theodore and Kermit Roosevelt for their hunting trip.

A large Swedish expedition of 65 members already has used the Hunza pass this year, the embassy explained, and has employed all the native bearers available in that part of India. Expeditions which are under-manner or inefficiently manned, it added, are in great danger in the wild lands of Turkestan, where foo dand facilities are very scarce. The permission sought by the Roosevelt brothers was denied because the India office felt morally responsible for all expeditions passing through India into the more or less unknown lands beyond.

The Roosevelts have been advised, it is understood, to enter Turkestan by some other pass, or postpone their trip for a year. The embassy, meanwhile, is awaiting further information from London on the subject.

SELECTING JURY FOR TRIAL OF DOROTHY ELINSON

San Francisco, March 24—Adjournment of the second day of the murder trial of Dorothy Elinson, 16 year old slayer of her mother, found the jury box filled temporarily by nine men and three women. Four of the state's ten preemptory challenges were exhausted and three of the defense's twenty used.

Counsel anticipated that another day, perhaps two, would be required to complete the jury. Meanwhile, the young defendant apparently winning what seems to be a battle to maintain her composure. The first day of the trial she fainted and was not revived for several minutes. Today, shortly before noon, she slumped sobbingly into a police woman's arms at her seat beside her attorneys; and during the afternoon she watched the tediousand forty locomotives.

progress of the jury selection with a grave, stolid expression. She had complained of cold yesterday, and today she came in a warm, fur-fringed coat.

The defense showed a tendency to interrogate women jurors closely.

PERSHING MEETS APPROVAL OF THE PERUVIAN PUBLIC

Lima, March 24.—Public opinion generally is favorable to the appointment of General Pershing to head the Tacna-Arica plebiscite commission.

There has been no discussion of the question of who will be the Peruvian representative on the plebiscite commission.

Because of growing traffic, the state railways of Italy have ordered 1,500 cars and plan to add 2,800 more cars

NEW LONDON COURT SENTENCES HORACE SANTAS TO CHESHIRE

(Special to The Bulletin)

New London, March 24.—Horace Santas, 18, of 869 Main street, who was arrested last night, charged with the theft of property of the government, was given a hearing in the police court this morning. Santas did not have a defense for he pleaded guilty and Judge Victor Prince sentenced him to the reformatory at Cheshire. Santas, who had been a member of the headquarters company, coast artillery corps, for some time, had stolen in a systematic way, government property, principally apparel. Also there had been thefts of money and jewelry reported by members of the artillery corps and sailors who used the state armory floor where the soldiers had quarters, for basketball practice. When arrested Santas had some of the stolen property in his possession.

Manuel C. Rockhill, director of division of parole and domestic relations, Trenton, N. J., has communicated with the New London police in an effort to secure the arrest of William Kruger, wanted for violation of his parole. Director Rockhill stated that Kruger was discharged from the service of the federal government here during 1924, and had never returned back to the Trenton court. The New London police have no record of Kruger.

Miss Irene Roberts of Williams street; Mrs. Leora Damon, Broad street, and William Maggon, Westerly, patients at Lawrence hospital, were dismissed today.

The funeral of Wilson B. 2d, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Ferdinand Rennel, 207 Jefferson avenue, was held this morning at 8 o'clock at St. Mary's Star of the Sea church, a high mass of requiem being sung by Rev. Dr. Timothy M. Crowley. Burial was in St. Mary's cemetery.

The funeral of Mrs. Jennie Sutera, wife of Matteo Sutera, 335 Huntington street, was held this morning at 9 o'clock at St. Mary's Star of the Sea church. A solemn mass of requiem was celebrated by Rev. Alexander Wollschlaeger, with Rev. Dr. Crowley deacon and Rev. Raymond Callahan sub-deacon. Relatives of Mrs. Futera acted as bearers. Burial was in St. Mary's cemetery.

The funeral of William J. Connelly, 22, son of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Connelly, 9 Central avenue was held this morning at 10 o'clock at St. Mary's Star of the Sea church and was attended by a large assemblage of mourners. A solemn mass of requiem was celebrated by Rev. Raymond O'Callahan, with Rev. Dr. Crowley deacon and Rev. Alexander Wollschlaeger sub-deacon. The bearers were John Keating, James Fitzgerald, Thomas McCarthy, Alphonse Martin, John Sullivan, James Hunt. Burial was in St. Mary's cemetery.

Captain of Police Charles A. Pinney resumed his duties at the police station today after having been confined to his home on Howard street for a fortnight by illness.

Attorney Morris Lubchansky has purchased the residence at 57 Bellevue place, owned and occupied many years by Mrs. Carrie Ramage.

The New London Sick Benefit association today sold a house and lot on Bentley avenue, Ocean Beach, to Abraham Rakowsky and Max Merima.

A dog that had been struck by an automobile and had been seriously injured, was found in a vacant tract on Blackhall street this forenoon. Dog Warden John Sweezey was notified and had the animal removed to a veterinary hospital.

Two youths from Pawtucket, R. I., who ran away from home this morning, were taken into custody this noon on Crystal avenue by Patrolman William Manice. Both are but 15 and were turned over to Probation Officer Richard W. Mansfield, who arranged to have the runaways return home late this afternoon.

Nineteen boys, none of them over 12, were presented before Judge Victor Prince in the juvenile court this afternoon. The lads had been guilty of petty thieving and causing brush fires that threatened damage to property and in some instances resulted in the calling out of the fire department.

Mrs. Sarah A. Bindloss, wife of Thomas Palmer Bindloss, died today at the Norwich State Hospital where she had been under treatment several years. Besides her husband, who was formerly a well known carriage worker, Mrs. Bindloss is survived by a son James J. Greene, a brother, Jerra Holloway and a sister, Mrs. George Dayton, the last named of Waterford.

Patrolman Patrick Sheehan, suspended from patrol duty for a period ending April 30th as a result of having been found intoxicated on his beat last Friday morning, is out for vindication, not of his act of Friday, but because of utterances alleged to have been made concerning his conduct as a police officer by Councilor Edward L. Streeter Jr., which official criticised City Manager Holt on the floor of the city council last night because Sheehan had not been dealt with more severely, also because, Sheehan declares, some of his superior officers have made utterances against the conduct of the officer in an endeavor to gain promotion by turning informers for Councilor Streeter. Believing that he has been maligned Patrolman Sheehan this noon obtained an interview with City Manager Holt and after making his request for a hearing on the matter of his character being attacked, Patrolman Sheehan was assured of being given a hearing.

City Manager Holt is absent from the city, being in South Weymouth, Mass., to attend a funeral Wednesday of his brother-in-law, Henry B. Chandler, and upon his return to New London Thursday he has assured Patrolman Sheehan that he will arrange for the hearing.

Patrolman Sheehan informed City Manager Holt, that he was not aggrieved at the action that the city manager had taken, Sheehan admitting that he had made a mistake and a grievous one in having imbibed while on duty, but that the wrong had been done and that he would endeavor to profit by it as would be evidenced by his conduct when he is reinstated and resumes patrol duty.

Patrolman Sheehan declares that Councilor Street has made malicious and false statements relative to the conduct of the officer and that the officer insists that the Councilor retract his utterances and admit the falsity of them by revealing that he took the title search of two of the patrolmen's superior officers, who were seeking advancement on the force by turning informers for the sole benefit of the officers who have taken false information to Councilor Streeter and that the latter has used the propaganda in an endeavor to show that the police rules and regulations are being violated by some of the officers and that the two officers who are alleged to be the informers are the cause of discontent and ill-feeling among the personnel of the department.

Sheehan particularly made it known that the alleged statement of Streeter that Sheehan had been drunk "at least four times while on duty," was a deliberate falsehood.

Charles F. Barnes of Mystic was in the police court this morning charged with avoiding responsibility by driving away when he bumped his auto into a woman who was leaving the sidewalk in front of Green and State streets to go across. The woman wrote to the police department, giving the number of the machine and telling of the incident. The woman was not severely hurt, but she felt that Barnes was careless and that he drove away without ascertaining whether the woman his machine struck was badly hurt. Mrs. Harriet Bonney of Colman street, the daughter of the woman struck, was the witness against Barnes. She was positive that he ran into her mother and her child as they were crossing State street. She declared that Barnes did not put out his hand, nor did he leave the machine to ascertain what injury had resulted. Barnes declared that the accident did not occur at the point where Mrs. Bonney alleged it happened, but some 100 feet farther east. He said he realized that his rear fender brushed against the woman but that she was smiling when he asked her if she was hurt and she said she was "all right." Irving Crouch, a witness of the accident confirmed what Barnes had said in great degree. He is a neighbor and friend of Barnes, but he was telling of the accident as he saw it. The testimony was so conflicting that the case was continued for a week that it might be investigated.

Adlee Sandow was fined $10 for operating a truck without a license to do so. He admitted his offense by pleading guilty. He was involved in an accident and when the state police investigated the facts became known. He said he intended to avoid purchasing a license until the 1st of April and then he intended to seek one.

San Eskondarian and Charles Margarian were in the court on an adjourned breach of the peace case. They are uncle and nephew and they became involved in a quarrel, for which they now feel shame. The motion of the prosecutor was that the men were respected and that they intended to continue so. A nolle was asked for and allowed.

Joseph Saunders charged with intoxication laid his troubles to cider, and a little booze, but said he had got through now. Judgment was suspended to see whether he was in earnest about that.

George P. Sheehan was fined $20 for intoxication. He is the support of his father and mother and for that reason the court gave him a chance to pay the fine. He was told that he was on the way to jail if he didn't stop drinking, and he promised to do that. Judge Prince called to his attention that he did not earn enough to spend his money for booze at the cost of the stuff now, but he gave him the chance to get into the right road and to stay there.

Joseph Melville, of Thames street, and Mrs. William White and infant daughter, Waterford, patients at Home Memorial hospital, were able to return to their respective homes today.

The Far East restaurant, located in the Goddard building, State street, for several years, closed its doors last midnight.

The police tonight rounded up a quartette of vagrants, who have been loitering about the city for some time, two of them being old time panhandlers. The gang was locked up and will be before Judge Victor Prince in the police court tomorrow morning. Two of them Edward Hickey and John Davis have been arrested many times before on charges of intoxication and vagrancy. The gang were discovered loitering upon the pier of the Thames river line and were having a "hootch" party when Sergeant Samuel Hick and Patrolman William Riordan and Special Agent Martin Kane of the New Haven railroad gathered them in.

Motor Launch C—5692, with a crew of two, Joseph Callahan and William H. Cahoon, both of Onset, Mass., was seized last midnight about eleven miles off No. Man's Land, but not until after several shots from the U. S. Destroyer Jouett had been fired at the launch and following the latter craft having been observed to depart from the fleet of supply ships off Montuak Point. There was no liquor found abroad the launch, which was brought into port this morning. Callahan and Cahoon, however, were held for hearing on a charge of resisting boarding efforts.

A patrol boat from the local section base seized the gas screw launch, Nancy, hailing from New York off Faulkner's Island this forenoon, the craft having aboard about 400 cases of liquor. Late this afternoon the crew of four men, including Peter Bourke, master, were arraigned before United States Commissioner Earl Matthewson of Norwich and held for hearing. Bourke's bond was fixed at $1,500 and that of the other members of the crew at $500.

It is expected that next Monday evening there will be a large attendance of citizens at the municipal building to protest against the erection of a building for the dyeing and cleaning business at 20 William street, where Simon Green has purchased and where he intends to establish himself. The city council has refused to approve of an application to build which has the endorsement of the building inspector and the city manager.

The police declare that New London never had so many wild boys as it has at present. The department has had youths to look up almost every day the past week and there are others on the list that will come into the same category as soon as evidence to connect them with petty crimes can be secured.

Railroad passenger trainmen who run into this city declare that the operation of buses has cut the patronage of trains so much that the railroads are feeling the loss of business in considerable degree. Especially is this true of the trains to and from Worcester where buses connect with large cities and where commercial salesmen were largely passengers of the railroads heretofore.

Luther G. Stebbins, who recently purchased the Benjamin Dailey property on Montauk avenue, is making repairs and improvements there that will produce one of the attractive residences on that avenue.

A class of 46 students in biology from Williams Memorial Institute, New London, visited the Bill Memorial library, Groton this afternoon to study the collection of butterflies and birds at the library. The class was under the direction of Miss Mary F. Crofton, instructor in biology and chemistry at W. M. I.

At the council meeting Monday night the council voted to solicit bids for a new pumping engine at a cost of $13,500. Councilor Fox endeavored to have bids for two pumpers, declaring that they were needed, but Mayor Clarke opposed that and said that under no circumstances would he be a party to raising the tax on property to more than 24 1-2 mills. There was some discussion as to how the money was to be raised to pay for the pumpers and then on motion of councilor Streeter it was decided that the money should be obtained by reducing the appopriation for the library by $1,000 and the appropriation for water and street maintenance by $12,000. Simon Green was denied the privilege of erecting a dye house at 20 Williams street, and on petition from some 30 citizens a public hearing on the matter is to be given next Monday night. The council voted that hereafter application for building permits should be held up for one week after presentation that they might be investigated. It also voted to send Deputy Fire Chief Thomas Shipman to attend a school for instruction of firemen in New York for a period of six weeks from April 16. The school is under the direction of Chief Kenlon of New York city. The council voted to get on the zoning enabling act now before the legislature by adding the name of New London to the list of places which the zoning enabling act will affect.

GALES FERRY

And he called the name of that place Bethel. Gen. 28:19, the theme being. The House of God, was taken by district superintendent Rev. William H. Bath of Norwich for his Sermon text in the Methodist Episcopal church, Sunday morning and held the attention of his hearers. The anthem, City of God was sung by the choir and following the offertory, Fear Not Ye, Oh Isreal, Dudley P. Buck, was sung by Miss Grace A. Chapman. The hymns for the morning were selected from those written by Fanny J. Crosby. Preceding the sermon, hurling E. Colver, chairman of the finance committee announced that the "Every Person Canvass" for the church budget for 1925-1926 of $2,300 which has been going on the past week the total had been pledged.

At the Sunday school at noon Supt. C. E. Colver, presented Rev. Mr. Bath, who spoke interestingly to the school and told of the advance made in Sunday school work in the past six years and of the progress made in New England areas. He stated that the Gales Ferry church was one of the ideal little churches in this conference. As this was the last time he would speak as district superintendent here where his relations had been so friendly with the church and people upon request of Supt. Colver, as Rev. Mr. Bath closed his remarks, the school arose and gave the Chautauqua salute of waving handkerchiefs.

The topic of the Epworth league evening service was The Place Where I Live, Keeping Fit Friendly, leader Miss Myrtice Coman. Rev. Mr. Brown continued on this topic at the preaching service. At the social hour following the service five young men were the hosts—Elmer Tubbs, C. H. Colver, Jr., Lawrence Rasle, Alfred Erickson, and Paul Miller. They served sandwiches and cocoa, assisted by Mrs. Parker and Miss Smith and Mrs. Colver.

Charles H. Comstock who observed his 80th birthday quietly at his home here Friday, was born at Gales Ferry and has resided here the greater part of his life. Mr. Comstock, in his early manhood spent some years in business in Iowa, and Illinois. He received callers, a shower of post cards from friends, gifts and a birthday cake. He is the only surviving Civil war veteran at Gales Ferry. Mr. and Mrs. Comstock celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary in January. They are in good health.

The March meeting of the Queen Esther girls with their leader Mrs. A. Irving Hulburt was held with Miss Ida Erickson Thursday evening. They also observed the birthday of their secretary, Miss Gertrude Allen. The regular meeting of song and service, was followed by a solo, When The Dew is on the Rose, sung by Miss Helen L. Colver, and a piano solo, Holiday Time, by Miss Matilda Harold. Refreshments were served from a prettily decorated table in pink and white, with two birthday cakes, with 21 pink lighted candles on each. Miss Allen received pleasing gifts. Dancing was enjoyed to music by the victrola. Others present were Misses Ida Erickson, Myrtice Coman, Marjorie Gates, Margaret Parker, Dorothy Birch Laura McGuire, Em-Beth Bennett, Sarah Hewlett and Margaret S. Colver.

APPLICATIONS FOR CIVILIAN MILITARY TRAINING CAMPS

Washington, March 24—Applications for admission to the Civilian Military Training camps this summer totalled 11,276 on March 20, as compared with 6,563, on the same date last year.

The total number that may be trained at the camps in 1925, with available appropriations, is 35,000.

The Fifth Corps area, comprising Ohio, West Virginia, Indiana, and Kentucky, with 2,307, had the greatest number of applications on file.

Other corps areas reported applications on file as follows:

First, 1,218, as compared with 876 a year ago; second, 1,179, compared with 325; third, 539 compared with 777; fourth, 2,088, compared with 2,136; sixth 3,298, compared with 1,101; seventh, 209 compared with 205; (receipt of applications just started); eighth, 732, compared with 727; and ninth, 635, compared with 436. No comparative figures for March 20, last year were available for the first crops area.

The camps will be open at various dates fixed by corps area commanders, beginning in June.

The training policy this year has been changed, so that after preliminary instruction, the youngsters in many cases will be incorporated into the regular units and receive instruction through shoulder to shoulder contact with the officers, non-commissioned officers and men of the regular army.

Mrs. Charlette Kitcher, eighty years old, of Bridgeport, and Thomas H. Moran, sixty-five years old of Danbury, were married Saturday.

MEMORIAL DAY BILL WAS KILLED IN THE HOUSE AT TUESDAY'S SESSION

(Special to The Bulletin.)

Hartford, March 24—Today, as was expected, a large number was drawn to the capitol to attend the hearings before the committee of the judiciary, on the proposed medical practice bill. A bill that was of special interest to the veterans of the Civil war was the one making an appropriation of $1,000 for a committee of the G. A. R. authorized by the bill to visit New Orleans for the purpose of returning the battle flag of the 10th regiment of Louisiana volunteers C. S. A., and to receive in return the sword captured from Lt. Col. Renyard Colburn of the 12th Connecticut volunteers. The bill was passed by both the senate and house under suspension of the rules and was sent at once to the engrossing clerk.

No hearings were held by the judiciary committee on the various applications for the restoration of forfeited licenses. They propose to hear them tomorrow (Wednesday).

Section 5351 of the general statutes as amended by section 86, chapter 306 of the public acts of 1921 is further amended in a bill that passed the house today. As amended the bill increases the compensation that is to be paid.

A situation that has often confronted municipalities and towns and has provoked conflict, caused by trolley companies clearing their tracks of snow, and in turn the local authorities throwing back again, by a bill passed today has been placed in the jurisdiction of the state highway commissioner with power to determine how the work shall be done.

The highway commissioner is also given further power in the construction of drains on state aid on trunk line highways, a subject which has been a source of much trouble.

THE HOUSE.

Speaker Darbie called the house to order today at 11.32. Chaplain Lewis offered prayer.

Under suspension of the rules the house restored forfeited rights to Phileas Gagner of New Britain; Patrick Lacava of Danbury, and A. J. Messer of New London.

House bill No. 904 concerning marketing and sale of eggs, providing for receptacles to be issued and prohibiting unnecessary deceptive practices was unfavorably reported today by the judiciary committee. The bill was originally before the committee on public health and safety and was afterward referred to the judiciary committee. The bill was rejected.

The house killed the bill No. 646, providing a penalty for engaging in any sport for attendance at which admission is charged or a prize given between the hours of 7 a. m. and 1 p. m. Memorial day. The judiciary committee reported it unfavorably.

An unfavorable report from the committee on military affairs the house killed Bill No. 130, legalizing the shooting of clay pigeons on Sunday, by gun clubs.

Miss Green of Granby took the chair.

The house concurred in the passage of senate bill No. 304 making it a criminal offense for a lawyer to solicit persons to institute action for damages.

Substitute for house bill No. 403, raising the limit on weekly pay to injured persons under the workmen's compensation act to $24 a week was passed in the house today. The present limit is $18.

House bill, No. 963, limiting the enrollment of students at the Connecticut Agricultural college to 500 at any one time, started a real warm debate on the subject of the advisability of the college becoming a state university, but the bill was passed with only one dissenting vote, as those who spoke for the university idea said there was no harm in the bill.

Bills favorably reported by the committee on public health and safety were No. 898 concerning the bottling of carbonated beverages; No. 903, defining impure milk; No. 905 regulating sale of condensed milk or cream.

Bill No. 431, concerning trespass on private property, was rejected on adverse report by the judiciary committee.

SENATE.

The senate was called to order at 11.20 by Lieutenant Governor Brainard.

Commander Wildman, of the G. A. R. post of Danbury, exhibited the Confederate flag, captured by Federal troops at the battle of Cold Harbor in the war of the rebellion, in the ante room of the senate this forenoon.

On the motion of Senator Pierson of the Thirty-third district the rules were suspended and the senate by a rising vote passed a resolution recommended by the committee on appropriations appropriating $1,050 to defray the expense of the G. A. R. [illegible] dividends by mutual savings banks. The bill was rejected.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

STOCK MARKET SAGS

New York, March 24—Stock prices continued to yield to selling pressure in today's market, standard industrials and rails sagging to new low levels for the year on net losses running from 1 to 5 points. Total sales again ran above one and one half million shares.

Publication of relatively unfavorable February railroad earning reports, particularly by the Northwestern carriers, furnished an excuse for a resumption of bear attacks. Union Pacific whose net operating income last month was 47 per cent. below that of the corresponding month last year, was hammered down to a new low at 129 1-2, rallying feebly at the close. Chicago and Northwestern broke 6 1-2 points to a new low at 56 and then rallied to 57 1-2. Other weak spots in the Western group included Great Northern prefered, Northern Pacific, Canadian Pacific, Illinois Central, Chicago and Alton preferred, Rock Island, Chicago Great Western preferred and St. Louis Southwestern, all of which touched new bottom prices for the year and closed 1 1-2 to 3 points lower.

Eastern rails also were under pressure, New York Central sagging to a new low at 114 3-4 and then rallying a point for a slight fractional gain on the day. New Haven, Reading, Lackawanna, Delaware and Hudson, Lehigh Valley, Erie common and first preferred, Baltimore and Ohio, Chesapeake and Ohio, Wheeling and Lake Erie common and preferred, also broke through their previous low prices of the year.

Reports that powerful financial interests were accumulating stocks on the scaledown and that brokers' loans had shrunk $300,000,000 in the last few weeks, indured a moderate amount of short covering which apparently accounted for the strength shown during the morning. Trading was dull on the rally, however, and speculators for the decline found little difficulty in bringing about another sharp reaction in the afternoon.

Lack of effective buying support for United States steel common resulted in that stock being forced down to another new low for the year at 117. Baldwin touched a new bottom at 114 7-8. Other stocks to break through their previous resistance points were Standard Oil of New Jersey, Pullman and Royal Dutch. Acute weakness was shown by American Car and Foundry, American Express, American Ice and Leather preferred, Atlantic Refining, Commercial solvents B, International Harvester, Loclede Gas, Loose Wiles Biscuit, Martin-Parry, National Lead, New York Dock Peoples Gas, Savage Arms, United Fruit and West Penn Power off 2 to 3 points.

Renewed buying for General Electric in the late trading sent that stock up some 3 points to 265 1-2, Texas Gulf Sulphur made a sharp gain and Mack Trucks, Famous Players

Call money renewed at 3 1-2 per cent, but advanced to four again just before the close. Time money any commercial paper rates were unchanged.

Strength of the Scandinavian exchanges featured the firm foreign exchanging market. Norwegian and Danish exchange reached new high levels at 18.50 and 18.17 respectively. Demand sterling ruled slightly higher around $4.78 and French Francs were quoted around [illegible]

BOND MARKET

New York, March 24—Recovering from yesterday's severe decline, the bond market today made moderate progress under the leadership of speculative rail and industrial liens, brisk rallies took place in some of the recent weak features, but on the other hand another slump in stock prices developed additional heavy spots, especially among the high grade rails.

Pan-American 6s led an advance in the oil liens as fresh buying was inspired by prospects that an early readjustment of the company's structure would be effected. The bonds at one time sold about 3 points higher and closed with a net gain of 1 1-2 points. Stockholders' approval of the International Paper Company's expansion policy contributed to the strength of the company's convertible fives. Of a new bond issue which was authorized, it is expected that about $15,000,000 will be offered to the public.

Much of the apprehension over the financial situation of the Interborough Rapid Transit Company which caused a sharp break in the bonds yesterday, appeared to have been removed and prices scored moderate recovery today.

Demand for railroad obligations included St. Paul, International Great Northern, Chicago and Alton liens, but Erie Convertible 4S A. and B broke 2 3-8 and 1 3-8 points respectively. The sagging tendency of investment rails reflected disappointing February earnings.

Another foreign industrial loan will appear on the market tomorrow in the form of $5,000,000 thirty year 7 per cent. bonds of the Alpine Montan Steel Corporation of Austria, priced at 91, they will yield 7.80 per cent. to the investor.

CHICAGO GRAIN MARKET

Chicago, March 24—Dwindling away of new buying left the wheat market in a shaky condition today, especially at the last. In particular, fresh demand from Europe was lacking, and export business appeared to have brought to at least a temporary halt. Wheat closed nervous, 1 3-4 to 5c net lower. May $1.65 1-4 to $1.65 1-2 and July 1.45 1-4 to 1.45 1-2. Corn finished 2 3-8 to 3 1-4c down, oats at 1-2 to 1c off, and provisions at showing 25 to 70c decline.

Lowest prices of the da yprevailed in the wheat market at the close. Shrinking in volume of transactions, rather than unusual pressure to sell, was noticeable. In this connection, the extreme violence of the swing in values of late was given as a reason for the falling off in general speculative trade, and so too was the fact that a government investigation is in progress to determine whether the recent sudden big chances in price, and the simultaneous huge aggregate of dealings had been warranted.

Corn and oats were depressed by persistent lack of eastern shipping demand here for corn. Besides, Kansas City was reported to be shipping corn to Chicago.

Provisions sympathized with the downturn in the value of cron and hogs.

CURB MARKET

New York, March 24—Curb stocks again declined today in sympathy with the reaction of the "big board" but the general list, with few exceptions, offered stubborn resistance to selling pressure and there were fe wnet losses of over two points.

Further liquidation of the oil shares was inspired by a cut of ten cents a barrel in crude prices. Ohio dropped [illegible] two points to 1-4 and losses of 1 to 2 1-2 points were recorded by Prairie Oil and Gas, Prairie Pipe and Standard Oils of Kentucky and New York. South Penna. Oil broke 7 1-2 points to 157 1-2 on a few sales.

Chief interest in the industrial group centered in the admission to trading of the new Class A Serv-El stock, an electric refrigeration issue, which sold at a small premium above the recent subscription price. Car Lighting and Power held firm just below its recent high level. Good buying also was noted in Chapin Sacks which has been well supported throughout the recent reaction. Lehigh Valley coal certificates and Swift International each dropped about a point.

The radio issues showed a firmer tone although a few touched new low levels in the early trading. With the exception of Middle West

NORWICH TOWN

Fanny Crosby day was observed at the First Methodist E. church, Sunday at 4 p. m. The Sunday school furnished a pageant on her life and works. The Devotional service was led by the pastor. The hymn, "Praise Him, Praise Him," was followed by responsive devotional reading, the Lord's prayer, and the hymn, "I am Thine O Lord," by the choir. A reading was given by Augusta Miller who was prolocutor in the pageant. Following this came the first act of the pageant; the characters being:

Fanny Crosby—Doris Rose.
"Grandma" Crosby—Mrs. Aldrich.
"Gramma" Crosby—Mrs. Aldrich.
The Tailor—Leroy Miner.
The Postman—Lewis Aldrich.
Children from school—Arthur Bennett, Isabel Gambel, Muriel Rose, and Edna Judson.

The act showed Fanny Crosby as a child. Even so young, her desire to write hymns became very evident. A very impressive part of the scene was when Fanny knelt by Grammy's old chair and sang "Near the Cross."

Scene 2. Act 2. Introduced by Prosecutor:

Song of Choir—All The Way My Savior Leads Me.
Reading—Augusta Miller.
In this episode the characters were: Fanny Crosby, an old lady—Theodora Brown.
Mrs. Knapp—Mrs. Bushnell.
Dr. W. H. Doane—Lewis Aldrich.

This scene showed Fanny Crosby, now an old lady. She dictates several of her hymns to Mrs. Knapp as they sit together. The wonderful spirit of the blind writer was interpreted very effectively by Miss Brown.

Reading—Augusta Miller.
Song, Rescue the Perishing—Choir.

While this was being sung, the choir took their places, to represent a prayer meeting. Lewis Aldrich was leader and the meeting opened by song, "Jesus Is Calling." The leader calls upon Fanny Crosby (Theodora Brown) to address the meeting.

Reading, Mark Aldrich, followed by song "Never Give Up."

After this song the meeting was dismissed. After the meeting A Lonely Old Gentleman (Leroy Miner) talks for a short while with Fanny Crosby. While looking Fanny remembers the friend she promised her old grandmother she would build for aged folk, and sings "Some Day the Silver Cloud Will Break—Mrs. Irish.

Reading—Augusta Miller.

The offering was taken for the Fanny Crosby Memorial home being built at Bridgeport. The closing number, "Though Your Sins Be As Scarlet" was given by a quartet, Lewis Aldrich, Hazel Cruthers, Blanche Irish, Lewis Irish.

Benediction was pronounced by the pastor.

A former pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church, Rev. William H. Crawford, now pastor at Moodus, while en route to the New England southern conference in session this week at the Union Methodist church, Lisbon, River; was a caller Tuesday morning, on a former Norwich Town parishioner who is confined to the house because of illness. While passing through Norwich Town, Rev Mr. Crawford met several friends and acquaintances by whom he was warmly greeted. Since his leaving this community, there has remained a lasting memory of the work and deeds of this beloved pastor and friend.

Mrs. Alice Tufts of Otrobando, avenue, left Monday for a visit with her cousins in New Haven.

John Turnbull of Ashaway, R. I., was a caller Monday at the home of his brother, James Turnbull of Warrecus Hill.

Having passed about five months at his home in Norwich Town, William Potter left Sunday for New York.

The Young People's Christian Endeavor society of the First M. E. church, is to hold a meeting Friday evening, at 7:45, at the home of Miss Florence M. Brown, of Wightman avenue. Following the meeting there is to be a rehearsal by the choir.

Fourth Birthday Party.

Wenna Arline, little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Ortman of Orchard street, was given a pretty party last Friday by her aunt, Miss Elizabeth Ortman, the occasion being her fourth birthday. The color scheme was pink and white and the decorations, favors, refreshments and prizes featured the Easter season. The little playmates present were Rita and Betty Bamber, Katherine Sheridan, Susan French, Betty and Arline Ortman, Stewart Parlemee, Allen and Roger French and James Eastman.

Demurrer Overruled.

The defendant's demurrer in the suit of [illegible] Wilson of East Lyme, and others vs. The Titus and Bishop Land Co. of New London has been overruled by Judge Allyn L. Brown of the superior court.

METHODISTS IN FALL RIVER FOR ANNUAL DISTRICT CONFERENCE

(Special to The Bulletin.)

Fall River, Mass., March 24. — The eighty-fifth session of the New England Southern Conference of the Methodist church will open in the Union church here at 9 o'clock Wednesday morning. Bishop William F. Anderson, who is the resident bishop of what is known as the New England Area having its Episcopal residence in Boston, will preside over its deliberations.

Since the last session held a year ago the general conference, which meets quadrennially, has been held and among the several changes made by it was the transfer of Bishop Edwin H. Hughes, who had been the resident bishop in this territory for eight years, to the Chicago area and the transfer of Bishop William F. Anderson from the Cincinnati area to this one. There are five conferences in the New England area and four of these will be presided over this year by the resident bishop. These are as follows: The New England Southern, at Fall River, Mass., which opens on March 25; the New England, at Brookline, Mass., April 1; the New Hampshire, at Concord, N. H., April 15; the Vermont at Rickford, Vt., April 22. The other remaining one is the Maine conference to be held at Augusta, Maine, April 22, and presided over by Bishop Thomas Nicholson, resident bishop at Detroit, Michigan.

On Tuesday, the examinations for the men of the entering classes and all who are pursuing the Conference courses of study were held at the seat of the Conference.

The services Tuesday evening included several addresses of welcome and the Epworth League anniversary service.

The business sessions of the conference will proceed through the morning hours of each day (except Sunday) and if necessary these will be held at other hours as the conference may decide.

The sacrament of the Lord's supper will be administered by the bishop on Wednesday morning at 9 and will be followed by organization and business. At 11 o'clock the memorial services for deceased members will be held. At 2 p. m. the conference sermon will be preached by Rev. Joseph Cooper of South Manchester.

At 3 p. m. will be the institute hour in the interests of religious education and at 4 p. m. there will be the "Get Acquainted Period."

At 7.30 p. m. there will be a programme of instrumental music by the Wells Quartette of Brockton, Mass., and at 8 p. m. there will be a lecture by Bishop Anderson, subject, "Life's Perpetual Adventure." This will be the outstanding event of the conference which will call together a large audience.

Other interesting events of the week will include the following: The electoral conference called together in special session this year to act upon two constitutional amendments submitted by the general conference, will meet at 10 a. m., Friday; the joint session of lay electoral and ministerial conferences at the Central Congregational church the same day at 1.30 p. m.; the banquet for ministers and laymen at the Mellen hotel, Friday at 6 p. m.; the reception to the ministers' wives and the deaconesses on Saturday at 4 p. m.; and several anniversary occasions for the various benevolent and missionary enterprises of the denomination held at different times throughout the week with speakers of outstanding ability and reputation.

The conference this year was to have been held in New Bedford with the newly formed Trinity church which had invited it in the expectancy that the extended improvements on their church edifice would be completed in due time. When, in January, it was ascertained that it would be impossible to complete these improvements in time for the conference, the Union church in Fall River came to the rescue and extended an invitation thus relieving what might have been a very embarrassing situation. Great credit is due to the enterprising pastor, Rev. Dr. R. A. Colpitts and his faithful assistant, Rev. R. W. Hibbard, for the way in which they have rallied the people of the Union church and other ministers and Christian people in Fall River to provide proper entertainment for this body of men at so short a notice.

Since the organization of the New England Southern Conference in Providence, R. I., in 1841, the same being known for many years as the Providence Conference, there have been seven times in which the annual session has been held in Fall River previous to this year. These were as follows: 1847, Bishop Hedding presiding; 1859, Bishop Ames presiding; 1869, Bishop Clark presiding; 1881, Bishop Jesse T. Peck presiding; 1887, Bishop Charles H. Fowler, presiding; 1896, Bishop Randolf S. Foster, presiding; and 1907, Bishop Henry W. Warren presiding.

Union church, Fall River, which is entertaining the conference this year is the result of a consolidation of two former Methodist Episcopal churches in that city known as the First Church and the St. Paul's church, united to form the present organization in 1917. Both of these former churches had been among the leading ones of this conference and the union was effected most harmoniously, each pooling its interests devotedly and now being recognized as one of the strong and outstanding churches of the New England Southern Conference. The present pastor is Rev. R. A. Colpitts, who came to this pastorate in 1921, having previously filled important pastorates in Portland, Maine; Springfield, Mass.; Baltimore, Maryland, and Somerville, Mass. Under his able leadership a new church edifice is in prospect upon which work is soon to begin. Since the union was effected the spacious edifice formerly used by St. Paul's church has been occupied and the old First church edifice has been sold for the sum of $230,000. The late Rev. John H. Newland was pastor of the First church at the time of the union and it was under his tactful leadership that the First church people entered cheerfully and heartily into the new and larger relationship. It will be remembered by Norwich people that Dr. Newland came from this pastorate in Fall River in 1917 to the pastorate of Trinity (Methodist Episcopal) church of that city where he was greatly beloved as he was also generally wherever he has served.

These two former churches which combined in 1917 to make the present Union church which is entertaining the conference had some interests in common with Methodists in Norwich in that several of their former pastors have been also prominent figures in the history of our Norwich churches. First church numbers among its pastors the following: Thomas Ely, Charles H. Payne, Joseph H. James, Ensign McChesney, William T. Worth, Warren A. Luce, William I. Ward and John H. Newland, all of whim also served pastorates in Norwich. St. Paul's church had among its pastors Emory J. Haynes, Edward M. Taylor, Andrew J. Coultas, Matthias S. Kaufman and Frederick W. Coleman, men who are well remembered in the list of Norwich pastors also. All these men wrought well both in Norwich and in Fall River and some of them still are in active work, some being deceased and others being on the list of honored veterans.

GIVEN COMPENSATION AWARD FOR LA ROCHELLE DEATH

A workmen's compensation award for the death of her son, Raymond, 19, has been given to Mrs. Sarah L. La Rochelle of 66 Myers avenue in her claim against the Uncas Paperboard Co., after a hearing before Commissioner J. J. Donohue. The young man was killed when he lost an arm and a leg in a cutting machine at the paper mill on Jan. 19. His average wages were $24.96 and his mother, who is his dependent under the terms of the workmen's compensation act is awarded a payment of $107.82 forthwith, which is for 9 weeks at $11.98. The same rate of payment is to be made for the balance of the term of 312 weeks. The sum of $100 is also to be paid towards funeral expenses and hospital and medical bills are to be paid by the insurer.

Principal Tirrell Will Speak.

Prof. Henry A. Tirrell, principal of Norwich Free Academy, will address members of the American Association of University Women and their guests in the parlors of the Second Congregational church at New London Thursday evening at 8.15 o'clock. His subject will be Yesterday and Today. Prof. and Mrs. Tirrell will be the dinner guests of Mrs. M. Hadlai Hull prior to the professor's address.

DAMAGE SUIT AGAINST MAN WHO STABBED HIM

For injuries received when he was stabbed by Joseph Pozella of New London on the night of March 4, last, Joseph Corollo of that city has brought suit for damages of $5,000 against Pozella. Attachments on two houses owned by the defendant have been served in the suit by Attorney Lubchansky. The suit is returnable to the county civil superior court on the first Tuesday in April.

Pozella is confined at the county jail in New London serving a sentence of six months imposed by Judge S. Victor Prince in the city court last Thursday, after the accused had been found guilty of aggravated assault. The stabbing occurred at the corner of Woodbridge and Shaw streets early on the evening of March 4 after the two men had indulged in an argument. Corollo was stabbed in the left shoulder, and it was testified to by Dr. Charles M. Kaufman that the wound was a very serious one. Until about a week ago Corollo was confined to the hospital. In his bill of particulars Corollo alleges that the injuries he received will result in permanent impairment of his health.

SWITCHMAN'S SUIT IS SETTLED WITHOUT TRIAL

Scheduled to be started before Judge Allyn L. Brown in the superior court at New London Tuesday morning, the $50,000 damage suit brought by Michael McGrail of that city against the New Haven and Central Vermont railroads and settled to the satisfaction of both parties. No information was given out as to the terms of the settlement but it is reported that the figure was in the vicinity of $15,000.

McGrail on Aug 2, 1923, was employed as a switchman by the New Haven road in the New London railroad yards, and while so employed was struck by a Central Vermont train which backed up suddenly on him. He was thrown under the wheels and the lower portion of one leg was severed. He is now incapacitated to some extent and claimed, in his bill of particulars that he is unable to do the work to which he is fitted and accustomed to doing.

Since the accident various attempts had been made at a settlement by the defendant companies but until Tuesday morning all overtures had been refused by McGrail.

WORKMEN'S COMPENSATION FOR INJURY TO HER EYE

Mrs. Daisy Gramolini of 26 East street, New London, who had a bobbin hit her in the eye, Aug. 1, 1924, while she was employed at the Edward Bloom Co., mill, has been given a workmen's compensation award by Commissioner J. J. Donohue. She is to be paid $7.47 per week for the period from Aug. 2 to Nov. 1, 1924 and medical bills are also to be paid. She is still under treatment by a New London eye specialist and an operation for cataract will be necessary in the future. This is to be paid for by the insurer and she will also be paid at the rate of $7.47 per week during the period of disability at that time.

Two Calls For Firemen

The fire department answered two telephone calls Tuesday. The first call came in at 12:45 o'clock for a grass fire on the property of Peter Desjardin on the New London turnpike. The second call came in at 1:49 o'clock for a fire in a pile of railroad ties on North Main St.

Some men are born with black eyes and some have to fight for them.

MILL WORKER COMPENSATED FOR EYE INJURY

A workmen's compensation award that decides that Walter Kuracs of 34 White street, an employe of Palmer Bros at the Montville mill, has suffered a loss of 40 per cent. of loss of use of his right eye has been made by Commissioner J. J. Donohue. The claimant is to be paid $9.63 for 41.6 weeks in compensation. Medical and surgical expenses and travel expenses to see a specialist in Hartford have already been paid by the insurer.

Kuracs had a needle pierce his eye while he was at work on Feb. 27, 1923.

PAYMENT DIRECTED IN COMPENSATION SETTLEMENT

The sum of $122.85, which is compensation for seven weeks at $17.55, is to be paid forthwith to Orsi Fulgenzio, 120 Poquonoc road, Groton, an employe of McGann Bros., of New Haven, in a workmen's compensation settlement, according to an award by Commissioner J. J. Donohue. Medical and hospital bills are also to be paid by the employers.

Fulgenzio was injured by being struck in the abdomen by a jack hammer while at work and had to go to the hospital for an operation.

A bad boy seldom gets his badness from his father, the old man generally hangs on to all he has.

ELKS WILL CELEBRATE BY BURNING MORTGAGE

Payment of the last $2,000 to pay off the mortgage on the Elks home having been made in the last few months, plans are now under way to have a grand celebration in the burning of the mortgage which will signalize the owning of the home free from debt.

Norwich lodge, No. 430, bought the home property on Main street, the old Osgood residence, and formally opened it in April, 1911. Three years later an addition, which included the handsome lodge room which is unique in rooms of its kind, was built and a mortgage of $30,000 was assumed. This has been paid off gradually until it is now completely wiped out.

A committee in charge of the mortgage burning celebration has been appointed consisting of J. F. Williams, chairman, John H. Wilson, James Purdon, Felix P. Callahan, George Madden, James Osten and John P. Corcoran.

The date is expected to be April 15 and the committee has already engaged Swahn's band of 35 pieces to furnish the music for their monster street parade, while other things on the program for the day are fitting services for the burning of the mortgage, a cabaret show direct from New York, social session, banquet, and other entertainment, so that the affair will go down in lodge history as one of the biggest ceremonies of its kind ever held in Norwich. Plenty of pep and action will hold on that day, which falls on a Wednesday. The streets will be gaily decorated and will be lined with red fire.

Dignitaries from other Elks lodges, invited guests, and speakers of note will be present on this occasion.

WOMAN SUES FOR DAMAGES OF $15,000

Suit for $15,000 damages against Owen C. Wolfe of New London has been brought in the superior court by Gladys E. Palmer, a minor of Hopkinton R. I., through her father, Albert E. Palmer because of injuries received by the plaintiff when she was hit and knocked down in Hopkinton by an automobile driven by Mr. Wolfe.

The accident happened about 7 o'clock in the morning when the young woman was crossing the street at the intersection of Main and High streets. It is alleged in the complaint that Wolfe was operating his machine recklessly and at high speed, and that the injuries received by the young woman consisted of concussion of the brain, head cut, eyes bruised and lacerated, sight permanently impaired, teeth broken, arms bruised and lacerated, nose and neck cut, right leg injured, shoulders bruised and wrenched. As a consequence she has lost her wages as weaver at which occupation she was employed and it is alleged that her ability to work has been permanently impaired.

The suit is returnable to the superior court in April.

ONE MOTORIST FINED ANOTHER DISCHARGED

In the city court Tuesday morning the case of failure to grant the right of way against Charles Turner of No. 93 Church street, Hartford; was presented before Judge Arthur F. Libby. Mr. Turner pleaded not guilty and was discharged by the court for lack of sufficient evidence. Mr. Turner was held by the police following an automobile accident on West Main street near Thames square early Monday evening. His Ford coupe and a Chevrolet delivery car driven by David Goldberg of Voluntown collided while Mr. Turner was passing the Chevrolet.

Salvatore Perrone of this city was fined $25 and costs on a charge of driving his automobile past a standing trolley car that was discharging passengers. Perrone entered a plea of not guilty. Perrone's bill amounted to $36.94.

Two local men were each fined $5 and costs on intoxication charges.

CALLS SENATOR BINGHAM "FIND" IN THE SENATE

Labeling Senator Bingham one of the "finds" of the senate, and Senator George H. Moses of New Hampshire as "the cleverest man in the Senate in the chair," The Washington Times says:

"Senator Bingham is being hailed as one of the 'finds' of the brief, but exciting, special session of the senate, now adjourned, a presiding officer, who is said to be as good as Senator George H. Moses, now president pro tem, always heralded as the cleverest man in the senate in the chair.

"When Senator Moses, the vice president's official 'relief,' was needed on the floor in the thick of the hostilities of the last few days, Senator Bingham was drafted into service as lieutenant-governor of Connecticut, during which he presided over the Connecticut state senate, had made him an accomplished parliamentarian, with a native wit and a sense of strategy invaluable in such a position."

TESTIMONY IN CHAPMAN TRIAL WILL BEGIN TODAY

State's First Witness Will Take Stand Following the Selection of the Twelfth Juror Today—Panel Was Exhausted When Eleventh Juror Was Chosen Yesterday—Defense is Guarding Against a Farmer-Dominated Jury—Accused Posed For Newspaper Photographers and Motion Motion Picture Camera Operators—Persistent Newspaper Photographer Was Locked Up for Contempt of Court.

Hartford, March 25—Connecticut's case against Gerald Chapman, spectacular mail looter and jail breaker, now on trial for his life for the murder of Patrolman James J. Skelly of New Britain, will begin to go into the record tomorrow.

It was expected that the twelfth juror would be chosen some time in the morning and the way clearing for the introduction of the state's first witnesses at the opening of the afternoon session. Six jurors were chosen during the second of the trial, which, [illegible] five selected on Tuesday, the jury box still one man shy. A number of talesmen, called for today, went through with the twelfth juror, still [illegible] As a result, superior Judge [illegible] ordered down an additional forty men to be in court [illegible]

The jury-selecting tedium of today's [illegible] was shattered on a number of occasions, notably when Judge Jennings ordered a newspaper photographer incarcerted for contempt of court and again when Chapman grasped the opportunity to pose for newspaper photographers and motion picture camera [illegible]

Chapman More Animated.

Chapman seemed a bit more animated today than he appeared on the opening day of the trial. While still maintaining his aloof air, seemingly indifferent to the heavily armed guards who surrounded him, and now and then glancing at the curious court audience, he talked more frequently and at longer intervals with his counsel. He abandoned, somewhat the stoic attitude that he had maintained throughout the hearing Tuesday and a smile was seen on his face on more than one occasion. He toyed with a pencil the greater part of the day, his only gesture of nervousness.

The prisoner continued to take an active part in every decision made by his attorneys. He scanned carefully each veniran examined, and none was accepted by a juror until he had been on affirmative nod to questions from his chief lawyer, Frederick J. [illegible]

With the arrival of the luncheon recess the horde of photographers, here before the trial in tireless, though futile efforts to snap the prisoner, had succeeded in gaining the consent of all concerned to photograph Chapman. This matter of gaining consent was no little affair in itself, for the judge, the prosecution, the defense, the counties, Chapman's lawyers and Chapman himself all had to decide to yield. Heretofore the cool and indifferent prisoner had refused his consent, but the persuasive and persistent camera men won it [illegible] So they set up their battery of [illegible] cameras in a court ante room and Chapman, unmanacled, [illegible] consented to pose with his counsel, Cowett and his chief assistant, [illegible] O. Freedman, on either side [illegible] He was surprisingly docile, [illegible] seen affable about it. With unusual patience he raised and lowered his head, engaged in seeming animated conversation, smiled broadly or [illegible] and showed different views of [illegible] straight face, all at the solicitation of the clicking photographers.

[illegible] "still" photographers finished, [illegible] was taken over by the movie men [illegible] put him through the paces [illegible] just supplied for their predecessors. He was gamin—and genial. He was not all the notorious gunman, the aloof and haughty superman of [illegible] who nonchalantly broke jail [illegible] "big jobs" and refused to [illegible] truck with either crook chasers [illegible] newspapermen. He was a nicely [illegible] and engaging young man who might have been a popular man-about-town at a socirce.

But there was one photographer, [illegible] Farnum, of the staff of the Springfield, Mass., Republican, who was not present. For it was he who had been relegated an hour before to the court house basement cell for having attempted to do the very thing his fellow picture takers were now doing. Judge Jennings' roving eye had spotted on Farnum as he attempted to steal a court room snapshot of Chapman seated at his counsel's table. The court had immediately stopped proceedings to relieve Farnum of his films and camera and send the hapless photographer to the basement cell.

It later developed, however, that Farnum's luck hadn't deserted him. At the lunch hour Chapman had been put in the same cell with the photographer.

Sympathized With Photographer.

"Hard luck for me," wailed Farnum to Chapman, who listened sympathetically. "Here's what I been trying for all the time, and they've got me behind the bars. I'll mine it." He was referring to the forthcoming posing party, of which the prisoner had told him.

"Don't worry," Chapman soothed the suffering photographer. "One of the other boys will take care of you."

And thats what happened. Another photographer took two extra plates of Chapman patiently posing bandit and gave them to Farnum who later was released by Judge Jennings with a warning and banishment from the court room.

Incidentally, Farnum earned the unique distinction of gaining that one exclusive interview with Chapman that has been had by a newspaper man since his arrest in Muncie, Ind., last January. After Chapman was returned to the basement cell, following his posing ordeal, he and Farnum, their prison lunch finished, paced up and down the floor together.

But Farnum, in his excitement and perturbation, missed his opportunity. His news "sense" didn't intervene, and his only conversation with the man who so long had been unsuccessfully "chased" for interviews consisted of an exchange of rather banal remarks on current topics.

Chapman and his counsel, through careful picking, apparently have won their fight against a farmer-dominated jury. The eleven already selected include only two farmers. The list, in the order of their selection, follows:

Fred W. Vlets, farmer, of East Granby.

Thomas S. Rourke, insurance, Farmington.

A. W. Burrows, bookkeeper, Bloomfield.

Lawrence Klein, salesman, Enfield.

Walter S. Case, general storekeeper, Canton.

Emerson E. Olcott, retired business man, Glastonbury.

Charles H. Isbleb, farmer, Marlborough.

George G. Hubbard, insurance, Bloomfield.

Garvan S. Fallow, retired merchant, Wethersfield.

William J. Crockett, engineer, Manchester.

Arthur E. Bowers, former magazine advertising manager, Manchester.

Groehl said tonight he had received letters from three residents of New Britain declaring their willingness to testify for the defense in the event Patrolman Albert Atwater, who was Skelly's companion the morning he was murdered, testified that Chapman was the man he had seen fire at Skelly.

According to the writers, Atwater told them a short time after the shooting that he had not seen the murder, having jumped into hiding as the bandit opened fire on Skelly. Atwater was reported to have later declared that he had seen the murderer and that he knew him to be Chapman.

The Chapman jury will be kept in the custody of the sheriff, Judge Jennings declared when court was adjourned today. When the twelfth man has been selected, the jurors will be taken to a local hotel when not in the court room.

FISHING VESSEL LOST WITH CAPTAIN AND CREW

Crisfield, Md., March 25—Captain Carroll Marshall and all members of the crew of the fishing vessel Southland were drowned early today when their craft collided with the three masted schooner Lorena Clayton off the Fox Island buoy in Tangier Sound.

The Southland was almost completely demolished. Then raft carried a crew of three or four men. No bodies have been recovered and the exact number who met death or their identity will not be known until the fishing fleet returns tomorrow and a check up is made.

Heavy seas prevented Captain John Conoway, and the crew of the Lorena Clayton from effecting a rescue in the darknes or respond to cries of "help" as the Southland's crew was thrown into the water. The schooner was anchored and with approach of dawn a lone body was discernable lying atop a mass of wreckage. The body rolled into the water and sank before it could be recovered.

FRANCE TO CONSIDER GERMAN SECURITY OFFER

Paris, March 25—The French ambassador to Great Britain, M. De Fleurian, is going back to London tonight with instructions to co-operate in any way possible with Austen Chamberlain and to ascertain whether as the British secretary for foreign affairs put it in the House of Commons yesterday, Germany's security offer is "sincere and honest."

Skepticism prevails on that point in French official circles, where it is pointed out that France's experience with the German republic, as well as with the empire, has been such that specifications of the guarantees will be required before the French can rely on the Reich's signature.

It is admitted, however, that Mr. Chamberlain has taken the lead in the security discussion and that France must now give full consideration to the German offer.

MRS. STILLMAN VISITS FRIEND OF HER SON IN MILWAUKEE

Milwaukee, Wis., March 25—Mrs. Fitt Potter Stillman, wife of James A. Stillman of New York, said today she had come to Milwaukee to visit a friend of her son James, and not to start divorce proceedings against her husband. The friend of her son is Fowler McCormick, son of Harold McCormick of the International Harvester company.

The young man is employed at the Milwaukee branks of his father's plant in the foundry where he handles pig iron for ten hours a day.

Mrs. Stillman, who is McCormick's godmother, said she plans to remain here several days.

N. Y. ASSEMBLY VOTES TO REDUCE STATE INCOME TAX

Albany, N. Y., March 25.—After a brief discussion the assembly tonight unanimously passed the bill of Assemblyman Phelps Phelps, republican, of New York, providing for a 25 per cent reduction in the state income tax this year, as recommended by Governor Smith.

CABLED PARAGRAPHS

Prince of Wales Bet on Winner

London, March 25—The Prince of Wales, who is rushing around London arranging for the start of his South African and South American tour on Saturday, missing Tapin's victory in the Lincoln Handicap today. But he laid his bet on a horse to place last week, knowing it would be impossible for him to see the race.

DEFENSE CLOSES! N TEAPOT DOME CASE

Cheyenne, March 25—Firing its last gun point-blank at the legal armada of the government in the Teapot Dome lease annulment suit, the defense—Harry F. Sinclair and the Mammoth Oil company—closed its case today with the arguments of Martin W. Littleton, and Truman H. Newberry, attorneys.

Mr. Littleton's argument centered on the contention of the government that if the terms of the lease were enforced in th matter of exchanging crude oil for fuel oil in storage tanks, it would be illegal because it would have subverted the power of Congress in its right to make appropriations for the navy. He further attacked the government's argument that the exchange of crude oil by the navy for fuel oil constituted a sale and that therefore, the proceedings of such sales, should, according to law, go into the treasury of the United States.

Mr. Littleton stressed a second point on the principle of law which requires the presumption of good faith in all transactions. He maintained that the court, in order to sustain the government's charge that bonds from Sinclair eventually found their way into the hands of former Secretary of the Interior, Albert B. Fall, would have to "assume" a connection between Fall and the Continental Trading company, and then "infer" that any bonds Fall may have received, which had been held at one time by Sinclair, had some wrongful connection with the leasing of Teapot Dome.

Mr. Littleton argued that the intent of Congress in the act of June 4, 1920, was to direct exploitation of the naval reserves under the supervision of the Secretary of the Navy and that the act conferred upon that cabinet official the broadest of powers. He declared that the government was basing its whole effort to "pull down" the contract because of the provision in the lease permitting the exchange of crude oil for fuel oil in storage.

The case will end tomorrow with the presentation by Owen J. Roberts, of government counsel, of his final argument for the government.

REMAINS OF PREHISTORIC MASTODON UNEARTHED

New York, March 25—The unromantic shovels of workmen today dug up the remains of a pre-historic Mastodon here. It was the second time within a quarter-century that such fossil remains had been unearthed on Manhattan Island.

The jawbone two feet long, and two accompanying bone fragments, found fifteen feet down by excavators for a modern apartment building in Dyckman street, were recognized by experts of the American Museum of Natural History as relics of a giant Mastodon, buried some 10,000 years ago.

Twenty-five years ago a fossolized Mastodon tusk was recovered during the digging of the present Harlem ship canal.

Today's discovery was reported in a far better state of preservation and was therefore scinetifically more valuable. Both finds are in permanent possession of the museum.

It was the general opinion of scientists that the primordial visitor was another of a species known to have once ranged the shores of the Hudson river. Many of their bones have been unearthed at various points along the riverbed, principally up-river about Newburgh.

Workmen on the Dyckman street foundation turned up the bones a day or so ago, and though nothing much about it. One bone resembled a tooth, six inches long, and they showed it to a milkman, who went off with it. A passerby attracted by the bones, telephoned to the museum; Dr. C. C. Mook responded, and after one look pronounced their authenticity.

BIRTH CONTROL PREDICTIONS BY MRS. MARGARET SANGER

New York, March 25—Mrs. Margaret Sanger, president of the American Birth Control League, predicted tonight at the opening of the 6-day international neo-malthusian and birth control conference, that enlightened physicians, backed by an informed and aroused public opinion, will someday end the situation which "still denies legal endorsement and public aid to birth control, the most important social movement of modern times."

Mrs. Sanger referred to America and France as the only countries where the dissemination of birth control information is illegal. She declared the movement has "definitely emerged from the atmosphere of radicalism which characterized its early days." She predicted that there will ze no police interference with the present conference such as occurred during the first American birth control conferene here in November, 1921.

PETITION IN MASSACHUSETTS FOR BABY VOLSTEAD ACT

Boston, March 24—A petition for a 3,000,000 state tax to enforce the so-called baby Volstead act as the only way to make the people take the law seriously was argued before the joint ways and meqns committee of the state legislature today.

Charles B. Hatfield, the petitioner, declared that "prohibition is the greatest farce ever placed on the statute books of the commonwealth" but as the baby Volstead act is in law the legislature should take steps to back it. His bill would "show the people you mean business," he said. No action was taken.

REDUCING CIRCULATION OF PAPER MONEY IN ITALY

Rome, March 25—A bonfire was made this afternoon of 100,000 lire bank notes. The fire was started in the presence of Signore de Stefani, minister of finance, and other officials, as the inauguration of the policy of the government to reduce the circulation of paper money.

Other banks notes amounting to nearly 1,000,000,000 lire will be burned within two months.

"Lone Wolf" Burglar To Plead Insanity

Captured in Boston and Placed Under Observation of Dep't of Mental Diseases.

Boston, March 25—The "lone wolf," a mysterious burglar who for weeks, preyed on women apartment dwellers in the Back Bay district, vanished from his accustomed haunts today and tonight James E. Walters, otherwise known as Frank Stevens, who admitted that he had enacted the role, was under observation at the Charles Street jail by physicians of the State Department of Mental Diseases. Walters, who was traced to a house in South Boston last night and arrested early today, pleaded not guilty to indictments of burglary and carrying weapons and indicated that he would offer insanity as his defense. Judge Bishop in superior court fixed bail at $90,000.

The identity of the "lone wolf" became known through finger prints left on a bottle in the apartment on one of his victims, and on a mirro at another place where he boastfully wrote "I am the Lone Wolf." Walters had served in the navy during the war and the naval records assisted in the identification. Search was carried on in many parts of the country for the former sailor and colliers arriving at several New England ports from Norfolk, Va., were met by police following reports that he was a member of the navy. A woman who recognized the former sailor from a photograph published in a newspaper directed the search yesterday to the South Boston house.

According to the police, who made the arrest, Walters, who had been in bed, made an attempt to reach a drawer in which was a loaded revolver. A second similar weapon was found in the place. Walters said he had moved to South Boston only three days ago. He was married in January to Irene G. Allen of Framingham.

When Walters was arraigned, District Attorney Thomas C. O'Brien moved for an immediate trial, but counsel for the prisoner asked that Walters be committed to the Physocophatic Hospital for observation as to his mental condition. He said that his client would not contest the charges against him but would plead insanity.

The court was told that Walters had been disabled at Brest during the war when a mine sweeper on which he served exploded. The attorney also said that Walters had been adjudged insane at Boise, Idaho, several years ago, and that later he had been sentenced to three months imprisonment at Seattle, Wash., on a charge of breaking and entering. Walters, who is 29 years old, gave his home address at Richmond, Va., and his occupation as marine engineer.

The "lone wolf" first engaged the attention of the Boston police January 8, when he robbed the apartment of a young woman whom he lashed to a bed. He remained most of the night in the apartment and left his victim bound when he departed. A series of apartment robberies followed, and the burglar in each case entering the place while the tenants were absent and concealing himself until the moment favored his plans. The dread of the "lone wolf" in a district inhabited largely by business women and college girls became so great that a large force of plain clothes police was assigned to duty there. Walter was identified after his arrest by several women who had been robbed by the "lone wolf."

BORAH FAVORS ARMS LIMITATION CONFERENCE

Washington, March 25.—Chairman Borah, of the senate foreign relations committee, declared today after a conference with President Coolidge that he favored calling a second arms limitation conference but doubted that it would be successful.

He said that he thought it was a good plan to make a move toward disarmament, although in his opinion disarmament could not be obtained organized public opinion, which he did not believe now existed in Europe.

Russia holds the key to world disarmament, he asserted, and Russia could not be expected to enter into an arms limitation agreement without diplomatic recognition by this country. France also constitutes a stumbling block to satisfactory disarmament, he declared, and will continue to do so as long as she insisted on her "security."

He said h ewould support President Coolidge in his efforts to get the foreign powers interested in the conference, which as contemplated would take place some time in the fall and would be limited to consideration of naval armaments.

The same nations that participated in the last conference are expected to be invited to be represented.

TO ROUND UP CATS ON LOWER MANHATTAN

New York, March 25—Any cat venturing into Lower Manhattan from Liberty street to the Battery next Saturday will do so at its own risk. The Bowling Green Neighborhood association on that day will hold its annual round-up of vagrant and stray felines in the interest of public health.

Boys and girls of the district will receive a free ticket to an entertainment for every ownerless Tabby bought in alive and unharmed.

An unofficial census places the stray cat population of this, better known as the Wall street district, as high as 1,500.

LILLIAN GISH CHEWS CARROTS FOR COMPLEXION

New York, March 25—Lillian Gish did not munch carrots in federal court today. The film actres disappointed a throng of stenographers who jammed the tiny court room where the suit of Charles H. Duell, motion picture producer, seeking to restrain Miss Gish from producing pictures for others is being heard.

Taking advantage of a lull in the proceedings, Miss Gish, however, explained to newspapermen that she chewed carrots because of their value as "for for the complexion," and to allay her nervousness in the court room.

Shepherd Denied Release On Bail

Charged With Murder of Foster Son, to Obtain Latter's Million Dollar Estate.

Chicago, March 25—Release from jail on bail today was denied William D. Shepherd, charged with the murder of William N. McClintock, his foster son, to gain the boy's million dollar estate.

"The most I can hold out for this defendant," said Chief Justice Jacob Hopkin, of the criminal court, in rendering the decision, "is speedy trial if he wishes it." The judge made it clear he was ruling only on the question of fact as to whether proof of guilt was evident or presumption great.

"If Faiman's testimony is true," said Judge Hopkins, referring to the statements of C. C. Faiman, also under indictment in connection with the death of Billy McClintock, "the defendant and Faiman entered into a conspiracy diabolically conceived and cruelly executed.

"If Faiman's testimony is untrue," he continued, "the defendant is the victim of a monstrous injustice, enmeshed in a net of coincidences, and circumstances that are unprecedented and painful to contemplate."

"This is a motion" the judge began, "to fix bail in a murder case. The grand jury has returned an indictment charging this defendant and one other person with murder. According to its rights under the law, he has been permitted to offer evidence why he should be granted bail.

"This is either a murder case or it is nothing. By no process could it degenerate into a manslaughter case. It would be the duty of the trial court to set aside a verdict of manslaughter as not in consonance with the evidence, as the evidence now shows itself to be."

The judge delivered his decision within a few minutes after W. S. Stewart, for the defense, had closed a reply to what he termed a "dangerous argument," of State's Attorney Robert E. Crowe.

"It would be more dangerous," said Mr. Stewart, "if it were addressed to a jury."

"A case," Mr. Crowe had said, "such as has been presented here without any defense or contradiction would in my judgment, if it was submitted to ewelve men in a jury box, result in a death verdict in just the time it would take the jurors to sign the verdict."

WINS DISTINGUISHED CITIZENSHIP AWARD

Philadelphia, March 25—Dr. Charles Curtis Harrison, President of the University Museum, Sforme Provost of the University of Pennsylvania, educator and philanthropist, was the recipient tonight of the Philadelphia award, created by Edward Bok to be presented annually for distinguished citizenship. The prize includes a check for $10,000, a gold medal and an illuminated scroll to testify to the achievement by the winner of some service to advance the interest of the city.

The award is confered upon the man or woman living in Philadelphia, its suburbs or vicinity, who, in the judgment of the board of trustees of the award, "shall in the past year have performed or brought to its culmination an act, or contributed a service calculated to advance the best and largest interests of Philadelphia."

EFFORT IN WISCONSIN TO CHANGE SOME "DRY" LAWS

Madison, Wis., March 25—A Senate committee today recommended for passage the bill changing the Severson state dry law to permit the making of wine and bear in homes for private consumption.

State Senator Ben Gettleman and James Barker told the committee yesterday that they were making wine in their homes. The Volstead act permits the making of wine and beer for home consumption. Senator Gettleman asserted. Both senators said they and their wifes made wine for their own use, Senator Barker adding that his had "a kick in it."

OBITUARY.

Warner M. Leeds.

New York, March 25.—Warner M. Leeds, vice president of the Leeds tinplate interests until ill health forced his retirement from business in 1906, died today of tuberculosis at his home here. He was 57 years old and had been ill for 20 years.

A 12-year-old daughter, Joy Louise Leeds, adopted from the Foundlings' Ward at Bellevue, will inherit most of Mr. Leed's fortune, estimated in the millions. She also inherited the income from a $2,000,000 trust fund, plus $250,000 and a fortune in jewelry from Mrs. Leeds, who in February, 1923, leaped to death from a window of the home where Mr. Leeds died today.

Mr. Leeds was born at Richmond, Ind., of Quaker parents, and was graduated at the University of Minnesota. He started in business as superintendent of a tinplate factory at Elwood, Ind., and notwithstanding the handicap of poor health, even in youth, rose to a commanding position in the tinplate industry.

Mr. and Mrs. Leeds were childless. Besides the girl, Joy, they had adopted a boy named David, who died in 1918.

A private funeral service will be conducted at the Leeds home Friday morning. Burial will be at Woodlawn cemetery.

EXPORT NATIONS CONTEST FOR OVERSEAS MARKETS

Facts Presented by Dr. Julius Klean, Director of the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce—American Exporting Manufacturers Are Puzzled by Tightening of Competition—in 1924 the United States Nearly Doubled Its Strength in the Leading South American Markets.

New York, March 25.—The growing race between great export nations for honors in the leading overseas markets features the present international trade situation, Dr. Julius Klein, director of the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce, department of commerce, told the American Export Manufacturers association today.

Doubts have increased among American exporting manufacturers as to where they stand in this tightening competition, said Dr. Klein. In some instances, thanks to propaganda of foreign competitors, it had become hysteria, he said.

The effect had been to offset some of the benefits of an increased foreign trade during 1924, which Dr. Klein figures was $430,000,000 or over 10 per cent above the 1923 figure.

Dr. Klein found the situation far from discouraging, for the United States nearly doubles its strength in the leading South American markets. In 1923 first place was shared with the United Kingdom in exports to the three most important South American countries, save for a slight advantage in British favor in the Argentine. In 1913 America trailed both Great Britain and Germany.

In the far east, the United States has outstripped both rivals in Japan and China, and in India supposedly impregnable British stronghold the flow of American-made goods has increased from 2 1-2 to nearly 6 per cent of the total imports there said Dr. Klein.

He saw great promise in American relations with these economically "new" countries in the amazing growth of purchases of their raw materials, which amounted in 1924 to $2,112,000,000—treble the figures of the five pre-war years.

WOODLOCK RECEIVES A RECESS APPOINTMENT

Washington, March 25.—Despite the senate's failure to confirm his nomination, President Coolidge today appointed Thomas F. Woodlock of New York, to succeed Mark W. Potter, resigned, as a member of the interstate commerce commission.

Immediately there were indications of a determined fight in the next session of congress to prevent confirmation. Senators Harris of Georgia, and Fletcher of Florida, who with other democrats have insisted that the south is entitled to representation on the commission, announced they would oppose favorable action, and predicted there would be a formidable array against Mr. Woodlock.

Some of the presidents's advisers have expressed the opinion that while there is strong opposition to Mr. Woodlock chiefly on geographical grounds, administration forces would be able to get favorable committee action when the nomination is resubmitted, paving the way for confirmation.

Mr. Woodlock, who is a writer on financial subjects, can take over his new duties immediately, but there is a difference of opinion as to whether he can draw salary until senate confirmation is obtained. In some quarters the opinion is held that, inasmuch as the vacancy occurred while the senate was in session, confirmation is necessary before salary can be paid. Other officials advance the view that Mr. Woodlock is eligible for pay during the congressional recess, as the senate took no action on the nomination. If the nomination had been rejected, it was held, pay would be withheld.

SUMMARY OF YESTERDAY'S EVENTS IN WASHINGTON

President Coolidge and Chairman Borah, of the senate foreign relations committee discussed the project of a new arms conference.

Sixteen members asked the federal trade commission for information as to trade combinations being formed abroad by American interests.

American diplomatic representatives were asked for data on traffic in arms which might be helpful in the forthcoming conference dealing with the subject.

HEAD OF NOROTON HOME REQUESTED INVESTIGATION

Norwalk, March 25—That the investigation into conditions at the Fitch Soldiers Home in Noroton was made at the request of Col. Henry J. Seeley, head of the home, was learned this morning. Colonel Seeley went before Governor John H. Trumbull, together with Ira R. Wildman, department commander of the G. A. R., in Connecticut, with the result that Charles E. Hoyt, of Norwalk, Col. Harvey P. Bissell, of Ridgefield and Colonel Ernest L. Isbell, of Hartford, a member of the State police commission, were appointed as a committee of special investigators.

The probe into conditions at the home will deal with relations among the inmates and several alleged leaks in financial matters, it was learned today. A committee of three appointed by the governor, has already held several sessions and will make its report within a short time.

BURNED HOLES IN HER BROTHER'S BODY

Oroville, Cal., March 25.—District Attorney Edgar Rothe announced today he had obtained a confession from Mrs. Edwards Rhodes, sister of R. Sharlow, cult branding victim, that she burned holes into her brother's body with a red-hot poker. She said it was the carrying out of the rite of their religious cult.

Sharlow was a willing sacrifice, according to other evidence the district attorney obtainew.

It developed today that an insurance agent was ready to pay $2,000 to Sharlow's widow. The manner and cause of death according to the terms of the policy, do not affect its legality.

BREAK IN STOCK MARKET HAS BEEN CHECKED

New York, March 25—The re-action in stock prices which has been under way, with few interruptions, for the last three weeks and has cancelled about half of the extreme gains recorder since Election day was checked, at least temporarily, today when prices rallied 1 to 5 points on the appearance of strong buying support.

There was nothing in the day's news to account for the complete reversal of form but the swiftness of the rebound in many issues indicated that the decline, like the advance which preceded it, had been overdone.

Despite the strong opening tone, bear traders did not give up their efforts to force a renewal of general liquidation. A heavy selling attack was launched against Union Pacific, which was depressed to a new low for the year at 135 3-8. This selling temporarily halted the advance in other quarters and brought about moderate recessions from the early high marks but the market steadied and withstood further selling attacks, rallying briskly under the leadership of the standard industrials in the final hour.

U. S. Cast Iron pipe soared, ten points to 189 and then fell back to 185. Net gains of four points or more were recorded by American Agricultural chemical preferred, Air reduction American express, Century Ribbon mills, Interborough Rapid transit Loose Wiles buscuit, Maxwell motors B. Nash motors, National lead, Otis elevator and Savage arms American, American car and foundry, American locomotive, Baldwin, Dupont, Mack trucks, Maxwell motors, A. U. S. Industrial alcohol, American tobacco, magneto, General leather preferred Gulf States steel, Remington typewriter, Schulte stores and U. S. Realty were among the many issues to close at net gains of three points or more. U. S. steel common advanced two points to 119 1-4, closing just below the top.

Rails failed to participate in the advance as extensively as the industrials, because of the relatively poor nature of some of the February earnings reports now being published.

MRS. THAYER TERMED "A RELUCTANT WITNESS"

St. Louis, Mo., March 25—During the examination of Mrs. Grace Thayer this afternoon in the congressional investigation of Judge G. W. English, Representative Earl C. Michener, of Michigan, and Chairman William D. Boies, of Iowa, clashed when Mr Michener termed Mrs. Thayer a "reluctant, unfair witness."

"As chairman of this committee, I may say I wish you would reserve your argument until we get on the floor of the house," said Mr. Boies.

"I was merely speaking for myself as a member of the committee and in answer to a question asked me," retorted Representative Michener.

Representative Royal J. Weller, of New York, backed up Mr. Michener in his stand.

Mrs. Thayer said that she had stated she was afraid to testify and her testimony throughout was marked by hesitancy.

HEARING ON PETITION OF BOSTON WOOL INTERESTS

Portland, Oregon, March 25—Resuming for the third day the hearing on the petition of Boston wool interests for joint through rates on wool from interior points in the Pacific northwest to Boston, J. B. Campbell, interstate commerce commissioner, today heard testimony of Donald McLean of Twin Falls, Idaho; J. F. Sears of Yakima, Washington, and H. W. Pitckcet of Salt Lake City.

McLean corroborated testimony given Monday by James A. Hooper, who represented the National Wool Growers' association and the Utah Wool growers. Sears, who represented a livestock loan organization, said he would oppose any rate adjustment that would prove harmful to the wool warehouses and manufacturing interests of Portland.

WHIPPING POST IS ABOLISHED IN DELAWARE

Dovel, Del., March 25.—Delaware legislators today as in former years, voted almost unanimously in favor of retiring the whipping post as punishment for certain classes of crimes. There was only one vote in favor of its abolition against 30 for its retention.

HIGH PRICES AFFECTING THE SHOE INDUSTRY

Gardiner, Me., March 25—Notices were posted in the shoe factory of the R. P. Hazard company that until further notice operations were limited to the first four days days of the week. A high leather market and refusal of buyers to pay higher prices were given as causes for the curtailment. The factory, when running to capacity has about 1,000 employes.

WILLIMANTIC

Outranking even the strike situation in public interest for the past few days, although its importance is not of the same magnitude, is the correspondence between Alderman James J. Lee and Acting Mayor George W. Hickey, which first came to the public eye three days ago. Alderman Lee addressed a letter to the acting mayor and the city fathers on Monday, in which he maintained that it had become the duty of the common council to attempt to settle the strike at the American Thread mills by calling a conference of the strikers' committee, the American Thread officials and any other party directly interested. The suggestion was turned down by the members of the common council and a letter to that effect was returned Tuesday to Alderman Lee. A reply to this rejection was made Wednesday in an open letter which read in part, "If the members believe that the matter of the strike did not come within their jurisdiction I would call your attention to the action of other cities wherein a strike of this type has occurred within the past ten years. In many of these cases the city government, headed by the mayor, often succeeded in bringing about a settlement. The existing conditions in this city are this: the strike situation gone to a deadlock; the strikers' committee on record as being in favor of a conference; no word whatsoever coming from the confines of the American Thread company; many of our desirable citizens leaving town to seek employment in other cities where American corporations are more liberal and more decent; these people will not return to Willimantic; a strike that has shown the calibre of highly intelligent mill operatives, with a degree of American loyalty that has been a marvel to gaze upon, especially to those who went forth upon the battlefields and fought to maintain American traditions and American principles; a strike that promises to deteriorate the city of Willimantic." In continuation the message states, "If the operatives lose this strike, the city of Willimantic will lose, the business men will lose, the city itself will not be the desirable place it has been in which to live."

The strike continued Wednesday without incident. At the mass meeting held in the morning, Edward F. Callahan, an organizer of the United Textile Workers of America, again spoke relative to the principles of unions and the great need for operatives to maintain their union even under the best of working conditions. He stated that manufacturers announced wage cuts only when the unions in their plants had decayed. He believed that if the operatives had been unionized as they are today the wage cut imposed January 12 would never have gone into effect. Miss Mary Kelleher presided at the meeting and announced that Saturday morning Hon. Horace Reivers of Manchester, N. H., would be the speaker at the mass meeting. The workers will be addressed in both French and English. Monday morning the speaker will be State Senator John Powers of Pawtucket, R. I., a member of the national council of the United Textile Workers. Activities continued at Labor Union hall during the day.

William Simons, representative of The Daily Worker, a communist publication printed in Chicago, is occupying rooms on Center street during his stay in this city.

Rev. F. C. Williams, explained the five-day program for this year's Chautauqua and Judge George E. Beckwith spoke on the benefits of such programs at the meeting of the Willimantic Exchange club Wednesday noon. The president, Dr. George W. Wilcox was in charge. Rev. Mr. Williams pointed out that a deficit has been incurred in past years by the seven-day program and this year it is planned to make Chautauqua self-supporting by programs on five days. He explained further that from many artists, lecturers, etc., to appear in the five-day program has appeared in seven. The Chautauqua will virtually be of six days' duration as special services are arranged for Sunday. The number of attractions will be increased this year and a large proportion of the Exchange club members have enlisted.

Judge Hinman, introduced as one of the original guarantors of Chautauqua in this city, announced himself as being thoroughly a believer in and enthusiastic for Chautauqua. He mentioned the need of creating more of a cultural element in the community. Shows, concerts and lectures are highly instructive, nevertheless their appeal is limited, whereas Chautauqua is so diversified as to satisfy all. Adjournment was taken at 1:30 o'clock.

Funeral services for Clark H. Crane were held from the family home in Atwoodville Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Rev. T. Hawarden Jones of Mansfield and Rev. L. P. Ayer of Montville, formerly of Mansfield, conducted the services. A quartet, Robert E. Stearns, Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Wyman and Mrs. Harold James, sang the hymns. The bearers were four sons, Luther, Conrad, Burdett and Rexford Crane. Burial was in Atwoodville cemetery. There was a very large attendance of friends and relatives and there were choice flowers. Arrangements were in charge of Avery & VanZandt.

A two and one-half story house owned by Jan Arthis was burned to the ground late Monday night endangering the lives of his wife and children who had retired for the night while he was absent. Smoke awakened the sleepers and a hurried escape was made. A defective chimney is given as the cause for the fire. The loss is placed at $4,000 with insurance of $2,000 carried on the house and $1,000 on the furniture.

Special services were conducted by Commandant and Mrs. LeCocq and Captain and Mrs. W. Perrett of New London, at the Salvation Army citadel Wednesday evening. Captain and Mrs. Perett were welcomed by the many friends they had made during their stay here. Commandant and Mrs. LeCocq are returned missionaries from heathen lands and they related some very interesting experiences.

BATTLE ON STREET TO SUBDUE CRAZY MAN

(Special to The Bulletin.)

Willimantic, March 25.—A pitched battle between an insane man, Ora Khoury of Worcester, Mass., and his escort, Sam Swyden of Chestnut Hill, caused considerable excitement on Bank street here during the noon hour today when Khoury refused to continue on his way to the railroad station where he was to take the 12.56 express back to Worcester. Khoury has been visiting relatives in Chestnut Hill and had made trips to visit other relatives in this city. For the past few days his actions have been queer and his cousin, Sam Swyden, prepared to take the man back to Worcester. William A. Haddad was assisting him in guarding the lunatic when the latter broke into a fury and refused to go on. Swyden held his ground and grappled with the insane man while Haddad double-timed to police headquarters for help. The melee was fast and fierce and the cousins were tiring when Lyman Maine and others succeeded in calming Khoury. He was then taken to police headquarters. A telephone message to the Massachusetts insane institution at Worcester brought out the fact that Khoury had escaped from the place about two weeks ago. The police were informed that the law prohibited the asylum authorities from coming for Khoury until he had been registered in some similar institution in Connecticut. It is believed the man will be taken to the Norwich hospital, whence he will be returned to Worcester, where he is listed as an incurable.

Frank C. Whiting found his valuable Jersey cow dead, Wednesday, after searching for her since Sunday. She had evidently found something which was poison to her. This is the direct result of the carelessness of hunters who known down fences, and take no thought of disastrous results. In this case, it was the reason for the cow wandering away. People complain because so much land is posted against trespassing. It is no wonder that property owners try to protect themselves. It is not always hunters, either, who do the damage. There seems to be an absolute disregard for the rights of property owners, either in the country or the town.

WARDEN GEARY PAYING OFF $8,000 WORTH OF BONDS

(Special to The Bulletin.)

Jewett City, March 25—Warden Geary let it become known today that he is paying off $6,000 worth of bonds for which the borough was bonded in 1905 for 30 years, which have ten years more to run. The taking up of the bonds at this time is a saving to the people of $240 interest money in a year of $2,400 for 10 years. Another notable feature which stands to Warden Geary's credit was bonding the borough in a Boston Bonding company at a lower rate of interest, which shows keen business ability.

The borough was incorporated about twenty-eight years ago with a sinking fund saved in 28 years of $2,000. Of the 28 years of life for the borough, Warden Geary has been its chief executive only two years, and in that time he has paid all running expenses and saved $11,000, which enables him this day to retire $6,000 worth of bonds at a tremendous saving, and still have $5,000 in the treasury. Warden Geary's admirable success during only two years in office, with the tremendous saving that he has accomplished, has won for him a conspicuous place in the business world and in the esteem of all. It is the desire of both political parties here that he be retained in office to lift the ever increasing burden of taxation that has always been the home-owners portion to bear.

HOW I GOT THIN

THIS EASY WAY

Lost 50 Pounds in 8 Weeks—No Diets, Exercises, Absurd Creams or Reducing Girdles.

New French Discovery Works Wonders.

If you are one of many who has tried everything to reduce without success—if you are suffering from a weak heart, high blood pressure, tired feeling, shortness of breath, all due to obesity, AT LAST YOU CAN BE RELIEVED. If your figure is such that you are embarrassed to appear in public with your husband or your smart looking slender friends, you can now entertain new hopes. Perhaps it is your bust, your thighs or your arms that you want to reduce, or maybe only one or two rolls of fat have lately appeared. Whatever your case may be, if you are ten pounds too heavy or one hundred pounds, you owe it to yourself to go to-day to any good drug store, ask for a package of "SAN-GRI-NA Tablets" (do not accept any substitute, as SAN-GRI-NA is the only thing which ever reduced me. I was a very stubborn case, and I had tried everything else advertised, without any success). SAN-GRI-NA is the formula of a French physician. It is the first time it has ever been offered to the American public, and until you try it, you cannot say that your fat cannot be removed. It is the simplest, easiest and safest way to reduce. Take two small tablets before each meal and watch your fat disappear—not only is SAN-GRI-NA GUARANTEED ABSOLUTELY HARMLESS, but its use should greatly improve your general health and appearance.

WOMAN SO ILL WASHED DISHES SITTING DOWN

Mrs. Ashcroft's Remarkable Recovery After Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Covington, Ky.—"I was so weak and nervous I could hardly do my housework as I could not stand because of the bearing-down pains in my back and abdomen. I sat down most of the time and did what I could do in that way—as washing dishes, etc. One day a book describing Lydia E. Pinkham's medicines was put in my mail-box. I saw how the Vegetable Compound had helped others so I gave it a trial. I had to take about a dozen bottles before I gained my strength but I certainly praise this medicine. Then I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Blood medicine for poor blood. I was cold all the time. I would be so cold I could hardly sit still and in the palms of my hands there would be drops of sweat. I also used the Sanative Wash and I recommend it to all. You may publish this letter and I will gladly answer any letters and advise any sick women. Yours truly, Mrs. [illegible] Beech Avenue."—Mrs.

BETTER THAN CALOMEL

Thousands Have Discovered Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a Harmless Substitute

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the substitute for calomel—are a mild but sure laxative, and their effect on the liver is almost instantaneous. These little olive-colored tablets are the result of Dr. Edwards' determination not to treat liver and bowel complaints with calomel.

The pleasant little tablets do the good that calomel does, but have no bad after effects. They don't injure the teeth like strong liquids or calomel. They take hold of the trouble and quickly correct it. Why cure the liver at the expense of the teeth? Calomel sometimes plays havoc with the gums. So do strong liquids. It is best not to take calomel. Let Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets take its place.

Headaches, "dullness" and that lazy feeling come from constipation and a disordered liver. Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets when you feel "logy" and "heavy." They "clear" clouded brain and "perk up" the spirits. 15c and 30c.

DANIELSON AND PUTNAM NEWS

DANIELSON

Elsewhere in this column today (Thursday) appears an advertisement warning the public that canvassers who have come into this territory from other points seeking to buy antique furniture, as dealers rather than as collectors, are not authorized to use the names of two local dealers as a means of introducing themselves.

The practice that has been carried on appears to be another wrinkle in the varied and various processes that some dealers employ to possess themselves of old New England relics to be picked up all through this section from time to time. Some of these visiting strangers have gone so far in their operations that court appearances and prosecutions of them have resulted.

The latest stunt of making unauthorized use of the names of local men has been tried in this and adjoining towns. Publicity is given the fact that others may not be intrigued into doing business under false pretences.

Answering their 38th alarm during the borough year that will end next Tuesday night, the firemen were called out just after on o'clock, Wednesday afternoon, by a ring from Box 42, corner of Mechanic and Oak street, for a blaze in a small cottage in the rear of the Nazaire Pepin property, formerly the Joseph Snow place. From some unknown cause the fire originated in a shed at the rear of the cottage and spread until the cottage was afire. The roof was partly burned off the cottage and considerable damage resulted from water. The loss was estimated by Chief A. P. Woodward to be about $300, with insurance on the building, but none on its contents.

It was remarked Wednesday that it is a great thing to have a little contest on when a borough or town caucus comes along. A demonstration of this was the turn-out of electors for the annual borough caucus, at which a selection for the nomination of tax collector of the borough had to be made between two worthy candidates. About six times as many electors appeared to participate as usual comes to a borough caucus when no contest is slated. Of interest was the fact that there was a heavy percentage of women voters. They have not been as numerous in the past as might have been the case, but, after all, there is little difference in this fact and the non-attendance of a great many men who might easily give a little time to selecting the municipal board. The large caucus was very pleasing to those who like to see the public actively interested in borough affairs.

County Agent F. L. Davis has announced an agricultural institute to be conducted by the Windham County Farmers' association at Grange hall in Plainfield, Tuesday of next week. Plainfield grange and the Conterbury Poultry club are to co-operate in this institute.

At the morning session beginning at 10.30 L. B. Crandall, bee specialist, is to give a talk on spring management of bees. At 11 o'clock J. A. Simms, animal husbandry specialist, will be heard on the subject. Feeding for Wholesale Milk Production.

There is to be a box lunch period at the noon hour and coffee will be provided.

Food Made the Difference, will be the subject of Mrs. M. E. Dakin, nutrition specialist when the afternoon session opens at 1 o'clock, and at 2 o'clock A. E. Wilkinson, vegetable specialist will talk on Vegetable Management.

During the winter season Danielson and vicinity have been canvassed by strangers purchasing antique furniture, but in no case has either of the undersigned given any person permission to use his name for the purpose of introducing themselves in such a business venture. (Signed) A. V. Woodworth. J. C. Witter.—adv.

Because of the fact that the store they are occupying has been leased to other parties, the Balter Shoe company located in the Jodoin building in Main street is to vacate the premises, it was stated Wednesday morning. This firm was the successor here of George F. Davignon and has done a very successfuly business. Mr. Balter said Wednesday morning that his concern will vacate the store prior to April 15.

Wednesday morning, the funeral of Mrs. Henriette Caron, wife of Joseph Caron, was held from their home in Moosup, with services at All Hallows' church in that place at 9 o'clock. Rev. Joseph E. McCarthy was celebrant of the high mass of requiem. Burial was in the Sacred Heart cemetery at Wauregan. The bearers were Alfred Caron, Victor Cgron, Wilfred Caron, Alphonse Groise, Henry Dubois and Lionel Dupre. Louis E. Kennedy was in in charge of the funeral arrangements.

From his home in Dayville Wednesday morning, at 10.30, the funeral of Patrick F. Lyons was held, with services at St. Joseph's church. Rev. Ignatius Kost, the pastor, was celebrant of the high mass of requiem. Burial was in St. Joseph's cemetery. The bearers were Charles Lyons, Frank Haggerty, William Haggerty, Francis Quinn, Harry Kennedy and William Carpenter. Louis E. Kennedy was in charge of the arrangements.

A stunt that is becoming increasingly popular out in the country districts is the use of an automobile for the development of power to operate a wood-sawing machines. In many cases a rear wheel of the car is jacked up and a belt run from the machine to the wood-sawing machine. The automobile motor drives the saw with satisfactory power and speed to do the wood sawing and the expense attached for operation is not great.

Strange as it may seem, the news stories of Wednesday telling about a mountain moving out to Meeker, Colorado, was the cause of apprehension on the part of many timid people here. Numbers of them spoke of the mountain traipsing about. It would appear that the total eclipse of the sun in January, the earthquake of February and the tornado of the past week in the middle west were happenings that have combined to make nervous and superstitious people a bit jumpy and to keep them wondering what is going to come next.

Milk from tuberculin tested cows delivered anywhere in Danielson at 10 cents per quart. Order at Attawaugan hotel.—adv.

A number of teachers and pupils in Danielson's schools have been improving the opportunity that this spring vacation offers to visit relatives and friends in other towns and cities.

County Game Warden Charles Letters is maintaining a daily patrol of brooks in Windham county and, with his deputies, will continue to do so until next Wednesday, the first day of the open season.

P. A. Reeves, a retired insurance agent very well known throughout this section of the state, was reported ill at his home Wednesday.

Theodore Fulton, Civil war veteran, is confined by illness to his home on Academy street.

Henry F. Albert of Providence was a visitor with friends in Danielson Wednesday.

Scores of street lights that were burned out through a difficulty at the sub station have been replaced about the borough.

Bee owners in this territory report activity around the hives and bees busily at work at a date considerably earlier than last year.

That torn up state highway down in Plainfield is like a thorn in the side to motorists. The deplorable conditions are due to the fact that an uncompleted contract has not been worked on since last fall nad resumption of concrete laying will have to await seasonable weather.

Arthur Rainville, who has been in Florida during the winter, has returned to his home on the West Side.

Another big undertaking that is awaiting favorable weather conditions is that of laying rails southward from a point near Quinebaug lake to a point north of Jewett City on the New London-Worcester branch of the New Haven system.

STIMULUS TO ANGLERS TO WATCH OUT FOR BIG TROUT

(Special to The Bulletin)

Danielson, March 25.—Here is a list of rewards for the trout fishermen to strive for during the season that opens next Wednesday: Bristol telescope steel rod, 50 yards of hard-braided silk line, a nickel-plated featherweight reel, a willow fish basket and strap, a half dozen snelled hooks and bait box. Andrew E. Meech is the donor of these prizes for the fishermen and any person resident in the town of Killingly, Brooklyn or Plainfield is eligible to compete. The winner will be the person who catches the largest trout in public brooks of said towns during the 1925 fishing season. In offering these prizes Mr. Meech revives a practice which he followed for several years prior to the Danielson Rod and Gun club offering prizes for large trout for the past two years.

PUTNAM

An increasing demand for instruction in the trades makes necessary additions to equipment from time to time and to this and a new Pratt and Whitney 16 inch lathe will be added to the equipment of the machine department at the State Trade School in Putnam. This lathe is manufactured at Hartford. It is one of the best lathes on the market and will make 17 lathes in all, of various sizes and kinds, in the machine department. This department has the following additional equipment, one shaper, one planer, two milling machines, two grinders, forge, anvil, and hardening furnace together with complete set of small tool equipment necessary for successful machine shop operations.

Last year considerable equipment was added to the electrical department to take care of an increased enrollment and additional equipment has also been ordered for the textile department.

A very important item of experience for the electrical department is the completing of several orders for the Putnam Company's new plant, which includes estimating and planning, specifying materials, making layouts, lighting and signal systems. Much of this work is still in process of completion and new items will be added a required in the expension of the plant.

Orders for cloth are being satisfactorily completed in the Textile department for both local and out of town customers. The feature of this department is the large quantity of raw cotton used for instructional purposes running into many thousands of pounds yearly. This material is divided into units of instruction and made into a variety of cloth product, students following the sequence of operation of the raw material to the finished product.

The carpentry department is finishing up a number of small inside obs and furnishing estimates at the present time on out door projects to which the boys are looking forward. A job coming into the carpentry department is given consideration for general design, shop sketches are made and these are taken to the drafting department and working drawings are made of the job to be done. These drawings are completed, bill of material is taken from them and an estimate made of the cost of the job. This gives the student an opportunity to follow through from the beginning of the job to the end, and finally doing the work in accordance with the design.

The following students will soon be graduated from the various courses: Harold D. Foskett, Woodstock, Machine Dept.; Charles M. Hanley, Pomfret, Machine Dept.; Richard B. Wheeler, Stonington, Electrical Dept.; Anathol L. Fortier, Danielson, Carpentry Dept.; Sotir John, Thompson, Machine Dept. The last named boy will be a graduate from the high school co-operative course between Tourtelotte Memorial High School and the State Trade School.

All preparations are being made for the annual exhibit to be held April 2nd. The Home Economics department is to hold its exhibit in the high school auditorium and will have a very large and attractive exhibit. In years past this open night has attracted many people from all parts of the county and the school will endeavor this year to have an interesting exhibit and chief of these the boys actually at work in the process of acquiring the arts and practices of their chosen trades.

The student hours for February were 12,760.

Mrs. Leon S. Walker entertained twenty-four members of the Ladies Aid Society of the Baptist church at her home on Grove street Tuesday afternoon in honor of the silver anniversary of Mrs. Louis E. Law, wife of the superintendent of the H. K. H. Silk Co.

Mr. and Mrs. Law were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Walker at the Putnam Inn for lunch and afterward Mrs. Walker took Mrs. Law home with her. The latter was completely surprised when she found a party of friends gathered to help celebrate her anniversary. A very pleasing afternoon was spent. Mrs. Law was presented a Pyrex set consisting of a caserole, a pie plate and a teak dish, each mounted on a fiver tandard. Mr. J. B. Kent made the presentation speech in which she extended the congratulations of the party on Mrs. Law having completed twenty-five years of married life and expressed the hope that her golden anniversary would be just as enjoyable.

In all probability Rev. James F. English of Elmwood, just outside of Hartford will be invited to accept the pastorate of the Second Congregational church of this city. His selection has been recommended by the committee appointed to look for a pastor and there will be a meeting next Monday evening of the members of the church and of the Ecclesiastical Society to take action in the matter. Mr. English occupied the pulpit last Sunday morning and made a very favorable impression. His sermon was scholarly and interesting and he has a pleasing personality, and the members of the committee of which Ralph C. Jenkins is chairman, think he would fill the pastorate here very acceptably. The church has been without a permanent pastor since the resignation of Rev. Simeon M. Cozad last June. Mr. English is twenty-five years old, married, and has one child.

Just ten days after the death of his wife James E. Perry, 73, one of the widely known citizens of Putnam, died Tuesday night at his home on East Grove street. He had been in failing health for two years due to heart trouble but had been able to be up and around the house until Monday. The shock of his wife's death no doubt hastened his death.

Mr. Perry was born May 23, 1851 in the Perry homestead, the same house in which he died and where he had always lived with the exception of a year spent in Worcester and ten years in Danielson. His mother was also born in this house, which is one of the oldest structures in the city.

Five children survive Mr. Perry, Mrs. Charles Jennings of Providence, R. I., George E. Perry and Arthur Perry of Putnam, Mrs. Caroline D. Chaffee of East Woodstock, and Mrs. Martha A. Rogers of Worcester, Mass.

At 1 o'clock Monday afternoon, Philip Arnold, 13, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Arnold of Chapman street, was taken ill while sitting at his desk in the eighth grade of the Putnam High school. He was removed to the Day Kimball hospital and at 3 o'clock was operated on for appendicitis. His condition is satisfactory and it is believed that he will make a speedy recovery.

Postmaster Archie Macdonald who underwent an operation last week at Worcester hospital is reported to be gaining steadily and a complete recovery from his trouble is predicted.

Funeral services were held at 1.30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon at North Grosvenordale for Mrs. Laura A. Tourtellotte, 83, who died Monday morning. She was born at Dudley, Mass., October 17, 1841. Her parents were Charles Carpenter and Paula (Perry) Carpenter. She married Oscar Tourtellotte at Perryville, Conn., Feb. 19, 1861. For many years her husband was one of the best known citizens of Thompson and for twenty years, prior to his death 1912, he had served as a selectman of the town of Thompson. There are three sons living, J. B. Tourtellotte and Alfreton Tourtellotte of Worcester, Mass., and Percival P. Tourtellotte of North Grosvenordale, where Mrs. Tourtellotte had made her home since the death of her husband. The funeral, which was very largely attended, was conducted by Rev. J. G. Bisbee of the M. E. church. Mrs. Tourtellotte had been in failing health for the past three years but she had been very active in social and church work and was widely known in that vicinity.

The Waterman Worsted Co., has found it necessary to make some changes in the operation of looms and a notice to this effect was posted in the mill Monday. It said that competitive and market conditions required the readjustment. A few of the employes remained out of the mill for twenty-four hours to consider the matter and then, very wisely, it is believed, returned to work.

Two men narowly escaped serious injury when their automobile tipped over after striking another car and crashing through a fence near the boundary line about 100 feet from the cement highway at Perryville.

An automobile driven by R. Sherman of Grove street, Putnam, and owned by Arthur Gurney, of Gardner, and a touring car owned and driven by John Jarosz of Webster, met in a sideswipe collision. The Webster car was going in the direction of Dudley when the hub-caps of the automobile driven by Sherman caught against those of the Webster car and caused the roadster to crash through a fence and tip over, tearing the fence away for twenty-five feet. The two front wheels, the wishbone and springs were broken on the roadster. The damage to the touring car was a smashed mud guard on the right side, the whole length of the car. Aside from a slight cut on the nose received by the owner of the roadster no other person was injured. The Webster car was able to proceed while the roadster was taken in tow to a Putnam garage.

MEN ON MOTORCYCLE CRASH INTO LOCOMOTIVE

(Special to The Bulletin.)

Putnam, March 25—Joseph Barlac and Stanley Duchlade, both residents of North Grosvernordale were riding towards Putnam Wednesday afternoon on a motorcycle and crashed into a locomotive at the crossing at East Thompson. Both were seriously and possibly fatally injured. Barlac's skull was fractured and Duchlade has a broken leg, a broken arm, scalp wounds and body contusions.

The train was Passenger No. 748, north bound from Putnam to Worcester and from the best information obtainable the motory-cycle ran into the engine. The machine was wrecked. Both men were taken to the Day Kimball Hospital.

PRESTON CITY

At the close of the study hour in the Preston City Baptist Bible school Sunday a well rendered graduating exercise was given by the primary department. The exercise included a brief talk by the superintendent of the primary department, Miss Cynthia Crary. Good Bye Song by the primary pupils and the welcoming of the new scholars into the higher grades.

Following the exercises prizes were distributed to the winners in a contest conducted by the primary department. The happy winners were George Bates, Lois Woodmansee, Winfield Burdick, Hazel Bates, Helen Smith and Otis Browning, Jr.

The prayer meeting this week is to be held with Mrs. Robbins this (Thursday) evening at 7:30.

TO REPORT ADVERSE TO ECLECTIC APPELLANTS

Hartford, Mar. 25—More than fifty eclectic practitioners whose licenses to practice medicine in Connecticut were revoked as the result of the recommendations of the extraordinary grand jury here and who have bills in the legislature seeking validations of the licenses will have to settle their cases on their merits in the courts, the judiciary committee of the legislature decided this afternoon. All the pending bills will receive unfavorable reports, but the committee will raise a bill to provide that any practitioner against whom the grand jury acted who has not perfected an appeal, will have additional time to do so.

In all, there were about 170 practitioners whose licenses were suspended and under the bill to be raised, all can secure their "day in court." Less than half of them perfected appeals within the statutory limit after the suspension.

Attorney General Frank E. Healy told the committee that in six cases he would recommend that the suspended licenses be restored, when the cases came to trial. One of these is Samuel Slabotky, of New Haven, but the attorney general would not name the others.

The decision of the judiciary committee not to take action on the bills came after an hour's discussion of the bill to validate the license to practice of Frank E. Gavins, of Bridgeport.

SOUNDING THE NATIONS.

When the president asks the secretary of state to look into the feasibility of holding another naval conference at Washington, it becomes evident that this does not mean to send out invitations for such a gathering.

There isn't, and never has been, any idea of calling such a conference until and unless it is known that a certain degree of support is given to it by those to be invited. There is no disposition to undertake to jam something through against the inclinations of any of the nations.

There is, however, a desire for the extension of the benefits obtained under the naval agreement. It is desired that there be further naval limitations and it is believed that the nations which are a party to the existing understanding have had an opportunity to appreciate its merits and because of that are more or less ready to add to them.

Secretary Kellogg therefore has been asked to feel around among the nations and ascertain whether sentiment is of such a character as to warrant the issuance of a call, such a call being open to the interpretation that there is a reasonable expectancy that a further limitation can be agreed upon. There will be no disposition or desire to force any nation to action, but what is intended for mutual benefit ought to have the thorough cooperation of the entire group of nations. Sentiment has been developing to such an end. It has been impossible for the naval treaty to be in operation for so long without there being a recognition of its advantages, and on that score it is a sane view that if such benefits have been obtained through the first step there is good ground for getting additional benefit by taking another.

Only preliminary is the request that has been made by the president. It has large possibilities and it is to be hoped that the response will be such that the conference will result and that the full object of such a gathering will be attained.

RHODE ISLAND STATE POLICE.

With a favorable report from the judiciary committee, it would appear that the bill before the Rhode Island legislature stood a fair show for adoption judging from the fact that a favorable report is an important preliminary in any case. It is a measure, however, which has encountered opposition from the start and the end may not be assured until final action has been taken. With the governor coming out as a strong advocate of the measure the legislature is going to be made to show whether it is willing to provide for better protection of the people of that state, or whether it will be willing to shoulder the claim that the protection it is and has been getting in the outlying districts is good enough.

Rhode Island may be a small state, but the small as well as the large has got to recognize the fact that the outlying districts get slight policing from the constable system and there is not the needed action in keeping up with the criminals unless there is an active force ready to respond to calls and take up the treads of evidence while they are fresh, or even be ready to act upon warning for the prevention of crime.

The motor vehicle has made it possible for the criminal class to carry on its depredations over large areas. Until there is a constabulary that can cope with such conditions proper regard is not being given to the interests of the citizens and the law abiding who are at the mercy of the long list of law breakers.

Sufficient are the instances where Rhode Island, like other states, can see the value of a state police force. States which have them are certainly not abandoning, but strengthening them. For its own good and in the interest of law and order, Rhode Island ought to require no further demonstrations by criminals before setting up this additional machinery for dealing with them more effectively.

THE NATIONAL GUARD PAY.

When the president calls attention to the situation involved in connection with the deficiency appropriation which was voted for the national guard drill pay, it must be understood in advance that there is good reason for it. There are laws which govern the making of appropriations and the submission of estimates, or increases of estimates, it being stipulated that none shall be submitted to congress or any committee thereof except by request from either branch of congress.

Provision was made for the national guard pay through the regular channels. It came under the scrutiny of the budget bureau and bore its recommendation, the appropriation which ends with June of this year having been for $30,000,000 and while this was considered sufficient it appears that it is not. Or if looked at from another angle there has been reliance upon getting an added appropriation instead of making what was provided to meet the requirements. In getting from congress this additional sum, in the closing hours of the last congress, the recommendations for it came from a source which the law prohibits, and even though the money has been voted and the bill for it has been signed by the president the fact that it has come to his attention makes it necessary for him to give heed to the situation and insist upon a full investigation of the matter.

It is all well enough to have it pointed out by the head of the national guard that the drills ought not to be laid up for lack of pay, but it is well remembered that it was the navy which abandoned manoeuvers and gave up drills for that very same reason.

There's no question but what the president is duty bound to take the course that he has. He has not been disposed to disregard the law in such matters and he certainly is not going to needlessly contribute to the crippling of the national guard, but unless there is someone on guard and that someone is alert to his full responsibility to the country waste and winking at the law will not only continue but be encouraged. The president is simply doing his duty.

RUNNING THE FLEET.

What must be regarded as putting efficiency into the operation of the Fleet corporation, that government agency which is running the American merchant marine, is the record of accomplishment which has been made since President Palmer took hold of it.

The corporation has not been able to do business without a loss, but it has been able to cut the heavy deficit which the government has been obliged to shoulder in the operation of the government owned vessels. There has been and there still is a much heavier expenditure than there is income. There is a hole at the end of the year which no private corporation would stand very long, and yet when it is shown that where there was a deficit of $50,000,000 last year there will be but $36,000,000 for the year ending with June it must be regarded as a decided improvement. But in addition there is more satisfaction to be gained from the claim of President Palmer that the continuance of present methods and their extension will mean that the deficit by another year, or by the end of the fiscal year in 1926 the deficit can be cut to $28,000,000.

Attention is bound to be halted also over the president's statement that this saving has not been affected through a sacrifice of efficiency but through its development and the proper practice of economy. The Fleet corporation would appear to be doing business on a much better business basis. There's no prospect that the country will be convinced of the desirability of continuing government ownership of the merchant marine any longer than is actually necessary, but till that time comes there is satisfaction in knowing that waste is being reduced and efficiency being insisted upon.

RUSSIA ABROAD AND AT HOME.

There are those who are prone to plead the cause of soviet Russia. There are those who hold high office who are urging the recognition of that government and there are those who are telling what wonderful strides have been made by that government, even to insisting that we cannot longer refrain from recognizing the Moscow government.

There has been a change in the government situation in Russia. Those at the helm have abandonment many of the ideas and policies that were put forth a few years ago. There has been a modification, and there have been changes. Russia has been able to obtain recognition from European countries, but not many of them are enthusiastic over the action they have taken. Contemplation of soviet Russia after recognizing it, and coming to a realization of the fact that the benefits involved are more or less illusory dampens the ardor of those who have rushed in.

With all Russia has done to get the support of outsiders, with all it has done to improve the conditions within its own limits and with all it has done to clean house for the impression it would make upon others, soviet Russia hasn't got to the point where it is ready and willing to take care of its own people and provide for and furnish the relief that would make impossible the statement that southern Russia has 750,000 starving children and a situation which the government cannot cope with. World revolution entirely eclipses interest in relieving home distress.

WHAT HE OVERHEARD

The lady who had been giving a bridge party had shooed out the last guest. Her husband, who had come home early emerged from his hidden corner.

"How I love," he began genially, "to listen in when you get out your little hammers and go to tap-tapping so accurately! There is no joy equal to the satisfaction of seeing a job well done! I'll bet there isn't one square inch left of that Mrs. Bangswatter you were talking about just now."

"Why, Clarence!" remonstrated the lady who had pulled off a good party, "I guess you didn't hear all the nice things they said about Ethel!"

"Sure I did!" declared the husband feelingly. "And I saw all the strings dangling from those sweet remarks too! In every woman's ancestry I am positive can be traced at least one cannibal, three Apaches and a guillotine artist or so! Nothing else would account for the delicate precision of their little barbs!

"'Weren't you fortunate,' began your sharp-nosed friend, 'to get the Pinchback house for the winter! It is so small it will be no trouble at all to take care of—that is, for a good housekeeper like you! Not that I mean that Ethel—'

"'Of course not!' helped the angel-eyed lady who had leased the Pinchbacks' house, 'isn't Ethel the dearest, thing! Everybody is so fond of her, and when a girl is as popular as she is, why, she just simply has to let some things go, of course! There were so many parties the week the Pinchbacks moved out that I could understand perfectly why things were left in the condition they were—of course, I was a little surprised to find I had to get a woman in and give the place a thorough house cleaning from top to bottom before we could even sit down—not that I mean—'

"'Of course not, broke in the woman with the eager expression who had been feverishly waiting hor chance. 'I think Ethel is the most artistic person I ever knew! I lived next door to her one year and sometimes if I ran in early in the day on an errand I would find that girl stretched out on the chaise longue reading and the breakfast dishes still on the table. Ethel always did say there were too many interesting things in the world to waste time drudging. And Arthur didn't seem to mind. Lots of times when he got home at night he'd have to turn in and practically get the dinner. It is perfectly marvelous to me how some women can hold their husbands when they neglect their comfort so! Not that I mean there was any trouble between Ethel and Arthur—'

"'Why, he used to joke about missing buttons in the locker room after golf,' offered the nervous girl who sat in the corner. 'He said right out one day that if he ever found a full assortment of buttons in his underwear he would know he had made a mistake and got into the wrong house in the row, or something like that! Arthur is so good looking too, that I should think Ethel would wake up and—'

"'Ethel has the loveliest eyes, said the girl who had leased the house. 'And I adore watching her use her hands! I don't wonder she tries to save them all she can. It certainly isn't any fun to dig dust out of corners behind bookcases and couches, and all the while I was doing it after we moved in I reminded myself that maybe if my hands were as pretty as Ethel's I wouldn't have done it either—'

"'You are the most generous-minded pe—n!' warmly cried the woman in tomato red. 'If you were like most folks when you rented a houe furnished you would expect to find it ready to live in! Ethel is just as sweet as she can be, but I certainly think it was imposing on you to leave things in the condition you say they were—'

"'Oh, my dear!' interrupted the fair lessor, in greatly shocked tones, 'I wouldn't be misunderstood for the world! I havent the slightest desire to criticize dear Ethel, who is one of my best friends! All of us can't be made from the same pattern, and—'

"'Of course you didn't mean to criticize!' soothed the tomato-red lady. 'I never saw any one like you! We all love Ethel, but we can't help knowing and seeing—'

"'Dear Ethel!' everybody said at last in one grand chorus, and then went home quite happilly!"

"I think you are just beyond words!" declared the indigent wife who had listened, fascinated. "If you ever catch that early train again you stay out on the front steps till the party's over!"—Exchange.

CHILD TRAINING

RAINY DAY SURPRISES

Helen Gregg Green

I happened to be calling on Patty's mother one rainy, gloomy day, when the little one became a bit restless. Excusing herself, my hostess said, "I'll be back in a minute. I want to get Patty her rainy day package."

She returned with a most enticing large envelope, full of bulges. Patty jumped up and down excitedly, clapping her small hands.

"Oh, Mother Marie, how lovely!" And away ran Patty with the bulgy envelope.

"The package looks interesting," I said. I was about as curious as Patty.

"I have a number of such packages put away for days like this one," Mother Marie explained. I've taught Patty to entertain herself, and she's very resourceful, but when I have time I make these surprise packages for special occasions.

A half-hour later Mother Marie called to Patty to bring in her surprises. Patty danced in, eyes shining.

"Look! Aren't they gorgeous!" And she held up brightly-colored squares, triangles, oblongs, a paper lantern, and a put-together puzzle. She handed me a slip of paper on which her mother had written in colored crayon:

1. Cut out a red, a green, and a black two-inch square.
2. Cut a blue and a red triangle.
3. Put "Boy with torn hat" puzzle together, very neatly.
4. Cut an oblong, three inches long and two inches wide. Crayon one side purple, the other yellow.
5. Paint Lady Louise's gown and hat. Be sure the colors are attractive.
6. Cut a surprise.

"You see," my hostess explained, "you can buy a package of colored art paper, and heavy white paper which is ruled into half-inch, or inch squares. With these you can make a hundred rainy day surprises. Patty's second grade teacher taught her how to use a ruler, and measure correctly, but if she hadn't I could have done so in a short time. The puzzles are easy. I cut a colored picture from a magazine, often using a lovely cover, and paste it on thin cardboard. Then I cut it in many pieces, and put these in an envelope.

"The paper lanterns are very simple. You use a sheet of colored paper, or white paper which has been painted, or some which has been colored with crayon. First, fold it evenly, then make attached strips by cutting on the fold to within an inch of two of the edges; next, unfold and paste the side edges together; last, paste on a small strip of paper for a handle."

"My dear," I interrupted, "of course you have all these clever ideas because you were a teacher. But what about us who have never taught?"

"O, fie!" she laughed, "use a little imagination!"

"Well, of course the Lady Louise stunt is obvious. I simply have Patty color some paper dolls cut from a magazine, always giving them fanciful names, however. It makes things a bit more interesting. I know you made the surprises when you were a child. You simply fold a bright sheet of paper many times and cut it in fancy shapes, until, when it is opened it makes an attractive pattern."

I felt really grateful for what she had taught me and I hurried home to tell you about it.

IN THE PUBLIC EYE

Clara Morris, who has just celebrated her seventy-sixth birthday, is remembered by the older generation of American playgoers as one of the greatest emotional actresses of her time. She was born in Toronto and began her stage career in Cleveland as a ballet dancer in 1861. In a few years she had risen to be leading lady in a prominent stock company in Cincinnati, and subsequently she was seen in stellar roles in all parts of the country. Her Camille was especially successful. When at the height of her popularity and prosperity she was forced by ill health to retire from the stage. Her last appearance was at a benefit performance given in New York in 1909. For many years Miss Morris has lived in quiet retirement in the vicinity of the metropolis, devoting much of her time to literary work. In private life the actress was the wife of Frederick C. Harriott, who died in 1914.

IN THE DAY'S NEWS

FOOCHOW: LACKS WHEELS AND RAILROADS

"Foochow, China, scene of a reported demonstration against foreign traders, has no railroad tracks nor any wheeled vehicles on its streets. It lies 34 miles from the sea, but it does a provincial and foreign business of huge proportions," says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

"Few travelers go there. Those who do find themselves in a place where the charm of medieval custom vies with the stench of medieval sewage disposal.

"Paradoxically, if one wishes a sweetsmelling spot he should seek out one of the 47 factories which make Foochow's flower-scented tea. These factories buy more than $400,000, worth of white jasmine flowers yearly which they use for heating with the tea leaves to produce the delicate fragrance. The woman wear a permanent headdress of swords and daggers.

"To reach Foochow one sails from Hongkong or Shanghai—it lies midway between these ports—and opposite the north end of Formosa (Taiwan) the ship steams up the Min, or Snake river.

"But the ocean-going vessel must halt at Pagoda Anchorage, nearly ten miles below Foochow, because, half a century ago, stoneladen barges were sunk here to repel an enemy attack. Legend has it that the sword-and-dagger headdress of the women is a memento of a siege when China was a group of petty, warring states and her men went forth to fight an army of invaders. When the men were driven back inside the city walls the women seized their weapons, and sallied forth to a glorious victory over the astonished marauders.

"Above Pagoda Anchorage the visitor finds a river traffic problem as acute as the automobile congestion of an American city. Gone are the tea-clippers, the ships that carried the name and aroma of Foochow to London tables, and gone are the famous Foochow pirate craft. But in the vessel-mass one still discerns the sea-color junks with sterns as high as those of the old Spanish galleons and curious up-river craft which find water highways through Fukien province. These jostle for places alongside house-boats of ancient design and bright, new steam launches.

"When a small boat lands you at a Foochow wharf it still is three miles overland to the vine-grown, towered walls of the old city. No taxis await your signal, no cabs, not even a jinrikisha. Only the native chairs are available. The streets of the ancient city are too crooked, too badly paved, and too narrow for even the most primitive sort of vehicles on wheels.

"Ancient as Foochow seems to the western world, it is a sort of wild west in the eyes of Peking or Canton. In the days of Confucius, China proper looked upon the province that now is Fukien as a region of barbarians. The walled city did not rise until the Ming period, which covered the years that America was discovered and colonized.

"One effectual bar against visitors in recent decades has been the prevalence of cholera and the bubonic plague. One survey disclosed only three wells of wholesome water; the natives still rely on the water, of precarious purity, dipped from the river and sold by coolies.

"Tea, timber and paper load down most of the out-going boats. From up-river come many cargoes of fruit, cotton for the Foochow mills, and rice. Piled on its wharves are wheat, peas, onions, salt, silver, white plums and dates. The overland journey to Foochow is avoided even by the natives; but the Min and its branches give the city a waterway access to 27 walled towns and to many smaller villages.

"Foochow imports the sap of the so-called varnish tree and uses it in a lacquer of exceptional luster. One family, for many generations, held a secret process which made Foochow lacquer-ware far-famer. This process required applications for a dozen or more times.

"On a mountain not far from the city one encounters the dog worshippers—easily distinguishable for the peculiar coiffure of their women, a scaffoldlike effect with a cord dangling before the face. This is worn because of a myth which holds that a dog once saved the city and the gods rewarded him by subjecting him to a process by which he was to become human after incarceration for 7 times 40 days. An impatient provincial Pandora lifted the cover when all but his head had been transformed and thus left a dog-headed man. In going to claim his bride his face was covered so his canine features might not offend her. So, to this day, the women of the mountain wear the headdress in honor of him and, on New Year's day, they worship the image of a dog.

"Even nearer, the city is 'Doctrine Hill,' which derives this one of its many names from the residence there of a certain learned man who accumulated a library of 5,40-volume shelf—known as 'The Doctrine of the Universe.' On this same hill are 'six times six' wonderful things, including the inevitable rock showing the footprints of Buddha.

"On another hill is a place where a very pious priest used to sit reading a book. One night there was a thunderstorm which split the rock, but its parts fell so that a cone was formed so the holy man might read in peace.

"A familiar touch is manifest on Black Rock Hill—a touch which makes the name carvers of the east and west kin—by the inscription left there by two climbers, which reads:

"In the reign of the Emperor Kuang Heu, 2nd day, 12th moon, 21st year, Ch'en Hsiao and Liu Hsiao, cross-legged on the summit of Black Rock Hill."

Important to all Women Readers of This Paper

Thousands upon thousands of women have kidney or bladder trouble and never suspect it.

Women's complaints often prove to be nothing else but kidney trouble, or the result of kidney or bladder disease.

If the kidneys are not in a healthy condition, they may cause the other organs to become diseased.

You may suffer pain in the back, headache and loss of ambition.

Poor health makes you nervous, irritable and may be despondent; it makes any one so.

But hundreds of women claim that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, by restoring health to the kidneys, proved to be just the remedy needed to overcome such conditions.

Many send for a sample bottle to see what Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder medicine will do for them. By enclosing ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., you may receive sample size bottle by Parcel Post. You can purchase medium and large size bottles at all drug stores.

He Owes His 40 Years of Constant Good Health to Beecham's Pills

"I am 57 years old and commenced to be troubled with constipation when I was sixteen and took several remedies which were not beneficial, or had a griping effect. "In 1884 I started taking Beecham's Pills two or three at bedtime and can now eat anything I like without feeling distressed. I have not had a sick day in all the 40 years.

"I have recommended Beecham's Pills to my friends and in almost all cases they have proved satisfactory.

"I was troubled with sleeplessness and Beecham's helped me very much."

Stories That Recall Others

The White Flag

Doris, three years old, had desired something for a plaything but daddy had told her that she "was too short" for it. She continued her demands and he continued his denials and admonitions until at last, with a final "you're too short," he arose and started toward the little girl.

"I know I am, I know I am," she hastened to assure him.

She Wasn't a Bargain.

Henry related the story several days ago how his niece Mary Jean, age five, exploded a "bomb shell" in the midst of the family group one evening some time ago when a neighbor was calling.

Mary Jean, with childish curiosity, asked the neighbor why she was so fond of the dollar bargain sales she spoke of so frequently. Not wishing to discuss dollar sales to any great length the neighbor replied that there were some wonderful things obtainable at dollar bargain counters.

Not to be discouraged the child asked what could be obtained.

"Why, honey, your mother got you at a dollar sale," the neighbor said.

"O, no she did not," Mary Jean replied. "My mother got me on Sunday and all the stores were closed."

TOWN DEPOSIT FUNDS GONE IN 15 TOWNS

A statement of the condition of town deposit funds, composed of federal grants to towns in 1836 for educational purposes, many of which have disappeared entirely, and others for which there is little accounting, was made to the legislative committee on finance by Commissioner of Education Albert H. Meredith. Senator Frederick C. Walcott, chairman of the committee, told Dr. Meredith that a peculiar situation was disclosed by the statement and asked that a bill be drafted to make town treasurers directly accountable to the comptroller for the funds.

Commissioner Meredith submitted figures showing the status of the fund in each town in the state, in only two or three of which it is equal to the original federal grant, which specified that the principals of the various sums was to remain unexpended, the interest to be used for school purposes. In about 15 towns the grant has disappeared entirely, and according to Dr. Meredith's report no one seems able to account for any part of the amounts.

It would materially alter the amount of state aid to towns if the interest now applied as originally intended, Dr. Meredith said, and agreed to draft a bill for approval of the committee looking toward utilization of the remaining amounts.

OBITUARY.

William B. L. Cranston.

The death of William B. L. Cranston occurred Wednesday evening at his residence, 17 Linden parkway, following an acute illness of about four days during which he had been a great sufferer.

Mr. Cranston was born in Providence, R. I., March 17, 1855, the son of Benjamin T. and Cornelia (Safford) Cranston. Coming to this city in 1864 he received his education in the public schools and the Norwich Free Academy.

On both sides of the family the ancestors of Mr. Cranston were the finest of old New England type and prominent in early history. John Cranston founder of the family was governor of Rhode Island in 1678 and Samuel Cranston a few years later held the same office.

The business of the Cranston Co., of which Mr. Cranston was the president was founded by his grandfather, Morgan Safford, one of the leading Baptists of his time, a man so keenly interested in the building of the first Central Baptist church that he mortgaged his property that he might do his part towards the financial problems and his store for many years was Baptist headquarters in this city.

After leaving school Mr. Cranston entered the business of M. Safford & Co. After the death of Mr. Safford the business was conducted by Cranston & Co., which included his father, B. T. Cranston, W. B. L. Cranston and his brother, T. H. Cranston. On the death of the others of the family the business was incorporated as The Cranston Co., of which Mr. Cranston was president and continued as such until his death.

In the early days of amateur photography he became very enthusiastic in this line being one of the first to recognize the possibilities and on two occasions was awarded first prize in the nation-wide advertising contest conducted by The Eastman Kodak Co., and was recognized by them as one of the pioneers of their line of business.

Early in life Mr. Cranston united with the Central Baptist church and for many years was librarian of the Sunday school. He was always keenly interested in the welfare of the church, and until his death failed was a very regular attendant at the services.

On August 25, 1917, he was united in marriage with Mrs. Julia Morgan Chapman, the ceremony being performed by Rev. P. C. Wright, D. D., and for several years his home has been at 17 Linden parkway.

As a Mason he was raised in St. James lodge, January 18, 1886, and was also a member of Franklin chapter, No. 4, and Franklin council, No 3.

In the earliest years of the Arcanum club he became a member and continued his relationship throughout his life. He was a charter member of the Chelsea Boat club, an organization that in its time was very active.

Mr. Cranston is survived by his wife, a step-son, Percival Morgan Chapman, a cousin, John D. D. Cranston, of this city, and relatives in other cities.

William Stevens Doty

William Stevens Doty, retired member of the Norwich police force, died just before noon Wednesday at his home, No. 41 Cliff street, following an illness of about two years. He was 81 years old and his death was due to the infirmities of age. Mr. Doty was born in Wareham, Mass., the Cape Cod section of Massachusetts, the son of the late Albert H., and Louisa Stevens Doty. It was in 1866, just after his discharge from the Union service at the close of the civil war that he came to Norwich, and he had been a resident here since that time. For a while he followed the trade of a machinist and then joined the Norwich police force.

January 3, 1872 he was appointed a member of the local police force. When he donned a uniform James Lloyd Greene was mayor and William E. Whaley was head of the force. Mr. Doty served as a police officer under 11 mayors and five police chiefs, his service being continuous except for two years when a democratic police committee retired him along with seven other policemen with known republican affiliations.

At the time of Mr. Doty's appointment to the force there were but eleven police officers. He was given a night beat on the West Side which was one of the sections of the city that called for plenty of police activity. He served for three years on the night beat there, following this with day duty for a period of six years. Then for a short time he had an assignment that gave him nine hours of duty from the middle of the afternoon until midnight.

For eighteen years Mr. Doty had the night beat on Franklin square and Franklin street and for over ten years put on another long term of service on the night beat on Broadway. That was his last beat. For a year or so previous to 1918 Mr. Doty was seriously troubled with one of his feet and in 1918, on the advice of his physician he presented to the police commissioners his application for retirement on grounds of physical disability. He was retired from active policy duty in August 1918 by vote of the court of common council.

In all he served on the police force for a few months short of 47 years. He made a singular record for fidelity and excellent service and was among the most dependable officers on the force. He was ever ready for whatever duty he was called upon to perform.

NORWICH CONCURS WITH OTHER CITIES IN STATE ZONING BILL

Following a conference held Wednesday morning in Hartford by representatives of cities and towns which had zoning bills before the legislature, a state enabling act was agreed upon and was presented for a hearing before the legislature committee on cities and boroughs, which conducted the hearing in the hall of the house at 2 in the afternoon. It was concluded about 4.30 after the representatives of more than half a dozen communities had spoken most of them briefly.

A large part of the hearing was taken up with an exposition of the proposed enabling bill by Edward F. Bassett, a member of the New York zoning commission, who had assisted in the draft of the Connecticut bill. He was questioned at length by Senator Smith, chairman of the committee and by several of the committee members.

The state enabling act was presented by Harry S. Nado, secretary of the Greenwich chamber of commerce and chairman of the state committee on zoning. All the representatives from the various communities agreed that they would be satisfied with the state enabling act, but if the committee decided adversely to this, they wanted to press the claims for their special zoning acts.

This was the expression of representatives from Fairfield county, Norwich, Greenwich, New Haven, Hartford, West Hartford, New London and Stamford, whose bills were called in this order. Corporation Counsel William H. Shields, Jr., spoke for Norwich and Director of Law Frank L. McGuire for New London. With Mr. Shields at the hearing were Secretary John J. O'Rourke of the chamber of commerce, Walter F. Lester, chairman of the civic pride committee of the chamber, F. Russell Smith, Shepard B. Palmer and Mrs. Arthur Harvey Lathrop.

Representative George G. Engler of this town, who had introduced the Norwich bill, attended the hearing and the other Norwich representative, Attorney Charles W. Cassidy, is a member of the committee, conducting the hearing.

Mr. Bassett told the committee that the state act had been modeled after the Hartford act and that an act as good as any in the United States had been shaped up. He claimed there was a strong desire for a state wide act, but it would be a mistake to pass acts to suit every municipality in the state as this would result quickly in a flood of requests for amendments.

Zoning is needed in every municipality, he said, and is an application of the municipality police power through the state legislature. The board of appeals as provided for in the act is the safety valve. The act is permissive merely and does not compel any municipality to go into zoning but provides a way if they want to take it up. Any community could work out a satisfactory application of a zoning system in about a year and a half.

Senator Smith and other members of the committee showed an interest in finding out why no more than 8 or 10 Connecticut communities were showing a present interest in zoning by sending representatives to the conference on the subject. The proponents of the state act responded that a population of 700,000 or about half the people in the state, were in the towns that were interested. Mr. Nado stated that 320 municipalities in the United States have zoning plans in effect, 62 went into it in 1924, and 34 states are now considering zoning ordinances.

George R. Chandler, secretary of commerce, said there is ample precedent in Connecticut for such a state enabling law. Too many acts would make a crazy quilt, but the time is ripe for a state act. Zoning is an inevitable movement and there is enough demand to warrant passing the enabling act.

A statement from Mr. McGuire of New London that they wanted to have the name of "New London" added to the 1923 zoning act, if the state act were not passed, brought Mr. Thompson of West Hartford to his feet with the remark that the reason why West Hartford is attending the hearing today is because the 1923 act is not adequate for any town that wants to go into zoning. "If the act had been passed as we drew it," said Mr. Thompson, "we wouldn't be here today."

Senator Smith wanted to know where the 1923 act came from, who was responsible for it

Mr. Nado drew a laugh when he said he wanted to speak in defense of the 1923 act. It deserved some credit for enabling the towns to get as far as they have. As to where it came from, he could not tell that. He said he was interested in putting in a zoning act in 1923, but when the bill came out of the machinery it was hardly recognizable. They didn't know their own child.

State Enabling Act

The following is the proposed state enabling act

Section 1, Grant of Power. For the purpose of promoting health, safety, morals, or the general welfare of the community, the zoning authority of every city, town and borough, as hereinafter provided, is hereby empowered to regulate and restrict the height, number of stories and size of buildings and other structures, the percentage of lot that may be occupied, the size of yards, courts and other open spaces; the density of population, and the location and use of buildings, structures and land for trade, industry, residence or other purposes, within the present or any future limits of said city, town or borough. Such regulations may provide that a board of appeals may determine and vary their application in harmony with their general purpose and intent, and in accordance with general or specific rules therein contained.

In every such city, town or borough where a zoning commission has already been created pursuant to chapter 279 of the public acts of 1923 the zoning authority shall be such zoning commission. In every other town the zoning authority shall be a zoning commission consisting of five members whose terms of office shall be determined by ordinance, rule or regulation of the local body having power to adopt ordinances, rules or regulations for the government of such town, and such local body is hereby empowered to appoint such a zoning commission.

In the town of West Hartford, the zoning authority shall be the town councillor. In every other city or borough such zoning authority shall be its board of aldermen, council or other duly constituted board, council or authority having power to adopt ordinances, rules or regulations for the government of such municipality. The zoning authority of any town shall

CONFERENCE OF METHODISTS OPENS IN FALL RIVER

(Special to The Bulletin.)

Fall River, Mass., March 26. — The New England Southern Conference opened its 85th annual session at the Union Methodist Episcopal church at 9 a. m. today. The sacrament of the Lord's supper was administered, Bishop Anderson being assisted by the district superintendents, R. L. Roberts, I. W. LaBaron and W. H. Bath and also the pastor of the church, Rev. R. A. Colpitts.

In effecting the organization of the conference, Rev. J. Francis Cooper was elected secretary for the 23d consecutive time. Mr. Cooper thanked the conference but, in view of a recent illness and the advice of his physician looking towards continued poor health, he felt it necessary to decline the honor. The conference accepted the statement with deep regrets and elected Rev. L. G. Horton to the position. Upon his nomination, the following were named as assistants: George A. Grant, Thomas J. Stewart and James V. Claypool

Rev. Amos M. Bruce was re-elected statistician and Wilfred D. Hamilton, Albert Abbott and H. H. Conkling were named as his assistants. Rev. John S. Bridgford was re-elected treasurer and Philip A. Ahern and Marion J. Creeger his assistants.

Rev. R. L. Roberts, superintendent of the New Bedford district, was passed in character and read his annual report. The following items stood out prominently among many interesting things in the report. At Cotuit, Mass., a new personage has been erected at a cost of $7,000. At Fairhaven, Mass., improvements on church and parsonage have been made to the extent of $8,500. The church at Little Compton, R. I., has been shingled and other improvements made at a cost of $935. Union church, Fall River, has purchased a new lot and is laying plans to build a splendid new church edifice, while also advancing its former offerings for world service this year by $1,000. Sagamore, Mass., has increased its Sunday school attendance 400 per cent., 384 persons have been received into church membership in this district during the year.

The memorial service for deceased ministers and their wives was held. Rev. J. I. Bartholomew presided. A selection, Rock of Ages, was finely rendered by a male quartette. Prayer was offered by Rev. John Pearse. Scripture selections were read by Rev M. E. Genter and Rev. S. A. Livingstone. Rev. John H. Buckley delivered the address which was based upon 2d Tim. 1:12, "I know whom I have believed," etc. The address breathed a note of confidence in the tenets and foundations of the Christian faith and its hope of immortality. The address abounded in quotations from the great poets touching the future life and was of a high character. The hymns For All the Saints Who From Their Labors Rest, and Jerusalem the Golden, were sung by the congregation.

The following have died: Rev. Chas. H. Walter and Rev. John L. Wheeler. Also Mrs. Buck, wife of Rev. W. P. Buck; Mrs. Ela, widow of the late Rev. Walter Ela; Mrs. Oldham, widow of the late Rev. John Oldham; and Mrs. Locke, wife of Rev. George R. Locke. Following the excellent address of Mr. Buckley, Bishop Anderson added a few choice remarks.

Among the interesting events of the Wednesday morning session was the presentation of Rev. Henry D. Robinson the senior member of the conference who is 90 years of age and apparently in good health. Mr. Robinson spoke a few words of greeting which were full of good cheer. Bishop Anderson in presenting Mr. Robinson complimented New England as possibly having a good atmosphere for longivity referring also to the ages of W. F. Warren, ex-president of Boston university and Ex-President Elliot of Harvard, both of whom have passed 90 years and are still vigorous. Mr. Robinson will be remembered as presiding elder of the Norwich district, 1832 to '36 and as pastor of the church in New London, 1836 to '42. He pronounced the benediction at the close of the morning session.

Among attendants at the meetings is Rev. E. C. Bass, D. D., the second oldest member of the conference. Although well along in the eighties, Dr. Bass is in vigorous health and greets his friends in the usual genial manner. He has been going to conferences 65 consecutive years though he has been detained at home a few times by sickness. Dr. Bass holds the distinction of having held the effective relationship for the longest period of any minister in the history of the New England Southern Conference, he having been in the retired relation but one year.

Rev. W. F. Davis of Portland, Conn., is at the conference. Mr. Davis is well known in Eastern Connecticut, having held pastorates in Uncasville, Danielson and South Manchester. For several years he was one of the most familiar figures at the annual Camp Meeting at Willimantic.

Rev. Charles S. Davis, Ph. D., once well known as a brother of W. F. Davis and for many years a member of the New England Southern Conference is now living in Mapleton, Oregon, a retired member of the North Montana Conference. Friends of Dr. Davis in Connecticut will be interested to learn that he has recently been bereaved in the death of a son who has been an invalid since the war in which he served as a private.

ROTARIANS INTERESTED IN GRADE CROSSING HEARINGS

The meeting of the Norwich Rotary club held on Wednesday noon at the Wauregan house was devoted largely to the monthly business of the club and the various committee reports. Dr. Hugh B. Campbell presided and Joseph C. Worth was the song leader. Rev. Alexander H. Abbott asked grace.

One of the pleasing features of the luncheon was the musical programme rendered by an orchestra from the Palace theatre with Johnny Egan, piano; Frank Benson, violin; Harry Feltcorn, clarinet and saxophone, and Jack Kelly, cornet. This orchestra played for the club singing and also for the trio number by Grosvenor Ely, Arthur M. Brown and Willis Austin, three members of the club who have recently returned from a southern pleasure trip.

The club voted to instruct the secretary to send a letter expressing the sympathy of the club to the family of the late Frederic W. Cary.

There were two speakers on current events Charles W. Taggart and Lewis M. Young. Mr. Taggart feelingly read a paper on Unselfish Service as it can be applied to business and social life of the community and nation. Mr. Young took occasion to speak of the recent conflagration at Palm Beach in which the Hotel Breakers was destroyed. The speaker said that this was an example of what might happen to any large wooden structure which is used as a public building. He urged the use of fireproof construction in hotels, schools and all public buildings. Grosvenor Ely, who checked out of the Royal Poinciana on the morning of the fire, also spoke briefly on the wooden fire traps of hotels at Palm Beach and other winter and summer resorts.

Willis Austin voiced the growing opposition to the establishment of state gasoline filling stations, saying that he considered it poor business for the state to enter into competition with its citizens in the gasoline business. He also read a letter that had been sent to the Norwich representatives in the legislature.

Attention was called to hearing before the public utilities commission at 1.30 today (Thursday) at Hartford relative to elimination of grade crossings. Secretary Weymouth urged the Rotarians to attend the meeting and said that the public utilities commission had made a trip through eastern Connecticut this week inspecting the dangerous crossings.

Treasurer Clarence A. Spear announced that approximately $500 had been realized from the Brown Glee club concert recently held in Norwich.

Dr. R. R. Agnew for the committee reported progress on the coming Boys' Week observance. It will not be strictly a Rotary but rather a community affair and 50 representative citizens will meet next Tuesday night to consider the subject of a parade and other plans for the week. James L. Case was reported as speaking today to the Rotary club of Erie, Pa. Arthur M. Brown gave a short but entertaining talk on Bermuda, from which he recently returned, and Herbert M. Leroy of the entertainment committee reported on the coming Ladies' Night, tickets for which are now being distributed. Other club committees were also heard briefly.

At the meeting of April 1, Grosvenor Ely will be the talker on current topics, Captain King of the submarine base will deliver an address and Edward W. Jewett will be song leader.

FUNERALS.

Fred Gauthier.

Funeral services for Fred Gauthier were held Wednesday morning at 8.30 o'clock from his late home, No. 1 Slater avenue, with requiem mass in St. Patrick's church at 9 o'clock, Rev. John Reilly officiating. Music during the mass was in charge of Prof. Frank L. Farrell and for a waiting hymn Mrs. Farrell sang Abide With Me.

Burial was in the family lot in St. Mary's cemetery where the committal service was read by Rev. Myles P. Galvin. The bearers were Hector Tetreault, Henry Tetreault, Alphonse Tetreault and Austin Lemoine.

There was a large attendance of relatives and friends at the service and the many beautiful floral tributes were testimonials to the esteem in which Mr. Gauthier was held by his many friends.

Arrangements were by Cummings and Ring.

Edward Jones.

Funeral services for Edward Jones were held Wednesday afternoon at 2.30 o'clock from his late home in Yantic, many relatives and friends attending. The floral tributes were most numerous and beautiful. The service was conducted by Rev. Robert B. Day, rector of Grace Episcopal church, who also conducted the committal service at the grave in Yantic cemetery. The bearers were John P. Jones, William H. Jones, Eben H. Jones and George H. Slough.

Arrangements were by Church & Allen.

BULKELEY BASKETBALL TEAM GETS EVEN BREAK IN THE SEASON'S PLAY

(Special to The Bulletin.)

New London, March 25—The effort of Bulkeley to revive a sport, which was dead on the previous year, despite the many handicaps which usually attend such a proceedure succeeded partly, if not wholly. The basketball record for the season of 1924-25, while not as impressive as the records turned in usually by Bulkeley athletic teams, nevertheless has its distinctive characteristics. The season resulted in an even break as far as victories and defeats were concerned that the Bulkeley team failed to make the impression upon the larger schools that the football and baseball teams did. Striking with a vengeance upon the teams in this section of the state, after receiving humiliating defeats at the hands of the larger schools, Bulkeley was able to finish out the season with ten victories and the same number of defeats.

The schedule undertaken was admittably a hard one for any team, no matter how long they were in this particular field. Although falling dismally in to take a place among the several leading quintets in the state, Bulkeley's showing with teams in eastern Connecticut places it among the best.

It was probably a little more than the five could bite off, in taking on the stiff schedule that Bulkeley did. But the games engaged in all proved to be a source of experience that would not have been gained in any other manner.

Playing within its own domain and likewise extending its territory to three other states as well, Massachusetts, New York and Rhode Island, the teams played were in the majority of cases overshadowing the Bulkeley team in experience and ability. While little headway was made against the two college freshmen fives which appeared on the schedule, namely Fordham and Rhode Island State college freshmen, yet friendly rivalry was cultivated on such a basis that firm relations between the colleges and the local school were formed.

After several disappointments facing him, Coach William R. Canty set out to overcome these handicaps to victories. First, financial reasons made basketball anything but a certainty this season. Secondly, the loss of two star performers, Rice in the back court and the sensational Taylor at forward retarded early progress. The late start of season was due to the late close of football, but it was not long, regardless of the handicaps, before Bulkeley entered its first contest, South Kingston, R. I., being their opponents. The victory for Bulkeley which followed was a stimulus for future contests.

Outside of Stonington High, Plainfield High was the only other high school played in this section of the state. By a score of 7 to 6, one of the lowest scores to decide a basketball game, Bulkeley won its second game of the year. A string of losses interspersed and only a single contest was won with the Mystic All-Stars—out of eight games the final result of this campaign. But the game with the All-Stars from Mystic marked the initial appearance of Buck Taylor in a Bulkeley uniform. He was reinstated after sitting in a study.

The presence of Taylor in the lineup bolstered it considerably. He was responsible for the better showing of the team and later the fine winning streak which the team enjoyed. In fact after Taylor joined the ranks of the five, the game played against New Haven Commercial High, twice interscholastic winners at the Tufts tournament, recognized leaders on the chalked court for the entire New England states and which later made a fine bid to duplicate the performance this year, but which was eliminated in the semi-finals by Rogers High of Newport. This team could only hand Bulkeley a 17 to 12 defeat. A difference of five points in the final outcome.

Several times the Bulkeley team played on different courts on successive days, the size in each instance being either smaller or larger than on the preceeding night. These all hampered the Bulkeley team in giving its best and when they are considered seriously have their faults.

Huck Taylor's worth to the team both defensively and offensively is obvious. He played in the last games with Hartford and Springfield. Considering the performances of the team against these fives before and after Taylor joined the team will in some sense of the word attempt to show just how valuable a player he is to the team. Springfield won the first game 54 to 23, Hartford 39 to 4. These were scores before Taylor joined the five. After Taylor poled his expert passing skill with Bulkeley the scores showed Hartford winning the game by a score of 20 to 9, Springfield 21 to 2. Both on the defense and offense Taylor was worth at least 20 to 25 points each game, judging from the figures.

The final individual records find the brilliant Taylor out in front with a total of 140 points, comprising of 62 field and 16 foul goals. Taylor played in but three quarters of all the games, while Parisi who follows him played three more games but is 38 points behind the leader. Parisi lacks 19 field goals to bring him up to the level attained by Taylor, Vogt at center, who never missed a single game, and who missed but a single quarter during the entire year, is third with a total of 71 points. Taylor the leader almost doubling hi marks Waterson for a guard, who was not of the running type so to speak, compiled a fairly good average in scoring 41 points. The other players follow closely.

In the team scores, the opponents have outscored Bulkeley by 120 points. The Bulkeley total being 397 to 517 for the visiting fives.

ACADEMY ATHLETICS FORM N. CLUB

The students of the Academy who have won their school letter in athletics have formed an association called the "N" Club. This club has been formed for the purpose of doing everything in its power to support and uphold the school in all sports, to co-operate with coaches and to use its influence in obtaining and encouraging new material for the various athletic teams. It also advises and helps candidates who are not up to the standard in studies. Above all the members of this organization are out to show the student body that the school "N" is a thing to be treasured and worth trying for.

The constitution of the club was presented to Principal H. A. Tirrell and the coaches of baseball and football, Earl E. Brigham and William Aitken and was approved by them with highest recommendation.

At the first meeting of the club the members present voted and elected the following officers: President, Arthur McGowan; Vice President, Churchill Scott; Secretary, James Williams; Treasurer, Martin John Gilman. Meetings are held every Wednesday at the close of school and various topics concerning school activities are discussed.

An organization of this kind has been greatly needed in the school as the interest of the student body has been decreasing rapidly from year to year. Through the efforts of the club one of the largest body of candidates turned out at the opening of the basketball season. The club is planning to do big things in the way of athletics and it is hoped that its effort shall place the school at the top of the ladder in sports, a place which the N. F. A. was accustomed to hold.

The members are Gerald Burke, Vincent Carlin, Harry Dunn, Martin Gilman, Charles Hagberg, John Haslam, John Henrichs, Leslie Holdridge, Walter Lukowski, Arthur McGowan, D. Polsky, Churchill Scott, Maynard Sullivan, Alfred Sussman, Eli Stefano, Seraphino Tombari, James A. Williams.

BULKELEY SQUAD IS CUT TO 31 PLAYERS

(Special to The Bulletin.)

New London, March 25—Without any advance notices of its coming, the axe which has been suspended over the heads of the 90-odd candidates, descended today and it cut short 48 careers as baseball stars. Only 31 of the original squad of nearly a 100 will be retained for the more strenuous work which is to follow with the preliminary workouts of this week. Coach William R. Canty who made the first cut of the season in the squad, has intentions of making another cut at the end of this week. By that time it is hoped that the squad will be reduced to allow the Bulkeley mentor a free lance and thus not be hindered by the inability of the players who first reported.

There is only one delinquent in the ranks of the veterans, and that is Harold Hutchison, regular third baseman. William Booth, center fielder reported for the first time today. The poor condition of the field hampers all early chances for the first infield practice, but with the city authorities expected to make good their early promise to roll the field and make other minor improvements, the squad will be rapidly assuming its mid-season form.

Springfield Technical High was added to the schedule at home for a game at the annual reunion exercises to be held at the Hotel Griswold on June 13. Other minor changes in the make up of the home program are Weaver High and Brown University freshmen. Both these games are pending. It is understood that Weaver will be definitely allowed a date on the schedule.

JUNIORS AND SOPHS TIE IN AGGIE CLASS BASKETBALL

(Special to The Bulletin.)

Storrs, March 25—The completion last night of the regular schedule of games in the interclass basketball league at the Connecticut Agricultural college the Juniors and Sophomores tied for first place, which will necessitate the playing of another game to decide the class championship. Each team has a record of 7 victories and but 1 defeat, in the 8 games played.

Last night the Freshmen defeated the Seniors by a score of 22-14, while the Sophomores downed the School of Ag with a 28-18 count. The Junior quintet did not play, as they completed their schedule of 8 games last week.

Next Monday night the Juniors and Sophomores will meet on the Hawley armory surface in a game that will decide the class championship, and it is a game that is certain to be hard fought the entire distance. There is much natural rivalry between the two classes anyway, and a close battle is expected.

The summary:

GREB SIGNS FOR BOUT WITH JOHNNY WILSON

Minneapolis, March 25.—Harry Greb, middleweight champion, today signed for a ten round fight with Johnny Wilson, former champion, at Boston on April 17 his manager announced today. Greb's title will not be at stake as the men will box at catch-weights. Greb won the championship from Wilson in New York in August, 1923, and later defended the title in January, 1924.

Greb also is matched to meet the winner of the Paul Berlenbach-Jack Delaney fight May 21 at New York.

Terris Beats Paluso.

New York, March 25.—Sid Terris, New York lightweight, was given a decision over Lew Paluso of Salt Lake City in a ten-round bout here tonight. Terris weighed 134 and Paluso 132 3-4.

C. F. C. OVERWHELMS TEAM FROM NIANTIC

Before the largest crowd of the season, C. F. C. basketball team overwhelmed the Niantic quintette by the score of 62 to 17 at the Y. M. C. A. on Wednesday evening. The game was much better than the score indicated and greatly showed up the fast team work of the local team. Leffingwell, the fast C. F. C. forward ran up a total of 28 points with his accurate shooting, while the defensive work of Captain Brown and Armstrong would be hard to compare. In the third quarter, Ludlow, the local center, went out of the game with a sprained ankle. Lambert took his place at center and Otis going to forward.

This is the third time this season Ludlow has strained his ankle while engaged in playing.

The C. F. C. quintette having finished all their league games are now ready to meet the "Y" Emps and the Taftville Celtics after which they will close the season.

CHAPMAN MAY BE SUSPENDED BY N. Y. BODY

New York, March 25.—Johnny Dundee, former world featherweight boxing champion, who relinquished his title before leaving for Europe several months ago, was suspended indefinitely by the New York State athletic commission on February 6.

This action was taken when word was received from the French boxing federation that Dundee had failed to fulfill a contract to meet Fred Bretonnel in Paris

Previously on February 3, Dundee had been named by the New York officials to compete in an elimination tournament destined to produce a successor to the lightweight champion, Benny Leonard, who had retired, but before he was notified of his suspension he had announced his withdrawal.

The case of Red Chapman of Boston, who outpointed Dundee in that city Monday night, undoubtedly will come before the semi-weekly meeting of the commission on Friday, it was said tonight.

ELEVEN YALE CREWS ON THE HOUSATONIC NOW

New Haven, March 25—Three more Yale crews moved today from the harbor to Yale's training quarters on the Housatonic river at Derby and tomorrow three freshmen crews and a freshman 150-pound crew will be quartered at the Bob Cook boat house, making 11 crews in all there. Four varsity crews have been working under Coach Leader on the Housatonic for nearly two weeks. Class crews will continue to row on the harbor.

The three crews which started work on the Housatonic today are the 150-pound crews coached by Don Grant, coxswain and captain of last year's champion University of Washington's eight.

F. Sheffield, who rowed in last year's champion Olympic crew, and R. Zeigfeld were named today as class coaching assistants.

ELEVEN COLLEGES ENTERED IN SWIMMING TOURNEY

New Haven, March 25.—Entries for the eighteenth annual individual championships of the Intercollegiate Swimming association, to be held at Carnegie pool at Yale, have been closed, it was announced by John M. Schiff, manager of the Yale swimming team tonight, and the following will be represented in the contests: Brown, Navy, University of Pennsylvania, Princeton, Rutgers, Columbia, Union, Amherst, Wesleyan, College of the City of New York and Yale.

One Year Rule at Georgetown.

Washington, March 25.—The one-year rule at Georgetown university has been extended to cover all sports at the institution, said an announcement today by Louis Little, athletic director. This rule is in line with the general policy outlined two years ago when the Hilltoppers cut their football and track teams on the same basis.

FRENCH SURPRISED BECAUSE DUNDEE WAS ALLOWED TO BOX

Paris, March 25 (By the A. P.)—The French boxing federation officials today expressed great surprise that Johnny Dundee has been permitted to engage in a boxing bout in the United States before the French federation's suspension of him was lifted, and are cabling the boxing authorities in America for additional details.

Dundee on March 23 fought a ten-round bout in Boston against "Red" Chapman. He was suspended by the French Federation for failing to remain in France some time ago to fight Fred Bretonnel.

Paul Rousseau, president of the French federation, says he has letters from the National Boxing Union and the New York state athletic commission informing him that Dundee had been suspended indefinitely by both organizations. He said he felt that if Dundee had been reinstated without either his recommendation or advice the French federation had been slighted.

The National Boxing Association of America last January suspended Dundee on complaint of the International Boxing Union. It was said at the time that the suspension would, if observed by boxing commissions affiliated with the National Boxing association, bar the former featherweight champion for boxing in 17 states.

RITOLA AND NURMI RACE AT BUFFALO MEET TONIGHT

Buffalo, N. Y., March 25.—Paavo Nurmi, running marvel of Finland, will continue his assault against Willie Ritola's world record for 5,000 meters in a match race with his countryman at the 106th field artillery armory tomorrow night. Stomach trouble defeated Nurmi at his late meeting with Ritola at the distance, when he was forced to leave the track four laps before the finish at the K. of C. games in Madison Square Garden March 17.

The Nurmi-Ritola match will be the feature event of the closing meet of the 106th Field Artillery's indoor track season, and will mark the first leg of Nurmi's trans-continental tour which will take him to Los Angeles and San Francisco next month.

Other special events will include a 6,000 metre race between Urgo Frigerio of Italy, holder of the 10,000 metre Olympic walking title, and Phil Granville, Canadian Indian heel and toe artist, and an attempt by Alan Helfrich of Penn State to lower the world mark for the half mile. Ray Dodge and Ray Watson of the Illinois A. C., and Jack Malone, Syracuse University, half miler, will compete against Helfrich.

DE FOREST READY TO CLOSE GIBBONS-TUNNEY BOUT

Chicago, March 25.—Jimmy De Forest, matchmaker for the Polo Grounds A. C., in New York, will arrive here tomorrow to close a match between Tom Gibbons and Gene Tuney, American lightweight champion, to be decided in New York on June 12. Eddie Kane, Gibbons' manager, said De Forest had offered a guarantee of $100,000. The contest will be 15 round to a decision.

Kane said that if De Forest's terms were satisfactory he would close the match at once without waiting for further developments in regard to a match with Harry Wills, negro heavyweight challenger.

A Wills-Gibbons bout has been under consideration for the New York milk fund show on May 28.

Jack Reddy, St. Paul boxing promoter, also wired Kane an offer of $50,000 for Gibbons to box Tunney in St. Paul early in June in a no decision contest.

Tunney is in St. Paul preparing for a 10 round contest against Harry Greb, world's middleweight champion, on Friday night.

KLEVENOW NAMED ATHLETIC COACH AT MIDDLEBURY

Middlebury, Vt., March 25.—Marshall M. Klevenow, of Milwaukee, a Middlebury college senior who was captain of the football team last fall, has been named football and baseball coach, succeeding David B. Morey, resigned.

Klevenow will receive his college diploma in June. A statement issued by the college announcing the appointment said:

"Klevenow has been selected in preference to a large number of applicants for the position because of his qualities of leadership and his familiarity with the prevailing system of coaching at Middlebury. Before the step was taken the advice of a number of men most prominent in the football world was sought, including the late Walter Camp, Tad Jones of Yale, and Alonzo Stagg of Chicago, and it was agreed that notwithstanding a certain lack of experience in coaching Klevenow had the qualities which would offset this lack.

DENIES THAT GIBBONS WILL BE OFFERED $100,000

New York, March 25.—Although officials of the Polo Grounds A. C. admitted today that Matchmaker Jimmy DeForest had gone to Chicago to close a light heavyweight championship match between Tom Gibbons and Gene Tuney to be held here on June 12, they denied the report that Gibbons would be offered a guarantee of $100,000.

It was pointed out that to offer a guarantee violates the New York state law which provides only for a percentage of gate receipts to ring contestants.

Tunney is anxious to meet Gibbons, has reached an understanding with De Forest, it was said at the club, but no contracts have been signed.

McKAY IS ELIMINATED IN FLORIDA GOLF TOURNEY

St. Augustine, Fla., March 25.—Don McKay, Sernia, Ont., who was considered one of the leading contenders in the Ponce De Leon golf championship tournament, today was eliminated in the first round of match play by Dr. J. R. Bass Louisville, Ky., 4 and 3.

Frank Thompson, Canadian amateur champion had a card of 73, the lowest of the day, defeating Ed Sullivan, New York, 6 and 5.

The feature match was furnished by Eddie Connor, St. Augustine, and F. Chapman, San Francisco, the play going to the 21st hole before the Californian won.

GOULD TO DEFEND HIS COURT TENNIS TITLE

Boston, March 25.—Jay Gould, of the Philadelphia Racquet club, will strive ed States court tennis champion in the States court tennis champion in the annual tournament which will open next Tuesday at the Tennis and Racquet club here. The drawings for the event made public today indicated that 14 players will compete for the title.

One entrant from Philadelphia, two from New York and eleven from Boston appear in the drawings. In a first round match, W. C. Wright, Jr., of Philadelphia, will meet G. A. Shaw McKean, of Boston. C. Suydam Cutting and Stanley T. Mortimer, New York, will figure in second round matches.

Waste Hours vs. Selling Hours

HOW much time does a salesman spend in actually interviewing prospects?

For every half-hour of real selling talk, a good many hours are spent in getting to a buyer's office and waiting to see him. It is a salesman's unproductive time which raises selling costs.

In Connecticut, within reach of the telephone on your desk are 247,000 other telephones. Many of them lead straight to the buyers of millions of dollars' worth of goods.

SPORT WORLD BRIEFS

The Pacific league will continue play this year through the entire month of October, which will give it a season of 205 games, the longest that the far western baseball circuit has played in recent years.

Evidence that the boxing game is in high favor in Cleveland is furnished by the statement that at the four shows given there in the last two months the turn-stiles clicked for a total count of nearly $100,000.

Much satisfaction is expressed in intercollegiate sport circles over the fact that Brown University and the University of Pennsylvania are to resume football relations next fall, after a break of over ten years.

John Philip Sousa, the celebrated bandmaster and composer, has accepted an invitation to compose a special march dedicated to the great American game of baseball. It will be played on all special occasions at the big ball parks.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Strand Theater

Lew Williams and his Chic Chic Revue have been held over for the last three days of this week but will be seen at the Strand theater and not the Broadway theater. This popular musical comedy company will present an entirely new show, which means new comedy, songs, dances, music, scenery and costumes. Don't fail to see these twenty singing dancing and comedy stars in this complete new show.

Are we growing old, or is it the modern mania for speed which seems to put us out of touch with the rising generation?

All about us we see parents striving to be the "pals" of their youngsters—in vain. All about us we see the children of yesterday, falling victim to the snare of syncopation and saxaphone.

Which is wiser—to rule the home with an iron hand, or to meet "the younger set" on its own ground—the playground of the great god Jazz!

The author, Grace Sartwell Mason wrote a story on this subject called Speed which caused a storm of comment when published in the Saturday Evening Post. Now the tale has been transferred to the screen and will be shown today, Friday and Saturday at the Strand theater.

The film provides entertainment as well as food for thought, and such artists as Betty Blythe, Pauline Garon, Duchess Stella di Lanti, Robert Ellis, William V. Mong present the action of this high-powered rural melodrama filmed in magnificent manner in the most up-to-date setting.

Breed Theater

Those who like "kid comedies" have a pleasant surprise in store for them in the new William Fox special photoplay, The Last Man on Earth, which will be shown at the Breed theater today.

The treat is in the form of a prologue to the picture itself and there is more than a thousand feet of "kid stuff" which alone is worthy of a special place on any program.

In this prologue is shown the trial and tribulations of the childhood of the "last man to be," and J. G. Blystone, the director of this laugh sensation, has held the mirror on child life in a manner that should earn for him the title of The Mark Twain of the Movies.

Although the "last man" closed his career on earth commanding the affections of every woman in the world, as a schoolboy he was no Lothario by any stretch of the imagination. In fact, the little girl whose charms captivated him at this early period of his life dismissed his suit by saying she wouldn't have him if he was "the last man on earth."

The climax of this novelty entertainment will show an unusual use of a woman's well-known prerogative. Earle Foxe has the enviable role of "last man."

Out of the Storm a true detective story, the Fox news and a comedy make up the remainder of the bill.

Box Holders For Charity Ball

Plans for the Backus Hospital Auxiliary assembly are going forward smoothly. Following is the list of boxholders to date, in the order in which they have reserved boxes: Mrs. Walter T. Camp, Mrs. Charles B. Gilbert, M. J. Kirby, Mrs. Joseph French, Mrs. Willis Austin, Mrs. Archibald Mitchell, Jr., Mrs. Harry E. Higgins, Mrs. W. Russell Baird, Miss Mary Callahan, Dr. R. R. Agnew, Charle A. Saxton, Arthur M. Thompson, Dr. Hugh B Campbell, Mrs. Walter F. Lester, Mrs A. M. Pasnik, Mrs. Howarth Collins Bruce F. Rogers, Dr. Joseph Gainey, Lieutenant Leslie Arnold, Lieutenant Wade, The W. W. Backus Hospital and Mrs. J. Ralph Howe.

PALACE THEATRE TODAY

For the last half of Spring Carnival week at the Palace starting today there will be a seven act all star bill of Paramount vaudeville with the screen feature number "Fifth Ave Models."

The vaudeville bill consists of, The Three Londaons, jugglers of human beings, George Lilly, the "kid glove kidder" snappy stories and songs. The feature act on the bill is the Seven Brown Girls Jazz Band, all graduates of the conservatory of music in Boston. They have with their act a harp worth $1000. McGree and Leon billed as Bright and Olly fifteen minutes of laughter. Sip Hall and Edith Vaughn in a comedy offering that is one continuous roar. Chas. Forsyth and Co. in shades of harmony a one man quartet. Charles Fletcher the wizard of equilibrium a clever twister and clever entertainer.

One of the biggest casts of principals in support of a star ever used in a motion picture was used by Universal in making "Fifth Avenue Models" a Jewel production starring Mary Philbin and to be shown in the Palace theatre commencing today.

Another thing that makes the picture of interest is the fact that it is the first production directed by Svend Gade, famous in Europe as a designer of sets and director. Gade came to this country to design the sets for Mary Pickford's production of "Rosita," and after he had completed that commission was engaged by Universal to direct Miss Philbin.

It is the screen version of "The Best in Life," a novel by Muriel Hine that made a sensation immediately upon publication and caused the author to be hailed overnight as one of the literary discoveries of the year.

The story concerns a beautiful young woman whose father is a talented, but unsuccessful artist. To support herself and father the girl works as a seamstress for a fashionable modiste. One day she is forced to act as a mannequin at a style show and attracted the attention of a young man who later brings sorrow and joy to her.

Those selected to support the star, include Norman Kerry, who played with her in "Merry-Go-Round," Josef Swickard, William Conklin, Rosemary Theby, Rose Dione, Betty Francisco, Ruth Stonehouse, and Jean Hersholt.

Elaborate sets are given, the principal one being the salon in the modiste's establishment.

Broadway Theater

Another grand surprise is offered to the Broadway theater for the last half of this week at that popular playhouse. Seven standard world's best vaudeville acts are scheduled, and it looks as if it is as good if not better than the program that made history in Norwich last Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Daley, Mac and Daley are scheduled to open the program in skating a la 1925 introducing comedy and dances.

Jackson and Ellis follow in a revuette of comedy, songs, dances and music.

In trey spot Harry Meekham will fit in as the de luxe entertainer in songs and humor.

Swift and Gibson Revue, featuring two girls and two men present songs and dances.

Halley and Noble are comedians above everything else.

Following is more comedy presented by Arthur Gary and Viola Baldis in When Help Needs Help.

The most sensational wire act in America, The Powell Troupe, will close this excellent program.

Tomorrow's Love, a new Paramount matrimonial comedy-drama starring Agnes Ayres, comes to the Broadway theater today for a three days' run.

The picture in an adaptation of the Saturday Evening Post story, Interlocutory, by Charles Brackett. Paul Bern, who made Open All Night, and Worldly Goods directed.

Dear Sir:

I was bald since the World's War. I tried H_____, K_____, L_____, T_____, P_____, and others without results. In February, 1924, I started using Van Ess daily, by April, after finishing my third bottle, I had a good crop of hair showing.

Thinking my baldness conquered, I became neglectful using Van Ess about twice a week, my new proud possession began to disappear. I quickly resumed the daily use of Van Ess, now my hair is getting thicker and longer with new hair appearing daily.

I have impressed on my mind that Van Ess once a day makes the hair stay.

FAVORABLE REPORT MADE ON SUNDAY OBSERVANCE BILL BY THE COMMITTEE

(Special to The Bulletin.)

Hartford, March 25.—"An act concerning the observance of Sunday" is the title of the bill that has been favorably reported by the judiciary committee after being amended in committee.

A bill of similar character was passed at the session of the assembly in 1921, but when it reached Governor Lake he promptly vetoed it. An attempt to pass it over his objections failed.

Again in the session of 1923, the subject came to the front and was the subject of much bitter controversy. The passage of the bill was strongly urged by Major John Buckley, at that time the republican house leader. His contention at that time was that the present law was ignored in all the large cities. It should be enforced or else repealed and a permissive law passed. Major Buckley advanced the same arguments at the committee hearings last week. The bill was opposed by the representatives of churches of all denominations. It is thought the bill stands a good chance of passing.

The bill as amended reads:

Section 1. The selectmen of any town, the mayor and aldermen or common council, as the case may be, of any city, the warden and burgesses of any borough, upon application, may permit the playing of professional baseball or football in such town, city or borough between the hours of two and 6 o'clock in the afternoon on Sundays; provided, upon petition of 20 electors of any such town, city or borough, the selectmen of such town, the mayor of such city or the warden of such borough, as the case may be, shall call a meeting of the electors of such town, city or borough for the purpose of determining whether baseball and football may be played on Sundays, public notice of such meeting and of the time and place of the same shall be given by publishing a copy of such notice in a newspaper having a substantial circulation in such town, city or borough and by posting a copy thereof in the signpost in such town, city or borough at least ten days before such meeting.

Sec. 2. Any person owning or managing any field, park or grounds upon which baseball or football shall have been played in violation of the provisions of this act shall be fined not more than five hundred dollars.

Sec. 3. The provisions of Section 1450 of the general statutes shall not apply to any baseball or football game played under any permit issued pursuant to the provisions of this act.

The bill will be ready for action by the house on Thursday.

Presents Norwich Bill.

Representative Charles W. Cassidy of Norwich presented to the house a petition asking that a special act be received that will permit the city of Norwich to issue bonds to the extent of $1,500,000, the proceeds of the issue to be used for the increase of the water supply of the city.

SENATE

The senate was called to order at 11.30 by Lieutenant Governor Brainard.

Calendar

Passed—Authorizing the governor to appoint a commission of five citizens to consider the matter of establishing a memorial on capitol grounds "to the men and women who gave their lives in the Spanish war, Philippine insurrection and the World war," the commission to serve without compensation but to be allowed expenses, and to report to the next session of the general assembly; authorizing the city of Waterbury to issue water bonds to the amount of $3,200,000.

House bill No. 708, concerning the testing of animals by the department of the commissioner on domestic animals, was continued on the calendar to correct a verbal error discovered by Senator Meech.

The committee on the judiciary reported favorably on a substitute bill concerning the protection of electric storage rental batteries.

HOUSE

Opening of the house was delayed a few minutes today as Speaker Darbie was holding conference with chairmen of major committees as to the state of business before the committees. It was 11:40 when the speaker called the house to order. Prayer was offered by Chaplain Lewis.

A petition was received from the city of Norwich asking for legislation authorizing the city to issue $1,500,000 of water bonds. Referred to the committee on finance.

Under a suspension of rules the house adopted a resolution appointing Harvey M. Kent of Norwalk a commissioner of Fairfield county.

Representative A. B. Lincoln made another fight today for a road to his town, Ashford. The time arrived today to take from the table house bill No. 486, providing an appropriation of $100,000 to complete a section of state aid highway in the town of Mansfield. The bill was before the house on an unfavorable report from the committee on roads, bridges and rivers, which has before it another bill providing for putting this same highway in trunk line system. After some discussion in which House Leader Ailing mentioned "log-rolling," Representative Ashford moved postponement for two weeks. The motion to postpone was opposed by Mr. Lincoln and by Mr. Bell, who said the house could not help but admire the zeal with which Mr. Lincoln had presented his case.

The motion to postpone was lost and then the bill was rejected by an overwhelming vote.

The house concurred with the senate in passing the bill which virtually makes the Mutual Hail Insurance company a part of the Connecticut Valley Tobacco association.

On adverse report by the committee on finance the house rejected bill No. 546 providing for exemption from taxes of the Hebrew Orphan Asylum of New Haven.

Concurrence was voted with the senate in rejecting the equal-rights-in-public-places bill.

Favorable report was made by the judiciary committee on Bill 820, establishing the town court of Waterford; a measure which had been opposed in hearing by Dr. Allyn, of Waterford, a member of the house in the 1923 session. The bill was tabled for calendar.

House bill No. 873, which provides that no priority shall exist in mechanics liens in the distribution of awards of an estate, was passed today although it had been vigorously opposed in hearing by the lumber dealers.

An amendment to the act concerning the holding of town offices was adopted today prohibiting a town treasurer from being secretary or a member of the town school committee. The measure was presented by Mr. Bell of Salisbury, opposed by Mr. Jewett of Hampton, and supported by Mr. Sturges of Woodbury.

Senate bills passed from the calendar were: No. 117, concerning collection of forfeitures on bonds given in the city court of Norwich.

Peter Rabbit's Only Chance

One chance is quite enough if you Decide aright just what to do.
—Peter Rabbit.

Peter Rabbit had formed the habit of dropping around by the new home of Johnny and Polly Chuck very often. He liked to gossip a bit with Johnny Chuck. Then too, he liked the Old Orchard. There was always something of interest going on there. So whenever Peter was near enough to easily do so he ran over where the Chucks were now living.

Now no one can do a thing over and over again for very long without having some one to find it out. Reddy Fox makes it his business to find out the habits of his neighbors. Reddy says that the most useful knowledge he possesses is knowledge of the habits of others. It has filled his stomach more than once, and he knows that it will fill his stomach many times again. So the instant Reddy finds that one of his neighbors has done a certain thing more than once he keeps watch to see if this is the beginning of a habit.

He liked to gossip with Johnny Chuck

So when on two mornings in succession just after daylight, Reddy from a distance caught a glimpse of Peter going toward the corner of the Old Orchard where Johnny and Polly Chuck had made their new home, he began to do a little wondering.

"I must look into this," said Reddy to himself very craftily. "I must look into this. Twice I have been Peter Rabbit over there in the same place. I wonder if he is making a habit of visiting Johnny Chuck? If he is I want to know it. I may be able to corner that long-legged rascal at last." This thought seemed to be a pleasant one, for Reddy smacked his lips two or three times.

The following morning Reddy was hiding where he could see that corner of the old stone wall. Just after jolly red Mr. Sun began his daily climb up in the blue, blue sky Peter Rabbit visited Johnny Chuck. Again the next morning it happened. Reddy grinned. It was a satisfied sort of grin. In fact, Reddy almost chuckled.

On the following morning Reddy was up in the Old Orchard before daylight. Behind the trunk of an old Apple tree he laid down. By peeping around it he could see the entrance to Johnny Chuck's house without much chance of being seen himself.

Just after the Black Shadows left Johnny Chuck came out. He yawned and then, after a look around, went straight to a patch of tender grass and clover only a few feet away from his doorstep and began to eat his breakfast. In a few minutes he was joined by Polly Chuck. Reddy watched them, but he didn't try to catch them. In the first place, he knew that they would reach their house before he could catch one of them. In the second place, Johnny Chuck was too big. Reddy had a great deal of respect for Johnny's teeth and strength. So he merely waited and hoped.

Just as Johnny Chuck finished and sat up for a look around while he chewed the last mouthful of sweet clover Peter Rabbit jumped over the wall at a low place. He jumped over not far from where Reddy Fox lay behind the apple tree and hurried to join Johnny Chuck. Reddy didn't wait for Peter to look around. He sprang out from behind that tree and was after Peter before Peter had a chance even to say good morning to Johnny Chuck.

Peter was in a tight place. Right along there the old stone wall was quite high and solid. There were no openings between the stones big enough for Peter to squeeze through. Peter had one chance and only one. He knew it. He didn't hestate a second. As fast as those long hindlegs of his could take him he started straight for safety. Johnny Chuck and Polly Chuck were starting for it also. Can you guess what is was?

PASTOR GENTER GIVES HIS FINAL MESSAGE

Rev. Myron E. Genter, pastor of the Methodist church in New London for the last seven years, a request for whose appointment as district superintendent of the Norwich district will be presented to the conference at Fall River by the Norwich Ministers meeting, delivered his final report to his church and congregation Sunday night.

In part he said:

"It is now but a few days lacking seven years since we left the city of Providence and came at the request of Former District Superintendent Scrivener, to be the spiritual leader of your interests here.

"Little did any one dream then, of the stupendous task, and overwhelming amount of vital energy would be required for preaching, evangelism, pastoral work, interdenominational activity and in addition the large building enterprise, with such extensive reorganization of groups and program.

"This would have been hard if there had been one or two assistants, but without any trained for that purpose, it has proved an almost man killing enterprise. We do not mean to convey the idea that we have accomplished all that should have been done, nor have we attempted to do what all people wanted to have done. We were not here for their purpose. We have selected the major tasks and achieved with you all that could be wrought, with the limited means available.

"The fact is that all of us have been so close to the task that very few yet can hardly appreciate the grandeur and magnitude of the enterprise, but experts who come and understand, have been lavish in their praise and for a hundred years the institution will go on with power and success.

"It may be proper at this time to say that during the present pastorate we have received 568 persons into full membership and that 479 of these are on the present roll of active membership, or a little more than 67 per cent. of the 705 now enrolled. The roll has been severely pruned and in addition there are now 152 on the non-resident-inactive roll, and 48 of these we have received have been transferred to other churches as they moved away.

"The church program has been greatly expanded, new societies have been organized and old ones re-organized during the last five years. The congregations have become among the largest of our denomination in New England, and the church known as highly co-operative in the community.

Gain in Property Value.

"During this period it has gained in property values more than $100,000, changed its location and by its usefulness is now known far and wide. We have accomplished these things together and for the glory of Christ whom we love.

"The new pastor will have a huge task. His calling list which we have prepared takes him on 676 different streets and roads, more than 600 families will expect him to minister to them and thousands of personal contacts he must maintain.

"I beseech of you that you be kind to him, say good things about him, pray for him and work unitedly with him.

"We have been repeatedly asked, 'Why are you leaving New London?' I think we have made it clear that our denomination makes possible for its pastors to itinerate, or move about, every few years; that the officials of this church voted many years ago that the average pastorate would best be about five years, and that the present board is on record reaffirming that principle, and that there should be no exception in this case, although we are now closing seven years. Some of these officials have been very insistent and when we discovered that we had no desire to remain, and months ago asked for a change of pastorates at this time. We have the kindest of feeling toward everybody, although at times it has been imperative, that in militant righteousness, we rebuke the lawless worldly and unGodly elements which openly and secretly were undermining the social welfare.

"We were glad to come to New London, as a spiritual leader; we have had a hard but happy time as a promoter of righteousness, leading the Methodists in vast increase of members and phenomenal growth of property values.

"We have had a very delightful experience with the other pastors and churches, and people outside of all the churches, here and in the county and the state. We have very deep gratitude for all of the courtesies shown by the churches, Christian associations, press, business men, fraternities and various community groups.

Admits Task Hard.

"We admit that it has been a hard task to maintain the leadership which the situation demanded, with the severe limitations which were imposed, and this is one of the reasons why it is imperative to leave now."

Pastor Genter stated in addition that to maintain his family and the leadership involved, during the seven years, he had actually expended more than $1,200 over and above the salary received during that time, and from savings which should not have been touched. While it might appear that the church has had marked achievements, in spite of its limitations, the pastor does not think that either in spiritual or financial service has the church done all that it could and should have done.

It will not probably be known exactly just where he will be stationed nor who the incoming pastor will be until the last sessions of the conference at Fall River on Monday, March 30. While the Norwich Preachers' meeting has unanimously voted by ballot requesting that Bishop Anderson appoint Mr. Genter as superintendent of that district, which includes supervision of all Methodist interests in this state east of the Connecticut river, with parts of Massachusetts and a few churches in Rhode Island, the actual appointment is not made until then and may not be called certain yet.

NORWICH D. A. R. DELEGATES AT STATE CONVENTION

Faith Trumbull chapter, D. A. R., of this city, is represented at the state convention, now in session at Ansonia, by Mrs. George A. Ashbey, Mrs. A. N. H. Vaughn, Mrs. Herbert W Gallup, Mrs. E. Allen Bidwell, Mrs. George L. Ingalls and Mrs. Archibald Mitchell. Mrs. Lena G. Perkins, who was a delegate from the Norwich chapter was prevented from attending the convention owing to illness.

The convention opened at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon with several hundred delegates present and closes this (Thursday) afternoon.

LARGE INCREASE IN GAME KILLED IN STATE

Reports from about one-third of the licensed hunters in Connecticut in 1923, compiled by the fish and game commission, with estimates based on the returns received indicate that more than 120,000 game birds and 100,000 game and fur bearing animals were killed in 1923. The comparison with the 1922 season, when the first census of game reports, were made showed a large increase in the total number killed in 1923. The 1924 returns are not yet compiled.

In kind of birds killed the largest number was ruffed grouse or partridge, the total being approximately 60,000. Other birds killed by hunters were about 20,000 woodcocks, 13,000 pheasants, 26,000 ducks and 9,000 railbirds.

In fur bearing animals the figures showed that in 1923 there were killed more than 60,000 squirrels, 55,000 rabbits, 40,000 muskrats, 17,000 skunks, 600 hares, 4,000 foxes, 5,000 raccoons, 4,000 mink, twenty lynx and eight otters. Hartford county led in the number of grouse, railbirds, squirrels and muskrats killed.

It is expected the 1924 hunting season will show a falling off in the killing of most of the species named above. There was a shorter hunting period on account of the cessation of all hunting on account of the drought. There were 3,000 less licensed hunters than in the fall of 1923.

There are three bills before the legislature of interest to hunters. One is shorten the hunting season on raccoons in order that they may not be practically exterminated. One bill is to acquire fishing rights for the benefit of the wage earner and a third bill for acquisition of waste lands for reforestation, game refugees and free shooting grounds.

There are now probably 40,000 hunters in the state of whom 32,000 have licenses and the others, who are land owners, do not have to have a license to shoot on their own lands. There are probably 42,000 licensed fishermen.

POETRY

Whittlin'

Whittlin', I contend, should be
Made a law for you an' me;
I'm not jokin' fac's is fac's—
Whittlin' makes your soul relax!

Splittin' wood or sawin' wood,
That don't do a bit o' good,
But just git your knife out—say,
Dreams come back and woes go 'w...

Take, for instance, Sunday when
You wish Monday'd come again;
Tired o' wimmen an' their whine—
Just go hunt a piece o' pine!

Then squat down most anywhere,
In your shop or on th' square;
Set an' whittle, set an' scheme—
Best of all—just set an' dream.

Let th' filmy shavin's fly,
Lurin' back th' days gone by;
Maybe think of friends you knew,
Boyhood whittler—same as you.

Maybe think of knives you've had,
Knives as good as this one's bad;
Yet, were willer trees about,
You'd soon carve a whistle out.

Oh, I tell you, whittlin' brings
Memory back on golden wings;
Lose th' saw an' hide the ax—
Whittlin' makes your soul relax!

On a Midsummer Eve

I idly cut a parsley stalk,
And blew therein towards the moon;
I had not thought what ghosts would walk
With shivering footsteps to my tune.

I went, and knelt, and scooped my hand
As if to drink, into the brook,
And a faint figure seemed to stand
Above me, with the bygone look.

I lipped rough rhymes of chance and choice,
I thought not what my words might be;
There came into my ear a voice
That turned a tenderer verse for me.

Berlin is at last turning to the motor traffic, though the number of motor cars used is still smaller than in an average American city. Berlin, with its more than 4,000,000 inhabitants, had in July, 1923, only 31,153 motor vehicles, which included everything from motor lorries and trucks to smallest one-seaters and limousines. Up to the end of 1924 this number had more than doubled. Berlin now has 44,000 motor vehicles. There are eight motor accidents a day on the average and in the course of last year eighty-four people were killed and 1,784 injured.

ATTEMPT AT NEW LONDON TO ROB ROOMS OF CROCKER HOUSE LODGERS

(Special to The Bulletin.)

New London, March 25.—What is believed to have been an attempt to rob two roomers at the Crocker house occurred early this morning, for it is alleged that a crook entered one of the rooms of two lodgers on the top floor of the hotel, by walking along the cornice, but he managed to make his escape when he saw that one of the roomers had been aroused.

About 5 o'clock one of the lodgers declares that he was awakened by a peculiar noise and looking about the room saw a fellow near a dresser. Before the seemer could rise the crook is alleged to have run to a window that had been left open and passing through it stepped to the cornice around the fifth floor, climbed to the roof and made his escape. The roomer telephoned the hotel office what had occurred and Night Clerk George Surzis notified the police. Sergeant Patrick Murphy and Patrolman George Laboue were dispatched to the hotel where they conducted a thorough search of the several floors and the roof. The roomers stated that the crook was not successful in obtaining any of their effects.

Mrs. Mary H. Rodgers, 37, wife of Private Samuel W. Rodgers stationed at Fort H. G. Wright, died at her residence, Fishers Island, late yesterday of anaemia. Mrs. Rodgers is survived besides her husband, by her mother, Mrs. Mary Hartigan, of Taunton, Mass., and by a daughter, Mary Louise Rodgers.

The Yale Candy Kitchen, Bank street, was entered by thieves last night, it was discovered this morning when the place was opened for business and from the nature of the break and the plunder obtained it is apparent that the culprits are of the juvenile type, a class of crooks that the police have been forced to cope with for some time. Entrance to the place was gained by smashing a rear window and the only plunder obtained was a small quantity of candy.

Sergeant John Cavanaugh is in New York today as a witness in the United States district court there in the case of James Maynard, charged with the theft of property from the United States government at Fort H. G. Wright, Fishers Island. Sergeant Cavanaugh worked on the case, but Maynard was not arrested in New London, having been taken into custody in another c[illegible]

At the time of the theft at Fort Wright an officer at the post notified the police of the fact that the suspect was seen to leave the fort in a small motor boat and it was believed he would land in New London where an effort might be made to dispose of the plunder. When the boat was located in Shaw's cove Sergeant Cavanaugh was on hand waiting, and Maynard on his arrival at the cove was taken into custody. Some of the plunder alleged to have been stolen was found.

Lafayette Starr, 85, formerly of New London and for many years a resident of Norwich, is a patient at the Lawrence hospital, suffering from general shock and three fractured ribs which he sustained late yesterday when he was struck by an automobile owned and operated by Joseph Whitelaw of Lyme, while Mr. Starr was walking along the highway on his way to his home at Bates cove. Mr. Starr is a member of W. W. Perkins Post, G. A. R., this city.

Mr. Starr went yesterday forenoon to Norwich where he visited relatives. During the afternoon he returned to New London and later boarded a bus to go to his home. When the bus reached a point near the former car house of the East Lyme Electric railway, Mr. Starr alighted. After stepping to the highway he started to walk to the opposite side of the road, just as the automobile driven by Whitelaw was about to pass. Mr. Starr's sight is poor and he failed to see the approaching automobile with the result that he was struck and hurled to the ground. Whitelaw realized that Mr. Starr was seriously injured. He was placed in the automobile and rushed to the hospital.

Mrs. Patrick L. Shea, of Squire street; Miss Marjorie Lang, Montauk avenue; Mrs. John Farrell, Williams street; Mrs. Holger Dahlgian, Mystic; Mrs. Lillian Gallup, Montauk avenue, and Mrs. Angelo Drago, of Crystal avenue, were patients discharged today at Lawrence-Memorial Associated hospital.

Edward Dugan, of Crystal avenue; Morris Levine, Belden street; Mrs. Maurice Barco and infant son, West Colt street; James Keefe, Warren street; Miss Alice Eccleston, Mystic, and Mrs. Norbert McIntyre, Cottage street, patients at Home Memorial hospital, were able to return to their respective homes today.

The police court today rid the city of three undesirables, when Judge Prince sent Charles Davis to the workhouse for a stay of 30 days and committed Edward Hickey to jail for 10 days and John Mack for 10 days. These men are of the species called tramps in the year before the world war. They go about without visible means of support and "toil not, neither do they spin." Their purpose in life appears to be to get on without working. They beg and they are accused of getting what they obtain in an easier way. Booze seems to be their food as well as their drink. The gang tried today had a bottle partially filled with denatured alcohol and from this one of them declared they had been drinking. They even said that one of them had the bottle in his pocket all night for he was not searched when locked up. The gang was on Main street yesterday where they held up a commercial traveler so offensively that he complained to Traffic Officer Clyde Murphy. The latter followed the gang through State, Green and Golden streets, but could not detect them in the act of soliciting money. The other police officers were given the tip and they traced the gang to railroad property where they were having a feast on doughnuts and bologna, which Davis declared he bought. He also had the confidence to tell the court that his brother in Worcester remitted to him the money he needed, saying that he received $10 two or three times a month. Davis has been before the court many times in the past ten years, for he seems to travel about this part of the state only. Hickey is an old-timer, too. He has been arrested for intoxication a score of times and once he served time for highway robbery. He always pleads not guilty and tells a story of being employed on farms. Rarely does his defense suffice to keep him out of jail. Mack is not so familiar to the police, but he is not a stranger. He has before been in the court. Today he was sent away for about 30 days.

Charged with operating his Studebaker touring car while under the influence of liquor, Harry J. Markle, 6 Broadway, Mystic, proprietor of a trucking business, was arrested late last night in Groton, following the car he was operating crashing into a machine owned by Frank Howes, on Thames street, Groton, and operated by Michael Reon, 118 Thames street, also Groton. Markle was released from custody this morning on furnishing a surety on his bond of $200 for his appearance in the Groton town court next Monday morning.

Markle's car was being operated in a westerly direction on Thames street and when near the corner of Ledyard avenue, the machine operated by Reon and traveling in the opposite direction in which Markle's car was operated, crashed head-on against Howes' auto, both cars being damaged and Reon sustaining an injured hand. The state police barracks were notified and Officer Bodnick and Morse were dispatched to the scene of the collision and with an investigation by the officers, Markle was placed under arrest.

Colin A. Buell, principal of the Wilcox Memorial institute, and residing at 28 Russell street, reported to the police this evening that while he was operating his automobile on Broad street it struck a dog and killed it.

An automobile, owned and driven by John D. Avery, automobile salesman, struck and injured George Tolosh, a youth residing at 35 Church street, this evening, on Main street, near Federal street. The youth was taken to the office of a physician where his wounds, consisting of lacerations and bruises, were dressed. The boy was riding a bicycle and was knocked from the wheel.

Muse Allard, 73 Belden street, was arrested at his home early this evening by Traffic Officers Clyde Murphy and William Corcoran, charged by his wife with breach of the peace and intoxication. He was locked up pending the convening of the police court tomorrow morning. Allard was taken into custody March 5, charged with the same offense and the following day he was fined $10 and sentenced to 10 days in jail, but the execution of the jail sentence was suspended. Allard went to his home tonight at the conclusion of his day's labors and was in an ugly mood from too much drink. He engaged in a quarrel with his wife and when the husband's actions caused neighbors to be attracted the wife sought and obtained Allard's arrest.

City Manager William A. Holt, who attended the funeral services of his brother-in-law, Henry B. Chandler in South Weymouth, Mass., today, will be at his desk at the police station tomorrow and, it is understood, that he will then endeavor to arrange a date for the hearing, as requested by Patrolman Patrick Sheehan. Patrolman Sheehan stated tonight that he intended to go through with the investigation of his past conduct and that those who have maligned him will be compelled to make retraction and admit the falsity of their statements.

The members of the city council were to have held a meeting this evening to consider the budget and hear any objections that might be offered to the expenditures as proposed, but because of the absence of City Manager Holt, who is in attendance upon the funeral of a relative out of the city the meeting was postponed.

It is understood that Simon Green and his counsel mean to urge a decision on his application to erect a business building on his land at 20 Williams street. They claim that every requirement of the building code has been met and that there is no justification in withholding the permission asked for.

James Lyman, ticket taker at the Capitol theatre, has resumed his duties, after having been confined to his home at Quaker Hill, several days because of illness.

ONCE AGAIN SLOOP ANNA SEIZED WITH RUM CARGO

(Special to The Bulletin.)

New London, March 25.—While proceeding through the Sound early this morning, the sloop Anna, from Gloucester, Mass., laden with 500 cases of liquor, was seized by the crew of the coast guard patrol boat 234. The captive craft and her crew of five were brought into port and late this afternoon the crew were given a hearing before United States Commissioner Earl Mathewson of Norwich at the customs house. The crew described themselves as Eddie Anderson, Brooklyn, N. Y., master; John Bobear, Gloucester, and Ole Johnson, William Sorenson and Tom Hansen, all of Brooklyn. Anderson was released on providing a surety on his bond of $1,500 and the remainder of the crew furnished a bond of $500 each.

The Anna, which was moored at the coast guard pier under guard, is no stranger to the rum-chasing crews out of this port for the craft was seized the latter part of last summer and the crew held for trial in the United States district court.

The Anna this morning was headed westward, probably for New York, when the crew of the 234 sighted her, about a mile and a half off Hatchett's Point, a location in the Sound where several rum-laden craft have been seized the past week. The crew of the Anna being signaled to bring the craft to a stop, the crew of 234 took charge of the rum-runner and brought her into port.

IN COOPERATION WITH THE NATIONAL GUARD

NORWICH PETITION FOR WATER BONDS ISSUE

A petition from the city of Norwich for permission to issue $1,500,000 in bonds for the purpose of increasing its water supply was presented in the house at Hartford Wednesday by Representative Charles W. Cassidy and was referred to the finance committee.

Those signing the petition were Representatives Charles W. Cassidy and George G. Engler, Mayor Milo R. Waters, John J. Corkery, president of the board of water commissioners, Corporation Counsel William H. Shields, Jr., Arthur E. Story, a member of the board of water commissioners, and Judge Nelson J. Ayling, representing the trustees of the Norwich State hospital.

The following is the text of the petition:

The undersigned respectfully request that the general assembly consider and pass the proposed act hereinafter set forth.

The city of Norwich has not at present a water supply sufficient for a sure dependable supply of water in dry years for its inhabitants and the inhabitants of the territory supplied by it, including portions of the town of Norwich outside the city limits and the Norwich State hospital located in the town of Preston. The two reservoirs of the city have not filled during the present year and it seems that action must be taken towards securing a further supply of water it will be necessary that the city issue bonds. The Board of water commissioners of the city of Norwich at a meeting held February 27th, 1925, adopted the following resolution:

"Resolved, that application be made to the present general assembly meeting at Hartford, that the city of Norwich be permitted to issue bonds to the amount of one million five hundred thousand dollars ($1,500,000) for the purpose of increasing its water supply, on condition that the citizens in city meeting approve of said action."

The said resolution was approved at a regular meeting of the court of common council of the city of Norwich held March 2nd, 1925. We therefore respectfully pray that the general assembly pass the following proposed act or such other legislation as will permit the city of Norwich to issue bonds for the raising of money for a further permanent water supply for said city:

Proposed Act

Section 1. The city of Norwich in New London county, is hereby authorized and empowered to issue from time to time bonds, in the name and upon the faith and credit of the said city, to an amount not exceeding in the aggregate one million five hundred thousand dollars, bearing interest, payable semi-annually at a rate not greater than five per cent. per annum, the principal of said bonds to be payable at some certain time or times not exceeding ten years from the date of the respective issuances thereof. Said bonds shall not be issued at less than par and the funds realized from the sale thereof shall be applied to the payment of the expenses which may be incurred by the board of water commissioners of said city in providing an additional permanent supply of water for the convenience and use of the inhabitants of said city and of the inhabitants of any other territory which may be entitled to the convenience and use of said additional permanent supply of water, including in such expenses those incurred by taking by eminent domain or acquiring by purchase lands, waters, ponds, streams, water rights, water-ways and necessary pipe-ways, property, privileges, and franchises, and also such expenses as may be incurred by building dams, reservoirs, pipelines and other structures and apparatus pertaining thereto, and also such expense as may be necessarily incurred in the alteration or abandonment of highways in connection with the providing of said permanent supply of water or in anything necessary for the providing of such supply of water.

It may be stipulated in such bonds that the principal and interest shall be payable in gold coin of the United States of America of or equal to the present standard of weight and fineness and such bonds shall be dominated, "Water bonds of the city of Norwich, issue of————————19——"

Section 2. No bonds shall be issued under the provisions of this act unless their issuance be first approved and authorized by vote of an annual or special city meeting of the city of Norwich duly warned for that purpose.

Section 3. The court of common council of said city of Norwich is authorized to prescribe, subject to the limitations of this act, the several and aggregate amounts of such bonds, the form of the saem, the rate of interest form of the same, the times and places of paying said interest and principal, and the person or persons who shall execute the same for and on behalf of said city. Said court of common council shall also prescribe whether said bonds shall all be issued at one time or in different lots, as may be deemed necessary, and shall provide for the sale and negotiation of said bonds, which when executed in the manner so prescribed, and issued and delivered by said city or by its officers or agents duly appointed by said court of common council, shall be obligatory on said city and upon the inhabitants thereof according to the tenor and purport of the same.

Section 4. Such bonds as may be issued under the provisions of this act being for and on account of the water supply of said city may be issued by said city without regard to its indebtedness or the percentage of its grand list that its indebtedness may be.

Section 5. This act shall take effect from its passage.

Your petitioners further respectfully request that a hearing be given them on said proposed act.

EDWARD J. CRAWFORD FIGURES IN N. Y. REAL ESTATE BUY

Edward J. Crawford, of New York, whose home is on Union street, Norwich, negotiated a big real estate deal this week in a purchase from Maillard, the chocolate millionaire.

A New York paper says regarding the transfer:

Charles Lane bought from Henry Maillard of Paris, France, 113 to 118 West Twenty-fifth street and 113 to 117 West Twenty-fifth street, a plot containing about 16,000 square feet, with a street frontage of 160 feet, and located 140 feet west of Sixth avenue. The plot is improved with five and six story buildings, leased to the Henry Maillard Company on a net rental basis until May 1, 1926, but possession can be obtained. The property was valued at $275,000.

Edward J. Crawford of the Charles F. Noyes Company, broker in the deal, commenting on the sale, said: "I believe Mr. Lane has purchased one of the cheapest properties in the midtown district. At a price less than $2,000 per running foot, Mr. Lane's purchase compares favorably with any of the numerous sales made between Sixth and Eighth avenues from Twenty-third to Forty-second streets. Values further north have advanced from $4,000 to $5,000 per running foot between Seven and Eighth avenues, Thirty-fourth to Forty-second street."

New England Health Institute.

The schedule of courses for the New England Health Institute to be held in Portland, Maine, May 4-9 has just been announced. As usual the days are full of interesting discussions. Seemingly every phase of health work is to be considered.

From five to nine lectures have been set aside for each, so one who attends can make a real study of special subjects or obtain general information by attending one or two each.

Kills Catarrh Germ In Three Minutes

Chronic catarrh, no matter how bad, and cases of bronchial asthma, now yield instantly to the amazing discovery of a French scientist. This drugless method called Lavex kills the germ in three minutes, yet it is positively harmless to the most delicate tissues. Your head and lungs are cleared like magic. Sufferers are relieved in a single night.

To prove it and to introduce Lavex to a million sufferers in one month, I offer to send a treatment free and postpaid, to any one who will write for it. No obligation. No cost. If it cures you, you can repay the favor by telling your friends—if not, the loss is mine. No matter what you have tried, just send me your name and address for this generous free treatment and prove that you can be rid of catarrh.

RECOVERY IN MARKET.

New York, March 25.—Constructive forces were at work in today's stock market which registered impressive recovery from recent weakness. The complete reversal of form was widely attributed to the appearance of strong banking support for high grade investmen shares, many of which closed at net gains of 1 to 5 points.

Buying orders were well distributed throughout the list at th eopening, more than fifty issues showing gains of a point or more in the first half hour. Bear traders attempted to unsettle the general list around the end of the first hour by launching an attack on Union Pacific, which was hammered down to a new low record for the year at 135 5-8. This brought about some profit-taking by traders who brought stocks yesterday "for a turn," but all offerings were well absorbed. The market quieted down in the early afternoon but became active and strong in the final hour when many issues recorded their best prices of the day.

The February report of the Southern Railway Company, published today, which showed a gain of $283,453 in net operating income over the same month last year despite the drop of $77,433 in gross, was in pleasing contrast to the Union Pacific report, which contributed largely to yesterday's weakness in the Northwestern railroad group.

Substantial gains were recorded by all the so-called pivotal industrial shares. United States Steel common closed 1 3-4 points higher at 119 after fluctuating between 117 3-4 and 119 1-4. American Can touched 172 3-4 and then eased off to 171 5-8, up 3 1-8. Baldwin showed a net gain of 3 1-2 at 119 1-4 after having crossed 120.

United States Cast Iron Pipe soared ten points to 189 and then dropped back to 185. Net gains of 3 to 5 1-2 points were recorded by Air Reduction, American Agricultural Chemical preferred, American Bosch Magneto, American Car and Foundry, American Express, American Locomotive, Central Leather preferred, Du Pont, Mack Trucks, the Maxwell Motor issues, Gulf States Steel, Loose Wiles Biscuit, R. H. Macy, Martin Parry, Nash Motors, Otis Elevator, Remington Typewriter, Savage Arms, Schulte Stores, and United States Industrial Alcohol.

Local tractions were bid up sharply on the news that the so-called Hylan Bus bill had been killed by the state assembly. Interborough Rapid Transit closed four points higher at 70 and Brooklyn-Manhattan Transit was run up 3 1-2 points to 88 3-4.

Rails rallied in sympathy with the industrials but the gains were so extensive, due to the weakness arising from the heavy liquidation of the Grangers, Chicago Great Western preferred, Denver and Rio Grande, Western preferred and Texas and Pacific each climbed about two points while New York Central, Atchison, Baltimore and Ohio, Northern Pacific, New Haven, Southern Railway and most of the other active issues gained a point or more. Union Pacific showed a net loss of two points at 137.

Call money held steady at 3 1-2 per cent. Time money and commercial paper rates were unchanged in quiet trading.

Foreign exchanges displayed a firm tone. Demand sterling and French francs ruled slightly higher around 4.78 1-4 and 5.24 cents respectively. Norwegian kroner made a new high above 15.50 cents, but was unable to maintain their gain. Danish exchange also established a new maximum above 18.20.

A THREE DAYS' COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Chronic coughs and persistent colds lead to serious lung trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with twofold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and kills the germ.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by the medical fraternity as the greatest healing agency for the treatment of chronic coughs and colds and other forms of throat and lung troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and destroys the germ that lead to consumption.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of chronic coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, catarrhal bronchitis and other forms of throat and lung diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or the flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold, no matter of how long standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. Creomulsion Co., Atlanta, Ga. (Adv.)

In Loving Memory of WILLIAM E. BROSOFSKE

We miss thee from our home, dear [illegible]
A vacant chair [illegible] from thy place.
A shadow o'er [illegible] life is cast,
Where [illegible] the sunshine of thy face.
We miss thy kind and willing hand,
Thy kind and earnest care,
Thy home is dark without thee.

GREENEVILLE

A large congregation filled St. Andrew's church last Sunday evening when the choir of St. Nicholas' Russian Orthodox church sang in the Russian tongue the Psalms, anthems, and canticles of the Orthodox church. The St. Andrew's choir from the front pews sang the English parts of the service while the choir stalls being occupied by the visitors.

Alfred Brucksch at the organ was in charge of the English music and by request played as an organ solo Buchel's Meditation.

Simeon Andreyeff the Russian director led his choir through the difficult minor music of the church singing the tenor parts. As in the Orthodox church, the Russian choir sang without instruments but even those accustomed to the sound of the organ did not feel its absence so excellent was the vocal harmony.

GAMBLING RAID BY LONE OFFICER NETS CARDS, MONEY AND FIVE PRISONERS

Officer Peter Driscoll, single handed, staged a raid on an alleged gambling joint in the Carroll building Wednesday night about 11:15 o'clock and landed five prisoners at police headquarters, besides securing a pack of cards and ninety cents in money. Officer Driscoll, who has the night beat on Main street, learning that gambling was going on in the place and not wishing to lose valuable time by waiting for help from headquarters, went into the Carroll building, alone, and climbing to the top floor, surprised nine men in the room.

There was a scramble to get the telltale money and cards off the table and out of sight, but Officer Driscoll quickly grabbed the cards and got ninety cents in money. Only four of the nine men in the room got away, the other five being arrested by the officer and escorted to police headquarters. At the police desk they gave the following names: James Bush, colored, 42; LeRoy Lacey, colored, 27; Anthony Norra, white, 23; Benny Wisniewski, white, 20; Leslie Santos, colored, 19.

All were booked by Captain Thomas Murphy on charges of frequenting a gambling house and bonds were set at $25 in each case. It is alleged that the place was being conducted by Peter Frost of the West Side. Frost was not in the place when the lone officer made his unexpected appearance in the room. It is said that Frost had left Benny Wisniewski and Leslie Santos, two of the five men gathered in by Officer Driscoll, in charge of the place during his absence. The cases of the five men will come up before the city court this (Thursday) morning.

A warrant is out for the arrest of Frost on a charge of maintaining a gambling house.

While officers, armed with the warrant, were out searching for Frost, he walked into the police station about one o'clock this morning and wanted to knew if the police were looking for him. He denied that there was gambling going on at the place.

Frost said that the room is rented by a social club, recently organized, and of which he is the treasurer. He was booked on a charge of being proprietor of the place and his bond was set at $100.

GIVES EXPERT ADVICE ON GROWING CHICKS

Twenty-eight people interested in poultry raising attended the quarterly poultry meeting, held Wednesday evening at the Farm Bureau office in the Shannon building.

Prof. R. E. Jones of the Extension Department of the Connecticut Agricultural college at Storrs gave an interesting and instructive talk on Feeding and Growing Chicks for Profit, stressing particularly the care that chicks should have for the first two weeks. He stated that without a good start during the first two weeks it is hard to expect to raise a strong healthy flock.

Prof. Jones also spoke on the use of milk as feed for chicks and recommended the following mash and grain ration; mash, bran, 200; corn meal, 100; middlings, 100; ground oats, 100; beef scrap, 50; bone meal, 25; milk (sour). Scratch, fine corn, 150; fine wheat, 150; cut oatmeal, 100. This ration, he said, can be changed with good results by reversing the amounts of bran and corn meal. Prof. Jones also stated that it is advisable to feed cod liver oil when the chicks are small and cannot get outside, giving the following proportions—use one pint of cod liver oil to 100 of mash or grain.

This is fed for leg weakness, but if chicks get 45 minutes of sunshine per day one is safe against leg weakness. In feeding the above ration, Prof. Jones stated that grain and milk should be fed one week, then start in on mash.

If commercal chick starter containing milk is fed follow directions given for that feed, which ordinarily means starter for one week and then begin feeding grain.

A ration recommended by Dr. Harpin of the Wisconsin Experimental station, which is getting good results about the state, is as follows; corn meal, 80; middlings 20; bone meal, 5; ground lime stone, 5; salt, 1; milk (sour). No scratch grain is fed as this furnishes what is obtained in green food also. Corn is very important feed and Dr. Harpin claims less mortality with this feed than with others used. Much care should be exercised in preventing disease. Brood chicks on new ground and coops should be kept clean.

Following his talk, Prof. Jones showed a number of slides on winter broiler production in this state and in New Hampshire, explaining the methods used for this line of poultry raising.

Given Shower by Blue Birds

A miscellaneous shower was given Mrs. Earle Whitehead at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Zahn of ourth street Tuesday evening by the Blue Birds and a few of her friends. Music and singing were enjoyed during the evening after which dainty refreshments were served by the hostess. Mrs. Whitehead received many beautiful gifts including cut glass, linen, pottery and aluminum.

Divorce For Love Song Actress

Margaret Louise MacLeod of Norwich, an actress now playing in "The Love Song," a musical comedy, in New York City, was granted a divorce from her husband, Malcolm L. MacLeod, by Judge Isaac Wolfe in the superior court, Wednesday at New Haven. Desertion one month after their marriage in South Norwalk, Conn., June 29, 1921, was alleged. The case was uncontested.

Connecticut College

Dr. John Finley, editor of the New York Times, was the last lecturer of the season for the Art of Living Series at Connecticut College in the gymnasium on Tuesday afternoon, March 24, at two o'clock. President Marshall said in introducing the speaker that we might well have a man of such extraordinary powers as the last speaker at the series for Art of Living as well as at the same time one of the speakers at convocation. Dr. Finley spoke on The Right Use of Leisure, saying that he thought that of all the important things that might be advocated in lectures on the art of living the most important one to his way of thinking was the proper use of leisure. As civilization advances this is more and more apparent. Dr. Finley quoted extensively from "Pippa Passes." He especially quoted the part in which she asks that her one day, her only day of leisure during the whole year be fair, so that from this one glorious day she might gather strength to work for the remaining days.

Each day, Dr. Finley claimed is divided into three parts, the work day, the sleep day, and the day of leisure. It is of the last that we should make use as best we can and not waste a precious minute of it. Leisure in labor can aid to help people in the business of life. The one who combines the art or profession with the thing that they like best to do in life is indeed getting the best use of the leisure, combining the work of life with its play. He said of Edison that he slept only four hours a night. The reason for this was, said Dr. Finley, not that Edison worked for the other twenty hours, but only two out of the twenty. The other eighteen Edison used for thinking over the work he must do in those next two work hours. The best use of leisure, concluded Dr. Finley, is to develop one's character, to feed one's soul, and to make use of one's creative and appreciative

BATH STREET SHOE REPAIRER TO RETIRE

Paul Peloquin, for 30 years engaged in the shoe repairing business at No. 17 Bath street, will retire from business the end of this week. Mr. Peloquin's store on Bath street has been a familiar sight for years. He said Wednesday that he appreciates the past patronage of his many friends during his long business career. He resides at No. 26 Fowler avenue.

Comfort Circle Meets

When Comfort Circle of the King's Daughters met Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. J. H. Allen, 76 Church street, there was an attendance of fifteen members and five children. The leader, Mrs. Stanton W. Brown was in charge of the meeting. Mrs. Allen played the accompaniments for the hymns. Mrs. Lucy Green gave out the work for the next meeting, which is to be held with Mrs. William B. Lathrop of Maple street. Mrs. Frank I. Dodge read a very interesting letter from Mrs. Orville Rector regarding the Fanny Crosby memorial home to be erected at Bridgeport.

Following the meeting Mrs. Allen served fruit salad, crackers and tea.

NUMBER FOUR

have jurisdiction over that part of the town outside of any city or borough contained herein.

Section 2. Districts. For any or all of said purposes the said zoning authority may divide the municipality into districts of such number, shape and area as may be deemed best suited to carry out the purposes of this act; and within such districts it may regulate and restrict the erection, construction, reconstruction, alteration or use of buildings or structures and the use of land. All such regulations shall be uniform for each class or kind of buildings structures or uses throughout each district, but the regulations in one district may differ from those in other districts.

Section 3. Purposes in View. Such regulations shall be made in accordance with a comprehensive plan and be designed to lessen congestion in the streets; to secure safety from fire, panic and other dangers; to promote health and the general welfare; to provide adequate light and air; to prevent the overcrowding of land; to avoid undue concentration of population; to facilitate the adequate provision of transportation, water, sewerage, schools, parks and other public requirements. Such regulations shall be made with reasonable consideration, among other things, as to the character of the district and its peculiar suitability for particular uses, and with a view to conserving the value of buildings and encouraging the most appropriate use of land throughout such municipality.

Section 4. Method of Procedure. Such zoning authority shall provide for the manner in which such regulations and restrictions and the boundaries of such districts shall be determined, supplemented or changed. However, no such regulation, restriction or boundary shall become effective until after a public hearing in relation thereto, held by the zoning authority or a committee thereof appointed for that purpose consisting of at least five members, at which parties in interest and citizens shall have an opportunity to be heard. At least fifteen days' notice of the time and place of such hearing shall be published in a newspaper of general circulation in such municipality.

Section 5. Changes. Such regulations, restrictions and boundaries may from time to time be amended, supplemented, changed, modified or repealed by such zoning authority. In case, however, of a protest against such change signed by the owners of twenty per cent. or more of the area of the lots included in such proposed change, or of those immediately adjacent in the rear thereof extending 100 feet therefrom, or of those directly opposite thereto extending 100 feet from the street frontage of such opposite lots, such amendment shall not become effective except by the unanimous favorable vote of the zoning authority where such zoning authority is a zoning commission, and of three-fourths of all the members of any other such zoning authority. The provisions of the previous section relative to public hearings and official notice shall apply equally to all chances or amendments.

Section 6. Zoning Commission. In order that any such municipality whose zoning authority is not and may not be a zoning commission shall avail itself of the powers conferred by this act, the chief executive officer of such municipality shall appoint a commission to be known as the Zoning commission to recommend the boundaries of the various original districts and appropriate regulations to be enforced therein. Such commission shall make a preliminary report and hold public hearings thereon before submitting its final report; and said zoning authority shall not hold its public hearings or take action until it has received the final report of such commission. The commission on the city plan, or other duly constituted planning board of such municipality may be appointed as the Zoning commission.

Section 7. Board of Appeals. There shall be a Board of appeals consisting of five members, and when said board is first appointed, one member shall be appointed to serve for one year, one member for two years, one member for three years, one member for four years, and one member for five years, and thereafter one member shall be appointed to said board annually for a term of five years at the time members of other commissions are appointed in said municipality. The members of said Board of appeals shall be appointed by the zoning commission wherever the zoning authority is or may be a zoning commission, but in other municipalities by the chief executive officer, with the approval of four members of such zoning authority, but before any member of said Board of appeals shall be removed, charges against him shall be presented to him in writing and he shall be given reasonable opportunity to be heard in his own defense. Vacancies shall be filled for the unexpired term of any member whose place has become vacant. All meetings of the Board of appeals shall be held at the call of the chairman and at such other times as such board may determine. Such chairman, or in his absence the acting chairman, may administer oaths and compel the attendance of witnesses. All meetings of such board shall be open to the public, showing the vote of each member upon every question, or if absent or failing to vote, indicating such fact; and shall also keep records of its examinations and other official actions. Every rule, regulation, every amendment or repeal thereof, and every order, requirement decision or determination of the board shall immediately be filed in the office of the board and shall be a public record.

Such Board of appeals shall hear and decide appeals from, and may review, modify, or reverse, any order, requirement, decision or determination made by an administrative official charged with the enforcement of any ordinance, rule or resolution adopted pursuant to this act. It shall also hear and decide all matters referred to it or upon which it is required to pass under any such ordinance, rule or resolution. The concurring vote of four members of the board shall be necessary to reverse any order, requirement, decision or determination of any such administrative official, or to decide in favor of the applicant any matter upon which it is required to pass under any such ordinance, rule or resolution, or to effect any variation in such ordinance. Such appeal may be taken by any person aggrieved or by any officer, department, board or bureau of the municipality.

Such appeal shall be taken within such time as shall be prescribed by the board of appeals by general rule, by filing with the officer from whom the appeal is taken and with the board of appeals a notice of appeal, specifying the grounds thereof. The officer from whom the appeal is taken shall forthwith transmit to the board all the papers constituting the record upon which the action appealed from was taken.

An appeal shall stay all proceedings in furtherance of the action appealed from, unless the officer from whom the appeal is taken shall certify to the board of appeals after the notice of appeal shall have been filed with him that by reason of facts stated in the certificate a stay would, in his opinion, cause imminent peril to life or property, in which case proceedings shall not be stayed otherwise than by a restraining order which may be granted by a court of record on application, on notice to the officer from whom the appeal is taken and on due cause shown.

The board of appeals shall fix a reasonable time for the hearing of any appeal and give due notice thereof to the parties and to the public, and decide the same within a reasonable time. Upon the hearing, any party may appear in person and may be reverse or affirm, wholly or partly, or may modify the order, requirement, decision or determination appealed from, and shall make such order, requirement, decision or determination as in its opinion ought to be made in the premises, and to that end shall have all the powers of the officer from whom the appeal is taken. Where there is practical difficulty or unnecessary hardship in the way of carrying out the strict letter of such ordinance, the board of appeals shall have the power in passing upon appeals, to vary or modify the application of any of the regulations or provisions of such ordinance relating to the use, construction, re-construction or alteration of buildings or structures or the use of land, so that the spirit of the ordinance shall be observed, public safety and welfare secured and substantial justice done.

Any person or persons severally or jointly aggrieved by any decision of the board of appeals, or any officer, department, board or bureau of the municipality, charged with the enforcement of any order, requirement, decision or determination of said board of appeals, may within fifteen days from the date when such decision shall have been rendered take an appeal to the court of common pleas or superior court of the county in which such municipality is located, which appeal shall be made returnable to court in the same manner as that prescribed for the commencement of civil actions brought to such courts. Notice of such appeal shall be given by leaving a true and attested copy thereof with such board within twelve days before the return day to which such appeal shall have been taken. The appeal shall state the ground or reasons upon which it is predicated and shall not stay proceedings upon the decision appealed from, but the court to which such appeal is returnable may on application, on notice to the board and on due cause shown, grant a restraining order. The authority issuing the citation in such appeal shall take from the appellant, unless such appellant be an official of the municipality, a bond of recognisance to such board with surety to prosecute such appeal to effect and comply with and conform to the orders and decrees of the court.

The board of appeals shall be required to return either the original papers acted upon by it, and constituting the record of the case appealed from, or certified copies thereof.

The court upon such appeal shall review the proceedings of the board of appeals, and if, upon the hearing of such appeal, it shall appear to the court that testimony is necessary for the proper disposition of the appeal, it may take disposition or appoint a referee or committee to take such evidence, as it may direct, and report the same to the court with his findings of fact and conclusions of law, which report shall constitute a part of the proceedings upon which the determination of the court shall be made. The court upon such appeal, and after a trial or hearing thereon, may reverse or affirm, wholly or partly, or may modify or revise the decision brought up on appeal.

Costs shall not be allowed against the board of appeals unless it shall appear to the court that it acted with gross negligence, or in bad faith, or with malice, in making the decision appealed from.

Appeals from the decision of said board shall be privileged cases to be heard by the court, unless good cause is shown to the contrary, as soon after the return day as is practicable.

Section 8. Remedies. In case any building or structure is erected, constructed, reconstructed, altered, converted or maintained, or any building, structure or land is used, in violation of this act or of any ordinance, rule, resolution or other regulation made under authority conferred thereby, any proper local authority of the municipality, in addition to other remedies, may institute any appropriate action or proceedings to prevent such unlawful erection, construction, reconstruction, alteration, conversion, maintenance or use, to restrain, correct or abate such violation, to prevent the occupancy of said building, structure or land or to prevent any illegal act, conduct, business or use in or about such premises.

Said regulations shall be enforced by the officer, or official board, or authority designated therein, who is empowered to cause any building, structure, place or premises to be inspected and examined and to order in writing the remedying of any condition found to exist therein or thereat in violation of any provision of the regulations made under authority of this act. The owner or general agent of a building or premises where a violation of any provision of said regulations has been committed or shall exist, or the lessee or tenant of an entire building or entire premises where such violation has been committed or shall exist, or the owner, general agent, lessee or tenant of any part of the building or premises in which such violation has been committed or shall exist, or the general agent, architect, builder, contractor or any other person who commits, takes part or assists in any such violation or who maintains any building or premises in which any such violation shall exist shall be guilty of a misdemeanor punishable by a fine of not less than ten dollars and not more than one hundred dollars for each and every day that such violation continues, but if the offense be wilful, on conviction thereof, the punishment shall be a fine of not less than one hundred dollars or more than two hundred and fifty dollars for each and every day that such violation shall continue, or by imprisonment for ten days for each and every day such violation shall continue or by both such fine and imprisonment in the discretion of the court; and the local police court or other similar criminal courts shall have jurisdiction of all such offenses, subject to appeal as in other cases.

Any such person who, having been served with an order to remove any such violation shall fail to comply with said order within ten days after such service, or shall continue to violate any provision of the regulations made under authority of this act in the respect named in such order shall also be subject to a civil penalty of two hundred and fifty dollars, payable to the treasurer, or other chief fiscal officer of the municipality.

Section 9. Conflict With Other Laws. Wherever the regulations made under authority of this act require a greater width or size of yards, courts or other open spaces, or require a lower height of building or less number of stories, or require a greater percentage of lot to be left unoccupied, or impose other higher standards than are required in any other statute, or local ordinance or regulation, the provisions of the regulations made under authority of this act shall govern. Wherever the provisions of any other statute or local ordinance or regulation require a greater width or size of yards, courts or other open spaces, or require a lower height of building or a less number of stories, or require a greater percentage of lot to be left unoccupied, or impose other higher standards than are required by the regulations made under authority of this act, the provisions of such statute, or local ordinance, or regulation shall govern.

Section 10. Any zoning ordinance or regulations adopted by any zoning commission pursuant to Chapter 279 of the Public Acts of 1923, and particularly the zoning regulations adopted by the zoning commission of West Hartford on March 23, 1924, shall be deemed to have been adopted under the provisions of this act. Such ordinances or regulations shall remain in force and effect until they shall have been amended, altered or repealed by the zoning authority of such municipality, and any board of adjustment created pursuant to said chapter 279 of the Public Acts of 1923 shall, until superseded by a board of appeals as herein provided, have all the powers and duties of such a board of appeals, and its orders, requirements, decisions or determinations shall be subject to court review as herein provided. In the town of West Hartford the new board of appeals shall be appointed by the town council in the manner herein provided.

Section 11. This act shall not apply to the city of New Haven.

Section 12. All acts and parts of acts in conflict with the provisions of this act are hereby repealed, and this act shall take effect from its passage.

Heats BIG Houses All Over!

With TONS And TONS LESS COAL!

Very many large homes are easier to heat in a thoroughly satisfactory manner than those which are very small.

This is due entirely to the way the space is divided into rooms and the fact that large homes frequently enable the heat to circulate more freely.

It is entirely a question of having proper circulation in order to obtain uniform distribution of the heat. Arrangement, rather than the size and number of rooms, governs the circulation possibilities of any pipeless system of heating.

It is unnecessary to go to the expense of installing and trying a BOND in order to KNOW whether or not your home could be properly heated. This is determined for you—and for us—by the BOND Manufacturer's Engineering Department, from plans and specifications which we make and send to them for examination. There is no charge for this service—and no obligation to order a BOND in case your home is approved for one.

If your home can be safely approved for the guaranteed satisfactory operation of a BOND, you could most likely save enough fuel by having it installed, to very soon completely pay for it—with continued savings for many years more and absolute comfort from the very first fire.

If your home cannot be safely approved for a BOND, you could not buy one at any price. You take no risk—nor do we—in learning definitely whether your place can or cannot be properly heated with a BOND. Neither do you assume the slightest risk when you order its guaranteed satisfactory installation.

You have much to gain in Comfort and Economy—and nothing to lose—in having us submit plans of your home at once. This is not a day too soon—and you'd be sure of this if you had the slightest conception of the Comfort a BOND would make permanent for you—with a fraction of the fuel you are now burning without Comfort.

When a BOND cannot be used as sole means of heating a very large home, frequently it can be used with satisfaction and economy during moderately cold weather—instead of the regular heating plant. It is ideal for such auxiliary use, since it heats quickly with wood as well as coal—and is much more easily controlled.

CHAPMAN BECAME ALERT AS LOCKMAKER TESTIFIED

Norman B. Hurd Demonstrated the Manner in Which Lock Could be Manipulated—Chapman Was Keenly Interested in the Proceeding—Accused Lolled in His Chair as Three Other Witnesses Gave Technical Testimony—The Defense Had Exhausted Its Quota of 25 Peremptory Challenges Before the Twelfth Juror Was Accepted.

Hartford, Conn., March 26—Hartford county's court machinery today started to grind out its case against Herold Chapman, mail looter and accused murderer of Patrolman James Mahan in New Britain last October.

Four witnesses, giving technical testimony for the most part, necessary as a foundation for the more telling evidence intended to be introduced later, took the stand after almost the entire day had been spent in obtaining a dozen jurors to complete the jury.

The better part of three days,—approximately fourteen court hours of examination—was spent in the selection of a jury. This tedious procedure ended only as today's sun was well on its way to the west, when Samuel S. Davidson, clothing merchant and former fire commissioner of Hartford, was accepted as the twelfth man.

Chapman, seemingly a languid spectator at this trial which is a matter of life or death to him, had a decision in the selection of eleven of the jurors. He said either affirmative or negative, whether the fate of all the first eleven. His counsel, Frederick J. Groehl, Hartford, or accepted the talesmen [illegible] man directed. But all of the twenty-five peremptory challenges had been used by the close of the morning session, and Chapman had no voice in Chamberlain's selection—he had to be accepted directly or disqualified.

Two hundred and eighty-nine talesmen were summoned before the jury was completed. This included three special panels, in addition to the first regular panel of 150 men. The last panel of five, gathered off the streets of Hartford in a hurried and successful attempt to complete the jury before the day's end, was the one which included Chamberlain.

No time was wasted in getting down to the business of testimony after Chamberlain had been sworn in. The court clerk immediately swore in the entire jury and promptly went through the legal ceremony of reading the indictment. For this ritual, Chapman was required to stand and face the jury.

Flanked by bailiff, he dragged himself from his chair and stood within four feet of the front line of men who were to decide whether or not he committed murder in Davidson and Leventhal's department store in New Britain that dark day in late last October 12. The prisoner, known to the police of all the country as a desperate character, was described before the jury box, [illegible] no nervousness and suffered no loss of the composure that has characterized him since the trial began. But his face flushed and held a somewhat unwonted color, strangely contrasted to his usual pallid skin, until the indictment reading had been completed and the prisoner was permitted to resume his chair.

State's prosecutor, Hugh M. Alcorn, immediately called Max D. Unkelbach, a New Britain architect, as his first witness. Unkelbach produced two blue prints, one outlining the interior of the Davidson and Leventhal store, and the other depicting the immediate neighborhood. These were thumb tacked to a board which was placed on a stand before the jury. Unkelbach, explained in detail, the intricacies of his drawings and was succeeded on the stand by Samuel M. Davidson, one of the partners whose store was robbed preceding the murder of Skelly. Davidson's testimony related to dry technicalities concerning incidents in his store before and after the crime.

Chapman continued to loll in his chair as the witnesses testified, evincing little interest in their words. Occasionally he turned lazy eyes to the blue prints before the jury, but he seemed rather bored with the entire proceedings.

Only when Norman B. Hurd, a lock maker, took the stand, di dthe prisoner evince an interest. Shown a miniature of one of the front doors of the department store, Hurd explained and demonstrated the manner in which its lock could have been unlatched from the inside and certain rather intricate manipulation be practiced. As the witness deftly and easily unlatched the lock without the use of a key, Chapman seemed keenly interested.

His head came forward, though he did not relinquish his languid posture of body, and his eyes followed closely every movement of the expert.

The fourth and last witness of the day was Miss Edith Larsen, of New Britain, who on the day before the robbery-murder had been employed as a saleswoman in the Davidson and Leventhal store. Her counter, she testified, had been near the front doors of the place. From that point of vantage, she said she had noticed a man—he was not subsequently identified in today's testimony——lounging about the opened door, facing the lock. He apparently was tampering with the mechanism, she said, but of this she could not be certain. It was the following morning that the robbery and murder occurred.

Skelly's murder occurred shortly after dawn in the morning of October 12 when he and another policeman entered the Davidson and Leventhal store on being told that cracksmen were robbing the two safes in the place. A man dashed from the building as they entered, but his companion's voice shouted from the rear of the store, "stand back, or I'll shoot." As Skelly continued to advance, the cracksman opened fire, shooting the policeman down, fatally wounded.

Walter Shean, son of a Springfield, Mass., hotel owner, was arrested a short time later and was said to have confessed as having been one of the two cracksmen. His companion, he said, was Chapman, at that time a fugitive from the federal penitentiary at Atlanta, where he was serving a 25-year term for a $2,400,000 mail robbery on Lower Broadway, New York. Shean is to be a witness for the state.

AMBASSADORS' COUNCIL IN SESSION IN PARIS

[illegible] 26—Unofficial, but reliable information in diplomatic circles in Paris is that Germany will soon present a second memorandum to the entente explaining her original proposal on security. A semi-official intimation hints that the allies are not concerned over the question of disarmament.

One of the ambassadors' council is meeting today to touch upon the matter and set forth as evidence that [illegible] will be avoided until German's second note is received. Germany, it is said, appears to be willing to enter at a separate security treaty with each of her neighbors.

Word from Berlin indicates a desire to send competent negotiators to discuss with the ambassadors the reasons requested on the Reich concerning the construction of airplanes, [illegible] aeronautics and supplies. [illegible] should such a request be made, further to complicate the [illegible]

There is no enthusiasm in any section of French opinion over a German proposal, no matter how presented. The [illegible] standpoint is that it is essential that the allies be in complete agreement before negotiating with Germany. It is understood that the interview with which M. De Fleuriau, French ambassador, returned to Paris emphasized the point upon which the French government still insists that any pact with Germany must be compatible with strict execution of the letter and spirit of existing treaties and also enhance the security which those treaties afford.

In the meantime the French government is reaffirming its faith to the General Pact, ratification of which will be the subject of parliament at an early date.

ANCIENT ATLAS OF HEAVENS WAS FOUND IN HEBRON

Hebron, March 26.—Both Trinity college and Yale university are endeavoring to secure a rare and ancient atlas of the heavens, compiled by the late Rev. John Flamsteed, England's first astronomer royal, a copy found hidden under the eaves of an old Hebron house when it was being renovated. The house was built in 1730 and the volume found [illegible] at London and printed in the year 1763. The book is embellished with a handsome likeness of the author, in his curled, powdered wig, and sketches. There are about thirty large double page illustrations showing the constellations in their proper places in the heavens.

The distinguished author is well known as the first astronomer-royal of England, and it was for his use at the royal observatory at Greenwich, called Flamsteed house, [illegible] He was born in 1646.

NOMINEES FOR ALUMNI FELLOW OF YALE CORP.

New Haven, March 26.—Ten graduates of Yale university have been nominated for alumni fellow of the Yale corporation, one of whom will be elected to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Chief Justice William H. Taft, B. A., Yale 1878. Mr. Taft was elected to his second term in 1922, having served as alumni fellow from 1906 to 1913.

The names of the nominees, as announced by the university, are as follows: Frederic Winthrop Allen, B. A. 1900, New York city; Philip Ray Allen, B. A., 1896, East Walpole, Mass; Alfred Lawrence Aiken, B. A., 1891, New York city; Courtlandt Dixon Barnes, B. A. 1902, New York city; Clarence Blakeslee, Ph. B., 1885, New Haven; Nicholas Frederic Brady, B. A., 1899, New York city; Edward Belden Greene, B. A., 1905, Cleveland; Malcolm Lee McBride, B. A., 1900, Cleveland; Livingston Pratt, B. A., 1907, New York city, and Lewis Sheldon Welch, B. A., 1889, New Haven.

The election to the corporation is for a period of six years. Ballots will be issued within a few weeks to those alumni eligible to vote. Voting polls are open on Tuesday, June 16, in commencement week, but votes may be cast by mail prior to this date. The name of the successful candidate will be announced at the alumni luncheon, Wednesday, June 17.

REDWOOD GROVE IN HONOR OF H. S. GRAVES

New Haven, March 26—A large tract of land, ten miles south of Crescent City, Calif., 157 acres in extent, with a stand of between eleven and twelve million board feet of giant redwoods as well as considerable other forest growth, is to be called the Henry S. Graves redwood grove, in honor of the provost of Yale University and dean of the School of Forestry, it is announced by the Yale Alumni Weekly. The purchase of the tract was made possible through the activities of George Frederick Schwarts and it is by his wish that the grove will be dedicated to dean Graves. It is intended shortly, it is said, to complete the purchase of the tract and make it a public park.

JURY CHOSEN FOR THE DOROTHY ELLINGSON TRIAL

San Francisco, March 26.—After a jury of ten men and two women had been accepted by both sides this afternoon at the trial of 16-year-old Dorothy Ellingson, charged with the murder of her mother, one of the jurors declared he feared he could not give the case his impartial judgment. He was excused by the court, leaving the 12th seat to be re-filled.

CABLED PARAGRAPHS

Fear 40 Men Were Killed.

Metz, Lorraine, March 26.—(By The A. P.)—Fears that all forty men coming to the surface on a lift in the Merlebach mine were killed when the lift dropped into the pit this afternoon were expressed by rescuers this evening.

WARRING TONGS HAVE REACHED AGREEMENT

New York, March 26.—Country wide Tong hostilities extending over five months, during which 2 Chinese were killed, officially came to a close this afternoon with a formal announcement by Siang Ling Chang, Chinese consul-general in New York, that an "agreement for lasting peace between the On Leongs and Hip Sings in 11 parts of the United States" had been reached at a peace conference here.

Lee Gee Ming signed the treaty for the On Leongs Tong and Huch Un Hing for the Hip Sings, thus bringing to a successful close negotiations started two weeks ago by 19 members of the two Chinese Benevolent association, who came here from other cities.

During the ceremonies attending the signing of the treaty 30 special policemen occupied strategic points in the conference room. A hundred other police patrolled Chinatown.

The Hip Sings loked upon the event as a victory for their Tong. In addition to a provision for free trade, the agreement specifies that the On Leong Tong cannot bring any other charges against their four suspended leaders, who joined the Hip Sings and were charged in Cleveland with conspiracy. The quartet, now out on bail, are Chin Jack Lem, Luk Ghing, Tom Yu and Gong Wu.

The treaty also enjoins the On Leongs from causing further trouble for fourteen other suspended members who went over to the Hip Sings, while the latter Tongmen are prevented from opening any other organizations in the country. Both sides are forbidden to round up additional witnesses in pending court cases.

The peace agreement will be celebrated by two banquets to the committee of 19, the first by the On Leongs tonight and the second by the Hip Sings tomorrow night. A banquet for Tongs will later be given by the Chinese Benevolent association.

War between the two Tongs started last October 8 when Tom Fong of the On Leongs invaded Hip Sing territory in Pell street and fired a pistol. Eighteen Tongmen met their death here in the subsequent feud, which was carried on throughout the country.

GOVT LOSES SUIT FOR GERMAN DYE PATENTS

Philadelphia, March 26—The United States circuit court of appeals today affirmed the decision of the federal district court of Delaware in dismissing the government suit for the recovery of the seized German dye patents from the Chemical Foundation Inc., which purchased them from the alien property custodian during the Wilson administration.

The suit to recover the patents was filed on Sept. 8, 1923, by direct order of President Harding.

Judge Hugh M. Orris dismissed the suit on January 3, 1924, and the government appealed the case.

It is expected that the government will carry the case to the supreme court.

The appeal was argued here last November before Judges Buffington, Wolley and Davis. Attorney General Harlan F. Stone made the closing argument for the government.

The government contended that the sale of patents, copyrights and trademarks by the alien property custodian to the foundation was in violation of the criminal code because certain officials of the custodian's office were also officers of or otherwise connected with the foundation.

The government has insistently pressed its charge of conspiracy throughout the proceedings in the trial court and here on appeal. We have therefore kept the subject constantly before us in our study of the case and in our deliberations. It will be enough to say that we have found no evidence that sustains either the charge of conspiracy first made against representatives of the industry or the charge of conspiracy later made against officers and agents of the government."

SHARP BREAK IN STOCKS AS THE MARKET CLOSED

New York, March 26.—Heavy liquidation of stocks in the last hour of trading of the New York Stock Exchange, inspired by rumors, which later proved to be untrue, that the New York federal reserve bank would again increase its rediscount rate today, brought about another sharp reaction in prices which carried the industrial average into new low ground for the year. Most of the gains recorded in the rally of the last two days were wiped out.

The reaction took place in the face of such favorable news developments as a resumption of dividends on Wabash preferred A stock, the continuation of record freight car loadings and a decline in the daily average of crude oil production. The rumors about the rediscount rate apparently had their origin in the marking up of the call money rate from 3 1-2 to 4 per cent and thence to 4 1-2.

Bear traders centered their attacks on Baldwin, which was hammered down 7 points to a new low record for the year at 111 1-4. A decline of nearly 35 points, from the high ground a month ago. United States Steel common was depressed two points to 117, duplicating the year's low. Many high priced issues such as American Can, General Electric, American Locomotive, U. S. Cast Iron Pipe and Texas Gulf Sulphur collapsed 3 to 6 points, while scores of others dropped a point or more.

Among the issues to sell at new low prices for the year were Southern Pacific, Standard Oil, of New Jersey, Mariand Oil, Inspiration Copper, Radio Corporation, and Davison Chemical.

CHILD KILLED IN AUTO ACCIDENT IN FALL RIVER

Fall River, Mass., March 26—One child was killed and another received injuries which are expected to result in death in automobile accidents here this evening. Arthur Vonder, 3, who had run from the sidewalk in front of his home, died soon after he was struck by an automobile operated by Julius Lanciault. The name of Joseph O'Neil, 12, is on the danger list at the Fall River General hospital because of injuries sustained in South Somerset, when he was hit by a truck.

Arrests By Internal Revenue Officers

Group of Former Employes of Bureau Charged With Attempting to "Sell Influence."

Washington, March 26.—Arrests just made in Connecticut and Washington are believed by internal revenue officials to have broken up a group of former employes of the bureau of internal revenue engaged in an alleged attempt to "sell influence" among taxpayers on the clair that it could have tax assessments reduced.

With the arrest of John F. McCarren and J. M. Clifford in New Haven, the bureau gave out details of an alleged effort of those two and Frederick Sutherland, apprehended here, to collect fees from the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad company for "reducing" a fake assessment of more than $1,000,000. Sutherland, until a few days ago an auditor in the income tax unit, was accused by the bureau of drafting the fake assessment letter.

Officials of the railroad called, the matter to the attention of treasury officials as soon as they were approached on it and the investigation that followed resulted in the arrests. Bureau officials also were quick to see the danger of other swindling attempts of similar character, in view of the large number of former employes who are well acquainted with routine in the bureau and could, if so inclined, make convincing representations of "influence."

There has been little chance of any of the few cases of crookedness uncovered in the bureau recently by which the government could lose, officials asserted, but they explained that taxpayers unfamiliar with laws and the operation of the bureau might easily be misled and part with substantial fees without hope of restitution.

The treasury has tried to check questionable practices through tightening its regulations and compelling the registry of all attorneys and accountants appearing as representatives of taxpayers. It has barred former employes from appearing in these capacities within two years after leaving th eservice and then it will not hear them if they had knowledge, while employed by the treasury, of the case on which they are working. Sutherland was the first of the trio to be arrested, but this was kept secret while the investigation progressed. Commissioner Blair said he would press for early prosecution of the cases.

HOW ARRESTED MEN WORKED IN NEW HAVEN

New Haven, March 26.—Implicated in an alleged conspiracy to defraud the government and large manufacturers of the country of large sums in connection with income tax payments, John F. McCarren and James J. Clofford, of Washington, D. C., are expected to be taken back to that city tomorrow or Saturday to stand trial. It was indicated that the men, who were arrested near here last night, after a nation-wide search, will make no attempt to oppose their return. Both have agreed to waive extradiction, it was said, when given a hearing in police court today, their cases were continued until Saturday on fugitive charges.

McCarren and Clifford proposed two weeks ago to Joseph W. Brady, counsel for the New Haven railroad, it was revealed today, that from confidential information obtained from government files, which they claimed to have, they could save the road payment of a tax exceeding one million dollars, if they were retained and given a share of the million saved.

Brady asked for time to consider the matter and then reported the proposal to agents of the department of justice. The New Haven railroad counsel heard nothing more from the men, it was said, until last night when one of them telephoned him again. The call was traced to an inn in Milford.

"We have heard rumors of the office who made th earrest.

A statement from the New Haven offices of the internal revenue bureau today by J. F. Kiernan, chief of the corporation tax office said:

"We have heard rumors of the orations of two former government agents for some time. A number of large corporations in this section have been approached with similar information and offers but we never were able to learn the positive identity of the conspirators.

"Letters have been received by large corporations from men representing themselves as former government agents, and stating that the government was about to asses a large tax against the corporation in question. For half of what they could save the concern, they would volunteer to adjust the matter, eliminating the tax."

It is understood that asweeping investigation of the operations among corporations in this district will be made by the government.

SUMMARY OF YESTERDAY'S EVENTS IN WASHINGTON

Charles L. Kagey resigned as American minister to Finland.

Impending resignations of the shipping board were indicated.

Secretary Jardine outlined his views on the news of the farmer.

Wilder S. Metcalf of Kansas, consented to acceptance of the post of commissioner of pensions temporarily.

A treasury auditor was arrested in connection with charges of misrepresentation in settlement of tax cases.

The Harding Memorial association decided to proceed with erection of a $600,000 memorial to the late President Harding.

CONTRIBUTIONS FOR TORNADO RELIEF WORK TOTAL $226,865.49

Washington, March 26——Contributions for torado relief received at national headquarters of the American Red Cross today from its chapters throughout the country brought the total of $226,865.49. This amount is in addition to special funds being raised within the states affected.

Sees Prospects Much Brighter For Farmer

Secretary Jardine Says the Most Painful Period of Readjustment is Over for Agriculturists.

Washington, March 26.—Warning that confusion resulting from discussion of too many ways of helping the farmer, Secretary Jardine today outlined "a few simple principles that wa all can talk about."

"I have no panacea for agricultural relief," he emphasized, "and I don't believe than anybody has.

"The most painful period of readjustment is now over and prospects look much brighter for the farmer. There is real encouragement in the progress that has been made during the past two or three years. We can look to the future with confidence, but we must recognize that there are many phases of the agricultural situation that still challenge the best thought of the nation."

Co-operative marketing and standardization of agricultural production, he held, are necessary to eliminate waste, which he regards as partly responsible for the spread of prices between producers and consumers.

Balanced production also is essential, he said, this country will need about 10,000,000 bushels more of flaxseed this year that it produced last year, he said in advising northwestern farmers to replace some wheat acreage with flax.

He is casting about, he added, for "the best livestock man I can get," to succeed Chester Morrill, who resigned as head of the packers and stockyards administration.

It is also expected that the packers administration and the grain futures administration, now directed by one official will be separated.

DISORDERLY SCENE IN ITALIAN PARLIAMENT

Rome, March 26—Premier Mussolini's prophecy last night that the fun would begin with the advent of spring began to come true today when his first appearance in the chamber of deputies since his illness precipitated an uproar, general fisticuffs betwen the Fascist and Communists and the forcible ejection of the Communists. Bad as the incident threatened to be, it was, in the opinion of political circles, only a mild example of what might have been expected had the members of the Aventine opposition also been present.

The parliamentary atmosphere began to grow tense from the moment of Mussolini's appearance at 4:15 o'clock. He was accompanied by his ministers, and the whole chamber, with the exception of the Communists, rose and cheered the Fascist leader to the echo, shouting "Viva Mussolini!" and "Viva Fascismo." The galleries lustily joined in the cheering.

When this demonstration had subsided, the Communists jumped to their feet, shouting "Viva Communism!" Then followed noisy disturbances in which the members of the two parties vied with each other in shouting their respective slogans alternately and singing the Fascist anthem and the International.

Meanwhile Mussolini stood in his place in the centre of the ministerial bench, bowing acknowledgment of the Fascist plaudits and apparently paying no attention to the Communist epithets. Finally the tension grew so taunt that several of the Fascist rushed toward the extreme left and became engaged in a general scuffle with the Communists.

Among the aggressors were Farinacci, secretary-general of the Fascisti and Deputy Teruzzi, who seized the Communist Dumen by the throat, dragging him to the door and throwing him outside the chamber.

DREADNAUGHTS FIRED AT LONG RANGE TARGETS

Naval Base, San Pedro, Calif., March 26—Resuming maneuvers which will complete their 1925 practice, eight of the eleven super dreadnaughts based here, today steamed back to the force practic grounds of yesterday and turned loose their last volleys of long range firing on battered targets, most of which were left at sea last night. Today's work completes tag ends of gunnery by various units delayed in their schedules.

Accompanied by the 31 destroyers and the light cruiser Omaha, the U. S. S. West Virginia headed the battle formation which put out past the breakwater.

The U. S. S. Mississippi and the U. S. S. Tennessee, unable to complete their long range firing schedule last week because of poor visibility, fixed their heavy batteries on the hulks of targets which were torn to shreds during six minutes of terrific firing from more than 150 guns yesterday.

Besides long range firing, the ships participated in torpedo practice, the destroyers picking up the projectiles.

Commander J. L. Kauffman, flag secretary aboard the U. S. S. California, declared that results of the firing yesterday would not be made public because of their secret nature. The data on firing, he stated, would be compiled here and then sent to Washington.

FELL 1,500 FEET BEFORE OPENING PARACHUTE

Garden City, N. Y., March 26.—By his fall of 1,500 feet through space before opening his parachute in a test jump at Mitchel Field today, Sergeant Rande L. Bose, is believed by army officials to have established a record. In two subsequent jumps before opening his parachute he dropped 1,000 feet without losing consciousness and examining physicians found he had suffered no ill effects as a result. Each of the three jumps were made from a plane flying at a height of 3,000 feet.

The tests have overthrown the theory that a person falling in a great height loses consciousness from the rush of air, army officers declared, adding that instructions to pilots concerning the jerking of the rap-cords of parachutes would now undoubtedly be revised.

"The real significance of these tests," said Major William N. Hensley, Jr., commander of Mitchel Field, "has been to prove that a pilot, if his plane is shot away, can drop a sufficient distance to escape the enemy."

BRIEF TELEGRAMS

The body of Henry McCuen of Burlington, one of the four men drowned in Lake Champlain while duck hunting last fall, was recovered Wednesday.

Lord Rawlinson, commander-in-chief of the British army in India, underwent an operation for appendicitis, which is declared to have been successful.

A new church to replace that burned last Saturday, is planned by St. Patrick's Roman Catholic parish in Collinsville, as a result of a meeting of parishioners.

Deputy Sheriff William Jenusaitis, 21 Chipman street, accused of beating a 15 year old boy was discharged in City Court at Waterbury by Judge Abner Hayes.

The resignation of Woodward Hudson from the office of Vice President and General Counsel of the Boston and Hain Railroad was announced by President J. H. Hustis.

STOLEN GOODS ESTIMATED TO BE WORTH $1,000,000 DISCOVERED IN NEW YORK

Silks and Woolen Worth $100,000, Stolen in the Last Two Days, Found Among the Loot Concealed in a Two Story Building on South Street—Used as Storage Place by a Gang of Bandits and Bootleggers—Two Large Stills and a Fleet of 22 Truck Were Found in the Building—Two Arrests Have Been Made.

New York, March 26.—Two men were arrested tonight, charged with being members of a band of robbers and bootleggers whose cache of stolen goods estimated to be worth as much as $1,000,000 was discovered today in an old two-story building on South street.

The suspects described themselves as Patrick Mitchell, 26, a laborer, and Max Price, 31, a salesman, both of New York. They are charged specifically with stealing today from the warehouse of Pincus, Sachs & Co., $10,000 worth of woolens which were later found in the warehouse. Both denied the charges.

Police are also questioning two men who said they were employed as watchmen at the building and were ignorant of the fact that it housed stolen goods.

Silks and woolens worth $100,000 that had been stolen in the last two days have been identified.

Patrolman Joseph Crille early today became suspicious of a truck driving into the old building. The driver ignored his questions, drove in and locked the big doors behind him. Crille called for reserves and forced the doors.

They found great stores of fabrics of all kinds; leathers, dyes, canned goods, cigarettes and sugars, between 75 and 100 barrels of alcohol and liquor, and in the basement two large stills which apparently had been in recent operation. They found a fleet of 22 trucks, some of which have been identified as recently stolen.

They found desks, telephones, filing cabinets, typewriters, correspondence and other indications that this was the headquarters of an extensive mail order business conducted by a highly organized bandit and bootlegger band.

They found secret doors and stairways, with an ingenious buzzer signal alarm system; a trick safe concealed in a wall and a trap door operated by electricity; a store of firearms, and altogether a fantastic combination of a modern big-business office and a dime-novel bandit's lair.

Two men in the building gave the names as Jack Kline and John Miller and insisted they were only watchmen who knew nothing about the business they guarded. They were held.

Police were told by persons living in the neighborhood that "fashionably dressed ladies in limousines" came there. The officers believe these were sales agents coming to learn the stock before going out to book orders, or representatives of "fences" calling to examine goods before purchasing.

Shortly after police had broken into the place a mail carrier delivered a batch of letters, which were turned over to postal inspectors. The officers hope through these and the mass of correspondence they found to trace mail-order purchasers and to get on the trail of the bandits themselves.

TO AWAIT FILING OF BRIEFS IN TEAPOT DOME LEASE CASE

Cheyenne, Wyo., March 26 (By the A. P.)—The Teapot Dome trial ended here today in United States district court and Federal Judge T. Blake Kennedy will await the filing of briefs by both the government and the defense before he decides whether Harry F. Sinclair shall retain the Teapot Dome lease, or the United States shall regain it.

The case came to an end in a fiery spurt of argument between Owen J. Roberts, government attorney, and counsel for the defense—the Mammoth Oil company. After 13 days of tranquility, in which about 1,500,000 words were put into the record, the high tension verbal exchange marked the 14th day as the only exciting one in the trial.

The argument between counsel started when Mr. Roberts accused Martin W. Littleton, of defense counsel, of going outside the record in the case when he addressed the court yesterday and declared that government counsel "had put the mustard plaster of silence across the mouths of Sinclair and Albert B. Fall." Former secretary of the interior, who executed the lease to the oil company in speaking of the indictments against them in Washington.

Mr. Littleton objected and called attention of the court to the testimony of M. T. Everhart, son-in-law and partner of Fall, who was called to the stand by the government and partially sustained by Judge Kennedy in refusing to answer questions on the ground that he might incriminate himself.

SHEFF. SCHOOL TO HAVE NEW PERSONNEL SYSTEM

New Haven, March 26——The Sheffield Scientific school at Yale is to have a new personnel system for judging the qualifications of students. It is announced in the current number of the Yale alumni weekly. The details of the plan will be in the hands of a personnel organization composed of the dean, the registrar, and the division officers of the scientific school. The student council will be invited to co-operate in the administration of the new system.

According to the accepted provisions, each member of the faculty will be given an opportunity to rate the personal qualities of each student in his class. Each division officer will be held responsible for obtaining the ratings of personal qualities and records of extra-curricular activities for each of the students in a group assigned to him. The personal records will be compiled near the end of the year, beginning with the sophomore year of a student. The records will not be open for general inspection, but only to the dean, and such as he may designate.

STATUS OF DEPARTMENT AND CHAIN STORE SALES

New York March 26.—Department and chain store sales throughout the Second federal reserve district expanded in February, but the increase of 4 and 14 per cent respectively, for the two groups as compared with a year ago were offset partially by a reduction of 4 per cent in the volume of wholesale trade, the federal reserve agent at New York reported today.

The decrease in wholesale business was attributed to the fact that there was one less selling day than in the same month last year. Sales of silk and cotton goods, wearing apparel and radio sets made the best showing in both wholesale and retail lines.

TESTIMONY AGAINST JUDGE G. W. ENGLISH

St. Louis, March 26.—(By the A. P.)—Testimony connecting Judge George Washington English with payments of interest on federal court deposits to his son, Paris, was given late today before the congressional committee investigating the official conduct of the judge to determine whether it shall recommend impeachment.

E. P. Kestner, vice president of the Union Trust company of East St. Louis, Ills., told the committee that Paul Schalaffy and Fred W. Hemker, other officials of the bank, who had preceded him in the witness chair, and E. F. Ackerman, of the bank's bond department, had told him that they had discussed the interest payments with Judge English.

Schlafly, chairman of the board of the bank, and Hemker, vice president, testified that they regarded it as necessary to pay Paris English 3 per cent on deposits by trustees appointed by C. B. Thomas, who in turn held appointment as referee in bankruptcy from Judge English, to assure holding the funds which averaged from $75,000 to $100,000.

At the morning session Julius Siefert, an automobile dealer, told the committee that Thomas paid either $1,300 or $1,435 on a new automobile given Judge English in exchange for his old one and that since the trade he had seen members of the English family using the machine but never any of the Thomas family.

Ben H. Thayer, formerly employed in the referee's office, testified that a "bankruptcy ring" existed in the office and that George W. English Jr., benefited from it. A son-in-law of Thomas also benefited, Thayer testified.

NEW YORK'S SUPPER CLUBS CLOSE TO AVOID PADLOCKS

New York, March 26.—Two more supper clubs signed an agreement today to close for the month of May under padlock, as a result of United States District Attorney Buckner's prohibition campaign. Three clubs had already signed the agreement.

Of the nine other clubs against which padlocking proceedings were brought, eight filed answers today, the last day of their time limit. The ninth club was allowed an extension of time to file answer because of illness of counsel.

The Club Moritz and the Club Orgo were the clubs that today joined the Piping Rock restaurant, Moquin's and the Beaux-Arts club in accepting the agreement.

The eight filing answers will seek terms from the district attorney, it is understood, before deciding definitely whether to accept the agreement of one month's padlocking, or to fight the proceedings in the courts with the possible penalty of a year's padlocking.

The eight clubs that filed answers were: The Mirador, Club Deauville, Colony Restaurant, El Fey club, Lido-Venice, Monte Carlo, Restaurant Crillon, and the Restaurant l'Aiglon.

COMPLETE DISTILLING PLANT SEIZED IN WASHINGTON

Washington, March 26—One of the most complete distilling establishments ever uncovered by prohibition agents was found today in an imposing residence near Connecticut avenue and E. street, which once had been the Spanish embassy.

Thirteen stills, mostly designed for the manufacture of peach brandy, 70 gallons of brandy, and 700 pounds of mash were seized, Charles M. Reed, the present occupant of the house, which is in one of the most fashionable residential sections of the capital, was arrested.

Reed is a lunchroom proprietor. His wife and another man and woman found in the house were taken into custody with him.

Some of the stills were located in the attic and others in the basement.

WILLIMANTIC

The action of Alderman James J. Lee in asking the common council to take the initiative in bringing about a conference of civic bodies, strikers and American Thread Company officials, in an attempt to settle the strike situation, was the keynote of a speech made before a large gathering of the strikers at their daily mass meeting in the Gem Theatre, Thursday morning, by Edward F. Callahan of Philadelphia. The address was the last in a series of three made here by the national organizer. Mr. Callahan reviewed the letter to some extent and his sponsoring the position of the strikers in the matter, stated that they were ready at all times to meet with any body or organization to talk over the situation. "Yes, we are ready at any time, day or night, to talk business with the thread company officials; to confer with the city fathers, the Chamber of Commerce, the Rotary Club or Exchange Club, with a view to bringing the strike to an end," he stated. "The strikers," he said, "have a just cause and all they asked for is a square deal. They are a part of Willimantic, in fact a vital part, and it would seem as if it became the duty of the remainder of the population of Willimantic to take an open and active interest in their cause. If the strikers lose or gain the result will have a direct reflection on the entire community."

He quoted from an editorial which said, "Are we going to sit back and die of dry rot?" in speaking of a public movement to settle the strike, for the sake of common welfare. Regarding the inaction of public bodies extracted from the same editorial the sentences: "It might fail, but what would be lost? Nothing ventured, nothing gained." The strike is now upon its third week. The American Thread Company has been silent since March 9, when it was announced that the plant would remain open for those needing work, or strikers wishing to return. The next day, March 18, the plant was forced to suspend operations, due to the lack of employes.

Organizer Callahan emphasized the fact that it was strictly against the principles of the United Textile Workers of America to call a strike. A strike was used only as the very last resort of employes who are justified in their grievances and who have failed to avoid taking that course through meetings and conferences.

The President of the local Textile Council, Miss Amy Hooker presided at the mass meeting. She appealed for large turnouts of the operatives at the mass meetings Saturday, when Horace Bevlere of Manchester, N. H., will speak and on Monday when State Senator John Powers of Pawtucket, R. I., a member of the national council of the United States Workers will be the speaker.

A feature of the announcements to be made at the mass meeting this (Friday) morning will be in the form of a warning to the public of this and other cities in Connecticut and surrounding states to guard against fake collectors. To guard against any possibility of fraud in this line the public will be requested to identify collectors before donating. In order to facilitate this process of identification all those from the local striking body will wear large bands which will make their cause and purpose known at sight.

The Annual High School Principals' conference was opened Thursday evening at the Willimantic State Normal school residence hall, with a dinner served at 6.30 o'clock with practically all of the principals and superintendents in attendance, for the conference present. Dr. A. R. Meredith, state commissioner of education was the presiding officer. It is expected that the conference during the session will take some action on the questions of girls' interscholastic basketball competition. The topic of the conference is "Some Recent Important Tendencies in Secondary Education" on which subject several papers will be read and general discussions will take place. At the national meeting of school superintendents held in Cincinnati, recently, a recommendation for the elimination of inter-scholastic participation in girls' sports was adopted and there is interest in the outcome, if the recommendation is taken up by the high school principals of the state.

The following local men represented the town of Windham at a hearing on before the appropriations committee of the General Assembly at the state capitol Wednesday on the question of erecting a new school building to replace one destroyed by fire in the town of Windham, somewhat over a year ago: H. TOTAL OF $120,000 WAGE LOSS IN THREAD STRIKE TO DATE

(Special to The Bulletin.)

Willimantic, March 26.—A survey of the local strike situation shows that there are 3,200 operates of the American Thread company out of work in this city. The estimated payroll of the American Thread plant in this city is placed at $40,000 a week and using this figure as a basis the operatives have lost to date $120,000 in wages, this being the third week of the strike. As regards its local mills the American Thread is also a big loser. Nearly one-half the total number of operatives of the thread company plants are employed in the Willimantic mills.

SIMONS QUOTES RUSSIA AS MODEL FOR AMERICA

(Special to The Bulletin.)

Willimantic, March 26.—William Simons, representative of The Daily Worker, a communist newspaper, made the request Thursday that a statement made recently regarding his unapproved-of activities here be corrected. The statement was confined to one sentence of an account of his being refused admittance to the mass meetings of the American Thread company strikers, which said: "It is said by some that he (Simons) went so far as to advise some of the strikers to throw stones through the windows of the mills." Mr. Simons emphatically denied having made any such statement. On the other hand Miss Amy Hooker, president of the local textile union and practically every striker approached on the subject agreed that there was a foundation to the rumor. One of the strikers stated a few days ago that while in the vicinity of the mills she called attention to the fact that one of the company officials was standing in a window. Simons, it is said, overheard the remark and retorted that a rock should be thrown through the window at the official. The direct identity of the young woman has not been established, or is being withheld by the strikers' committee who plan to use Simons' purported hint as additional grounds for a complaint to the police.

The purpose of Simons' stay in Willimantic has been somewhat of a mystery about town especially in view of the fact that the strikers had practically ostracized him from their ranks, and even refused money which he claimed he collected in Hartford for their cause; but the question was cleared to some extent Thursday when Simons explained his life's work to a representative of The Bulletin.

In the first place, he and his group are out for a worker-farmer government. As communists they point to Russia as having taken the step which they would like America to follow. Their visions extend to the day when the employes of industries will walk into the mills and offices and take over the whole works, to be operated by themselves and for themselves. Communists are against centralized capital and apparently against "bosses" of any kind. His course in this city is to educate the strikers that they have been ill-treated and that they and not the board of directors should be the dictaters. In reply to a statement that Willimantic did not appear a very good city to adopt his teachings, Mr. Simons replied that the city was all right, but it might take some time for the people to adopt his doctrines.

EX-SERVICE MAN DEPRESSED, ATTEMPTS TO END HIS LIFE

(Special to The Bulletin)

Stafford Springs, March 26.—Nathan Molin, aged 25, attempted suicide in his room at the Springs house last night. His groans were heard by guests at the hotel and upon investigation he was found lying on the bed in great agony. He had taken six ounces of legline. A local physician was called, Molin was given first aid and then taken to the Johnson hospital. It is said that the quantity of poison taken was a large overdose and that it reacted.

A note found on the dresser in Molin's room stated that he had been told by a physician that he had tuberculosis and could not live and that he had decided to end it all at once by committing suicide. very little is known about Molin. He registered at the Springs house last Friday, but gave no place of residence. He is a former service man and the American Legion is looking him up.

Majoros was found in bed at his home by the police and was placed under arrest on the charge of attempted murder. The police could not locate the axe with which he did the cutting.

NEW GERMAN CRUISER CHRISTENED EMDEN

The first unit of the German republican navy has been launched at Wilhelmshaven. She is a light cruiser named Emden, after the famous raider which did so much damage among shipping in the Pacific and Indian Oceans during the war until she met her fate in a duel with the Australian cruiser Sydney.

The ship, appropriately enough, was christened by Frau von Muller, the widow of the first Emden's commander, in the presence of many members of the old ship's original crew. The new cruiser is of 6,000 tons displacement and will have eight six-inch guns.

Strand Theatre.

There is mystery in the air at the Strand theatre for tonight's program. For in conjunction with the regular program of Lew Williams and his Chic-Chic Revue, a real live baby is to be given away. Just what it is and where it comes from nobody knows, but the secret will be out tonight, so don't fail to be there on time for this sensational added attraction.

The Chic-Chic Revue continues to please the Norwich theatregoers with their comedy, songs, dances and music. This show is entirely changed from the one seen at the Broadway the first half of this week, so don't fail to see it.

The photoplay has action, thrills and real drama and suspense featuring Betty Blythe, Pauline Garon, Robert Ellis and Arthur Rankin in Speed.

Broadway Theatre.

Running at full speed ahead, the vaudeville program for the last half of this week held the Broadway patrons through three hours of comedy, singing, dancing, novelties and sensations, which followed in such quick order that the audience was held in complete suspense with admiration.

Opening with Daley, Mac & Daley, the Skaters a la 1925, this act proved to be a revelation and a great novelty.

Jackson & Ellis quickly followed in a revuette of comedy, songs, dances and music and kept things moving.

Halley & Noble could not help keeping the audience in fits of laughter with their bright comedy patter.

Dancing and songs, up-to-date, snappy and well delivered, The Swift and Gibson Revue well deserved the reception they received at the conclusion of their act.

Harry Meehan, the tramp comedian and entertainer de luxe, carried along the comedy without a let-up. Some well delivered songs brought him rich applause.

Arthur Gary & Viola Baldi in When Help Needs Help, showed how real Italian character comedians can make anyone laugh, and in this they certainly succeeded.

The Powell Troupe topped off this wonderful program with a sensational wire act that held everyone glued to their seats.

"Wedded bliss as she is pictured." Of all the matrimonial dramas that have reached the screen, Tomorrow's Love, now at the Broadway theatre, is one of the few that have ever convinced us as being a picturization of the real thing.

A News is thrown in for good measure.

Toll of London Fogs.

According to one authority, says Popular Mechanics, a single London fog may cost more lives than a pitched battle. The period of the greatest prevalence of the dense mists is in December, with the other Winter months not far behind. At this season of the year the death rate from lung diseases reaches its height. The heavy, moisture-laden air aggravate such maladies, the lack of sunlight reduces physical resistance and illness frequently results from chills caused by the dampness. Mental depression is considered another harmful effect.

Numbered Phone Girls.

Telephone subscribers in Paris, who have formed an association to protect their interests, have suggested to the administration that the girl who answers a subscribers call should mention her number when replying. Instead of the usual "I am listening," it is suggested that the formula should be "No —is listening." This would help the subscribers in the event of a complaint being necessary.

Men sometimes worship women because they are unable to understand them.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Palace Theater

For the grand finale of Spring Carnival Week at the Palace theatre there is one of the best vaudeville bills that has been seen in Norwich in some time. It is a seven act bill with variety in every form. Topping the vaudeville are the Seven Brown Girls and their Symphonic, and Classical Jazz Band. They surpass any musical team ever presented in the Theatre in some time. Every girl is a soloist and a real artist. Miss Rice who plays the one thousand dollar harp renders a beautiful well known solo with variations, the number is "Believe me and all those endearing charms." She received wonderful applause from the audience yesterday afternoon and evening. There is another member of the orchestra who executes a triple tongue cornet solo with much brilliancy. Over and over again they are called back by the audience. They are really a whole lot more than they are billed.

The bill is opened by Charles Fletcher a wizard of equilibrium. This boy is very clever, and does some comedy twisting which pleases his audience very much. Charles Forsyth follows with a singing act entitled: Shades of Harmony, he has a very pleasing voice also a wonderful range, besides a singer he is somewhat of a comedian and is well received. McCree and Leon billed as Bright and Dilly are a good fifteen minutes of laughter, they make their entrance on a motor-cycle which looks if it was built in the year 1901, the way the machine acts, we guess it was, this act certainly goes off with a bang. George Lilly, the Kid Glove Kidder is an exceptionally good black face comedian and also does some very clever eccentric dancing. Sid Hall and Edith Vaughan made a big hit with the audience, he puts comedy out at fifty miles an hour, his twenty minutes keeps you howling every second. The last act incorporates three of the most daring aerialists seen on the stage in this city in some time, two men and a girl styled The Three Landons formed the personelin, and they are the equal of even the best circus performers. They untie a bag of tricks that make the audience gasp. Their daring and ingenuity are unexcelled. Above all, they are a treat for the most cosmopolitan audience. On the screen is Fifth Avenue Models.

Elaborate sets, eloquent of luxury; sets indicative of poverty; stunning gowns; beautiful women; fine acting by star and supporting cast. Such are the principal factors that go to make a great motion picture of "Fifth Avenue Models," Universal-Jewel starring Mary Philbin, which opened Thursday in the Palace theatre. Other factors are fine photography, good direction and many intimately human touches, and, of course, a good, logical story. The little star, always winsome and appealing, in this picture she demonstrates that she can be far from demure if the occasion demands it. There are two opportunities for her to display herself as a quick tempered, combative young person who feels that her rights and reputation have been assailed. And so into the fray she goes, once scorning by what on the speaking stage would be words, and once by strength of hands and feet in bitter physical combat.

His busy friends attempt to cure him of his infatuation and much pain is caused them both. Norman Kerry plays the young man in question, and, as always, his work is artistic and convincing.

Others that have important parts are Josef Swickard, as the artist father whose love for his daughter drives him to such extremities as to land him in the penitentiary; William Conklin and Rosemary Theby, as the busy friends; Rose Dione as the modiste, and Betty Francisco as the wise and worldly mannequin.

The remainder of the cast, which in its entirety is of unusual magnitude, has not so much to do but does that little exceedingly well. They are Jean Robert Brower, Helen Lynch, Jean Herscholt, Ruth Stonehouse, George B. Williams, Mike Donlin, Bob McKenzie and Lee Moran. Svend Gade directed.

Bread Theater

Although Harry Carey is cast again as the whimsical, lovable westerner as the whimsical, lovable westerner he has made famous in Soft Shoes, his new Hunt Stromberg production which is coming to the Breed theater today and Saturday this popular star is provided with a new locale for his characterization.

Carey appears as the sheriff of a small western mining town who inherits a sum of money and sets out to do the bright lights. His humorous experiences in his new surroundings soon assume a melodramatic nature when he falls in love with the feminine leader of one of the Barbary Coast's worst gangs. The manner in which he succeeds in rounding up this gang and inducing the girl to go straight is said to provide the star with his most interesting story.

Lillian Rich appears opposite Carey, and Francis Ford has a colorful role. Other members of the unusually strong cast include Harriet Hammond, Stanton Heck, Jimmie Quinn, Majel Coleman, John Steppling, So-Jin and Paul Weigel.

Lloyd Ingraham who directed the star in The Lightning Rider, again did the megaphone honors under the personal supervision of Hunt Stromberg. Sol Polito is credited with the photoplay, and Harvey Gates prepared the continuity from an original story.

The great Albertini in The Iron Man the Pathe news and an educational comedy make up the remainder of the bill.

Father Time has to face smokeless powder in his battles with women.

DANIELSON AND PUTNAM NEWS

DANIELSON

What may be regarded as approximating a convention of dog owners is scheduled to be held here Saturday morning. These owners did not arrange the get-together event. It was arranged for them by a representative of the commissioner of domestic animals and the dog warden. Up to Thursday noon 32 owners of dogs had been ordered to appear in the Killingly town court, where the convention is to be held, to tell the judge and prosecuting attorney why they have been harboring unlicensed dogs, dogs without collars or dogs without tags, as the case happens to be. This rounding-up of owners of dogs who are not complying with the law in one respect or another, as indicated, has been quietly going on for several days. The fact has not been given any publicity for the reason that it might interfere with the clean sweep of action that the officials have hoped to carry out. With the record of summonses standing at 32 at noon Friday, there was a prospect of a number of other cases being developed during the afternoon and today. Various communities of the town will be represented in Saturday morning's lineup.

Once again Danielson has come through a borough year with a remarkably small fire loss. For the twelve months period that will end next Tuesday night, the total losses by fire in Danielson has been only $630—this being the gross and not considering insurance. While this is remarkable, it does not compare with last year's phenomenal low record of $30.

During the past twelve months the department has responded to 38 alarms. Some of these were fires that might easily have proved disastrous. Danielson's fire alarm telegraph system, its motorized fire department and the speed with which the members of the volunteer fire department respond when called accounts in large measure for the low fire loss, probably not equaled in any community the size of Danielson in New England. Chief A. P. Woodward said Thursday morning that the borough has not lost a building completely by fire since the fire alarm system was installed 17 years ago.

The finding of poisoned-filled capsules in fields and woods just across the border in Worcester country, Massachusetts, has aroused curiosity here as to whether this is the same method employed here during the past year to poison dogs and fur-bearing animals, for the capsules found in the neighboring state were admittedly put out for such a purpose.

These deadly capsules are a menace to all living things, warnings broadcasted through the press of Massachusetts assert. The coming of warmer weather and heavy spring rains is expected to dissolve the casings of such of the capsules as have not been recovered and allow the poison to seep away into streams. A drink of water that this matter enters is likely to cause death, even to persons.

A measure now before the Massachusetts legislature provides a jail penalty for any person distributing poison in order to cause the death of fur-bearing animals.

Thursday afternoon at 1:30, at the home on Main street, funeral services for Mrs. Sarah J. Pike were conducted by Rev. Leonard Richards of St. Alban's church. Burial was in the Union cemetery, Moosup. Relatives acted as bearers. A. F. Wood was in charge of the funeral arrangements.

One thing motorists are finding out this spring is that a used automobile is not worth much money, not as a general rule. Open models have hit the slide the hardest and can be picked up for a song, though it may make a man whistle to keep it in operation. Many explanations are offered to account for the low prices on used cars. A satisfying one is that there are so many of them. It is a fact that hundreds of good cars in serviceable condition and of good appearance carr be bought for from $30 to $400.

True to its tradition of bringing aid to the victims of every great disaster, the Red Cross is now engaged in relief work in the tornado area of the central states. That everyone here who wishes to may aid in this relief work through the ministration of the Red Cross, arrangements have been made by the local chapter to receive contributions. These may be left with Cashier F. E. Storer of the Windham County National bank, as treasurer of the Danielson chapter.

An aeroplane that came out of the south gave a few persons who watched it passing over South Killingly a few minutes of anxious expectancy. The machine was flying very low and the motor was balking. Clouds of black smoke shot out from the exhaust as the motor missed fire and it appeared for a time as if the machine would come down in the fields near the top of Spaulding's hill. But this did not happen. The pilot continued on his northeasterly course.

A field of potatoes has been planted by an Italian farmer occupying a place in the easternmost section of this town, just north of Dark Lantern hill. The planting was done a week ago, beating all records for a score of years in this respect in this town. It is not often that potatoes are put in the ground in this section as early as March 20, but 1925 is one of the years when it has been done. Neighbors of this particular farmer are awaiting with more than ordinary interest the outcome of this planting on the first day of spring. Some of them are not so sure than there isn't a few more snowstorms due between now and April 20, and if they come they may not do the prospective potato crop any good.

Numbers of persons who pride themselves on the appearance of their property have already begun the spring clean-up campaign.

Almost daily occurring, brush and grass fires in the surrounding country are proving a worry to owners of threatened woodland property.

Edwin Bennett of Brooklyn bought the Sarah Bard property sold at auction by Witter brothers in that place Wednesday afternoon.

Highway workers of the town are engaged in improving streets about the borough after the wear and tear of the winter season and in cleaning up the winter season and are cleaning up accumulations of debris.

A campaign that was waged last year for the extermination of crows and starlings does not appear to have been very effective. Crows and starlings are as plentiful a sever in this territory.

Mid-week Lenten services were held at St. Alban's church Thursday.

Baseball practice is now absorbing the attention of many school boys. Each afternoon of the present vacation season finds them out on the "sand lots" getting into condition for the season's playing.

Though next Tuesday is the limit of time for paying, there are numbers of Killingly residents who have not yet adjusted their personal tax.

At the westerly corner of Dyer and Franklin streets excavation is underway for a cottage to be constructed for Pierre Turgeon.

Among those who are pleased with the early coming of spring are the icemen—getting much more business this year than is usual for them during March.

It is possible that some additional street lights may be asked for when the annual borough meeting is held during the coming month.

PUTNAM

Hilton Cabanaugh is the second husband within a week charged with failure to provide for his family. He was in court on complaint of his wife and Judge Geissler placed him on six months pribation. An additional charge of intoxication cost him a $5 fine.

Wilfred White of Pomfret, formerly of Putnam, was charged with obtaining money under false pretenses. He went to the bookkeeper at Kaminsky & Wolfe's and obtained $40 after telling her that he had been directed to do so by Mr. Wolfe, as part of a loan on his automobile. Judge Geissler continued the case, to give White an opportunity to straighten out the matter.

Eugene Faveault of Vandale street was charged with failing to support his wife and children. He was told that he would have to furnish a bond or go to jail. Faveault said that he would have to go to jail. He was taken there after the court ordered him to pay his wife $20 a week, which he failed to do.

The police arrested two men for drunkenness and they were before Judge Geissler. One of them is a well known resident of Eastford who, evidently was not familiar with the potency of the kind of beverage that can be obtained in this town. He knows more about it now. He was helpless, when arrested, was penitent in court, paid the fine of $20 and costs that Judge Geissler imposed, and hurriedly departed for the western section of the county.

The second offender knew more about the quality of the liquor, but was indifferent to the effects of it. Not much evidence was deemed necessary to convince the court that the charge of intoxication was justified. He was found guilty and fined $20. He is a woodchopper and had money, and two debit entries of $20 each went down on the cash records of the court.

John Consalina, who drives a motor truck for a Springfield concern and passes through Putnam at regular intervals thought he had his driver's license and registration card with him when he got into a slight altercation with the police. When asked to produce them he couldn't comply with the demand, and was put under technical arrest and allowed to return home to look them up. In court he pleaded guilty and was fined $3 for not having his license, the same for the registration. The costs amounted to $9.84. He paid.

Miss Edith Hattie Wheaton of Phoenixville, daughter of Mrs. Mary M. Wheaton, whose marriage with John Henry Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Smith of Bradley street took place Saturday, March 21st, as noted in the Norwich news at the time, is a well known teacher having taught in Manchester, a model school at Eastford and later in Pomfret. Mr. Smith has been connected with the highway department for the last twelve years and is now division engineer of eastern Connecticut, with headquarters at Norwich. Before leaving Putnam he was assistant to George W. Perry, city engineer. His brother, Herbert Smith, was in the aviation service during the war and afterwards in the postal aviation service with headquarters at Chicago. He has three sisters, Miss Harriet, Miss Mary and Miss Elizabeth Smith, the last named one of the teachers in the commercial department of Putnam High school. He is a graduate of the Puntam High school.

After the meeting of Putnam Lodge of Elks this week, a social session and jollification was held in charge of the Dayville, Danielson and Moosup members of the order. The grill committee gave one of their fine suppers which was followed by several acts of vaudeville by artists from Boston.

Mrs. Alice Chandler and Mrs. Alma Breault assisted Mrs. John Osier of Maynard street to entertain in honor of Miss Ruth Osier's eighth birthday. The following little friends, all classmates, were present: Barbara and Grace Reynolds, Edward Breault, Fannie and Harry Weiss, Constance Blackmar and Orrin Austin. A buffet lunch was served and the little folks danced and enjoyed games.

The directors of the First National bank, now in the hands of a receiver, have engaged John F. Carpenter to represent them in all claims that may be made against them by the receiver.

From the recent charity ball the Judean club realized nearly $150 which will be distributed to worthy charities in this city.

Lester Gallup son of Mr. and Mrs. William Gallup, who is a student at Worcester Tech, made the Varsity basketball team, although this is his first year. His standing in the games played was high.

The employes in the local post office received their increase in pay when their checks were received last week. The bill recently passed by congress increased the postal employes' pay about $300 a year, retroactive from January 1, 1925.

Rev. N. B. Burton, pastor of the M. E. church, is at Fall River attending the eighty-fifth session of the Southern New England Conference of the Methodist church which will continue until Monday.

Alpha Delta class of the Second Congregational church plans to hold a birthday social at the home of Mrs. George D. Clark on Walnut street on Monday night next.

Mr. and Mrs. Augustus Cutler of Bellevue street have been entertaining Miss Eddy and Albert Stearns of Providence. They all attended the Masonic ball.

Ernest B. Kent, who was slightly injured in an automobile accident last week is improving rapidly. Daniel Byrne, who was with Mr. Kent at the time of the accident has been able to be at the Savings bank every day since the accident.

Dr. William Saretzki was in Hartford this week attending the hearing before the judiciary committee on the proposed medical practice act. Chiropractors, osteopaths and others are opposing the bill for various reasons.

At the meeting of Israel Putnam lodge of Odd Fellows, next Tuesday night the second degree is to be worked on a class of candidates.

John A. Dady was given an automobile ride a few days ago, the first time he has been out since he was taken ill several weeks ago.

Painters employed by the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad are painting the interior of the Putnam station.

Dr. Jesse B. Davis is to be the speaker at the Commencement exercises of Putnam High school in June. Commencement week begins Sunday, June 21, and graduating exercises will be held at the Bradley theatre Thursday night of that week. Dr. Davis is one of the noted educators of the country. He is professor of secondary education at Boston University School of Education. He was formerly supervisor of secondary education for the state of Connecticut. His theme here will be "Use of an Education."

Six Woodstock boys, the oldest 17, the youngest 11, have been bound over to the superior court in the sum of $300 each, charged with breaking and entering. There was a hearing before Justice Charles M. Perrin and he found cause to bind them over. Bonds were furnished for all of them.

Franklin Perry, son of Dr. and Mrs. E. F. Perry has been visiting M. G. Gulnac at Mystic.

Kenneth Andem has been here from Newark, N. J., visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Andem of Grove street.

Miss Helen Hagerman of Providence has been a guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Chase.

Mrs. Mary B. Bishop, Mrs. E. L. Kelley and Mrs. William H. Mandfield were in Worcester this week looking up records in the Worcester library in the interest of the local D. A. R. chaper.

EAST KILLINGLY

March the 22nd the Union Baptist church was well filled by an eager and expectant congregation. The usual number from East Killingly was augumented by the report that the K. K. K. was going to attend church. Before ten-thirty people began to arrive including many from New London; Norwich; Danielson and other nearby places. Rev. Dr. Parmalee, a Baptist divine, offered prayer. The pastor, Rev. W. D. Hetherington, took for his subject, Good Gitizenship, and What It Means. His text was, Happy is that nation whose God is the Lord. Two special numbers were sung, The Sinner and Song, also The Old Rugged Cross. There was perfect order, and everybody seemed well pleased. One result was that the church treasury received a very liberal increase.

Monday last, Rev. W. D. Hetherington attended the Ashford Ministers' meeting at the Baptist church in Danielson.

Rev. J. W. Carpenter of Mansfield Depot was a recent visitor in this town.

Burnside B. Bailey, 63, graduate of Harvard, vice-president of the American Fidelity Insurance company in Montpelier, Vt., and many years connected with the Central Vermont railway, died following a prolonged illness.
